The Diary of Mary White

November 22, 1955
I was early, hurried the lunch stove and donning the parka went to see the girls. She was still rather sick and her with penicillin and back to my forty little and the three R's.

November 23, 1955, Wednesday
I was early to give the shot and to the classroom by nine. Really every student was starting the holidays a bit.

November 24, 1955, Thursday
Arose early, breakfasted by the Aladdin lamp then started the plant so I could see my way to the storeroom and back and not get the wrong cans or mistake ginger for cinnamon. "Set the bread" and then baked four pumpkin pies. Mixed five gallons of lemonade and by that time it was twelve o'clock so I put the bread in the oven. Went to church to help get things in shape and the men were doing it all, even to table covers and food. Now, score number one for Eskimo men. The women showed up at two o'clock and seated themselves at the tables. Each family sat together and the teacher's family must sit on the raised platform. I felt like they were practicing segregation so I informed them we wouldn't eat unless some one sat at the table with us. Finally, the pastor and some grown boys consented.

November 25, 1955, Friday
A day of leisure! Got most of my January correspondence done. Outside of that the big accomplishment was relaxation.

November 26, 1955, Saturday
Did the family wash. Was in the basement with motors running so did not hear the plane when it landed on the bay and slid to a stop right beside our quarters. Broke trail (three feet of snow) to get to my clothes line and hang sheets and cup towels. See natives hang clothes outside so decided I would too. They froze dry and have a wonderfully fresh smell that they fail to get when hung in the drying room.

Read and reread letters, papers, and magazines all afternoon. Next week I'll hate myself for not getting much needed work done but tonight the loafing was great.

November 27, 1955, Sunday
Between the heavy overcast and the niggardly sun this could hardly be called a day — just a period of time. There was in one of her cooking moods so we had eats. Nobody had a dishwashing mood. The kitchen got in such a condition that it almost took a family feud to get it cleaned up. Could hardly enjoy the afternoon and evening for thinking how close they were to Monday morn. Will be glad though for too much time to think ones own thoughts is still family. Thoughts have a tendency to conjure up pictures best left out of sight.

November 28, 1955, Monday
At nine o'clock the teacher and two pupils were in the classroom. With which class does one begin when no class is present. My carefully made lesson plans had gone aft' agley as the Scottish bard puts it. As good old U. S. slang puts it "my dander had mounted." I waited until practically all had straggled in (9:40) then I read them the riot act about promptness. They slept right through it, so I gave up and started the class routine.

November 29, 1955, Tuesday
Got through lunch without any spilled trays or burned puddings. At 3:45, right in the middle of another speech, the light plant ran out of gas. We felt our way out of the school room and called it quits. Roger brought me a flash light so I could get out without banging my shins on some desk. R. W. gripped. Said he intended to fill the tank tomorrow. It was not supposed to run out today. I asked him if he had told the gas tank that. Now why do you suppose he stalked out muttering something about a smart-alec? There was a worn his wool gloves at recess and played in the snow. They were sopping wet. We aren't commenting on what he said when he had to handle metal barrels

November 30, 1955, Wednesday

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Do-it-Whose-Self?
Monk McCarthy's almost as good at publicity stunts as he is at servicing and repairing cars—which is pretty darned good.

His latest gimmick is a hand bill titled: "Do-It-YOURSELFERS! Why Not Grease Your Own Car?" Then he follows with two paragraphs about all the greases you'll need—the full set of wrenches, spray gun, grease gun, four jacks—the ability to work flat on your back with a face full of goo. And at the very end there's this line: "Or, if that's too much trouble, we'll do the job for 75¢."

From where I sit, I'll have to admit Monk's schemes attract attention. They often seem far-fetched to me, but he and I talked had different opinions on how to run a business—just as we have different opinions about what's the best beverage. He likes hot tea—I prefer a glass of beer—which doesn't keep us from having a "smooth-running" friendship.

WMU BEGINS NEW STUDY

A new study on the Indians was begun by the Flomot Baptist W.M.U. when they met Monday at 2 p. m. at the church. Devotional reading from Psalm 122, was brought by the president, after which Mrs. F. S. Bourland introduced the book, "The Tribes Go Up", and brought the highlights of the first chapter...
Mrs. Nell Leonard led the study when the group met Monday, February 27.

DEARBORN ONE-WAY PLOW

Look At All the Jobs It Will Do!
It will plow a 4 1/2' strip and leave smooth, well pulverized soil. It will disc... level... terrace... ditch. It will plow from 18 to 20 acres in 10 hours at 4 miles per hour...
The Dearborn One-Way Plow aids soil conservation, leaving part of the trash and stubble at the surface for erosion control. Stubble mulch plowing holds water... and ties down the soil. This plow can reach to within four inches of fences, stumps and other obstructions... adds "acreage" to your farm...
The eight big 22" shock resistant discs on this plow are spaced 8" apart. A rigid 4" x 4" angle steel frame and heavy duty, dust proofed anti-friction bearings make the Dearborn One-Way Plow a sound investment... for many seasons. Come in and see it today!

ROARING SPRINGS

A Testimony Of Appreciation...

