City Hit By Storm

A spring storm that later developed into a "dilly" sandstorm struck Matador during the early hours of Monday morning.

Arriving from the southwest, the high winds were accompanied by rain, hail, lightning and dust. Precipitation measurement was .08-inch, but at Roaring Springs 3.8-inch was registered.

The winds (estimated to have reached 80 miles per hour) resulted in some damage throughout the city. A large pole supporting a 66,000-volt power line was snapped in east Matador and electrical service was suspended for a brief period.

A garage on the Joe Meador place in northwest Matador was unroofed. The roofing was blown across the street resulting in some damage to the C. R. Davis home.

Several television aerials were damaged or wrecked. A sheet-roofed barn was demolished on the Rep. Elbert Reeves farm and other damage to farm buildings was reported.

A second sandstorm struck from the west Monday afternoon and reduced visibility to near zero. The wind changed to the north during the night and temperatures dropped several degrees.

Tornado Near Miss?

Later reports indicate that Matador and vicinity may have narrowly escaped a severe tornado early Monday morning. Many chicken houses, barns and other buildings have been reported destroyed. More than one resident has reported seeing a funnel-shaped cloud which "dangled just above the tree tops" but did not drop its point to the earth. The funnel cloud has been reported as very large and dark, and sharply defined against the dust-laden night sky.

Mayor Returned in Close City Election

CALF SHOW PLANS ALMOST COMPLETE

Plans for the annual Motley County Junior Fat Stock Show, April 21, are almost completed, according to County Agent Bill Pallmeyer.

The show will start at 1 p. m. in the high school agricultural building. The animals will later be loaded on a truck and shipped direct to Ft. Worth market.

Boys and girls will follow their projects the next day for a trip to the "Cowtown" market, packing houses and sightseeing. Plans have been made for the group to make a tour of General Motors plants in the vicinity.

Judges for the show have been secured, Mr. Pallmeyer declared and other arrangements completed. He said sufficient funds are on hand from last year's show to provide the cash prizes.

McWilliams Winner By 10-Vote Margin

Mayor W. L. McWilliams was re-elected to his second term Tuesday in one of the closest mayor's races in Matador's history. Mayor McWilliams received 175 votes to Tribune editor Douglas Meador's 165 votes. A total of 341 votes were polled.

Jack Norman, manager of West Texas Utilities Co. local office received 292 votes (unopposed to be re-elected as city councilman.) Billy Wason (unopposed) received 302 votes to be re-elected as the second member of the council. A. L. Calk (unopposed) received 336 votes to be re-elected as city marshal.

McWilliams defeated Meador two years ago after the native-born editor had served six years in office. Meador did not campaign in the race which ended Tuesday except in his newspaper, advocating that the mayor's salary be cut from $50 to $10 per month, the amount received by members of the council.

The election Tuesday did not set a voting record, although it was among the three highest in number of votes ever cast. The largest number of voters ever to go to the polls in Matador, was in April, 1952 when 380 votes were cast. That year L. M. Cox (a write-in) defeated Mrs. Gertrude Bloodworth for city secretary with a margin of 18 votes. In that election Meador (unopposed) received 370 votes.

In 1950 city election a total of 357 votes were polled. In April 1954, a total of 323 voters went to the city polls. In 1948 the total vote was 285.

Grocery Firm Sold

A deal was culminated Monday whereby Marvin Smith, formerly of Childress purchased Ike's Grocery on Highway 70. The store, established by the late Ike Rushing, had been operated since his death by Mr. and Mrs. Chant Lee.

Mr. Smith said the store would continue to operate under the established name of Ike's Grocery. The public is extended a cordial invitation to visit the store and meet the new owner.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their one child will move to Matador to make this their future home. Mr. and Mrs. Lee said they had not made any immediate decision as to future plans.

Fire Chief Warns Of Trash Burning

Fire Chief Freddie Welling, in a brief talk at the Lions meeting Tuesday, warned of the dangers in burning trash, especially when wind is involved.

"For several months we have been fighting carelessness," the Chief declared, "since most of the fires have resulted from burning trash and dry grass. Each fire alarm is expensive to the city, costing from $20 to $40 or more. Members of the volunteer department are forced to quit their work and usually spend additional time in 'cleaning up' after the alarm before they resume their duties."

"In almost every instance, the fire and call could have been prevented," Chief Welling said, "we must urge the residents to use greater care. If it is necessary to burn trash, wait until there is no wind, then stand by with a garden hose and extinguish every trace before leaving the scene."

