

Moody To Take Stump With 'Old-Fashioned' Speech Campaign

He'll Seek To Offset W. Lee's Radio Talks

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—Red-headed Dan Moody said today he would take the stump in the forthcoming senatorial campaign in an old-fashioned speaking tour that will give the electorate a radio vs. stump campaign.

James V. Allred said he would not announce details of his campaign until after May 15, when his resignation as federal judge is effective. Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel's tactics were almost certain to follow the form of his three previous campaigns, in which showmanship played a major role. O'Daniel's original and best medium was the radio.

O'Daniel in Washington said he had no comment to make on yesterday's twin-barreled announcement by the other two former governors that they would oppose him in the democratic primaries for nomination to the full U. S. senate term.

Moody, who made his first announcement by taking a recess from a trial where he was appearing as counsel, followed it with a statement in which he promised not to engage in demagoguery, not to be a fault-finder, but to "support in every possible way and to the very limit of my ability the war effort of this country."

He revealed the type of campaign he plans, answering a question with a question:

"Did you ever see a man toss his hat in the air while listening to a political speech on the radio?" Moody, master of invective, feels that an audience gets close to a platform speaker. A veteran of this type of campaigning, Moody can swing an audience with a flow of rhetoric, punctuated with table pounding. His rich baritone voice lends emphasis to what he says.

Allred has not announced his speaking tactics.

He can hold his own in any media, however. Sleeves rolled up, a lock of unruly hair bobbing accompaniment to his forensic display, he can make his listeners forget summer heat.

Allred is versed in the radio technique but neither he nor Moody have registered the microphone hours credited to O'Daniel. Master showman, a poet and composer, O'Daniel sold himself to the Texas public by way of a homey commercial radiogram.

When he entered politics he brought along his band and, mixing politics and religion seasoned with the wails of the electric guitar and the thump of the bull fiddle, coursed on to the governorship twice and later to the senate.

What his campaign tactics will be this summer is not yet known. But one thing about the campaign is certain.

The public will not be bored.

MADE TO MEASURE FOR A BOMBING—At the Midland Army Flying School in Texas, there's this bomb dump where 100-pound practice bombs used by U.S. Army bombardier cadets on their training flights are loaded. Here, the bombs get 80 pounds of sand and five pounds of powder inserted at the fin end of projectile. This school is one of the world's largest training centers for bombardiers, and the bombing range covers an area about 80 miles in diameter. Cadets are sturdy fellows, 18 to 26 years old.

Record Number To Get Age Pensions

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—A record number of Texans will receive old age assistance checks this month.

The department of public welfare announced that 172,324 checks totaling $3,874,649 and averaging $19.58 will be mailed Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday.

Rolls for May gained 2,419 recipients above all losses from death and ineligibility compared with 1,643 the previous month.

The number of blind persons to receive aid increased from 2,816 in April to 2,909. Average grants of $22.89, totaling $68,661, will be distributed.

Aid to dependent children rolls continued to show the highest increase. A total of 2,986 families was added to the rolls, bringing the April figure of 9,643 families to 12,629 this month.

There are 263 wild life refuges in the U. S., aggregating 13 1-2 million acres.

not be located, the girl will ask Corporal Haworth: "Well, what are you doing to-night?"

To which the corporal answers with dignity: "It's a military secret."

Variety Offered In April Weather

April takes the weather cake for daisy doing so far as 1942 is concerned.

Records from the U.S. weather bureau here show an almost limitless variety of weather for the period — a range as much as 58 degrees in temperature, sand, sleet, rain, snow, fog, clear hot weather — all these and more.

Precipitation totaled 2.22 inches for April, well above the 40-year average of 1.89 for the month and only slightly under the 2.41 for April in last year's ideal round of seasoning.

Twice during the month temperatures hit a maximum of 91 degrees, and once it dropped to 32 degrees momentarily. After days of balmy weather, April 8 suddenly turned chilly, dished up some rain, sleet and then snow. Later in the month, after a quarter of an inch rain during the morning, the sand was swirling most merrily late in the afternoon.

