Eligible cotton farmers in Motley county voted their favor of a marketing quota for the 1938 crop by an almost unanimous ballot Saturday. Of the total of 470 votes cast in the five voting boxes in the county, 445 favored farm control while only 25 voted in the negative. Whiteflat and Northfield each had only one negative vote. The summary of votes cast in the county is as follows:

FEW ELIGIBLE FOR LUMP-SUM SOCIAL PAY

Only a few of the persons in this territory who are eligible to file claims for lump-sum payments under provisions of the Social Security Act have done so, declared Dewey Reed manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security Board.

Lump-sum benefits are payable now to workers in covered employments who have reached the age of 65 since January 1, 1937. Lump-sum payments are also being made to estates of covered workers who have died since December 31, 1936, and before reaching age 65. The payment in either case is 3 1/2 per cent of the wages received for work performed in covered employment since December 31, 1936, and prior to death or attainment of age 65.

Employers are requested to check their records to ascertain whether or not there are persons in their employ who may be eligible to file claim for such benefits. Many persons who have reached the age of 65, and particularly relatives of workers who have died, are not aware of their eligibility to file claims, and it was suggested that employers assist them by advising them of potential benefits to which they may be entitled.

Beginning in 1942, monthly retirement benefits will be paid to qualified workers upon attainment of age 65. The amount of such payments will be based on the wages received by the individual from employment covered by the Social Security Act since December 31, 1936, and prior to attainment of age 65. In order to qualify a monthly retirement benefit, an individual must have worked in covered employment in each of five calendar years after 1936, and prior to attainment of age 65, and have earned a total of $2,000 from such employment.

For the benefit of those who have not yet established social security accounts, account numbers may now be obtained upon application to the Amarillo office, located at 6th and Polk, Amarillo. The public is invited to make use of the facilities of the Amarillo office, which has been set up for the convenience of employers and workers in this territory. Those desiring to file claims also were requested to communicate with the office at Amarillo.

SANTA FE WILL ADVERTISE TO AID RECOVERY

In its efforts to aid general business recovery the Santa Fe Railway System is taking an active part in the nationwide advertising movement to better acquaint consumers with the importance of the meat industry.

In a message which should be of great interest to livestock men as well as packers, retailers and consumers, S. T. Bledsoe, president said: "The Santa Fe takes pleasure in calling to the attention of its patrons the importance in our national economy of the Livestock and Meat Industry. The greater use of meat by all of us will go far towards stabilizing and make more secure this great basic industry."

This message has been printed on cards under the President's signature and placed before patrons throughout the 13,500 miles of the System.

ONLY YOUR MILEAGE MERCHANT OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE

Does Spring begin on March 20th?... or on the 21st? "Begin it today!" pleads your engine. "Bleed out my Winter-poisoned oil. But this Spring help me with more than an oil-change. Change to Your Mileage Merchant! And that's changing to Conoco Germ Processed oil—the only way to change me into an OIL-PLATED engine."

You want this modern exclusive OIL-PLATING because especially in Summer your steady driving demands more than the plain old type of oil-film that slithers OFF the working parts like drops of quicksilver. Exactly the opposite is achieved by the Germ Process—patented. It makes droplets of oil act like a billion tiny suction cups, powerfully attracted and OIL-PLATED to every working surface... Never draining down, never inviting friction, no matter how many thousands of starts and thousands of miles you make all Spring and Summer. And you'll notice Germ Processed oil sticking so close to "Full"—even in older cars—that you'll want to be sticking to Your Mileage Merchant. Continental Oil Company

Member of Congress from Texas

The provision in the new act for seeking new uses and markets for farm commodities should prove of great value.

It is of course of great importance to expand and develop existing markets at home and abroad. This additional provision will make it possible to develop new outlets by finding additional uses for the products of the farm.

Four regional research laboratories are to be established, one in each major farm producing area, and research will be carried on to develop new scientific, chemical and technical uses for farm commodities. Main attention will be given to surplus crops.

Such research will be a part of the permanent agricultural program, and the benefits of the work should increase as the years progress.

Miracles of Chemistry
In our own time we have seen miracles of modern chemistry. Yet science has just begun to explore the use for farm products. The countless examples of what research has already done for agriculture are indications of what we can expect in the future.

