Easter Meditations

BY AGNES AARON

I believe in the immortality of the human soul because of the universal desire to live. Every normal person wants to live. In whatever circumstances or condition the human personality wants to live. Life is our dearest possession. Now, the desire to live does not guarantee a life after this one, but it is not strange that the God who made us would place this desire in our hearts if it could never be a reality?

"Thou wilt not leave us in the dust; Thou madest man, he knows not why, He thinks he was not made to die; And thou hast made him; thou art just." --Tennyson

I believe in a life after death because of the inequalities of this present life. Everyone does not have an equal chance here. Many people are victims of cruelty and injustice. Many people are born crippled in body and mind and it is no fault of their own. We are told two-thirds of the people of the world are hungry. All of this, yet God is a God of love. "God is love" and this indicates to me that there must be a place where, and a time when things are evened up and every person has a chance for happiness.

"Mankind a future life must have to balance life's unequal lot." --Sir R. Burton

I believe in immortality because the span of life is so short, even at best. We don't have enough time here. Death cuts us down in the midst of our years, in the midst of our labors and in the midst of our expectations. It seems that when we have learned how to live, then it is time to die. When we at last by painful experience learned the true values of life -- then the curtain falls and it is time to go. And is that all? NO, the heart of man replies. I dreamed a dream, a dream of love and some where I must have time to see it finished.

"Shall I doubt my Father's mercy? Shall I think of death as doom. Or the stepping o'er the threshold To a bigger brighter room." --Robert Freeman

The certainty of immortality is in the resurrection of Jesus Christ our Lord. The Easter message proclaims that sin and death are defeated. We must still reckon with them in this world but the power of sin and death over us is broken. Every thoughtful mind must know that there was an eternal purpose in the death of Christ. The sacrifice was too great for anything less.

"Everlasting life is the gift of God through Jesus Christ our Lord." Not to shed light over our threescore years and ten only, but each "drop of blood bought us a million years." The seven words from the Cross are so precious to Christians and they have been the inspiration for many songs and sermons. Yet, there is a word that Jesus did not say that thrills me. He did not say goodbye. He said, "Yet a little while and the world will see me no more; but you will see me; because I live, you shall live also." (John 14:19). Jesus took the word goodbye from the Christians' vocabulary.

Angels roll the stone away; Death yield up thy mighty prey; See, he rises from the tomb. Glowing with immortal bloom. Al-le-lu-ea! Al-le-lu-ea! Christ the Lord is risen today." --Thomas Scott

Bourland Keith and children, Wendy and Peter of Albuquerque, N.M. visited during the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Keith.

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

A good character is a commodity which is purchased on daily installments extending the length of a lifetime.

Progress was too slow to make it possible for the last horse thief to enjoy the distinction of being hung with a nylon rope.

As a group, men are ridiculous, vain, suspicious, and subject to almost any passing influence, but I never expect to see any large segment of them wearing hats that look like inverted hub caps.

A Republican is a citizen who is convinced that decapitation is the only practical and effective means of curing dandruff.

Seeds of discontent are seldom sown in a field which is adequately cultivated in the production of worthy service.

Time is a fire which consumes the little bundles of life collected on eternity's vast horizon.

Fragrance of lilacs rises with the shadows at dawn to freshen old memories of other springs: Purple blossoms in my mother's work-scarred hands, a light like tapers burning in long-closed eyes. (Tribune files, April 12, 1956)

The Senior Citizens of Roaring Springs met April 1 at the depot for their monthly covered dish luncheon.

A birthday cake with candles honored J. K. Campbell and Rev. D. D. Smith and was served following the lunch. An interesting program was given and included an article read by Mrs. J. D. Mitchell on the subject of money waste in government. She urged the group to write the Congressmen and express their opinions in this matter. An item of interest on display was a jar that had been in the Kingery family for 95 years. Senior citizens were urged to make use of the mini-bus service. The bus is in Roaring Springs on Wednesdays, and if not used by local citizens, it might be discontinued. The bus is available for taking people for medical appointments and other necessary services.

Reddy's Helpful Tips

- ★ Return fresh foods to the refrigerator and frozen foods, such as ice cream, to the freezer as soon as possible. Measure and remove the quantity needed for cooking or for the table, and refrigerate the remainder at once.
- ★ Use cold controls efficiently by selecting the settings that provide about 36° F. in the refrigerator and 0° F. in the freezer.
- ★ Fill the refrigerator with food, but be careful not to overfill. Make sure that food packages don't block air vents in the freezer or refrigerator section.
- ★ Clean the condenser surfaces of the refrigerator; dirt restricts air flow and acts to insulate the condenser, forcing the refrigerator to work harder and longer to maintain proper temperatures.

TEXAS TALK

Cardboard chewing cattle may become more common during the next few years. Researchers say cellulose in cardboard provides a much better diet for cattle than newspaper materials which were experimented with for several years. Giving the new product the title, "Rumose", promoters are pushing for acceptance of treated corrugated boxes as a viable feed supplement in the feedlot for commercial feeders. Developers advocate grinding or pelleting of the boxes, then mixing with whey (waste material from cheese making) or other materials to make the boxes more palatable. One of the key researchers for this project is Dr. John Campbell of the University of Missouri. Dr. Campbell says the process of manufacturing the boxes may increase their digestibility which "approaches or even exceeds the digestibility of common forages". For cattle, "box" lunch may take on a whole new meaning.
