Miss Jean Baldwin Named Deputy Ins. Commissioner

MISS JEAN BALDWIN

The daughter of a former Matador resident has been named Deputy Insurance Commissioner of the State of Vermont. She is Miss Jean Baldwin, 28, of Montpelier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brewster Baldwin of Middlebury, Vt. Her mother is the former Marie Hunsucker of Matador, and she is a granddaughter of Mrs. Charlotte Hunsucker of Corpus Christi, also formerly of Matador.

Announcement of the appointment was made recently by James A. Guest, Banking and Insurance Commissioner of Vermont.

At the same time Guest appointed Mrs. Harriet King of Waitsfield to replace Miss Baldwin as general counsel for the Insurance Department.

Miss Baldwin has been serving as general counsel for the Insurance Department since September, 1974.

She has had primary responsibility for many of the consumer activities within the Insurance Department. Among her more important assignments has been the development of programs to protect senior citizens from buying inferior insurance policies.

In addition, Miss Baldwin developed legislation to provide insurance coverage for newborn infants from the day of birth. Prior to this legislation, any illness that developed in the first two weeks of birth were not covered by some health insurance policies.

She also wrote legislation that prohibits auto insurance companies from increasing insurance rates for accidents where damage is minimal. Before the enactment of this law, insurance companies were increasing rates for even minor accidents and in some instances the increased premiums amounted to more than it cost to repair the vehicle.

"Miss Baldwin has handled several other critical assignments in the department and there is no question in my mind that she will be a superb Deputy," Guest said. Miss Baldwin attended elementary school in Middlebury and is a graduate of Middlebury College. She obtained her law degree from American University in Washington, D.C.

After graduation she joined the Washington County State's Attorney's Office and was named Deputy State's Attorney in November of 1972. She held that position through January, 1974.

"There will be no admission charge to visit the mini-museum," Mrs. Edgar Lee, president of the club announced. "However, those who would like to have a part in the civic development program of the Matador Garden Club may contribute a penny for each year of your age."

Refreshments will be served during the afternoon, it was also announced.

Another bicentennial event is planned for July, when the club will sponsor a community-wide American Holidays Flower Show.

A continuing project is development of the Pioneer Memorial Park dedicated by the late Douglas Meador to his pioneer parents, and located on lots northwest of the courthouse.

Club members observed Arbor Day last month by planting two redbud trees in the rock enclosure of the small park, and more recently arranged a star design in the center. Flowers in red, white, and blue colors, together with a ground cover will be planted in spaces surrounding the star design, for summer blooming.

"Anyone interested in garden club work and the beautification of our town is invited to attend the monthly meetings," Mrs. Lee said. The club meets at 3:30 p.m. the third Monday in each month. The next meeting will be at the ranch home of Mrs. Eldred Seigler, March 15.

Texas Draft Board Offices Close

AUSTIN, Texas - On February 27th all draft board offices in Texas will be closed, Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, State Director for Selective Service announced today.

This action which will take place in all states terminates the operational capability of Selective Service for the first time in 28 years. All registrant processing including the obligation of men to register has been halted. "Draft records are being transferred to the Fort Worth Federal Records Center," Glantz said.

The function of these offices will be to develop plans for restoring the System in event of a National emergency and to continue the training of a small number of Reserve and National Guard Officers who have mobilization assignments with the Selective Service System. ### TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Night is an ewer which contains our sorrows, our problems and our joys. At the beginning of a new day we each hold our cups for the portions we surrendered to slumber.

Medical science has more problems than arresting pain and disease, or extending the life span on insurance charts. The young man is convinced his health is satisfactory without bothering with an examination, and the older man is afraid of what his physician may discover.

Something has passed from the family scene since children are no longer punished for mouthing about enforced restriction, or more often because they are assigned some laborious task.

The school of experience does not confer any honorary degrees.

A logical source in origination of the old age pension is that it was conceived by a statesman with a couple of children in college.

Having become resigned to a possibly monotonous period in the parade of events, the arrival of new styles in women's hats is refreshing. They do something for a man, especially if he is within the reach of bourbon.