From cotton have come rayon, bemberg, celanese, tubize, and numerous other products. Cotton is now being used in the building of roads. An average of 32 pounds is used in every automobile.

Woodpulp has been changed into cellophane and newsprint. Texas Technological College has just announced the successful making of paper from Russian thistle.

Waste materials such as corn husks and stalks, as well as the chaff of the grain, have been transformed into chemicals, phonograph records, insulation materials and numerous other products.

A chemical revolution is going on in the world in the finding of new outlets for the products of the farm. The field of research to develop new uses for these products is one that is almost unexplored and one that should bring a valuable yield.

The major part of research has been devoted to industrial products. The products of the farm and ranch have been neglected not only in research but in marketing.

A New Chapter
With the beginning of the new farm program in 1933, a new chapter is being written for the people who live on the farm and ranch. Recognizing the basic nature of this industry this Administration has tackled in a real way the problems of research, of marketing, of price and income.

The total income of the farm and ranch has been entirely doubled since 1933. It will take years to reach a real solution. No other country in the history of the world has ever undertaken it as the United States and no other country in the world has made the progress that has been made in our own country in these lines.

The movement must go on until the income of the farmer is on a parity with the income of other groups.

Many fine features are included in the new bill, such as soil conservation, removal of freight rate discriminations, research, better prices, wider markets and greater exports.

Local Committees
The new measure gives greater responsibility to county and community committees, both in shaping the policy and carrying out the program. These committees are chosen by the farmers themselves. This is in line with the spirit of democracy upon which this country has been built.

Provision is made for a decision to be made on major policies by the farmers acting either directly or through their local chosen committees. The part which these committees has had in the operations since 1933 is largely responsible for the success that has been shown. With a larger responsibility given to these committees and to the farmers themselves, greater success is possible for the future.

Improvements will be made in the light of experience; both in the law and in its administration. The farmers for the first time are approaching more and more the goal of handling and determining the production, marketing and disposition of their own commodities.

Intrigue and Hilarity Riot In Local Play

Home Talent Wins Crowd's Acclamation At Firemen Benefit

Intrigue, mystery, murder and roaring hilarity conspired to produce an evening of fine entertainment for the crowd which packed the Matador high school auditorium Friday night to see "The Red Spider," a three-act mystery play produced by the Matador Volunteer Fire Department.

Fire chief, Clay Gilbert, who directed the play and the cast, composed entirely of local talent, won the wild applause of an enthusiastic audience after the final curtain.

The net proceeds of the play and proceeds from advertising sold by members of the fire department will be used to purchase new fire-fighting equipment. Chief Gilbert declared late yesterday that the net proceeds amounted to $90.50 and that the new equipment would be ordered immediately.

Those included in the cast were: Hugh Gray, Lucretia Estes, Hattie Tee Groves, Joe Berry Meador, Mary Meason, Paul Eubank, Lucille Meador R. E. Campbell, Jr., Willie Sue George and Burrell Tipton.

Members of fire departments from neighboring towns witnessed the production and, while no definite arrangements have been made, it is probable that the same cast will produce "The Red Spider" in other towns, Chief Gilbert declared.

Birth Registration Need Is Stressed

AUSTIN, Texas, March 15.—If unexpectedly faced with the necessity of legally establishing the date of their birth, their age, their American citizenship, thousands of Texans would not know whether or not their births were registered with the proper authorities. Great embarrassment, inconvenience, or even serious loss of property could conceivably result from either an absence of registration or an error in filing it with the State.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, cited an unnamed but prominent Texas citizen who upon investigation found that his son had been registered for more than 20 years as illegitimate. Another instance the health official related concerned a Veteran of the World War who, after rearing a family of three children, found that he had been registered at birth as a girl child. The experiences of workers with vital statistics are rich with stories of persons vainly seeking to establish their rights to property because of neglect of their parents or attending physicians to register them properly at time of birth.

The law requires the births of all Texas babies to be registered with the local registrar, who is the Justice of the peace in rural areas, and City Secretary in incorporated towns, within five days after the blessed event takes place, and forms are furnished physicians and midwives for this purpose, copy of the registration is returned for permanent filing. These records are "vital" not only to the individual from a legal standpoint, Doctor Cox said, but to the State as well.

