

Trail Dust

Twenty-nine years ago today, before a jeering world, against the advice of their friends, two men accomplished one of the world's greatest achievements.

There is no problem that confronts the world today as great as the problems that stood in the way of these two men. With the courage of their convictions they blazed a trail into the wilderness of impossibility.

We have no more skies to conquer but we have great problems that need the courage and determination of men like the Wright Brothers.

A story in last Sunday's newspaper reveals the fact that Postmaster General Brown could not wear his tall silk hat on formal occasions in the new Lincoln.

HOME TO SORROW

Going home to Sorrow— Once I ran away; Had lured me with her smile and immediately for New York, where he ultimately landed on the stage.

When you meet a spirit smiling when you've wended by them all, smile one who only follows Joy and a weed outside a wall.

POSTMASTER OFFERS SUGGESTIONS TO AID CHRISTMAS MAILING

Postmaster H. L. Goodwin offers the following suggestions to postoffice patrons with the view of the increased demands on the postoffice department in package delivery during the holidays.

First: Use a medium grade of manila wrapper as outside wrapper over your Christmas foil or paper. This will insure the package to reach its address and by merely removing the outside paper the Christmas decorations will be intact.

Second: Use a strong string and tie securely to avoid slipping.

Third: Write or print the address plainly on the wrapper.

Particular precaution against the use of Christmas paper as an outside wrapper is stressed, due to its weakness and the usual difficulty it presents sticking address labels and stamps to the postoffice is authorized not to accept packages which are so insecurely wrapped as to make delivery impossible or at all doubtful.

Postmaster Goodwin stated the patrons of the Roaring Springs office had been very careful in package wrapping during the past Christmas season, that not a single complaint was received.

FALSE DEATH REPORT ENDS NEWS CAREER

So Charles Butterworth Turned To Acting; With Chevalier in "Love Me Tonight"

Accuracy, Charles Butterworth, has learned, is the main thing in journalism.

The unsmiling comedian, featured with Maurice Chevalier in "Love Me Tonight" which comes to the Texan Theatre on Friday and Saturday was a reporter on the South Bend, Indiana, Times for several months after his graduation from Notre Dame University.

For one day he reported the death of a citizen, and the following day that citizen, who hadn't been considerate enough to die and thus justify the report, came raging into the office.

HOME TO SORROW

Going home to Sorrow— Once I ran away; Had lured me with her smile and immediately for New York, where he ultimately landed on the stage.

Buterworth left South Bend immediately for New York, where he ultimately landed on the stage. From there he went into pictures.

In "Love Me Tonight," he plays the role of a dull but gentlemanly nobleman, seeking the hand of Jeanette MacDonald, an aristocrat too. Chevalier, a mere tailor, after an amusing but romantic sequence of events which eliminates the difference in rank.

Rouben Mamoulian directed the picture. Charlie Ruggles and Myrna Loy have other leading roles.

Every member is urged to be present at each service of the church. In so doing you place yourself in attitude for God to bless.

HUTSON-CARGILE

Miss Lorain Hutson and Mr. H. P. Cargile were united in marriage at the home of Mrs. R. J. Woods, three miles west of Roaring Springs, Sunday, December 11, at 1 p. m., by Rev. Burnam of White Flat.

The bride is the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutson, and is admired by her many friends and acquaintances for her charming personality.

Mr. Cargile is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Cargile, a successful young farmer, well known and well liked.

The News joins with the many friends of this young couple to wish them a long and happy married life.

CALLED TO ABILENE

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Hurst were called Thursday night to the bedside of their son, Lance Hurst, who has a severe case of influenza. Lance is a ministerial student in the McMurry College at Abilene.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

"One ship goes East, another West, by the selfsame winds that blow, 'Tis the set of the sail and not the gale, That determines the way they go."

Jazz is swearing put to music. Forget jazz and go to prayer meeting and the church worship. So uniformly the American people forget God; religion and the church is placed on the side track and pleasure and profit given the main line and we ran into the "Depression."

