DICK HAMILTON NAMED COUNSELOR FOR BOYS STATE

Dick Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton has been selected by the American Legion for the distinctive honor to serve as a Junior Counselor in Lone Star Boys State in Austin, June 10-16.

A letter from Department Adjutant G. Ward Moody, Austin Headquarters, dated February 28, read as follows:

"Mr. Richard Moore Hamilton, Matador, Texas. Dear Richard: We want to extend to you a cordial invitation to serve as a Junior Counselor in Lone Star Boys State this year, June 10-16, 1956, and to urge your acceptance of this invitation.

"Since you are familiar with the functions of Lone Star Boys State, it is not necessary that I go into detail (Richard represented Matador at Boys State last year).

"You will be reimbursed for your travel to and from Austin, and, of course, you will receive your room and board during the week of Boys State.

"We would like to have your reply at your earliest convenience in order that we may complete our list of counselors. For your convenience you may reply on the bottom of this letter."

American Legion and Matador Lions Club have jointly sponsored a boy representative from Matador to Boys State for many years. Richard has the honor of being the first from this immediate area to be named as counselor.

Cecil Fox Injured

Game Warden Cecil Fox of Spur and a Dickens county rancher, Horace Wood, were injured seriously late Monday when the lights on their Jeep station wagon failed and the vehicle plunged off a 12-foot bluff.

The two men were driving on a country road south of Spur and the accident occurred as they were rounding a curve. Both were taken to a Spur hospital, according to the Lubbock Avalanche.

Mr. Fox is well known here and has served as a game warden in this area for many years.

Schools In Spotlight

The Texas education system is in the spotlight this week with the annual observance of Texas Schools Week, and schools throughout the county have invited parents and patrons to get a first hand look on their operation.

Here in Matador, Friday has been designated as visitation day but many have visited rooms and departments throughout the week.

School carnival tonight at the high school building is scheduled as one of the principal events in the current term. Delicious home-cooked meals will be served in the home ec department, starting at 6 p. m. The one hour amateur program will include 11 outstanding amateur acts, according to Supt. Bert Ezzell.

Meals for 30c will be served tomorrow at the school cafeteria between the hours of 12:15 and 1 p. m. Visitors who plan to eat lunch at the school are asked to notify Mrs. Arthur Fair in order that advance preparations may be made.

The entire school plant will be open for visitation tonight between 6:30 and 8 p. m. with work done by students on exhibition in each room.

In connection with the School Week program, Douglas Meador, editor of the Tribune was principal speaker Monday night at the regular buffet-supper meeting of Fleming Post, American Legion and Auxiliary.

Judge Back Home From Washington

County Judge Vance H. Gilbreath flew back to Ft. Worth Sunday from Washington, where for five days he was a delegate to the Texas Farmers Union.

Meeting with senators, representatives and other high government officials, Judge Gilbreath takes a dim view of the prospects for the farmer and stockraiser to reap much benefits from the Republican administration.

Gilbreath said Congressman George Mahon told him: "The soil bank plan is merely window dressing for election year." He said the Congressmen declared that 750 million dollars will be charged to the farmer and that he will not reap any benefit from it.

Both houses of Congress were little impressed by President Eisenhower's farm program, Gilbreath declared. He said the farm bill on which it is based had 51 proposed amendments.

One of the amendments would contain incentive payments of direct subsidy on hogs (200 lbs. and less) and cattle (800 lbs. and less).

At the best Gilbreath believes farmers can not hope for more than a 50-50 chance in obtaining a satisfactory farm program. He advises a liberal number of letters written to Sen. Lyndon Johnson immediately, urging his support of profitable farm legislation.

Revival Announced At Roaring Springs

A spring revival will begin at the First Baptist Church, Roaring Springs, Sunday, March 11, at the morning worship hour, 11 o'clock. It was announced this week.

Rev. Taft Holloway of Big Lake, will conduct the meeting. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

VERDICT RETURNED AFTER 20 MINUTES

One of the most sensational civil suits ever tried in Matador reached an abrupt conclusion in the hands of a jury late Thursday afternoon. The five women and seven men on the jury returned a verdict in about 20 minutes, in favor of the proponents, after finding Pioneer Mrs. Pattie Moore of sound mind on November 3, 1948, when a bus made her will. Mrs. Moore died in November, 1955.