"We must know how many babies are born, how many die and from what causes mortality occurs if we are to accomplish the best results from a public health standpoint. Such a program obviously needs the interested support of every Texan. Our Bureau of Vital Statistics is only too glad to cooperate in 'getting the record straight.'"

BOY SCOUT HUT TO BE LOCATED IN CITY PARK

Actual work in construction of a meeting hut for the local troop of Boy Scouts, will be started this week according to an announcement made by Elmer Stearns at the regular meeting of the Matador Lions Club Tuesday. The plan originated last fall by the Lions club has progressed steadily until ample funds have been received to insure completion of the project, Lion Stearns declared. A number of delays have retarded actual construction but the location has been staked off directly south of the barbecue pit, across the creek, in the city park. Some difficulty has resulted through efforts to secure property title of a location and Lion Stearns explained that the present location may probably require a vote of the citizenship to block a street through the park, on which the hut is to be built. The street would be expensive to open if any need for it existed.

Many members of the Lions club visited the location after the luncheon and were pleased with the scenic aspects afforded in the choice made by the committee. The building will be 18 by 24 feet with a meeting room 18x18 in which is planned a large fireplace to be located against the west wall. The building will probably face the east. The outside of the building will be covered with rough log stripping to give the effect of a log house. The project has been sponsored entirely by the Lions Club also some outside donations have been made. Lion Stearns declared it is hoped members will continue until the membership has donated 100 percent toward the hut.

SCOUTS MAKE 60 MI. JAUNT ON BICYCLES

Three members of the Matador Boy Scout troop, Maurice O'Reilly, Jack Robinson, Jr., Douglas Pitts, Jr., accompanied by Scoutmaster, Paul Eubank made a 67 miles bicycle jaunt Saturday in order to pass the 50 miles requirement for cycling merit badge.

The quartet left Matador early Saturday headed west against a strong wind. After a few miles up the Caprock grade they were picked up by a truck which afforded transportation to Plainview. Leaving Plainview at one o'clock the youths cycled to Lockney where they rested for forty minutes and then on to Floydada where they rested again for forty minutes before starting the two hours and twenty five minutes trip to Matador. They arrived here at seven o'clock after traveling by cycle a total of 67 miles. Besides some complaints of soreness, the boys were none the worse from their trip according to reports Sunday.

ABOUT HOTELS, FOOD AND ENGLISH—

Our southern neighbor, Mexico, has been terra incognita to the great mass of tourists. Soon all that will be changed, and then Mexico will be over-run with tourists, mostly from the United States. The greatest impetus given to stimulate tourist travel into Mexico, is the opening of the fine highway from Laredo, Texas to the Mexican capital. Several others are to be opened in the near future; then a cavalcade of mechanical beetles will be crawling over them, all filled with tourists who will see, not only another country, but another world. The majority will come in this manner, but the trains, the boats and the planes will carry their quota too.