December 18, at 10:45 a. m., sermon topic, "The Man Nobody Knows." At 7 p. m., "The Revival Under Hezekiah." Read about it in 2 Kings, 18 to 20 chapters. God lengthened Hezekiah's life fifteen years, 2 Kings, 20:6.

"The name of the wicked shall rot," Proverbs 10:7. Moral: Live righteously, exalt Christ and His Church. The Christian sees more on his knees than the philosopher on tiptoe, yet a lot of Church members are hobbling about on crutches, Ephesians 5:14.

Knowing the ages of rocks is not nearly as important as to know "The Rock of Ages," Psalms 61:2.

BEN WEST, Minister.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and assistance during the illness and death of our beloved baby, Vera Clarice. May God's richest blessing rest upon you, is our prayer.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any individual, firm, concern, or corporation that may appear in the columns of The News will be gladly corrected when called to the attention of the editor. It is not the intention of this newspaper to wrongly use or injure any individual, firm, concern or corporation and corrections will be made when warranted as prominently as was the wrong published, reference or article.

There is glory enough for any man to live and die a Texan.

Less than 50 years ago the United States had its full share of strictly local dishes, like Boston baked beans, Philadelphia scrapp, New England clam chowder, or Columbia River salmon. The natives of each section were proud of their local dishes. But the printed word has spread the knowledge of these dishes until they are no longer local—one can buy as good Boston beans in San Francisco as on Beak Bay. That peculiarly American institution known as advertising provided the principal medium through which these exchanges of local dishes and delicacies were effected.
Its clarion cry aroused an entire nation's desire for dishes which were once restricted to relatively small sections. The bean pot grew to enormous proportions as a result of the influence of advertising. New Orleans parlins invaded Peoria, and Vermont maple syrup flowed through every state in the Union. Americans are justifiably proud that today anyone who can travel as far as the corner grocery can purchase the finest delicacies that any section of the country can produce. And just as advertising served in the past by giving the nation a diversified choice of things to eat, by raising manufacturing standards and by enriching the cuisine of the country, it is serving today by giving constant and dependable prices. Moreover, so high is the standard of advertising ethics today that the mere fact of its appearance in the printed page has come to be an endorsement and a guarantee of every statement contained therein.

When times of stress come upon nations its people become panicky, and some of the suggestions made for bringing things back to a normal basis are really ridiculous. One such suggestion was recently made and given prominence in a magazine of wide circulation.
It was this: That all farm work, with its consequent production, be absolutely done away with for a period of twelve months all over the United States. The author this masterful brainstorm stated by doing this thing the next time crops were raised and placed on the market there would be such a demand for them a more than good price would be paid, thus bringing the country back to a plane of high prosperity. The writer, however, said nothing about the thousands of men and women who engage in the various forms of agriculture for a livelihood. He failed to tell the world how his bright plan would keep these thousands going for twelve long idle months, with absolutely no source of income to keep the wolf from their door. He failed to explain how they would eat; how they would obtain clothing for their families, and for themselves; how they would be given homes in which to be sheltered from the ravages of the bitter winter which is fast settling down upon the country. All this, apparently, was left to conjecture, and were he, the writer of such outlandish and unreasonable friction to be forced to try the practical side of such a suggestion with the thermometer hovering around and below the zero mark; with shivering body and empty stomach clamoring for the necessities of life, all the theory would be soon be knocked out of his story by downright, practical starvation. Such nonsense as this will never bring the country back to a firm financial footing. This is going to have to be done by Americans realizing this country should be reserved mainly for Americans, and that the Americans themselves should decide to elect men to their law-making bodies who will have the interests of the Americans at heart instead of those of the Europeans. When the American law makers quit playing politics and study how to serve their constituents, then America will once again be prosperous; her people will have work, and want will not stalk abroad in the land.

on a Federal Court sentence.

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

Imprinted on these little Christmas seals
Are two small children, carolling
in the night:
Two happy, ruddy children, but
alas,

There are so many who lie wan
and white Needing the care that your bright coins can bring—Buy Christmas seals that they may live and sing.