The will was filed for probate in County Court here in November. The Ellison family of near Rosebud, Texas filed a contest to have the probate set aside. County Judge Vance H. Gilbreath rendered a judgement admitting the will to probate.

The contestants then appealed to the District Court and the trial was held on their appeal. The trial had been in progress for four days and interest in the case had filled the District Court room to capacity daily.

The will was contested on the grounds that Mrs. Moore was of unsound mind at the time it was executed and the case was submitted to the jury on that issue. Albert Duffern and T. B. Edmondson witnessed the signing of the will.

After the jury's verdict District Judge Alton B. Chapman entered judgement, again admitting the will to probate. It was the first time in Motley county's history that women had served on a jury.

4-H Boy Attends Tractor School

Leo Reed, Flomott 4-H Club member last week attended a two-day tractor school in Childress. The school is sponsored by Stanolind Oil Company and A. and M. Extension Service.

Boys attending the school learned how to reduce repair bills by up to 50% and increase the life of tractors by several years. They learned to protect the average $12,000 farm machinery investment and save from $500 to $1000 per year.

Farm safety was also stressed at the school. A field day will pass on to other members of the Flomott 4-H Club, valuable pointers he received during the training.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Meador and children, Larry and Doug of Plainview visited relatives and friends here Sunday.

A Statement To The Citizens Of Matador

MAYOR of a small municipality is a member of the city council who has a special duty which means that he is chairman of a board of trustees in control of a community's affairs. He has no more real handles of authority than any other member of the council. He has no more real handles of authority than any other member of the council.

Custom established over a period of years has allowed council members a token payment of $10 or $15 per month for the use of their time. Here in West Texas the mayor usually receives exactly the same amount as any other member of the council, frequently in towns ten times the size of Matador.

Taxes of $1,000 per month (if every one pays) and approximately half of the amount must be set aside to meet payments of interest and principal on bonded indebtedness. The city's other sources of revenue are the water department and the sewer department. Full time employees (city secretary, water superintendent, night watchman) probably receive in the neighborhood of $1,000 per month in total salaries.

The city makes a small token payment to its volunteer firemen for each call they answer (intended originally to pay for cleaning clothes after fighting a fire), which amounts to several hundred dollars per year. In addition the city must meet its monthly expenses bills for the various departments to a thousand dollars or more. In many from a few hundred dollars may amount to $50,000 per year. On the other hand the Matador Independent School District handles approximately $100,000 each year. The president of the city. Yet the school board receives no pay. The president of the school board, whose position is comparable to that of the mayor, receives the same as other board members—nothing. I submit to the citizens of Matador this comparison that they may better evaluate the mayor's race during the next few weeks.

Norther Is Duster

Norther which struck the Panhandle late Tuesday, proved to be a "duster", altho Amarillo reported that a few flakes of snow might be found there in the sand and dust.

"Summer weather" which had prevailed here for several days, dropped rapidly after the wind changed from west to north about ten p. m. A "fair" to "medium" sandstorm had been blowing throughout the day. The mercury dropped over 40 degrees within a short while. Early morning was below freezing and the forecast for last night was 20 degrees or lower.

J. D. Spray Enters Sheriff Campaign

The Tribune is authorized to announce the candidacy of J. D. Spray of Matador for the office of Sheriff, Tax Assessor and Collector of Motley county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, July 28, 1956.

In making his announcement Mr. Spray made the following statement: "I feel that I am qualified for the office which I seek and in the event of my election, I promise to devote my abilities most sincerely to the duties which the office requires.

"I have been a resident of Motley county approximately 33 years. I am married and have one son, ten years of age.

"If the people of Motley county elect me as their sheriff, I will promise to be fair and impartial in all my dealings, and to serve in such a manner as to warrant their confidence. I will appreciate the vote and support of everyone, and tender in advance my gratitude to those who can in any manner support my campaign."

