Memorial Address Cites Changes In Attitudes

My greatest concern is the great country where we must change in attitude of the men of this country concerning their duty to serve when called upon to do so," declared R. C. Giesecke, speaker at the Memorial Day service Monday morning. sponsored by Motley County VFW, and the American Legion Post.

Speaking at the gate of East Mound Cemetery where servicemen of wars dating back to the Spanish-American conflict are buried. Giesecke brought a timely message concerning the sacrifices of the war dead. A past Commander of Fleming Post 337, American Legion, and a Matador businessman, Mr. Giesecke is a veteran of World War II. He reviewed the attitudes toward patriotism from early wars, to the present and noted, "We have now arrived at a time in the history of this "General Logan expressed hope that the decorating of the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country would be kept up from year to year," Giesecke said in introduction. "It is in keeping with this tradition that we gather on this Memorial Day 1976. Today, however, we also honor those veterans who have passed from this Forrest Campbell.

"This Bicentennial year is an especially appropriate time to honor older Texans. The time, talent and wisdom they have contributed have brought about some of the best things we enjoy today," Vivian H. years and develops a new strain," Mrs. Isbell explained. She said that there is no specific treatment for the virus, but that complications can be treated with antibiotics.

There will be no charge for the vaccine, which will be provided to the physicians. The state wide program will require volunteer organizations to work with the County Coordinator.

Motley County is on the program early, due to the fact that the county maintains a Public Health Unit. First to receive the vaccine will be older persons. starting in July. Immunization clinics for the general population will begin in September, for five years and above. The vaccine will be administered on individual basis as to a person's need, and a doctor will be present to determine this factor, according to Mrs. Isbell

Boss Lion Sonny Russell reported on the Lions directors meeting and upcoming events, including Lions Ladies Night which is scheduled for the next meeting. #### Spur Track Club Sponsors Concert

The Spur Track Club is sponsoring a gospel concert to benefit olympic track hopeful, Essie Kelley, according to an announcement this week by Chuck Harrison, club president.

Johnny Ray Watson, a former all state basketball and football player from Lorenzo, will be a featured singer. Mr. Watson, who now makes his home in Amherst, plans to go into full time evangelistic singing.

The concert will be held in the Spur Primary School Auditorium, June 4 at 7 p.m. Admission will be $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Proceeds from the program will be used to help defray expenses to send Miss Kelley to the AAU track trials in Los Angeles and on to the Olympic Trials in Eugene, Oregon. The Spur High School track star will be accompanied by a coach and one sponsor.

She presently holds the state and national record in the 440 yard dash with a 55.0. She posted an unofficial time of 54.9 at the Regional meet in Lubbock in April and has won her class in the state three consecutive years.

Family Workshops Scheduled presented and group ex-

A series of Family Living Workshops have been scheduled in Matador for June 14-18. These workshops are being sponsored jointly by the Motley County High School Homemaking Department and the Central Plains Mental Health -Mental Retardation Center in Plainview. The week-long series of workshops will be from 9:00 to 12:00 a.m. each day. A variety of subjects will be included through the series of workshops, with different people from the staff of the Mental Health Center presenting a different workshop each day. The workshop titles and days are as follows: Monday, "Marriage and Divorce: A Choice Tuesday, "Help, I'm A Parent Wednesday, man Sexuality: Children, Teens, and ME! : Thursday, "The Creative Woman"; and Friday, "Self and Other Awareness". Each workshop will be designed to facilitate open discussion and appropriate for anyone twelve to sixty years of age. The workshops are open to the public at no charge. It should be emphasized that the workshops are educationally designed and are not "therapy" oriented. Through each of the work-perience will be used to help participants more acutely understand ideas.

Anyone desiring further information may contact Marilyn Hicks in Matador, at 347-2470, or Sandy Taylor. Psychologist, in Floydada, at 983-2584. Roy Alexander, Assistant Executive Director at the Central Plains Mental Health - Mental Retardation Center in Plainview will be coordinating these workshops to be held in Matador.