Roaring Springs Boy Develops 20-Acre Model Wild Life Conservation Plot

A Roaring Springs FFA student, Jerry Green, has developed 20 acres into a model wild life conservation project. Starting two years ago, he posted the acreage with "no hunting" signs and refrains from hunting himself. He plants various grasses in the tilled land near the site, and allows fence rows to grow up in order to provide cover for the quail and to provide feed for the quail and baby turkeys. A native wild plum thicket and other bushes provide a protective cover for the birds. The refuge population includes Bob White and a few quail, wild turkey and a few deer.

Each year the young farmer plows around the plum bushes to kill out the grass and allow

Junior Class Play Is Creepy

If audience reaction is a criterion of the success of a performance, then the junior class play "The Scarecrow Creeps" Tuesday night, must be judged as "among the best."

Directed by Bill Moss, class sponsor, the cast offered excellent performance and kept the audience in "creepy" if hilarious suspense.

Adam Throgg, the Butler (Pat Groves) of course turned out to be the villain as Roderick Gage (Arvin Ellithorp) Master of Gage Manor, contrived to clear his name of a criminal reputation in the eyes of his relatives. He was aided by the darkey hired hand Trailing Arbatus (A. B. Simpson) without the knowledge of his dotting mother, Aunt Zinna (Washington), the cook, (Raynita Dunning). Zany remarks by Maudie Hobbs, the maid (Betty Neighbors) brought gales of laughter while "spiritual" observations by Miss Amelia Gage, Roderick's first cousin (Christene Green) created a macabre atmosphere. Norma Gage, her niece (Joanne Darsey), Dr. Ken Gage, (Leon Hughes), and Fredrick Gage (Charlie Renfro), Roderick's nephews, provided a romantic angle to the situation. Perry's mother, Mrs. Annabelle Gage (Barbara Waybourn) contributed merriment to impossible situation, and completed the cast with characters. Clay Jameson served as property man.

Unexpected Tops List As Cause Of Highway Accidents

The "unexpected" situation is the top cause of accidents in motor vehicles, according to Patrolman E. B. McKnight speaking Tuesday to members of the Matador Lions Club in regular meeting.

As principal speaker following the luncheon held in the Methodist Church basement, Patrolman McKnight cited the frightful toll of lives and property taken each year by the more than 60,000,000 vehicles in the United States and 31-million in Texas. He said the annual average is 250,000 accidents, the state which claimed 2,547 lives in 1955 and caused an estimated loss of $200,000,000.

"It is the unexpected condition, not speed that causes the largest number of accidents," Patrolman McKnight declared, "although speed is frequently a factor that causes the unexpected condition. Surveys show that 97% of the accidents are caused by the individual driver—driver error. An attempt to save

County Gets 2nd Officer

Motley county now has two uniformed Highway Patrol officers stationed here on regular duty. Last week L. R. (Buck) Smith assumed his duties as a member of the county's "two-man force", with Patrolman E. B. McKnight.

Patrolman Smith has recently completed the training in the Highway Patrol school. He was reared at Guthrie in King county and said he requested that he be stationed here. "I always wanted to live in Matador", he declared. The two officers will use one unit of transportation, a police car provided by the Highway Patrol Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have moved to Matador to make this their future home. Mrs. Smith was reared at Paducah.

Five Generations Have Meeting Here

Five generations were together here Sunday, when a daughter of Mrs. Henry Thompson, together with her family, visited from Floydada.

Representing the five generations were Mrs. Thompson and her father, Charlie Cartwright, of Matador; the daughter, Mrs. Frank Webb, her daughter, Mrs. Buddy Widener and small son, James Lloyd Widener, Jr. all of Floydada.

Messrs Webb and Widener accompanied them here.

Easter Visitors Swell Attendance At Local Churches

All churches of the city reported capacity congregations Sunday at morning Easter services, with many visitors from out of town in attendance. Sunday School attendance exceeded the anticipated goals in several instances.

An Easter Cantata, "Crosses and Fine Linen" by the Church choir was presented at the Methodist Church at the evening hour. Mrs. G. E. Hamilton directed the presentation, with Miss Roberta Jameson at the organ and Frank Trawick at the piano. Mrs. J. R. Whitworth was reader.

Soloists were Mrs. W. F. Jacobs, Mrs. Glenn Woodruff Charlotte Campbell, Frances McMahon and J. R. Whitworth.

Baptismal rites were administered for three infants in the morning service: Rodney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Williams, Paula, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pallmeyer, and Tanya, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Meador.

Johnnie Vaughn and son, Bill of Fort Worth, were recent business visitors here.

It will be a ten-calf match. A $25 two-calf average will also be held. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50c for children under 12.

Former Resident Falls, Breaks Hip

Mrs. Lee Nelson of Lubbock, former Matador resident, is a patient in West Texas Hospital (room 426) as a result of a fall Saturday in which she broke her right hip. Mrs. Nelson fell at the back door of her home but managed to make her way back in the house to call her husband.