MEXICO'S NEEDS FOR THE FUTURE—

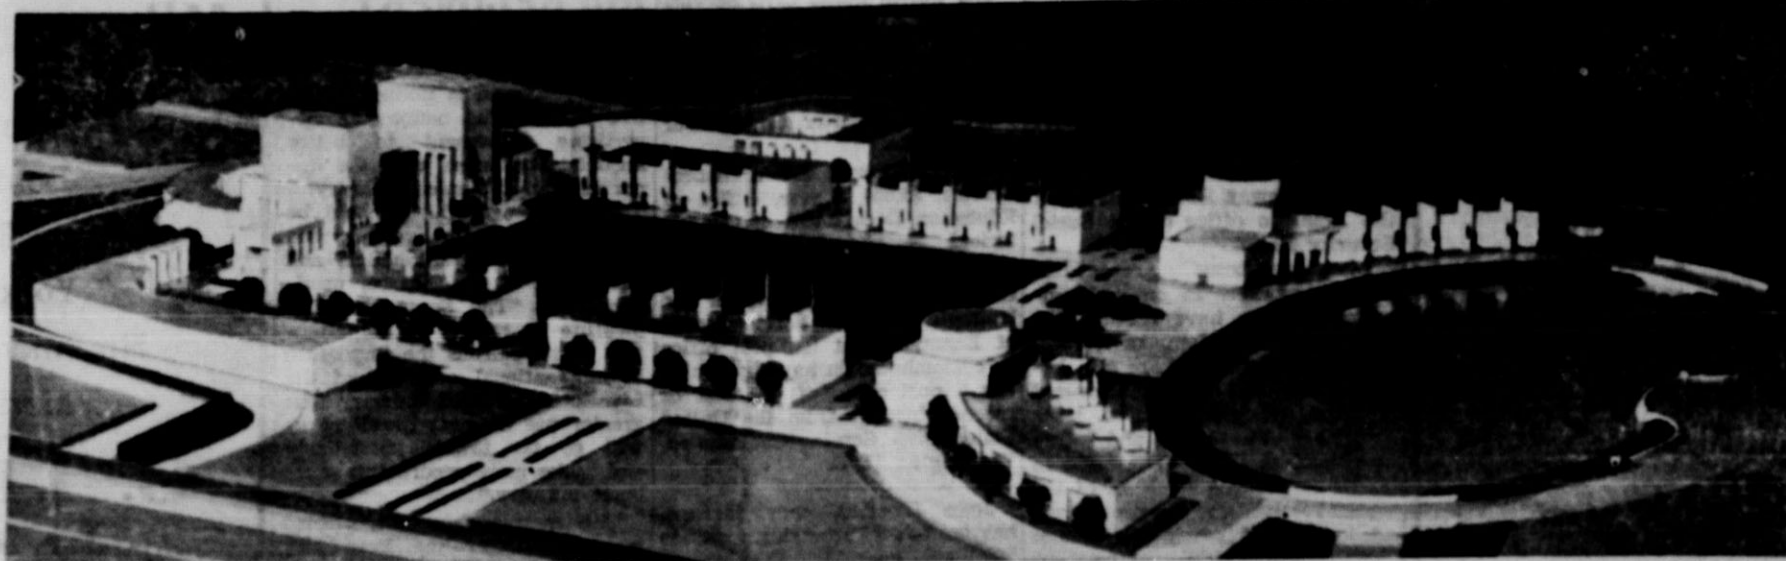

If Mexico is wise, which I think she is, she will prepare for this avalanche of visitors. Three things above all else, are necessary for the comforts and enjoyments of her guests: bigger and better hotels, more public servants who are able to speak English, and more restaurants that serve American food.

I visited Mexico before the season had started, yet I was unable to secure accommodations in some places, because I had not made telegraphic reservations before hand.

Although I speak English and several foreign languages, (not including Spanish) I encountered difficulties in some places to make my wants known and had to resort to pantomime.

In some places, the food served,

Uncle Sam's "Peace Table" at New York World's Fair 1939

NEW YORK—(Special)—Giant steamshovels are tearing away at the soil and hundreds of men are working on the $3,000,000 Federal Area for the New York World's Fair where Uncle Sam will preside, figuratively, at a 1939 world peace table that is expected to have a lasting beneficial effect upon international relations. Uncle Sam will be represented by a huge Federal Building which will be placed at the head of a Hall of Nations, where foreign countries, 64 of which have agreed to participate, will show their official exhibits at the Fair. All the buildings will be grouped around an enormous parade ground which will be the scene of parades, pageants, drills and other colorful events of a like nature, and where many thousands of Fair visitors will gather on opening day to listen to a speech by President Roosevelt. The architect is Howard L. Cheney.

This structure, which is now being built under the direction of the United States New York World's Fair Commission, will contain exhibits interpreting the background and functions of the legislative, judicial and executive branches of government. Secretary of Agriculture Henry although good of its kind, was not to my liking and caused indignation. Some Mexican trains do not carry a diner, so I was obliged to have a box lunch put up for me at the hotel (The Ritz) before starting. This train stopped for meals, of course, but I could not persuade myself to try unknown Mexican dishes. Once I forgot to order this box lunch, and in consequence, I subsisted all day on chocolate bars and bananas. As one cannot always trust the drinking water, I ordered either beer, which is very good in Mexico, or else bottled mineral water.

A. Wallace is Chairman of the Commission and its membership includes Secretary of Commerce Roper, Secretary of Labor Perkins, Senators Wagner and Copeland of New York and White of Maine and Representatives Merritt and Wadsworth of New York and McReynolds of Tennessee.