Mean maximum for the month was 77.3 degrees, the mean minimum 52.8 or a monthly mean or average of 65.1. On eight days there occurred .01 of an inch or more precipitation, yet there was no day in which as much as an inch fell, according to U.S. Department of Commerce weather bureau records.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or uneasy passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pain, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache, and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

City authorities report operations by a new class of low down some-things or another are on the increase at the cemetery. These trouble-makers are stealing pot plants and shrubs put out on family lots. Because so many are constantly working around their family lots, the job of trapping thieves has been made difficult, but if and when officers do lay hands on them, they promised prompt and appropriate treatment.

While mentioning the cemetery, it was pointed out that some are operating hose connections of public taps, which is forbidden. Use of a hose must be from a private tap. As much as can be carried in cans, etc. may be used free from the public faucets.

Don't give up your job when you get notice to report to the selective service board, or even when you leave for an induction center, board officials warned Thursday. Neither means that a man definitely will be accepted for service. In event the selective is accepted and needs to finish up some personal business, he may apply for furlough and will receive same. Wisest procedure is for him to apply through the board previously as an eventuality.

Peter F. Murray, Lubbock, district FSA farm debt adjustment supervisor, and Mrs. Juanita Butler, Lubbock, district home supervisor, were here for conferences Thursday.

THESE FIRMS AND INDIVIDUALS OFFER HIGHEST TYPE SERVICE AND VALUES

Floral Designing A Specialty Of Leon's

Growing up in a florist shop can be said to be literally true about Leon Lederman, owner and manager of Leon's Flowers, 316 Runnels, who some six months ago opened his shop here.

Since his father was in the landscaping business in Dallas, Lederman helped before and after school and during summers. He learned about flowers right along with growing up.

Then 15 years ago, he went into the cut-flower end of the business. His experience includes being a designer for Burton Orchids and Flowers in Dallas where he spent four years, and being manager of the Texas Seed and Plant company in Dallas for 3 1/2 years where he also had charge of the green house.

From Dallas he went to Commerce where he owned the Commerce Floral company for a year and a half and then to Greenville where he took charge of the E. D. Barlow green house for eight

B'Spring Auto Parts-Glass In New Home

With services to match his confidence in the future of Big Spring, W. L. Meler has opened his new Big Spring Auto Parts and Glass Co. at 608 E. 3rd street.

Though the building which houses his stock and much of the fixtures are new, Meler is no newcomer to Big Spring for he came here in 1935 from Lubbock to open the Big Spring Wrecking Company. However, he has replaced this service with a more complete parts line and accessories together with glass cutting for almost any purpose.

In addition, the company now is soon to feature a modern mirror plant which will enable Meler to silver mirrors to meet any specification.

The parts line includes those of almost all standard makes of automobiles along with a complete line of used parts. When he converted his wrecking concern, Meler saved his best used parts and converted the others into scrap metal for national defense.

Also handled by the company are a line of accessories. Generator work is performed and general repairs and mechanical work are effected.

A specialty is the glass department, where equipment is combined with proven skill in cutting the material to any size or design. This frequently means he furnishes glass tops for oddly shaped tables.

Auto glass is furnished in either the safety or the regular glass. However, more and more glass requirements are tending to the safety type, which once was a

Last November Lederman moved his family to Big Spring and set up his own florist business at Sherrod Hardware store. Of all the business, Lederman professes a weakness for liking the designing end of it best. Designing flowers for table centerpieces, corsages, weddings, funerals all call for skill for which he has taken much training. He was designing instructor in three schools at the state florist convention and also graduated from the Standard School of Floral culture at Sedalia, Mo.

Holidays for the average person aren't holidays for florists but their busiest times. Mothers Day is one of the biggest flower days requiring a lot of time and effort, and Leon's place is preparing for a volume business this week for the approaching Mother's Day.

The store is stocking gardenias and orchids, most popular flowers for Mother's Day, and of course, the ever favorite roses. Pot plants rank high in the list of Mother's Day flowers too. Next to Mother's Day the average soul gets flower conscious on Christmas and Easter more than any other time.

The flowers that the shop buys are shipped direct from California, Denver, Kansas City, Dallas, Fort Worth and Waco and are ordered so that they are always fresh. Unusual or rare flowers usually need to be asked for a day or so in advance in order to have time to arrive here.