New Employee
Mr. and Mrs. Joe Riggings, formerly of Wichita Falls, are new residents in Matador. Mr. Riggings has accepted a position with Household Supply. He is experienced in television installation and repairs.

Lions Elect Queen For District Meet

1956 QUEEN of the Matador Lions Club has been elected but the votes haven't been counted. One of 12 beautiful and talented Matador High School girls was elected Tuesday, but the balloting was secret and the announcement will not be made until Tuesday night, March 20, at the Lions Annual Revue.

The votes are in a sealed ballot box. The box will be opened and the votes will be counted as a closing feature of the revue. Boss Lion John Stevens will crown the Queen, who will represent the Matador club at the annual district convention. Winner of the district convention will be awarded an all-expense-paid trip to Miami, Florida in July, to attend the Lions International convention. Announcement of the Matador Queen will be as much of a surprise to the Lions as it will to the Queen—and the audience.

After an excellent luncheon served Tuesday in the school cafeteria, Matador Lions assembled in the school auditorium where they were assigned an exceedingly pleasant but bewildering task. They were given ballots and asked to vote for one of 12 beautiful girls as their choice for queen.

Lion Bill Seale, who introduced the girls and gave an outline of each girl's high school accomplishments, wanted to elect the entire 12. He explained, however, that only one could be elected, and instructed his fellow Lions to judge 50% on accomplishments and 50% on beauty.

Members of the Independent School Board met Tuesday with the Lions for luncheon in the school cafeteria, and attended the program in the high school auditorium. The school board met after conclusion of the Lions program.

Impressive Address
Dr. Horace Hartsell, associate professor of education at Texas Tech, made the principal address as a feature of observance of Texas Schools Week. Dr. Hartsell said we are in the "blooming period of education" and that many advances are being made in the system.

He stressed the need of education that boys and girls may know the truth of democracy, saying: "Democracy is not proven. It is still on trial." He outlined the change in the entire plan of education which started about 1900.

He cited the American spirit reflected in our school system, declaring: "Taxing ourselves for the support of our schools to provide an education for our children is Americanism."

Pied Pinions

BY MRS. J. M.

GOOD NEIGHBORS are Elmer Smallwood and his sons, Bill and Robert, who recently plowed land for Mrs. George Gray and her son, Kent.

MANY THANKS to ZeZe Luckett for the clown doll—one of the table decorations at the recent Mother-Daughter banquet. Fashioned from an egg, some wire and a hank of yarn, with Christmas tree ornament for a nose, and colorful red and yellow suit, he is quite a character as he waves a greeting to our customers.

AND WE FINALLY uncovered the secret of the GOOK. "She" was the product of the imagination and handwork of Marguerite (Mrs. J. E.) Edwards and Virginia (Mrs. Mike) Hoyle. Her frame was cardboard and her "hide" was made from an old bedspread and matching draperies. The tail was fashioned from old football socks. The ladies also were responsible for the Gook's maneuvering.

Recently, when Randall Whitworth went by the First Methodist Church on an errand, he was surprised to find Lola and Frank Pohl, sitting in the basement, with a bowl of potato salad. When he learned that they were there for "Family Night", he informed them that that affair was scheduled for the following week.

"We had potato salad all that week—for breakfast, dinner and supper," says Frank.

The Tom Kings and the Tom Spears had a fine trip to the west coast and decided to look Los Angeles over before returning home. "How long were you in L. A.?" someone wanted to know.

"Well, we were there about 4 or 5 hours I guess. But we were spending the time trying to get out," was Tom King's reply.

"Koghe Sees—Through A Glass Darkly" is a column in the Muleshoe Journal, written by Carroll Pounney. The writer describes activities there during the BIG SNOW, which were similar to Matador doings, except we forgot to mention about town on groups riding about town on sleds and ladders attached to pickups and tractors. Koghe however, describes the scene in picturesque language thusly:

"Looking real pre-revolutionary, a clutch of Jay-Cees were scooting about the village on what appeared to be a drowsy, or is it troika. At any rate, one almost expected to see a wolf pack bowling along in gay pursuit, while the babushkas and samovars trembled in terror of the pursuing hussars. Well, these Jay-Cees I think it was, because no one else is young enough to have that much energy! had this sled or sleigh, depending on where you came from, and they had it appended to a pickup truck and they were a rootin' and a scootin' about the village like it says back up there a ways. Having fun, no doubt, made us wish we were young and had a samovar or a babushka to take out on a siberian sleigh ride. Oh, it's not all true what they say about those Russian girls either."