Buy Christmas seals—that others
may have hope:
That those who give their service
may have cheer.
There is a foe to fight—help con-

Help bid the land forever of this year.

It is so little we are asked to do:
Just buy these Christmas seals—
I will; will you?

INJUNCTION DISSOLVED

The dissolution of the Ferguson injunction by the Third Court Civil Appeals and the Attorney General's pressure for immediate disposition of the case on its merits constitute the best evidence both of the integrity and legal soundness of the Highway Commission's action in proceeding to the early letting of contracts for road construction. The commission will probably wait despite rather general opinion that the path has been entirely cleared. The bids held up by injunction have already been opened and compared, a few hours' work will complete the job.

The Attorney General is right in arguing immediate trial of the case on its merits in District Court, since that procedure only can clear up with finality the legal points involved in the controversy. But, if he fails finally to seek early disposition of the case, he needed the injunction to prevent present expenditure and to hold over nearly $4,000,000 in construction for a road under a Ferguson administration. Proceedings in the District Court might not be concluded before the change in government occurs; consequently that particular highway $4,000,000 would be water over the mill.

Judge McClendon has ruled "in matters of judgment as to the commission's functions, not that of another, is supreme." He said "certainly the acts, other than those of a ministerial nature, should not be placed at the hands of the courts, and the important functions of the department impeded or impaired" except on abuse of authority. The latter the court does not find shown in mere affidavit offered on information and belief.

Texas has had for six years now a remarkable Highway commission, which has been in charge of the greatest business enterprise ever undertaken by this commonwealth. It has made some mistakes in judgment, as inexperienced executives will, but it has spent millions with rigid integrity and in pursuit of a generally successful effort to give the State a great highway system at minimum cost for best results. Dissolution of the Ferguson injunction permits it to accomplish unimpeded what will probably be its last official act of major importance, as it is now constituted. —Dallas News.

Truthful Liar
Again on Air

On Wednesday evening, December 7, Carveth Wells, well-known explorer and often referred to as the "Truthful Liar" of radio-land, will inaugurate another series of "Exploring America with Conoco and Carveth Wells" broadcasts over an N. B. C. network of 25 stations.

The Carveth Wells half-hour programs, which are sponsored by Continental Oil Company, will be on the air every Wednesday evening for the next 20 weeks. The first few programs will be devoted to foreign lands which the famous globe-trotter has visited, and the remainder will deal with the tourist attractions of our own nation. The December 7 program, for example, describes a 15,000-mile jaunt through northern and eastern Europe during the past summer, as well as an 11,000-mile airplane trip over the United States just recently completed to gather information for Conoco broadcasts.

HOOVER EXTENDS LIFE OF R. F. C. ONE YEAR

Washington, Dec. 8.—President Hoover late Thursday issued a proclamation extending until Jan. 22, 1934, the period during which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation may make loans.

The proclamation extended the life of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation one year. The original law under which it was formed set Jan. 22, 1933, as the date of the expiration of its functioning.

ONLY ONE NEW ELECTION OFFICIAL TO BE SEATED

Austin, Texas, Dec. 9.—Only one new elective State official will assume office Jan. 1, he being L. A. Woods of Waco, who will become State Superintendent of Schools, succeeding L. W. Rogers, who was appointed when C. N. Shaver resigned. Shaver was appointed following the death of S. M. N. Marrs and was defeated for the nomination by Woods.

All other elective State officials will succeed themselves in new terms, but a general exodus of appointive officials is expected after Jan. 17, when Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson takes office.

Shreveport, La., Dec. 8.—Four unidentified and uncaptured men who trussed up R. T. Collins, wealthy 70-year-old farmer, and his family, ransacked their house six miles south of El Dorado, Ark., and obtained $11.50 in cash, a shotgun, rifle and pistol, overlooked $10,000 which was in the Collins residence.