Specializing in assisting in decorating problems, Lederman pointed out that if the hostesses will turn flower problems over to them, tell them what kind or type of decorations are needed, the florist shop does the rest, much to the convenience of the hostess.

In addition, Leon's Flowers takes orders at night at phone 1871-W and will wire flowers anywhere at anytime. Day phone is 1877.

School Men To Meet Here On Saturday

School administrators from this section are being convened Saturday for an explanation of details surrounding a projected program of high school training under direction of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Supt. W. C. Blankenship said he had been asked by T. M. Trimble, assistant state superintendent, to call a meeting of representatives of high schools in this area for 7 p. m. Saturday. Letters went out from his office today asking schoolmen to attend and learn basic facts about the aviation training course suggested by C.A.A. in keeping with the war effort.

Administrators have been asked to meet at the Settles hotel, said Blankenship. Other meetings have been scheduled at Lubbock, Abilene and San Angelo, thus the territory from which the meeting here is expected to draw is from Colorado City to around Pecon, and north to include Lamesa and south to embrace Garden City.

Partnership Aid To Farmers In Buying Machinery

With drastic cuts in allotments of metal for civilian use curtailing farm machinery production, the department of agriculture is urging strongly partnerships in use and purchase of such equipment.

Already three Howard county farmers have been showing their neighbors the value of this kind of joint action. David B. Low and Charles J. King bought a tractor outfit together, and sharing the $1,500 outlay and operating expense proved to them the advantage of partnership.

The same two men teamed with Clarence C. Shortes in purchasing a pure bred Jersey bull, which cost $150, and carried their joint ownership still further in joint ownership of a poison dusting machine and a stalk cutter.

Low, King and Shortes say that the cooperatively owned machinery is working out satisfactorily to all, and contend that what they undertook as a common-sense plan of operation may have to be undertaken by others out of necessity.

Howard Co. Farm Family Finds Hog Raising Profitable

By UR D. KENDRICK

By using well bred stock, with good housing, sanitation and proper feeding, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hubbell, 15 miles southwest of Big Spring, have found hog raising very profitable. Mrs. Hubbell manages this enterprise and has made a very enviable record.

Mrs. Hubbell started raising hogs two and one-half years ago. She started with one sow pig; in the spring of 1940, she had this sow and two gilts; in the summer of 1940, she purchased a registered boar. In the spring of 1941, she purchased three registered gilts, one of which was bred and one registered sow.

Within the last year, she has sold approximately $216 worth of hogs. During this period she has purchased $125 worth of feed. She now has eight bred sows, eight open sows, two small boars, three grown boars, ten gilts, five meat hogs, thirteen shots and twenty-eight pigs.

At present prices, the hogs on hand are worth approximately $1,000. The eight bred sows will farrow within the next 60 days, and she plans to have eighteen sows to farrow in October.

Mrs. Hubbell is doing her bit in the Food for Victory program and at the same time finding it a profitable enterprise. She is a strong believer in purebred stock. They are uniformly good, and sales are easier made and better prices received than for common animals.

with the vitamins and minerals. To her it's a crime to over-cook green vegetables or to pour down the sink the juice—the good old-fashioned pot liquor.

Here are the rules for cooking and serving vegetables to make the most of what Mother Nature put into them:

1. Use little water slightly salted, cook a short time, and never add soda to the cooking water. Soda destroys vitamins.
2. Have the water boiling when you put green vegetables on to cook.
3. Leaving off the lid helps to keep the green color. With leafy greens, use a lid at the start until they are wilted.
4. Serve all the juices with the cooked vegetable or use it in soup or sauce. That's being thrifty with the vitamins.

Loss of Eggs Through Careless Handling Costly To Nation

In 1941, the average American ate six eggs a week, marketing officials of the U. S. department of agriculture estimate. Some ate more, and some ate fewer, of course. The egg production goal for 1942 in the Food for Freedom program—4 1/4 billion dozen eggs—means an increase of about 13 per cent in the number of eggs produced—7 eggs for every 6 laid last year. Most of the increase is needed for egg shipments to the United Nations. However, Americans could still eat their 6 eggs a week if some of the waste of good eggs between the nest and the table can be prevented.