So from these experiences, I learned the present short-comings in catering to tourists on the Mexican terrain. I repeat, more hotels, more English speaking servants, and more places in which food may be procured that is agreeable to our palates, is the greatest need that faces Mexico in the near future with the greatly augmented tourist crop. I do not advocate the whole country being cluttered up with hot-dog stands, however, which would spoil the Mexican scene and rob it of much that is now so typical and interesting—so very Mexican. It is not in the Mexican capital that one experiences these short-comings, but rather in the smaller, provincial places.

MEXICO'S FINEST HOTEL—

The finest, most luxurious hotel in all Mexico, is located on the fashionable Paseo de la Reforma, in Mexico City. Guests ennobled here are surrounded with all that is luxurious, beautiful, and which ministers to one's every physical need. The prices that obtain here are commensurate with the quality of the accommodations offered. But for the average tourist, they are a bit too steep. A suite of rooms, de luxe, for example, cost about $35.00 per day (in U. S. Currency), while outside rooms average about $6.50 and inside ones, about $5.00 per day.

Rose and Grey on the Exterior. Blue and Gold in the Interior—

This magnificent hostelry is constructed of rose-colored volcanic stone which hardens when exposed to the air; the trim is of grey stone, and the whole is built on strictly up-to-date, modernistic lines.

The interior is done in a blue and gold color scheme.

As one enters the lobby one sees a dark blue carpet sprinkled with gold stars, the upper halls are all covered with blue carpets adorned in golden triangles. Furniture throughout is executed in this color scheme. All makes for a beautiful, harmonious effect.

The Della Robia Room; The Beethoven Room—

Among the many beautiful public rooms, the palm should be awarded to the Della Robia Room (a Ladies' Lounge) and to the Beethoven Room for musicals.

The former takes its name from the magnificent work of art by the great Florentine, Della Robia. The others that adorn the walls are of the works of the Dutch and Flemish schools, and worthy companion pieces.

The Beethoven Room I liked best. This music room takes its name from the great composer, whose huge mask in silver hangs high on the wall behind the pipe organ. The console of this organ is entirely encaused in small mirrors, the pipes above are in rich copper tones.

Nearby is a small dining room with a small center space for dancing. This is known as "The Queen of the May" room. The only men in evening clothes were the waiters, who looked more distinguished than some of the guests. Most of the beautiful Mexican ladies, however, were dressed in decollete. One sees so much of this sort of thing, the women all dressed up 'like Astor's plush horses' while their escorts wear ordinary sack suits, hardly a compliment to the ladies.

MURAL CONSPICUOUS BY ITS ABSENCE—

While in Mexico I endeavored to see all the murals painted by Diego Rivera—that past master in the art of esthetic communistic propaganda. I had read in an art book that he had one of his murals here in the Reforma Hotel, so I hied myself hence to see it. But, like its famous companion that had formerly adorned the walls of the R. C. A. Building in Rockefeller Center, New York, this too, had been removed as too strong for popular consumption.

It seems it gave offense to some of the wealthy guests who lodged in this hotel, hence, its removal. Perhaps these various removals, and the controversies they have caused, is the principal reason that Rivera is now confining himself to easel paintings. He told me himself, when I called on him at his home in Villa Obregon, that he was at present occupied in painting easel pictures. Not to embarrass him, I did not ask him why he had given up his murals which had made him internationally famous, but I surmised the reason. My impression of him by the way, was a mailed fist in a velvet glove. He was all courtesy, very suave, but through it all I perceived his dynamic personality, beneath all this polite surface. His eyes glowed with fervor, with intensity. He gave me the impression that his mission in life was to call the world's attention to the wrongs that Mexico had suffered in the past, to instigate proletarian revolt. To some he is an idol, to others, anathema. No one can deny, however, the powerful, dynamic qualities of his murals. They grip one.

THE ROOF-GARDEN—

The glass-enclosed roof-garden atop this Reforma Hotel, is one thing, above all others that one recalls most vividly, the food served here during luncheon is a gastronomic treat, but even exceeding that, is the glorious panorama of the city and the surrounding country one obtains from its windows on a clear day. Immediately below is spread out the Mexican capital—like a sea of grey stone petrified waves, with various prominences rearing their head here and there—the spires and domes of many churches. Beyond lies the valley encircled by volcanoes, a faint sheet of silvery mist that is Lake Texcoco, and the two most prominent features of the entire landscape—the twin volcanoes—"popo" and the "White (or Sleeping) Lady," whose snow-capped peaks are silhouetted against the blue Mexican sky.