"And during the height of the snowstorm Saturday morning, one of the town's leading lights, who shall remain nameless here, was seen floundering through snowbanks up to his armpits. We hailed him in out of the weather, but he refused, saying he urgently had to get out to the grocery store.

"We naturally assumed there was some item of medicine or such that would bring him out in weather like that.

"No, he said, his wife had been out of nutmeg for two days, and he had to go get some."

The Diary of Mary White

November 30, 1955, Wednesday
Disturbing my last minute nap at 6:00 a. m. this morning there came a jarring knock on my back door. Oh, no! Nothing could be urgent enough to get up in the dark and cold at this hour. I peered out of my bedroom door in time to see two native women coming in. They had flashlights so they soon spotted me.

"Is someone sick?" I queried.
"Julia — need burn medicine," said Jessie Amaktlook.
"Jessie, I used all the burn ointment I had when Myrtle was burned. I don't have a thing. Is the burn bad? How did she get it?"

"Her house burn up! She no got clothes — no find Kenneth." In her broken English she had told me the story of the tragedy. Kenneth was my twelve year old fifth grader and fanned by especially fond because he grinned when I teased him and always laughed at my jokes. Catching fire about 5:00 a. m. from a gasoline lamp that my sixteen year old Elsie had tried to refill and light and fanned by a breeze from the north the fire had quickly consumed the largest and nicest house in the village. The mother, Mrs. Julia McCafferty, awakened to realize the fire was between her and the outer door. Frantically she grabbed the twin baby girls, one year of age, and ran. She ran into a half open door and was knocked to the floor. To add to her fright she dropped one of the babies. After feeling all over the floor she found it behind the door. Grabbing the foot she touched first she ran through the blaze dragging the baby. The mother's face and feet were burned and that one baby's hands and chin. The fourteen and sixteen year old girls got out. Three boys were sleeping upstairs. The sixteen and twenty-two year olds ran, going by the twelve year old boy's bed, shaking him and screaming at him to come on. They went out the window. After locating their mother and the girls they turned to look for Kenneth and realized too late that he hadn't come. As I went past the burning embers to the house next door to see about those who were burned I saw the trail of blood left on the frozen snow by the burned, bare feet.

I greased the burns as I had nothing else with which to treat them, then came back and got some of my clothes for the woman and some of Theretha's for the fourteen year old girl. Other women gathered up diapers and clothes for the babies. The may arrived so we left him and his wife to take over and we came back to the quarters to eat a cold breakfast (Theretha had cooked it) and get on the radio and try to get a doctor and some aid for the family. We still have no director in the Nome office but the secretary gave us wonderful help. She promised us the first available plane.
About ten o'clock I went back to see how the patients were doing. For the first time I saw Elsie, the sixteen year old girl. One side of her face was already turned black, one eye was completely closed and her hands were helpless. I felt the icy touch of fear and I fairly flew back up the path and radioed to Nome again. I insisted that I not be responsible for one so badly burned; that I must have a plane at once. The rest of the day was spent searching the skies and listening. The men marked long- or runways on the ice and kept their sleds ready. By two o'clock darkness was closing in and we faced the fact that no plane was coming, for the return trip takes about an hour and there was not an hour of day light left. These bush planes are small one engine affairs and have no instruments for night flying.
December 1, 1955, Thursday
Up at the usual time. Breakfasted, set my lunch to cooking and went to see the patients. Told them to be ready to go if a plane should come. Back to school and that empty desk haunted me all day. As little boys will do he had carved his name on his desk so it was hard to forge whose desk it was. Held our elections and got committees ready to go to work on the Christmas program. Kids all a-dither and teacher sighing a bit for all the confusion that results from practicing, costume making and all the other preparatory work. The plane came about ten o'clock for the patients. What a relief!
Harry came this afternoon and wanted to know what to do with the charred remains of the body. He had taken it away from the dogs who had dragged it out on the ice in the bay and were starting to eat it. SHULDER! We gave him a clean wooden box and he is going to store it in a cache until later when the family is collected enough to make decisions.