Poultry specialists say that fully 5 per cent of the eggs ordinarily produced in both small and large poultry flocks are lost for preventable reasons. Even if this loss averages only an egg a day on each farm the total is huge.

Causes of egg loss include producing fertile rather than infertile eggs, and holding them in too warm a place; failing to gather and cool all eggs promptly; lack of moisture in the holding room, resulting in shrinkage of egg contents; dirty eggs; unnecessary breakage from rough handling and bad packing; permitting broody hens to set on eggs and ruin them.

If egg producers succeed in holding egg loss to a minimum, reaching the 1942 production goal of 4 1/4 billion dozen eggs may also mean nearly complete utilization of that many eggs.

Green Vegetables Add To Food Value, Taste Appearance Of Meals

By FORTILLA JOHNSON

Do you eat at least one green vegetable every day, more if possible? That's what the guide to good diet says each of us needs. For green vegetables are rich in many of the food values we need to help keep us healthy.

Green vegetables have their place, too, in meals that taste good and look good. With their pretty green color and their fine fresh flavor they are perfect side partners for meat and potatoes.

The smart cook fixes vegetables for the table so they keep that fresh garden look and taste, along

Washington Daybook—Share-Your-Car System Must Come

WASHINGTON — Just how serious the shortage of transportation for individuals is becoming is indicated by the fact that President Roosevelt himself paused in his many other duties to call for an immediate "share-your-car" movement.

He didn't restrict his plea to Washington either, or even to war work communities. Through the American Municipal Association and the U. S. Conference of Mayors, he has put it squarely up to every city in the country and thus to every car owner, whether he drives a broken-down jalopy or the latest special-built streamlined job to roll through the dealer's doors.

This is one contribution to the war effort that is going to be voluntary. Laws can draft men into the army and rationing can curtail the use of everything that's turning up short. But it would be impossible to police the whole nation to see if every car owner is doing his duty in sharing his car with his neighbors and fellow workers. The appeal will have to be made on a basis of patriotism and the success of the movement will depend on that.

Transportation officials have estimated that the share-your-car drive could easily reach proportions where 5,000,000 cars could be taken off the streets and highways without impairing the war effort. Think what that alone would mean in the savings in gasoline, rubber, and wear and tear on cars that cannot

Editorial — Credit Controls Will Lead To Saner, Sounder Living

This government, more drastically than ever in its history, has moved to combat—even prevent—ruinous inflation, in the series of orders which were climaxed this week with the stringent controls over credit and installment buying.

We have had inflationary periods before and we have attempted half-hearted measures to defeat the trend. This time we have seen a menace growing and have moved with determination to check its spread.

It doesn't take an exhaustive study of history to determine what credit inflation can do. It was one of the contributing factors to the business collapse of this country in the early thirties. It was definitely a cause of the post-war panic in the early twenties. It was definitely threatening to throw our economy off the track again, since

Hollywood Sights And Sounds — Teresa Wright May Be Big Name

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — Teresa Wright made a bathing suit sequence the other day. It was doubly historic. Pretty, shy, brown-haired Teresa is the girl who didn't want to sign a movie contract because she wanted to be an actress. She was afraid a movie contract meant a seven-year career in swim-suits and sweaters.

"Not," she said, "that I've anything against swim-suits. Some people look wonderful in them and ought to be in them. But I—"

—Miss Wright, very charmingly, got over the idea that, while she didn't consider herself deformed, she wasn't a Betty Grable.

But there she was in a bathing suit before a movie camera. History.

And what made it doubly so was her partner in the sands, Gary Cooper, who has been fighting shy of bathing suit scenes ever since his lankiness stretched to its present six feet three.

The camera's triumph, where Gary is concerned, is something less than complete. Gary was in trunks, all right but he was half buried in the sand. As for Miss Wright, the camera should be satisfied. Miss Wright was very pretty in her bathing suit.

Teresa Wright, 22, is playing Mrs. Lou Gehrig opposite Gary's Lou in "Pride of the Yankees." It's her third picture, her third important role. Samuel Goldwyn, who persuaded her with "The Little Foxes" that movie acting was not necessarily done in bathing suits, lent her to Metro for "Mrs. Miniver." Mr. Goldwyn tells me (and anybody who'll listen) that Miss Wright is going to be our next big star. And I, for one of many, am inclined to agree.

