"BUY IT IN MATADOR," CHAMBER COMMERCE SLOGAN

TRAIL DUST

The new and radically different railway train, is perhaps, destined to drive the high and mighty "Iron Horse" into his all of history but I shall continue to hear the roar of steam and clanging of wheels on steel as the whistle echoes across dim plains of yesterdays. The shuttle that wove the frail fabric of my hopes and dreams as youth was a shrieking express train that dived into the night, a dragon of steel and flame. The demon that snorted clouds of steam and smoke from the faces of placid stars as it paused for a country boy to kiss his first sweetheart, whistled at cold tears on all cheeks and started slowly to the snow blanketed night. All other adventures have taken time in comparison with glamorous hours in a Pullman berth as a roaring engine opens the darkness of mountains and plain in a luxurious dash into the future.

There is something magnificent about a simmering tea kettle as a young mother singing to a child. It is the symphony of home and breeds a profound peace for simple things.

But for the natural gift of a gardener I would like to rise each morning with the break of dawn. The richest and most beautiful of the day is gone a short time after the sun rises. Dew drops gleaming in early morning make a carpet for the well to do day.

Visiting an old abandoned mine in the side of a Colorado mountain a few years ago, I did not but notice the deep shadows of a pick in the rock on the side of the tunnel. The gleam of gold in a man's heart had forced the pick into the rock and the tunnel into the mountain had faded because the door to the shaft creaked on hinges as I opened it and I saw the light to penetrate the tomb of strangled ambitions. Quietly I learned the tragic story connected with the abandoned mine. The crumpled little mine nearby with its closed door and hollow windows had been a miners home. Love and hope had dwelt there. Then one day his young wife had died and he had closed the door to the mine and the door to the life. He had not returned.

When this strange thing we saw by the side of all mountains. Sometimes it may be an abandoned farm house and a field ready to weeds. Again it is an abandoned building with dust across the threshold, a trail unfinished by man whose talents barely touched unlimited possibilities. He falls back into the comfort of least resistance and many retreats lies a hidden cause when the heart no longer desired anything but peace in its weariness.

F. Turner of Flomot was business visitor in Matador today.

Attends Convention

A. B. Echols, above, prominent cattleman and president of the First State Bank here, attended the convention of Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association held in San Antonio. Mr. Echols is a member of the executive committee of the Association.

MATADOR VOTES BEER BY MARGIN OF 31 IN SATURDAY'S ELECTION

Bad Weather Disregarded By Voters Interested In Issue Shown By 285 Ballot

Without regard for the cold drizzling rain, voters of the incorporated limits of Matador made their way to the polls last Saturday to legalize the sale of 3.2 beer here by a margin of 31 votes. The count of votes announced a short time after the polls closed Saturday evening showed a 158 for and 127 against the sale of beer.

It is doubtful if any issue in the history of the city has ever created more interest than did the beer issue. Speculation as to the out-come of the election was great with enthusiasts on both sides of the question predicting victory.

Altho many rumors of contesting the election were circulated no complaints have been filed.

Sale of beer here will likely start as soon as it becomes legalized by time limits which will be next week.

Records of Yield Past Ten Years Furnished by West Texas C. of C.

J. R. Whitworth, Secretary of the Motley County Chamber of Commerce received the following information from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce recently:

"Our records show your county's cotton production figures in pounds has been as follows: 1921, 18,927; 1922, 19,499; 1923, 26,354; 1924, 18,748; 1925, 20,976; 1926, 18,754; 1927, 5,471; 1928, 12,078; 1929, 13,696; 1930, 19,731.

The House just yesterday passed our amendment which extends deduction period to a five year period instead of a three year period. Inasmuch as your average '29 to '33 inclusive is so much less than your normal production, this amendment should be of great benefit to your county."

The 10 year average of cotton production in Motley county is 17,143 bales.

The other day I had luncheon at the Paramount Cafe, situated on the lot of the Paramount Studios.

Here was assembled a heterogeneous amalgamation of humans all check by jowl, all occupied with the same thing—the consumption of food. At some of the tables sat men and women from Mae West's set, women wearing clothes of the "gay nineties" with large beplumed hats, and the men dressed in tightly fitting suits, huge mustaches. Near by sat a group of, ancient Romans and Egyptians, besandled and clanking accoutrements and togas worn as if to the manner born. These all hailed from the Cecil B. De Mille's set—"Cleopatra". Here and there you could see men and women dressed in evening clothes, men dressed in gorgeous uniform, bedecked with medals and ribbons diagonally crossed upon their chests—The Grand Gordon—These people belonged to Silvia Sydney's set, "The Thirty Day Princess," representing her entourage, court attendants, diplomats, officers and the royal and aristocratic personages of a Mythical Kingdom. Over in a corner sat a group of colored men, song and dance men, not far from them sat women dressed as scrub women, nurses talking to men representing young internes, waiters, business men. The well-groomed men scattered about were studio officials, writers, directors, etc.