No visitor to the Mexican Capital should fail to dine here, at least once; its not alone the imprecible viands that they served here, nor the glorious views, it's more than all that: its an exhilarating and stimulating experience that you will never forget, and that you will always recall with the pleasantest of recollections, the body, the mind, the spiritual entity are all effected.

Matador Hatchery Chicks Ready Soon

The first hatch of chicks by the Matador Hatchery this season will be ready for delivery, Monday March 21, according to Lewis Newman, manager. Hatching will be continued during the spring season, Mr. Newman declared.

Altho operation of the hatchery is delayed from the usual starting time, Mr. Newman, who is recognized as an outstanding poultry authority, said that later chickens are more profitable and best suited for this section.

Customers are assured of strong healthy chicks with exceptional livability through the scientific operation of the Matador Hatchery. Not only are the eggs used for commercial hatching blood-tested but all eggs received for custom hatching must also be of the same grade. Mr. Newman explained that diseases of chicks are communicable and he found it necessary to establish a strictly blood-let rule on every egg placed in his incubator.

The Matador Hatchery is located in the northeast section of the city.

Childress Is Host To Large Group

At a spot which 50 years ago was a half mile from the watering troughs and livery stable of a virgin West Texas settlement, 500 men and women from three score Panhandle cities gathered Thursday night for the Childress Chamber of Commerce's Golden Jubilee banquet, by far the most elaborate affair of its kind ever staged in the neighboring city.

The scene of the colorful event was Childress' civic auditorium, located in the beautiful Fair Park in the western residential section of the city that grew from that struggling outpost into the trade center of the lower Panhandle.

Many Guests Attend

Over 300 civic leaders of Childress gathered around the tables with the 200 visitors from 30 surrounding towns.

Matador was represented by Mr.

and Mrs. C. A. Pitts, Henry Pipkin and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Meador.

Comments were frequent and praises were numerous as the half thousand guests looked forward to the second half of Children's progress toward the century mark.

Paducah Soon To Have School Band

Paducah is going to have a school band and a good one. Earl Martin of Matador has been coming here for the past two weeks for the purpose of organizing the band and conducting regular daily practice. Martin announced that twenty-eight students are coming out for practice and that many more are interested. As soon as instruments are secured the number will be increased. Night rehearsals are to start next week. The band will appear and perform at the assembly hour in the near future, Martin said.

School officials, the merchants of the city and the Lions Club have been interested for several months in the organization of a band. Few cities the size of this place are without bands, and it will be a credit to Paducah to support one.

Band practice will continue through the summer months, Martin said, and it is understood that band members will be given school credits next year for their work.

The gathering, sponsored by the Matador Child Welfare Association in the interests of Girl Scouts, received the hearty cooperation of the mothers of the town, as well as many women not having daughters of their own, who accompanied girls of the community whose mothers were either unable to attend or who were in the company of another daughter.

SICKNESS takes a Holiday!

Their Health is Protected by Electric Refrigeration

Hospital Obstetrics Supervisor Says: "It's Safest"

Economy in operation and safety from food spoilage are so important in your home as in any hospital! Therefore, it seems amazingly significant that most all hospitals, including Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene (see photos), depend largely on Electric Refrigeration for these two necessary performances. Miss Vera Smith, obstetrics supervisor, says: "We now have eight Fridgidaire's in use, one of which is in the maternity ward. I know of no better method than electric refrigeration as a means of providing one of many safeguards for the health of these babies." So when buying a refrigerator, please bear in mind that responsible persons, qualified to exert expert choice, everywhere are choosing Electric Refrigeration. Especially is this true in West Texas, where arid summer heat makes it impossible for other types to maintain 45- to 45-degree temperatures—necessary for complete food protection. Electric service for refrigeration costs as little as 2 1/2 cents a day!

IN THE PICTURES

Increasing peacefully are these youngsters, well-tended by the electric refrigeration which protects their health. One year, another historic day, blue their health. One year, another historic day, blue their health. One year, another historic day, blue their health.