The girl has a sweet healthy, natural quality. If shyness and laughter can mingle in one person, they do in her. She's serious, but not affected, about acting. She was exposed once, briefly, to the "Russian school" of the theatre. It didn't take. "If I had to remember all those things," she said, "I couldn't act." She's obviously getting along well without them.

She tries hard to remember one tough break she's had, and she can't. It wasn't surprising to learn that her first role was a starring one. She played Diane to a comedian's Chico in a backyard version of "Seventh Heaven." Helen Hayes became her idol, and the stage her goal. She had a couple of summers at Provincetown, tuition provided by enthusiastic parents, did some understudy and radio work in New York (where she was born), and toured New England in "Our Town." She had one summer in the straw hat theatres, and that fall, with her usual quiet determination, she read for Oscar Serlin and got into "Life With Father" where Goldwyn saw her. She's jittery about seeing herself on the screen, but she's practical too. "If I didn't study my work, how could I improve it? I'm working now on my face—it's too 'busy'."

Niven Busch, the writer, finds her charming too. He's going to marry her in a few weeks.

Ration Board Asks Larger Headquarters

Duties imposed upon the rationing board are growing to such an extent that larger and permanent quarters are needed. B. F. Robbins, board chairman, told members of the civilian defense council at a meeting Tuesday night.

Committee members reviewed the matter and discussed means of meeting the need.

Also acting to meet growing demands on the set-up in general, J. H. Greene, Doug Orme, and Merle Stewart were named as a committee to study a proposal to "streamline" the local civilian defense program.

Establishment of a control center for civilian protection in event of attack or emergency was authorized by the committee, and Police Chief J. B. Bruton was taking steps to set it up in the municipal building.

Attending the parley were Mayor O. C. Dunham, County Judge Walton Morrison, J. H. Greene, J. McDaniel, Harschel Summerlin, Merle Stewart, J. D. O'Barr, D. S. Riley, Dave Duncan, Ira Thurman, S. T. Eason, Doug Orme, B. F. Robbins, and Carl Blomfield.

Training—Bill Evans, student of Big Spring High School, is in Officers School in Fort Benning, Georgia. Evans joined the army two years ago and was made a sergeant eighteen months ago. His wife arrived Saturday to stay with Evans' mother, Mrs. L. M. Davis, while he is in training for three months. The couple were married in San Antonio February 2. She is the former Sandy MacTaggart of San Antonio.

Price Control Meeting Here Set May 12

Interpretations of regulations surrounding price ceilings which take effect May 15 will be given here the evening of May 12 by a representative of the Office of Price Administration.

William M. Ouzts, representing OPA, is to be here for the area-wide clinic, chamber of commerce officials have been advised. The meeting will be in the city auditorium.

His appearance is in conjunction with a series of area parleys planned over the state by M. A. Browning, state supervisor of distributive education.

Retail and wholesale dealers from the territory between Pecos and Colorado City, from Lamesa to Garden City are being urged to participate in the meeting, considered one of the more important meetings called to date and bearing direct connection with the war effort.

President Roosevelt's recent message to the nation gave force to price ceilings.

And Nothing Can Be Done About It

Man About Manhattan — Hit Play Has Real Background

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—Once upon a time there was a certain occasionally employed screen writer who liked to visit a certain east side theatrical cafe where actors, poets and various adventurers like to discuss the drama, pearl diving, and the New Deal.

You entered this cafe through a fabulous revolving door and inside the atmosphere was heavy with the exhaled smoke of cigarettes and pipes and the tossed-about fumes of onions, cheese, and liver.

This writer, whose name was Hy Kraft, became a sort of unofficial fixture around the place. He sipped up the peculiar idiom extant, drained innumerable glasses of tea, and eventually, with a shake of his head, drifted out to Hollywood with the idea of having his agent saddle him with a few choice writing contracts.

Nothing like this happened. In Hy's own words, his agent was "too busy" to see him at the moment, which means that the outlook is pretty bleak if your own agent won't talk to you on the telephone.