SOVIET REFUSES TO MAKE APOLOGY BRITAIN DEMANDS

London, Dec. 8.—Disclaiming any responsibility, the Soviet Government has refused Great Britain's demand for an apology for accusations against the British intelligence service published in the Moscow newspaper Izvestia, official organ of the Soviet administration.

Information about the Russian refusal was obtained Thursday from a high authority. The British protest concerned accusations by Izvestia that the intelligence service instructed agents in Riga, Latvia, to prove by real or bogus documents that the recent hunger marchers' demonstrations in Britain were directed from Moscow.

The Soviet Ambassador, it was learned, took the position that his Government could not be held responsible for articles printed in Izvestia, as responsibility was vested in editorial board. This board, in the Soviet view, is not an official body and Izvestia itself is an official publication only in so far as it circulates the Government's proclamations.

It was understood the Soviet Ambassador refrained from expressing agreement with the Izvestia article to which Britain objected.

Capt. Anthony Eden, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, revealed in the House of Commons Wednesday that the British Government had demanded an apology.

CHILD CREMATED IN HOTEL FIRE

Chickasha, Ok., Dec. 8.—Panic-stricken, five persons and a father and mother leaped from the second floor of a burning hotel here Wednesday night, leaving the couple's 2-year-old son to die in the flames. The mother, Mrs. Hastor Mahon, was injured in the jump and died Thursday, and the father was perhaps fatally injured.

The roomers, living in a frame building, leaped from second-story windows when the flames that broke out in a bathroom spread rapidly when a door was opened, causing a draft to whip the fire rapidly across the floor. None of the other roomers was injured seriously.

Mahon's skull was fractured and he suffered burns and cuts. The child's body was found in the embers of a chair near a window.

Police and firemen believed an effort must have been made by the parents to save the child and that the couple found this impossible, being forced to jump as the flames forced them to the window.

School Bell Echoes

Published weekly by the students of the Roaring Springs High School

THE STAFF

Reporter: Nida Basham, Adelle Smith, Ann Hughes, Rosalind Mitchell, Walterina Russell and Birdie Nell Nichols.
Advisor: T. A. McDonald.

(Delayed from last week)

We want to apologize for these columns this week. We had anticipated some very interesting news, but due to so much sickness, we are going to slight our school news this week but we hope to make up for lost time next week.

Our school paper has at last been named. Oh, that's right, we didn't know we had such an organ. Well, it has just come into existence and will be off to press a short time before Christmas. W. L. Law was the lucky chap. Three members of the faculty agreed that the name he submitted was the most fitting to adorn the pages of our school paper, so the honor, glory and the one dollar bill goes to this boy. "The Stinger" will be known as the official school organ and if interest is any indication we predict a very lively future for it.

Yellow Jackets Buzzing

The buzzing of the Yellow Jackets has been irregular this week due to so much illness. We hope to start a regular workout again next week in preparation for the Turkey Tournament on the sixteenth and seventeenth.

Season tickets will go on sale at reduced rates. One admission to all game at home $1.00; admission for two $1.50; for family of five or more $2.00. The regular admission will be ten and twenty cents. There will be between fifteen and twenty games played at home. Figure the cost per game for yourself—you will save plenty if you buy a season ticket, and folks there will be some of the hottest games played right here on this court that you have witnessed in several years. We have a practice game Friday night at seven with some of our local boys. All of you school boys. There will be no admission.

It may interest you parents to know that we have a State nurse with us Friday. She is here to look over your children and conditions in our school. All you might like to come out and hear what she has to say.

Who's In?

He is a blonde, weighs about one hundred and sixty, is in Miss Medlen's room, plays on the basketball team and is considered one of our best athletes. Watch for his name in next week's paper.

John

Mr. Spencer: Remember young man the lights go out here at ten-thirty sharp.

Stevens Point, Wis.—Clerk of the Circuit Court in Postage County, P. E. Webster has been called upon to make an unusual ruling on payment of alimony. A divorced man has offered as payment of alimony to his former wife: One 80-pound dressed pig, two dressed chickens, six cauliflowers, six head of cabbage, three bushels of potatoes, six pumpkins and one barrel of rye flour.