A still camera man was given permission to roam about the large dining room in search for stars, and other celebrities. Near me sat Silvia Sydney. When the camera man discovered her, he immediately set up his camera nearby, shortly thereafter, a flash light blazed forth blindingly. When this picture is developed, thousands of fans throughout the world will see Miss Sydney as she looked that day while eating her salad. She wore a crystal tiara which added a stately grace to her shapely head. Opposite to her sat a woman, dressed in a dark street dress, who was interviewing Miss Sydney while she was eating her luncheon. After the picture had been taken, and the camera man had espied someone else of importance nearby, and had moved away, several tourists, who were eating here at the time, rushed over to her and asked for her autograph. And so it went—photographs, interviews and autographs, hardly a free moment for them to eat their meal in peace. Is it any wonder then, that when these stars go shopping they try to disguise themselves with dark glasses wigs, etc. Charley Chaplin once said first they try to draw the attention of the crowd, after that has been accomplished, they try to get away from it. It's the penalty of fame.

Did you, perhaps, know that: Mrs. Von Stroheim, wife of well-known, eccentric director, Eric Von Stroheim, was recently awarded judgment in the amount of $125,000, for burns she received in a Hollywood Beauty Shoppe, when a preparation that she had on her head exploded and the flames seared her face, neck and shoulders?

Some of the stars are now wearing artificial finger nails, priced $35 the pair. The manicurists are up in arms against this new mode. Nor is this all that is artificial about the stars. Nearly everyone of them wear long, thick eyelashes, which are glued on, some are even cemented on hair by hair. And then comes the wigs, transformations, and several of the stars wore a store set of teeth—uppers and lowers. So that "pearly smile" of your darlings is the product of dental manufacturers. Art thus often supplies what nature has denied. Nor is even this all that is false about them—some of them have even synthetic smiles and hearts. But why go on, it's all just make-believe.

MOVIE CHATTER

By A. ROGUE

Friday and Saturday we have another western coming up, entitled "Flaming Guns", starring Tom Mix. In addition to this picture Saturday we will present D. W. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation", in sound. This is the same picture that you paid a dollar and a half to see several years ago, except that this time it has sound accompaniment. Its a true story picture of history in the making, depicting the events leading to and of the civil war, something that all young Americans should see at least once.

Sunday and Monday comes "Jimmy and Sally", a James Dunn, Sally Eilers picture, but for some reason Sally Eilers failed to be presented in it and in her stead is Claire Winsor, and listen, that little Claire is just as cute and witty as they make them. This is her first starring vehicle. I don't like to say "I told you so", but myself and several others picked this little girl out of a George O'Brien western several months ago, "Thor's a star of tomorrow", and here she is and I'll guarantee you to like her; she should be mighty well teamed with the nutty, wisecracking James Dunn. We will also double program "The Birth of a Nation" with this this Monday night.

D. W. Griffith's master production, "The Birth of a Nation", will be the special attraction at the Rogue Theatre in a special showing on farewell tour Saturday afternoon March 31, and Monday without any increase over regular admission prices, it was announced by the manager.

"The Birth of a Nation" has been acclaimed throughout the nation as the greatest picture of all time. This great picture will be shown in sound. It covers a wide range of American history and touches only the highest points of interest in the great events that preceded and terminated the Civil War. The decisive battles, struggles, and critical events of 1861-70 are authentically presented in faithful detail.

The force that slavery played in producing the crisis of the Civil War is traced from its inception to its abolition. While the basic theme is historical, 18,000 people fill the stage which has a vast territory for its background, 3,000 horses pass before your view in wild dashes over miles of country roadway. One enormous battlefield is shown stretching over an area of ten square miles and upon these plains and trenches 10,000 soldiers clash in a warfare that is as real as if you were an eye witness.

You will see the great generals, Lee and Grant, and the immortal Lincoln and his assassination at Ford's Theatre April 14, 1865.

A beautiful love story adds intense interest to the picture.

The night riding of the Ku Klux Klan looks like a company of avenging spectres sweeping along moonlit roads.

This realistic picture of history in the making is a untold value to both old and young.

Don't miss "The Birth of a Nation" on its triumphant farewell offered on a big double program Saturday afternoon and again Monday night.

at Texas State College for Women (CIA), will speak to the senior girls of the Matador High School Friday, March 30, during her visit home for the Easter holidays. Arrangements for the talk were made with B. F. Harbour, principal of the high school.

Altho summer water rates have been reduced since I came into office, I assume no credit because the power to raise and lower these rates is vested entirely with the City Council and Mayor.

In event you find my record will prompt you to vote for me again, I promise to exert every resource in my power to benefit you to the best of my ability in the future.