A sister-in-law, Mrs. Roy Smith and Mrs. Hub Swearingen, accompanied by Mrs. Nelson's brother, Vernon Gregory of Spur, drove to Lubbock Tuesday to visit at her bedside. Her condition was declared as well as could be expected.

This latest calamity in the Nelson family is another added to a series of tragedies in recent years. One of their sons-in-law was permanently crippled in an automobile accident several years ago; a small grandson has polio, and they lost their only son last fall in a military plane accident in the Pacific.

The Diary of Mary White

December 31, 1955

Another day of leisure! But they are fast drawing to a close. One more day of freedom then back to the old routine. I know the natives are planning a big celebration tonight. Once I contemplated taking part but the thermo says forty below, so I am going to bid the New Year welcome from beneath my warm blankets. I do pray that it will be a good year and that it brings with it wisdom to make the decisions that we will have to make in the summer of '57. See you next year!

January 1, 1956, Sunday

Good morning on this sunny new day of the first of the new year. No Sunday School and church this morn. The village was asleep. They held church services from ten until twelve last night, then whooped in the new year. It was exactly forty below but voices rang all over the village until between two and three a.m. The noisiest thing was the National Guard boys shooting their rifles. They had no fireworks and the church bell is cracked so its sound doesn't carry very far.

(Editor's Note: Remaining excerpt from this entry describing the arrival of a plane which brought the package from the Matador Lions Club, was published in the Tribune's issue of February 2).

January 2, 1956, Monday

I have a new bread cook, Grace Jemewook, and I am as pleased as punch because I know she will do a nice job. My other cook moved to Nome. It is Hans Jemewook, Grace's husband who runs the projector for our movies at night. He returned in October from a four-year stay in a T.B. Sanatorium. He was at death's door when he left Elim and no one expected to see him alive again. He returned weighing one hundred sixty pounds and is the picture of health. When I see him and his wife and their little five year old Johnny so happy together and realize that Federal funds gave man back his health, a wife her husband, and a little boy his daddy, I am proud of my country and glad to pay taxes. They are a very nice couple and so grateful for the helping hand.

January 3, 1956, Tuesday

We did a little better today. Only eight people tardy. I made the rule as follows: Late to school one day; can not come to the movie that week. That has teeth in it for they live for the movies.

The story of my fourth grade reading class today could turn out to be a "whale of a tale". The story was about a big van and the little boy who got a ride with his father on one trip through city streets and down the highway. I drew trucks on the blackboard, showed them what part was called the tires, the headlights, the cab, etc. I made traffic lights, street signs and highway signs. I showed them how to signal with the hand and arm.

After an exhausting try on my part I asked them which was the front bumper and which was the tail-gate. Ah! You guessed it. They did not know. There is nothing in their environment called a bumper, the nearest thing to a gate is a door and Eskimo houses don't have back doors. Besides all that, I'm no artist so I guess it was excusable if they marked all their sentences about traffic regulations wrong.

Went across the village tonight to give a penicillin shot. It was cold out. When I got back the hairs on the wolf ruff of my parka were a mass of tiny, bristling icicles where my breath had hit them. 'Twas invigorating though and made those French fries for supper taste really good. We are discovering what this furnace is for. We don't have any windows open tonight.

January 4, 1956, Wednesday

The rule about no movie really got results. I opened the door and rang the bell at eight-forty. They almost ran over me as they came pouring into the hall. I have the cutest little first grader named Rosie. She has been late every day since I can remember. I looked at her and said, "Why, here's Rosie and she's not late today."

She looked up at me, grinned so cute and said, "Mrs. White, we got up last night."

I thought the comment was priceless. If one gets to school by nine o'clock it is dark when he gets up.

At the morning recess, while I was giving a last minute touch to the lunch, Ernest Saccheus came in and said, "Mrs. White the baby cried all night."

Now doctors don't always know what is making the month old babies cry and I didn't want to even hazard a guess. Finally, after many questions I gave him some ear drops and a thermometer with instructions that if the baby had fever I would come own at noon and give it some penicillin.

Sailing along about eleven-fifteen this morning, I was right in the middle of one of my explosive explanations when R. W. opened the door and crooked his finger, saying in that universal sign language, "come". I trailed him back into the living room and there stood the U. S. Marshall. Oh dear, that unpleasant scene was about to take place! However, he only questioned, got some sworn statements and visited the girl's parents today.

In the lunch room were the man's wife and the girl's grandmother calmly working side by side. I wondered what they were thinking for I know they saw the Marshall and knew who he was.

Rushed down as soon as I cleared with the Marshall, gave the baby a shot and rushed back to school. Charlie was my teacher while I was gone. He had the room fairly well settled and had Luther, another seventh grader, reading to the primary children.