CARL DALLY

Judge of the

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals

"Carl Dally has been a commissioner-in-aid to the court of criminal appeals for half a decade. He has argued before the U.S. Supreme Court and has had extensive experience in both the criminal and civil branches of the law. His opponent is a man with no judicial or appellate experience in criminal cases. We urge Texas Democrats eligible to vote in the June 5 runoffs to inform themselves of the qualifications of the candidates in this and all races. We urge them not to vote for a vaguely familiar name, but to vote for the best man. In the case of the runoff for the criminal appeals court, the best candidate is clearly Carl Dally. AUSTIN AMERICAN-STATESMAN

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram calls Carl Dally "eminently qualified" and the Houston Chronicle says he is "unique! suited to serve on the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals. Dally is also endorsed by newspapers in Dallas, Lubbock, Corpus Christi, San Angelo, Tyler, Bryan, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Victoria and Wichita Falls Ask your lawyer, your district attorney, any judge, or informed friend about the candidates in this important race Then vote for the best man.

VOTE ON JUNE 5 FOR CARL DALLY

VOTE JUNE 5TH

VOTE for the man with outstanding qualities.

VOTE for the man who will be fair, and devote equal time for each and every one of us.

VOTE for the man with his heart in the welfare of our children.

Communities With Holdouts Face Loss Of Participation In Boll Weevil Program

LUBBOCK -- Communities University, and several repalong the eastern edge of the Caprock of the Texas South Plains face possible loss of participation in the joint producer-USDA funded Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program if holdouts in their area continue to thwart efforts to stop the weevil's migration onto the Plains. In a strongly worded statement released recently in Lubbock by the steering committee of the boll weevil control program, steps were mapped out which would lead to the exclusion of communities where producers having significant amounts and locations of acreages refuse to participate.

Such action could possibly affect several area counties where pockets of holdouts the South Plains area. The Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program was begun in 1964 along a 15-county area stretching from the upper South Plains southward and southwestward to the New Mexico line, along the Caprock. Its purpose is to use pest management concepts, including spraying and field scouting, to prevent the boll weevil from migrating westward from its overwintering areas along the Caprock. Officials believe they have successfully prevented the establishment of overwintering infestations above the Caprock on the Texas High Plains and eastern New Mexico by treating infested fields along the Caprock. Cotton producers in this area voluntarily participate in the program which is administered by producers through Plains Cotton Growers and the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, Plant Protection and Quarin-

To overcome the threat of a bollworm problem, officials have adopted recommendations of the advisory committee that treatments for boll weevil control be delayed from Aug. 25 to Sept. This has the effect of delaying the disruption of beneficial insect activity which keeps the bollworm in check. A second step to counter the objection would be to continue the practice of providing for bollworm counts in the field along with weevil counts. During the fall, field scouts are customarily sent out to survey weevil infestations. This second measure includes survey of bollworm activity

According to the statement, the steering committee aims "make the best use of public and private funds which have been made available in good faith." The way to do this, the report concludes, if for treatment activities to be restricted to those areas in which there is a reasonable chance that effectiveness can be main-

To accomplish this, the commiteee outlined in the statement the following procedures for dealing with the holdout problem - Contact will be made with present holdouts in efforts to persuade them to participate on a continuing basis. If this fails, an appropriate committee will consider and evaluate their cotton acreage and its location within the community. Should this acreage and location render impractical and ineffective the spraying of other cotton in that community, that community will be dropped from the program. If the community should be dropped, financial and agricultural leaders as well as news media in the area will be notified of this action.

The community (a defined geographical area to be determined by the review committee) will be excluded for the remainder of the season or until such time that the appropriate committee may review a petition from the uncooperative growers requesting readmittance.