It would be more satisfactory to thank, personally, everyone who volunteered services Friday afternoon and night in an effort to bring the fire on our property under control. It is, however, impossible to thank everyone and we have selected this means of publicly expressing our gratitude...
Surely there is no other country in the world where the spirit of friendship and neighborliness is manifest as it is here...
Many men worked willingly and without complaint in the wind, smoke, dirt, and darkness; with no hope of reward, except to render aid. We feel that the people of Matador and surrounding area are our neighbors and friends. We are glad to live in such a community...
We want to express our thanks to everyone who in any way aided in fighting the fire, and especially express our appreciation to Fire Chief Freddie Welling and members of the Matador Volunteer Fire Department for their valuable services.

Raynita Dunning is all stripes right now and is making a cute boat neck shirt with tapered pants. Betty Matney's dress of turquoise gingham has a sailor collar and full skirt. The Freshmen are making shirts of every description, stripes, border prints, plaids and solid fabrics. Some are full, gathered and others are pleated. Spring fabrics are on parade!

Leonard Glascock and Helen Walding received ribbons for being chosen for the All-Tournament teams.

Third Grade News

The third grade has been reading stories on the history of the town. There are many interesting stories of Indians and since they have read these stories the third grade pupils have made and colored Indian chiefs.

They also drew some pictures.

They are planning a program, but the plans are not yet complete.

New Tax Bill To Save 8 1/2 Million

Amendments to the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act passed by the 55th Legislature can save Texas small business men as much as eight and a half million dollars.

Governor Allan Shivers, when signing the legislation, estimated this sum as the probable difference between taxes which would have been paid under a Federal statute effective January 1, 1956, and those which will be collected under state control.

The bill was authorized by Representative George Berry of Lubbock, sponsored in the Senate by Senators Wardlaw Lane of Center and Otis Lock of Lufkin and favored by both business and labor organizations.

Need for the legislation came with amendment of the federal unemployment compensation tax act to include employers of four or more persons (instead of the present eight or more) effective in 1956. This act, however, provided that states could amend their unemployment tax laws to include these four-to-seven employers and make these new taxpayers eligible for "experience rates"—lower taxes based on each employer's record.

Low Tax Potential

Thus the state will collect all except three-tenths of one percent of the new tax (that amount is turned over to the federal government for administrative expenses). Under state law a newly covered employer becomes eligible for an experience rate and a low rate of four-tenths of one percent, including the administrative portion.

Some 48 per cent of the employers now have this rate. The statewide average is one per cent, one of the lowest in the nation. The Berry-authored bill also cut the "experience" rate from three and a half to one and a half, making employers eligible for the rates two years earlier under the old law.

The winds roaring across the entire Panhandle left a path of damage to property and caused several deaths in automobile accidents. Many deaths resulted from tornadoes as the storm raged into the middle east. The high winds (some of the strongest ever recorded during sandstorms) were not accompanied by clouds, except the dust and sand.

Lights Go Out
Lights in Matador and Roaring Springs went out about 9 o'clock when the terrific winds snapped high tension wires together causing fuses in the 66,000-volt circuit to burn out. West Texas Utilities Company servicemen, Freddie Welling and "Pop" Price restored service after about 40 minutes.

Freddie Welling, at the jeopardy of his life, climbed into the substation maze of wires and transformers, and while the entire structure rocked from the force of the wind, restored the fuses. Had his hold on the high platform been released he would have been swept into the deadly cables.

During the dramatic interlude while Matador stood in darkness, Price was obliged to climb a pole and deliver an extra fuse to Welling. The two men worked from the small flare of a spotlight on the company pickup, which was obscured part of the time by gritty clouds of dust and sand.

The storm abated by about midnight, altho many of the volunteers fighting the prairie fire remained until 3 a. m. Loss of the large barn and contents was partly covered by insurance, Mr. Hill declared. It is believed the fire may have started from faulty electrical wiring inside the barn.

Hal Dean Hines . . .

named a street for him, that his name may be continuously perpetuated.

Farley Unable To Attend
Principal speaker, Cal Farley, originator and manager of Boys' Ranch, was unable to attend the meeting. Sherman G. Harriman, Jr., associated with Mr. Farley in the ranch management substituted.

Music was provided by "The Hep Cats," Matador high school orchestra. Address of welcome was by Boss Lion John Stevens and introduction of the speaker was by Douglas Meador.

Mr. Harriman provided an absorbing word picture of Boys' Ranch, explaining the details of operation. He said in most instances the boys had no parents but no home, simply because they were not wanted.

Mr. Harriman stressed the need of "woodshed psychology" as well as love in a boy's life. He concluded the program with a colored film showing which brought Cal Farley to the meeting on the screen. The excellent picture showed Boys' Ranch, buildings, schools and other equipment in actual operation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Austin visited in Abilene and Winters during the week-end. They accompanied a nephew, W. R. Austin, to his home in Abilene and visited other relatives in Winters.

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Smallwood and daughter, Judy, visited in Brownfield, Sunday at the hospital bedside of her sister, Mrs. Ed Whitaker.

Need for soil fertility tests was also explained. Farmers were told the fertilizer tests in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma show a profit of from $2.75 to $4 per acre on dry land farming and more on irrigation. They were made on 140 farms in areas where the rainfall is 20 inches or less.