Taught until four o'clock, then stayed in and helped some slow pokes finish until four thirty. Was almost too tired to ladle my tomato soup up to my mouth at supper.

Announcement: R. W. Fixed the pressure pump! He doesn't know what the h--- he did but he fixed it. It now raises the pressure in a matter of minutes where as it used to take hours and everyone had to go easy with the electricity until the pump shut off. I think that is triumph enough to retire on.

Going to bed. So I can get up last night like Rosie said. (to be continued)

Happy Ending With A "Familiar Ring"

Buck Howell says he and his Missus had quite a time at the Stockman's Convention in Chicago. But for a while they had a "breakdown in communications". The phone bell in their hotel room was pitched so low they often didn't answer their calls. "Never knew if it was for us or not," Buck said, "always sounded far off—like it was ringing in someone else's room."

long rings and a short—their party-line signal back home. From where I sit, our own familiar routines tend to make other ways of doing things seem strange. That's natural. For instance, if you've always had ice water with your meals, you might think it's odd that lots of us prefer a bottle of beer at dinner-time. I say you've a right to your own customs... but don't call mine wrong.

Finally, Buck hit on the obvious solution. He just made a deal with the hotel switchboard operator that whenever she called them she'd use two

Modern family minus electricity

What would you do without low-cost electric service in your home? Well—you could use candles. And build fires. And use elbow grease for all the jobs Reddy Kilowatt does automatically. If you did, you would be reminded quickly—and forcefully—how much your electric service does at such low costs for each of the many jobs. Your electric service is the biggest bargain in your family budget. What else gives you so much value in comfort, health, ease and fun? Keeping your electric service high in usefulness, low in cost is the main job of your electric service company.

Anniversary Party Is Surprise For Frank Montgomerys

Returning home from dinner out, and a short visit with their friends Representative and Mrs. Elbert Reeves, Thursday night, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Montgomery were surprised to find a number of other friends congregated at their home to greet them. The occasion was their thirtieth wedding anniversary, and the party in progress had been arranged by their daughter, Bette Fran.

A golden motif was used in table appointments, the decorated cake and background floral arrangement on the buffet. Miss Ruth Marie Stanley assisted in serving coffee and cake.

The ceremony which united Miss Mollie Luenby and Frank Montgomery, on March 28, 1926, was performed in Matador by the late Rev. C. D. Pipkin as the couple sat in their automobile in front of his house. They have been residents of the county all their lives, and of Matador for the past several years.

Those present included Rep. and Mrs. Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Clements, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Campbell, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Darsey, Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pipkin and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Meador of Matador, Mr. and Mrs. Joe N. Dunn and daughter, Snow Drop, and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Robertson of Floydada.

IN APPRECIATION
I wish to take this means of expressing my sincere appreciation for cards, visits and letters which I received during my recent illness and hospitalization. Your kindnesses meant more than words can express.

PIED PINIONS

By Mrs. M.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY Greetings today to Mike Groves, Patti Craven, Karmen Jenkins, Dean Shotta, T. E. Camack, Brenda Moore, Mother (Mrs. A. A. Tip-ton) and last but not least, our littlest nephew, David Crider of Odessa, who is celebrating his first birthday.

Patti and Karmen, 15, are twins; and Brenda Moore is one of three grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bumpus of Cee Vee, who were born on April 5. The others are: Kathy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lunsford of Leveland; Mrs. Lunsford is the former Katie Bumpus; and Jerry Forcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Forcher of Wichita Falls, who was born in Germany and is now 3 years old. Mrs. Forcher is the former Betty Bumpus, and Mrs. Moore is the former Billy Bumpus.

APOLOGIES to Christene Green, whose name was inadvertently omitted last week in listing the names of junior girls who have passed their tests for state degrees in homemaking. The girls really worked hard on this project, and spent the entire night at the school, one recent Friday, to complete it. They left the building at 8 a. m. and several were scheduled to go to Leveland that Saturday for interscholastic League choral events. Not all were permitted to go, after being up all night, but some who did go were in the group which won a "first" rating on their song, "One God."

If Northfield and Flomot residents didn't have a little confused this week in reading their news, we hasten to explain that a Flo-mat head got printed over the Northfield items, and no one noticed the error until the press run was finished. We won't attempt to explain how it happened, or who was responsible.

"The flag is the guardian of your hopes and dreams . . . under its protection you have the right to expect your dreams to be realized. I must remind you, however, that the liberty for which the flag is a symbol, was purchased with the life blood of many men . . . some of them were once seniors at Flomot, Matador and Roaring Springs."

Corsages and ribbons in the school colors for each of the three graduation classes were contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Seale, managers of the Matador Floral Company.