So Hy had lunch with his pal, Nunnally Johnson, who writes, produces, directs films and gives advice on the side. They talked a long time, and without half knowing it Hy began to repeat little things he had heard around the fabulous east side theatrical cafe in New York. He gave Nunnally the idiom, he described the smells, he told of the unbelievable bus-boy at this restaurant who was gaga about theatrical people but who owned apartment houses on the side and had plenty of coin in his own right.

"What did you say the name of this place was?" Nunnally wanted to know.

"Cafe Royal," Hy Kraft told him.

"I got an idea," Nunnally said. "You're going to write a play."

Hy wasn't at all pleased at this suggestion. He hadn't wanted to write a play. He wanted a Hollywood job. With writers, however, it isn't what you want that makes you fat, it's what you get.

All of this is to give you the background of one of the most curious dramas Broadway has seen in recent seasons. Its name is "Cafe Royal." Even on the stage, it may be reached only through an exact duplicate of that famous revolving door. It was this play that inspired Dorothy Thompson to visit Cafe Royal—a visit which ended in the headlines of the newspapers after a strange feminine creature came in, yelled "Hell Hitler," and attacked Miss Thompson, biting her hand.

Cafe Royal remains one of the theater's most inviting adventures, and Cafe Royal remains what it always was, a curious, smoke-screened, onion-flavored gathering point, on the east side for actors and poets and people with a passion for greasepaint.

Set-Up Studied For Girl Scouts

Possibilities of a local council set-up for the Girl Scout program were being explored here Wednesday by Lucille Skewes, representative of the national council.

In an address before the Lions club, sponsors of the movement in Big Spring, Miss Skewes recalled the remarkable record of growth for the program locally. In three months time, she said, growth had been from nothing to 14 troops involving a membership of 225 girls and leadership of 28 women.

By operating under a local council organization, she said, greater economies would be effected and the program generally strengthened.

This, she said, would require a minimum of about $75, but for efficient and unencumbered operation, she recommended a sum of about twice that amount.

Elementary program for the girls, she said, enabled them to become acquainted with 10 program fields such as arts and crafts, community living, homemaking, international friendship, nature study, etc. From there girls go into fields which appeal most to them and earn their advancement to different ranks. Intermediate girls are being trained now in child care as a contribution to emergency service plans, and seniors go in more for specific projects, which now tend toward transportation and communications as war-time services.

At the meeting, King Sides announced that the club would again sponsor its citizenship day on May 17, honoring first voters. Announcement was made of the barn dance next Tuesday at the county warehouse, with entire proceeds to go to the Texas Defense Guard unit.

Congress once held a regular session in a Washington hotel. It was the first meeting after a portion of the Capitol was burned by the British in 1814.

Appeals Court Rules On Paving Case

Judgment of the trial court to the effect that the City of Big Spring could not reassess pavement accounts which had expired under the statute of limitations, has been upheld in the 11th district court of civil appeals at Eastland.

The test case on which the issue went up was against M. H. Tate, and the higher court upheld a decision in behalf of Tate. A few other companion cases, involving the same circumstances as the Tate case, presumably will not be brought to trial.

Eight Boy Scouts Get Recognition

Awards were presented to eight Boy Scouts at the regular monthly Court of Honor session Tuesday evening at the district court room.

Attendance banner was taken by troop No. 1. Those receiving awards included Elmer Campbell, who became a star scout, in addition to getting merit badges; Barkley Wood, Billy McDonald, Billy Dearing, of troop No. 1 and H. W. Bartlett and Bob Hiltson of troop No. 4.

Edward K. Fisher earned his veteran scout award and Bob Hardy was given his den chief's warrant.

Garden City School System Rates High

Garden City schools came through with flying colors last week on the evaluative criteria required periodically by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

On the whole the schools were given an extraordinarily high rating on most points, and in several instances the ratings of outside schoolmen serving on the evaluative committee considerably exceeded the rating made by Garden City school.

Dr. Doyce Jackson, professor of education at Texas Tech, served as head of the committee at request of J. W. O'Banion, representative of the SACSS, and members of the faculties or heads of other schools in this area completed the committee.

Raising Fish Just As Simple As Raising Poultry, Expert Asserts

Fascinating fish stories by an authority on the subject were heard by a group of Howard countians Wednesday afternoon, as Homer G. Townes, biologist for the soil conservation service, told how the tiny creatures can be raised as simply as cattle or hogs or chickens.