JUNIOR JOTTINGS

The juniors have been taking six weeks tests I think some of them even studied for a change. The girls have been working on their State Degrees in Home-making. Four of these girls went to Amarillo Friday and Saturday to the Area FFA Meeting. They were Betty Neighbors, Joanne Darsey, Christine Green, and Barbara Waybourn.
One of the Junior girls is getting married, but I think we will still have her around anyway.
The Junior boys have been working out for track every day after school.
We are also busy getting ready for the Spring Carnival which will be held tonight at Matador High School.

Grade School News

The two first grades of Matador Grade School are getting prepared for the Parent's Visitation of Friday, March 9.
They are very busy decorating their classrooms with pictures of colored animals and other things which they have made this year.
Mrs. Coldiron's first grade class has lost three students.
Eighty per cent of the boys in the world are found on Pribilof Islands off the coast of Alaska.
Are All Cold Remedies Alike?
No! For example, 666 is an activity medicine, which is one of the most effective, is non-sedative, does not cause drowsiness, is non-toxic, and gives positive, rapid relief from numerous ailments. That's why 666 is so popular in effectiveness. Try it. No other cold remedy can match 666 liquid or 666 Cold Tablets. 666

UNUSUAL SQUARE—Genuine Cuban Gook, declared to be the only one in captivity, was exhibited in Matador at the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet here February 21. Mrs. Randall Whitworth, above, ringleader of the "Barndoor-Bailly-Ringless Circus", fearlessly holds the ribbon halter reins of the unusual animal which she said was "harmless", but so difficult to re-move from its native habitat in Cuba that it was necessary to extract the cube-root. A circus move was used as an entertainment feature of the 18th annual banquet attended by more than 250 mothers and daughters. The program was held in the basement of the First Baptist Church and is sponsored by the Matador P. T. A.

Other features of the entertainment are shown at right: upper left panel, the harmonists, as trapeze artists, Christene Green, Raynita Dunning, Sue McCaghren and Bess Neighbors; and right, Mrs. Bill McCaghren, as the Wild Woman. In lower panel, Mrs. Bill Pipkin, one of the ringleaders, kept the audience entertained with her alarm clock and parasol, while three of the har-monists look on. At right are Vella Hee Edwards (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Edwards) and Christina Damron, (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Damron) as "slack rope" walkers.

Rev. and Mrs. Coy Finley were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Etheredge. Sunday guests in the Etheredge home were Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Davis and sons, Kenneth and Danny.

A&M OFFERS 75 SCHOLARSHIPS

Seventy-five or more 4-year scholarships will be offered by Texas A&M College this spring.

according to County Agent Bill Palmeyer. Scholarships will provide from $200 to $400 per year for four years, depending on the amount of assistance each boy may require.

Student employment plus the scholarships will provide ample financial aid for a boy during the four-year period. Selections are based on each candidate's character, evidence of leadership and need of financial aid, with funds being provided by the Association of Former Students.

Applications must be received at A&M by April 1. Blanks are available from high school principal and at the office of the county agent. At present 308 boys are attending A&M on scholarships. They come from every size high school in the state. Examinations will be given at College Station during two Saturdays in May, with grades determining the boys to be selected. The tests cover subjects offered in high school. Military training is optional.

A STATEMENT . . .

could not keep from raising my own taxes. I am an average citizen and I don't want to pay any more taxes than necessary. I refuse to make any promises except that I will serve as a member of the council to help administer the affairs of this community to the best of our combined abilities. I will accept the same pay as other members of the council which is $10 per month—the pay received by the mayor of Wichita Falls.

My critics have said that I was a "do nothing" mayor. I accept the accusation for myself, but voice a protest in defense of the public-spirited citizens who served with me on the council during the six-year period.