Those at the top say there is more room there and that the view is better. Probably so, but they can't go but one direction.

Our problems should be insured and locked in a vault if they are capable of developing greater strength of character.

A thoughtful psychiatrist keeps incense burning in corridors where the sandals of idleness have trod. (Tribune files Feb. 16, 1956)

Soil Stewardship Program Presented

A Soil Stewardship program was presented at regular meeting of El Progreso Study Club, February 12 in the home of Mrs. Freeman Thacker. Guest speaker was Harry Campbell, County Extension Agent of Dickens County.

Mrs. Carl King served as leader for the program, "The Land - Looking at Agriculture."

Mrs. Harold Campbell, President, opened the meeting with a business session, then turned the program to Mrs. King, who read the caption printed in the yearbook: "We plough the fields, and scatter the good seed on the land; but it is fed and watered by God's almighty Hand." (Jane Montgomery Campbell.)

Mrs. J. E. Edwards presented the speaker and told of his many accomplishments. "Harry earned his B.S. in Agriculture Education from Texas A&M in 1963 and in May of 1976 will receive his Masters in Education from A&M. He has served as Assistant County Agent in Nacogdoches, Associate County Agent in Denton, and three years as Broiler-Breeder Supervisor for Ralston Purina. He has been County Extension Agent in Dickens County for six years."

Mr. Campbell has had many honors for outstanding work with youth and various projects, the latest two being dryland sunflowers and extermination of gophers. Two of the outstanding awards he has received are the Texas Forestry Award for outstanding promotion of forestry in Texas, and is the only Assistant County Agent in Texas to be awarded this plaque, and he was chosen as one of two agents in Texas to chaperone Texas 4-H delegation to Washington, D.C. in 1975. Harry and his wife Martha live in Dickens with their two daughters, Michele and Stephanie. They belong to the First Baptist Church in Spur. Harry is also active in various civic clubs in Dickens County.

Mr. Campbell presented a most interesting slide demonstration telling of the history of land grant colleges, and Texas A&M and its various programs.

"Abraham Lincoln in 1862 created the land grant colleges to promote agriculture in each state," he said. "In 1876 Texas opened its land grant college and it has prospered ever since. In 1914 the Federal Congress presented the Cooperative Extension Service. Texas A&M conducts leadership courses on 70 different subjects. It is involved in Agriculture, Home Economics, 4-H and youth and Extension Service."

During World War I the extension service really "took off," Mr. Campbell declared. "During the depression they tried to show people how to get along with what they had. . . again during World War II they were very active helping in whatever way they could. Now, they are active showing and telling how to grow gardens and preserve food to lower the food budget."

In 1908 4-H was begun for young people 9 to 19 years of age, the club learned. The organization is for all ethnic groups in all locations. Now there is a beautiful 4-H center at Brownwood for camps, courses and various 4-H activities.

Mr. Campbell answered questions after the slide presentation.

Mrs. W. F. Jacobs gave the Inspirational Thought, telling of Biblical passages involving agriculture. She concluded with Ten Commandments of Agriculture with Biblical quotes for each commandment.

Others present were Mesdames E. A. Day, Ben Keltz, W. N. Pipkin, D. E. Pitts, Frank Pohl, Frank Price, Ralph Stapleton, Furman Vinson, J. L. Woodruff and John Hamilton; Miss Mary Keith and Freeman Thacker, in addition to the special guest and those mentioned.

REDDY'S Conserve and Save Tips for Your DISHWASHER

★ Clean the filter screen often. A clogged filter can reduce the efficiency of your dishwasher.

★ Use only detergents manufactured specifically for dishwashers. A wetting agent helps prevent water spots on glasses and silverware.

★ A dishwasher will usually hold a whole day's dishes. It takes as much hot water and energy to wash 1 dish as it does a full load. Stack your dishes out of sight in your dishwasher and wait until you have a full load to turn it on.

County Agent Pallymeyer Says

Even though fertilizer is high, it will pay if used properly in connection with sound crop management. Moisture is always the limiting factor, but with proper fertility level, it is possible to make higher yields with less moisture.