Townes pictured commercial fish raising in farm and ranch ponds as a simple and profitable as raising meat of any other kind—and perhaps requiring less work.

Three things must be remembered, he pointed out: (1) to stock correctly, (2) to feed properly, and (3) to harvest the edible fish at a rate that will prevent the pond from overstocking.

Townes blew old opinions to the winds when he said that overstocking, not understocking, is making a day at the old fishing hole less fun than it used to be. Overstocking a fish pond is equivalent to overstocking a cattle range, he pointed out. When too many fish are in the pond, none grow; and too many will be on hand quickly unless they are thinned out, for a single female may lay thousands of eggs per month during the spawning season.

Feeding fish is the simplest part of the game, as described by Townes. Fish eat a tiny plant, so small that it cannot be seen with the naked eye unless present in great quantities. The amount of this plant present depends on the fertility of the soil in the pond and on the watershed from which the pond gets its water. This fertility may be increased by putting commercial 6-8-4 fertilized in the pond at the rate of 100 pounds per acre of surface per month for the eight warmer months of the year, or by placing cottonseed meal, alfalfa hay, bundled feed, or even barnyard manure in the pond.

An average pond with an acre of surface will produce about 50 pounds of fish per year if it drains off poor, eroded soil and no fertilizer is added, Townes said. The amount may increase to 200 pounds per year if the land is rich; and 600 to 1,000 pounds of fish may easily be produced in a year by adding fertilizer.

This added crop of fish costs no more than two or three cents per pound to raise.

Townes suggested that the ordinary pond should contain about 1,500 bass and bream to the acre. Such stocking makes a particularly attractive sporting lake, and Townes told of some farmers who were charging $2.50 per day per fisherman for the use of such ponds and having plenty of customers.

Channel cat may also be stocked along with the bass and bream, and the three will thrive together. In small lakes crappie and bass should not be mixed, but crappie and channel cat make an excellent combination.

Channel cat will not spawn without a "nest" of some sort. In tanks where the banks slope off so slowly as not to provide natural fish havens, nests may be made by sinking nail kegs, crocks or the like in the banks. Angling upward at a 45 degree slant, they should be six to 30 inches below the surface.

Townes asserted that an acre of pond properly managed would produce as much as 5 to 6 pounds or so much meat as an acre of the best range in this section—and at a cost of not over three cents per pound.

An acre pond will produce two good-sized messes of fish per week the year around for the average farm family, he said.

Various agricultural agencies, particularly experiment stations, are able to furnish information about fish feeding, which Townes insists is just as simple as feeding any sort of domestic animal—and cheaper.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD

JUST as slow baking develops the full flavor of old-fashioned baked beans, slow steaming molasses the delightful molasses flavor of Boston Brown Bread.

And not content to rest on its laurels as far as taste is concerned, Boston Brown Bread also has its share of the musts for wartime nutrition. Made with enriched flour, this bread in addition to contributing much-needed iron to the menu also adds its portion of vitamin B<sub>1</sub>.

Delicately moist and easy to slice, Boston Brown Bread is the perfect accompaniment for that Down East Dinner. Serve it with pats of butter or vitamin-enriched margarine for spreading. Children will welcome its appearance in their school lunch boxes.

Spread it with soft cream cheese or thick jam, or with their favorite peanut butter. Boston Brown Bread of this type fairly oozes minerals and vitamins.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup corn meal
2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup chopped dates or raisins
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup chopped nuts
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup molasses
2 cups sour milk

Sift flour, corn meal, soda and salt. Add fruit and nuts. Add molasses and milk and mix well. Fill greased pound size molds or baking powder cans  $\frac{3}{4}$  full. Cover tightly and steam  $1\frac{1}{2}$  hours. Yield: 2 1-pound loaves.

Germany Building New Type Aircraft

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), May 7 (AP)—DNE said today a revolutionary type asymmetrical aircraft was being built in the Blohm and Voess shipyards with the engine in the starboard wing and a closed observation turret for a three-man crew in the port wing.

Equipped with cannon and machine-guns, it was claimed to have great speed, climbing power and maneuverability, DNE said.