Provisions also were outlined in the statement for dealing with potential holdouts. When USDA and PCG personnel are notified by growers that they do not want their fields to be sprayed, efforts will be made to "persuade them to stay in he program. If this fails, the growers will be told that their request will be honored, but that their names can not be held confidential when there are inquiries about hold-

USDA and PGC officials say the steering committee adopted the statement with no ill feeling or harassment intended, but simply to make the best use of tax money and private funds which have been made available to the Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program for its specific

The recommendations of the statement take effect with the 1976 treatment program which already is being mapped out. Officials said information about the statement can be obtained by calling or writing Plains Cotton Growers or USDA-Plant Protection and Quarantine, in Lubbock.

Dally In Runoff Race For Criminal Appeals Judge

AUSTIN - A Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals will be elected on Saturday. June 5, in the Second Democratic Primary (runoff) election. This is an important position on the state's highest court for the appeal of criminal matters. One of the candidates is Judge Carl Dally, 52. He is now serving as Commissioner on that Court. In September, 1971, the five elected Judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals selected Judge Dally to serve with them as Commissioner where for almost five years he has now gained judicial experience doing essentially the same work as he would do in the elected position he now

Judge Dally, prior to his appointment as a Commissioner, was a prosecutor, a defense attorney, and teacher of criminal law and procedure in Houston.

Judge Dally asserts that he has the support of all members of the Texas District and County Attorneys Association and support of almost all members of the Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers Association. Judge Dally has received from virtually all of the leading newspapers of the state editorial endorsements which point out as did the Dallas Morning News that he is "easily the better qualified candidate in the

One of the many newspaper endorsements is that of the Austin American-Statesman. In speaking of the other in the runoff candidate election, W.T. Phillips, 63, of Waco, it says: "Phillips is a man with no judicial or appellate experience in criminal cases editorial then continues, "We Railroad Commissioner AUSTIN - Rep. Jon Newton of Beeville says the central issue in his Democratic race for the Texas Railroad Commission this Saturday (June 5) is which of the two candidates is better qualified to cope with modern energy and transportation problems.

Saturday.'

Newton and Sadler, 68. emerged as runoff opponents from an eight-candidate field in the first primary. Sadler has been in retirement since his defeat for State Land

'My public record is one of accessibility to the press, an open door policy for the public, full disclosure of personal financial information, and policies to strengthen confidence in government," Newton said. 'My opponent's record is just the opposite. When he was Land Commissioner in the 1960's he pulled down the shades of the General Land office and excluded the press and public. He made mockery of the people's right to know what goes on in government."

Newton pointed out that Sadler's defeat six years ago

No segment of the economy has ever changed so fast and so completely as has agriculture during the past 60 years. When these changes have required capital, your Federal Land Bank has been a primary source of funds. There will be more changes. But we believe that a free agriculture - based on the family operated farm or ranch - will continue to flourish in any new environment.

> We are banking on the farm family and on the family farm.

The Railroad Commission is one of the most powerful regulatory and conservation agencies in America. Two candidates are in the June 5th Democratic runoff election:

JERRY SADLER, 68, who entered politics in the 1930's, was defeated as Land Commissioner in 1970 after an official reprimand from the Texas House for refusal to cooperate in an investigation . . . bad absentee record in public office . . . investigated by a grand jury for using a state employee to run his private motel . . . sued for civil tax fraud by the IRS . . . in 1969 the Dallas Times Herald declared "Sadler has made Texas government a universal target of ridicule and derision," and in 1976 the San Angelo Standard echoed, "Under Sadler, the Railroad Commission just might become the laughing stock he once made of the General Land Office."

JON NEWTON, 34, three-term House member with solid record of public service . . authored the law regulating strip mining . . . fought for a Public Utility Commission . . . serves on Interstate Oil Compact Commission, Mining Council of Texas, Governor's Energy Advisory Council, House Energy Resources Committee (vice chairman) . . . endorsed by major newspapers throughout Texas . . . described by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal as "the resident expert on energy matters in the State Legislature" . . . in the first Democratic primary his Bee County neighbors gave him an 85% majority over his seven opponents.