When buying fertilizer, look at the cost of the three main elements you are getting, N (nitrogen), P (phosphorus) and K, (potash). The number on the fertilizer container gives the percent of nitrogen, available phosphoric acid (P2O5) and soluble potash (K2O). For example, 16-20-0 at $208 per ton is a better buy than 18-3-3 at $172 per ton, providing the soil test calls for a 1-1-0 ratio fertilizer. In 100 lbs. of 16-20-0 you get 16 lbs. of nitrogen and 20 lbs. of P2O5, or a total of 36 pounds of fertilizer. This figures 28.8¢ per lb. In 100 lbs. of 18-3-3, you get 18 lbs. of nitrogen, 3 lbs. of P2O5 and 3 lbs. of K2O, or a total of 24 lbs. of fertilizer. This figures to be 35.83¢ per lb.

By knowing the content of any fertilizer, liquid, gas or dry, you can see which is the best buy. SOME salesmen will tell you their brand is best, but tests haven't proved this.

Bulletins on nitrogen, phosphorus and potash are available at my office, in addition to information on iron, zinc, manganese and other micronutrients. They are available for the asking.

Ranching Heritage Acquires Old Barn

LUBBOCK — A barn built soon after the Civil War in Texas' eastern rolling plains arrived Friday (Feb. 13) at the Ranching Heritage Center at The Museum of Texas Tech University. When restored to its 1870s original appearance, the barn will stand among the center's "working" structures. Twenty authentic buildings — about half of them homes — have been brought to the 12-acre site from early ranches, then restored and furnished to depict the history of ranching in America.

Formal opening of the center will take place as a national Bicentennial event July 2-5 when Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will make the dedicatory remarks. That will be preceded by a June 26 - July 2 Longhorn trail drive through Texas, culminating at the center.

The new addition will be known as the Reynolds-Gentry barn. It was given to the Ranching Heritage Center by the Mart B. Gentry estate, established when George T. Reynolds sold his home place near Albany to Gentry in 1884.

Representatives of two Texas ranching families — J. A. Matthews and W. D. Reynolds — and friends of those families have established a barn restoration fund for the moving and restoring of the structure.

J. A. Matthews and W. D. Reynolds and George T. Reynolds, who were brothers, operated ranching interests near Albany together for five years before, by mutual consent, they separated and formed two cattle companies. The Reynolds Cattle company eventually had most of its holdings in the Big Bend Country of Texas. Matthews established what is now the Lambhead Ranch near Albany.

Despite the business separation, however, the families remained close, as the Reynolds' sister, Sallie, married J. A. Matthews. It is their family and friends who have established restoration funds.

The barn, approximately 35 by 50 feet, has been painted a dark barn-red for as long as any of the families can remember. It had six stanchions for horses, a small tack room, stairs leading to a hay loft, and two feed rooms. Sheep or hogs were kept in a pen on the east side. Hay was pitched in a west dormer window and out a north dormer. An early photograph shows a shed on the south and east sides.

Will Robinson, director of the Ranching Heritage Center and an architectural historian of note, said the roof line will be changed to the lines the barn had before a remodeling in the early 1900s.

"This is a good addition to the Ranching Heritage Center," Prof. Robinson said of the barn. "It will have a significant role in our interpretive program."

Robinson said restoration will begin immediately.

Bring ideas in and entertain them royally, for one of them may be the king.

TEXAS TALK

Mumblings at the UN, complaints about feeding grain to cattle, veiled accusations at world food conferences... all tend to indicate the United States is responsible for the problems of the world in general and for an international food shortage in particular. Let's take a look at the facts. It is true people in the United States eat well... some too well. We do consume 16 percent of the world's annual grain and livestock production... we do have only six percent of the world's population. However, what keeps being overlooked is the fact that American farmers produce 22 percent of the world's grain and livestock. That 23 percent of total farm marketings are exported to other countries. In fact, the United States provides 20 percent of all exported agricultural products and will probably provide even more. With this kind of contribution to world food supply no American should feel a moments shame for our own consumption.