Government to Guarantee Federal Land Bank Loans

L. Glenn, secretary-treasurer of the Matador National Loan Association, received today from Wm. I. Myers, director of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D. C., that Federal land bank loans will be made in the future through the Federal land bank bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, which bonds are guaranteed by the United States Government both as to principal and interest, which will be at the rate of 4 per cent, per annum for the bonds to be issued at this time. These bonds will take the place of the cash distribution in the disbursement of the unclosed loans previously approved by the Federal land banks.

The bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, according to the statement by Governor Myers, will have behind them not only the unconditional guarantee of the Federal Government as to both principal and interest, and the capital of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation amounting to about $200,000,000, but also the consolidated bonds of the Federal land banks issued in exchange for the bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation and the mortgages accepted by the land bank commissioner as security for loans.

Governor Myers assured Secretary C. L. Glenn that the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation bonds will be an attractive investment. "They will be as readily marketable as bonds of the United States Government and they will be quoted in all of the principal markets," he continued. "Holders who have to dispose of these bonds should not sell them without first ascertaining their real market value."

The Governor particularly stressed the fact that country bankers probably will be large investors in these securities since the creditors of farmers who are being refinanced may not all be in the position where they can hold the bonds so acquired and will find it necessary to sell them. Secretary Glenn states that these bonds, which will be tendered to farmers' creditors in payment of the refinanced indebtedness, are "exempt from all Federal, State, municipal and local taxation, except surtaxes and estate, inheritance and gift taxes. They are lawful security for fifteen-day borrowings by member banks of the Federal Reserve system. They are also lawful investments for all trust, public and fiduciary funds of which the deposit or investment is under the authority or control of the Government. The payments of the interest on these bonds and the repayment of their principal are guaranteed by the United States, which means that if the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation should ever be unable to meet the payments on the bonds, the Treasury will assume such payments.

"These bonds will be issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000. However, amounts less than $100 will be disbursed in cash. For example, a loan of $965 would be made in a $500 bond, four $100 bonds and the rest in cash. In addition, to provide for certain debts, such as taxes which cannot be paid in bonds, cash covering the required amounts will be provided.

Loans which have been applied for and approved, but on which the cash has not been paid out, as well as those approved by the bank in the future, will be financed on the above basis. This arrangement in no way disturbs or alters the other provisions of the loans. The interest rate on new loans will con-

Durable Henry Shafer

It is good to know, with all the recovery that is going around us, that Henry Shafer of Eldora, Iowa, is also up and about after his most recent accident, the fracture of a hip.

Mr. Shafer, who is 83, is known as Hardy Hank in his neighborhood, and his durability is attested by the fact that his most recent convalescence was his sixteenth, all being of a nature that would lay the ordinary mortal beneath the sod. He has been struck by lightning three times, been buried in a coal mine, shattered by a fall from a high trestle, blown into the air by a cannon with the loss of one arm and an eye, has fallen down a 30-foot cliff, been buried under two tons of clay, suffered the fracture of three ribs and a collar bone when he was dragged through barbed wire by a runaway horse, fractured his skull in a bobbed upset, survived an attack of double pneumonia at 80 and a stroke of paralysis at 81, and last year run over by a horse and wagon and later was struck by a motor car.

It is a shame to permit one of Mr. Shafer's irrefragable nature to fritter away his time in the obscurity of Eldora. He should be an emergency air mail flier or a cabinet officer in France, continue to be 4 1/2 per cent for the emergency period when made through a national farm loan association and 5 per cent when made directly by the bank."

Why should any woman be required to live in the Dark Ages of "Rub-a-dub dub, slave to the tub"? Especially when Husband and all the rest of the world speed up work by modern efficiency methods.

Today any form of doing the laundry at home is a relief of the Dark Ages of women. Even if the washing does keep in order, it requires constant attention and there's the hanging up and taking down of the wash, the ironing, the headache, armache, backache.

It's not worth it! Washing clothes is the job of the modern laundry—such as ours. It's not woman's work. Humankind cannot do the good job of our equipment.

Emergency Crop Loan Will Aid Farmers in Distress for Credit

The Matador Tribune has just received word that an emergency crop loan office has been opened at the County Agent's Office at Matador, and farmers desiring loans should apply between the hours of 8:30 A. M. and 5:00 P. M.

According to the regulations under which the crop loans are to be made this year, any farmer who secures a loan must obtain a statement from the county production council, where one exists, that he does not intend to increase his acreage or production in violation of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration program.

In counties where a county production council has not been set up, before any application for a loan will be considered the farmer who is applying will have to give satisfactory evidence that he is co-operating with the production control program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The maximum amount of an emergency crop loan that may be obtained by any one individual is $250, the minimum is $25.

Applications for loans in any amount from $25 to $150 may be accepted by the emergency crop loan office provided the farmer does not have sufficient security to obtain a loan elsewhere.

A farmer applying for $150 or more must first make application to the Production Credit Association for a loan from it.

Rejection of this application by the Production Credit Association will be considered sufficient evidence that other credit is not available and the applicant may then make application to the emergency crop loan office.