For many years before I became mayor I had advocated the purchase of the city sewer system from the Southwestern Sewer Company. One of the first accomplishments of the council was to secure the passage of an $85,000 revenue bond issue and purchase the system for $37,000 with the balance of the issue being used to engineer, extend and improve both the water and sewer systems. This included the construction of a 100,000-gallon storage reservoir on the city property and doubling the main lines to the elevated storage tank.

A few months before the council purchased the sewer system the rate had been raised from $1.50 per month to $2 per month. This was done by an ingenious discount plan on statements, and could have been raised to $2.50 per month without permission of the council. We reduced sewer charges to the old rate. Approximately $100 per month for sewer use alone in eight years has been about $18,000. It requires $400 per month to retire the sewer revenue bonds indebtedness and the balance goes into the city treasury. This has averaged over $100 per month for about eight years or over $9,000. Thus this piece of "do nothing" action during my administration had saved the citizens of Matador in the neighborhood of $25,000. It did not raise taxes and city property can never be made taxable for the bond issue. The water and sewer systems were improved and someday the City of Matador will own the sewer system free of debt. (Figures and dates are approximate but are a matter of record.)

Later in the course of events a plan was offered the city to strip paved residential streets at a minimum cost to be paid by the property owners. We offered the plan to the people of Matador, hoping that we might pave eight or ten blocks. We offered to pave the intersections at the project had been completed 34 blocks had been paved and the city had exhausted its current funds in paying for the intersections. One member of my council offered the city a loan of $1,000 (provided he not receive any interest) but we managed (by skipping a few bills and salaries) to get through the crisis.

In cooperation with the Lions club we placed permanent street signs on all city streets and numbered the business houses and homes. We made a contract with the West Texas Utilities Company to light the city park and streets without cost in the use of street and alley tax which the firm pays. We placed a second topping on the 20 blocks (voted paving which was constructed the year I first entered office.)

We met with officials of the Volunteer Fire Department to consider the purchase of a badly needed fire truck. The outlook seemed hopeless unless extra taxes were voted, yet we hit upon a plan which worked so well we had a new $10,000 modern fire truck within two months after we started. We had friends who helped us in each project.

During the last year of my administration we were confronted with a water shortage. Again through the assistance of friends and with the best management we were able to collect, we dug a new well, installed a new pump and new lines, costing approximately $7,500.

We realized a need for a permanent garbage and trash clean-up system, purchased a truck and employed a man to operate it. We operated it on a volunteer pay basis, but the cost has since been added to the water bill (a move which I approve because too many were "riding free"). These are some of the things which I can remember as being a part of my "do-nothing" administration.

Were I a candidate for a place on the school board, I would not solicit votes. I feel the same way about the office for which I have announced. Some friends have said they are going to conduct a campaign for me, which is agreeable if they wish. On the other hand, if the people of Matador want me as their mayor, I will consider it a great honor. I will serve as well as I can, but in event the majority of the voters feel that Matador can best be served by a full time mayor at five times the pay of city council members, I will accept their decision without rancor or ridicule, and be content to be a citizen.

Douglas Meador.

Air Force Sets Up Observance Plans

Sgt. C. R. Hadaway of the US Air Force was here Tuesday in connection with county observance posts as a part of GOC (Ground Observer Corps). He has been scheduled to speak at the next regular meeting of the Matador Lions Club.

He closed his impressive address with a quotation from Horace Mann: "Be ashamed to die unless you have contributed something worthwhile to humanity."

Rehearsal of the Lions annual revue is scheduled to start Sunday afternoon, it was announced by Director Bill Seale. Casts for the various divisions of the show were also made public at the meeting.

Seale said the show this year is going to surpass that of former years in variety, hilarious incidents and displays. Music will be provided by the "Hop Cats".

Lions will appear in most of the divisions, including a bathing revue, a style revue and conduct the candy sales. A large array of prizes will be awarded.

Each division being responsible for a separate phase of the show, will go into extensive rehearsals next week in order to have the production ready for March 20.

Girls who competed for the Queen of the Revue, were: Raynita Dunning, Mickie Steen, Charlotte Campbell, Lucretia Edwards, Frances McMahan, Joanne Darsey, Patti Craven, Sue McCaghren, Frances Lancaster, Christine Green, Betty Neighbors and Kay Norman.
