TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

The spice jars are too convenient in the kitchen of modern life and the mix is often improperly seasoned before the heavy doors on the oven of time are shut. The heart knows with tragic certainty of a dextral fault in the selection of ingredients, but that which is baked can not be returned to the emptied barrel.

In the cold twilight of an evening long ago, I rode beside my father on a wagon loaded with wood, and waited for the tired team to feel its way over the dim road. From the swamp of space overhead, the stars waved their gentle lanterns as glow-worms exchanging signals in the marsh grass jungle on a summer night. A coyote's cry, broken by its own futility, disturbed eddies of a sharp south wind from my pockets in the silence and my father removed his flimsy coat to place it about my frail shoulders. Then he told me of a great old man he had known on the fenceless ranges of another decade, who had found shelter for his soul in God's lean-to on the plains of understanding. The old man had once been a degree of agility and cursed with a degree of profane practice, and habit was sulky in relinquishing a slave so well trained. However, when profanity splashed over the dikes of his thoughts, he would step from his saddle and kneel in a supplication for forgiveness.

The wagon lumbers on through my memory as a strange pew from which to hear an immortal sermon and reminds me at times that I never completely trust a man who curses.

Music melts the invisible snow of dreams in the unknown peaks of each man's happiness and the stream racing through his heart overflows the valley of age, and wastes the restraining banks of convention. Hurrying to a sea of destination as indefinite as its source, the mysterious current bears an unknown, barbaric force.

A highway across the hills beyond my window is hidden under the robes of night as the black wings of fog hovering over a river, and the electric flares of automobiles pause at one particular point, then drop into obscurity. The lights might be torches secured to the prows of gondolas drifting on the river Styx, and freighted with souls terrified by the obsession of silence and monotony. The procession seems endless as the suns of each day dropping behind the twilight horizons, but in the future a certain hour has been set aside when the last light will pause ere it surrenders the road to perpetual darkness.

Love is that indefinite quality which frightens young hearts because it is so close and causes old hearts to tremble because its departure is so inevitable.

Woman can hardly expect to dominate a land where man can find a place to be alone with his pipe beside a camp-fire, or read a book before a hearth-fire into which a sad-eyed Pointer dreams.

Mockery stems the current of understanding when some digression in the contour of affinity often causes us to almost despise a good man and like a rascal. The solution perhaps, reverts to the wisdom declaring it impossible to know any man and dislike him; however, it seems highly probable that some men do not want to be known. One fact which has too often escaped the observation of too many men (and women) is that the rights of a critic are seldom, if ever, vested in mortals. The best critics are those who live rather than speak for right.

In the hanging gardens of desire, suspended above a pagan altar flame in my heart, one bulb falls to respond to care and the warmth of many summers. I have wanted for so long for someone besides a bulging-eyed drunk, to declare an artistic shapeliness in my hands.

Loss Of Railroad Believed Certain

Q. A. & P. Expected To Be Granted Right Of Abandonment

Doom for the continued operation of the Quanah, Acme and Pacific eight mile branch line railroad from Matador junction to Matador is now believed certain by many interested in rail service here. A message to Farris Fish, local attorney, from the Interstate Commerce Commission, received last week-end, declared that examiner T. F. Sullivan had recommended the I. C. C. grant the Q. A. & P. petition of abandonment made last year. The report was claimed to have resulted from information and data received at the hearing held in Matador November 18, 1935.

Small Chance Remains
 Mr. Fish, who is engaged by residents to fight the application of abandonment, is of the opinion that a small chance to retain the road remained. He said, however, that objections to the Interstate Commerce Commission ruling might be filed until March 3rd.

In event the abandonment permit is granted, the railroad, which was constructed by Motley county citizens after the Quanah route had failed to provide rail connections to Matador, is expected to be removed immediately.

No work order has been issued and there is no indication as to when construction will be started.

TO PADUCAH

Mesdames A. L. Fryar, U. L. Willie and J. W. Drace drove to Paducah to accompany Deputy Grand Matron, Mrs. Moore of Lorenza, to meet with the local Eastern Star chapter, in their meeting, Tuesday afternoon.

You cannot brag your way to prosperity.

COLD WAVE CONTINUES

The cold wave which had hardly given the entire country a breathing spell in the past thirty days, has not been partial to Motley county. One of the most severe periods of frigid weather within the memory of old-timers has whipped this section with one blizzard after another.

No accounts of actual want and suffering in the county have been reported, however, everyone compelled to engage in outside activities has been discomforted. Wood and coal supplies are declared adequate for the county's needs.

The principal objections to the extended visit of winter is the lack of moisture accompanying cold weather. Farmers and stockmen are optimistic with regard to crop and range prospects.

The thermometer skidded to 2 degrees above zero Tuesday morning with little moderation Wednesday night. Many water pipes throughout the city were reported frozen.

SNOW FLURRY

Snow fell quickly over the frozen ground in Matador at noon yesterday to a depth of about one-fourth inch. The flurry lasted about an hour to be followed by sunshine and moderation in temperature.

COUNTY SCHOOLS TO COMPETE FOR SINGING HONORS

Assistant County Supt Attends Meeting at Paducah Friday

Assistant County School Superintendent, Mrs. Joe Jeffers, attended a district meeting of county superintendents at Paducah last Friday where discussions of the music program for Texas schools stressed the importance of the Texas Centennial. Mrs. Jeffers has recently accepted the new office of county superintendent and will aid county judge, W. R. Cammack, in the work.

Follow Eastern System

Texas plans, Mrs. Jeffers declares, to follow the system now in use by South Carolina in training school students to sing. Phonograph records are used, the same tempo and the same records being used by each school.

A county sing-song, in which every student in the county will participate, will be decided upon. The champion school will then participate in the district meeting which will be held at the open-air stadium at Spur on May 2. District champions will then sing at the Centennial in Dallas on June 13th.

Local Bank Will Observe Holiday

The First State Bank here will observe Saturday, February 22nd, birthday of George Washington, as a legal holiday. As a National holiday, Saturday will be observed by banks and other business institutions throughout the country.

Customers are asked to remember that the bank will be closed Saturday and make transactions beforehand in order to avoid inconvenience.

Laundry Under New Management

The Ideal self-help laundry here which has been under the management of Tom Tilson, was involved in a transaction recently whereby O. K. Kingery became the new manager.

Mr. Kingery who is well known in this section, declared that he had found business steadily improving. He expects to add new equipment from time to time and is at present planning the purchase of a drying machine. A new washing machine to add to the present equipment is also contemplated.

Rev. A. L. Jordan made a trip to Gainesville during the week-end.

WILD GAME OF MATADOR LAND NOW PROTECTED

Vast Territory In Five Pastures Now State Game Preserve

The State of Texas came to the aid of the vanishing wild game in Motley county recently when a vast territory located in five pastures of the Matador Land and Cattle Company was placed in a State Game Preserve.

The preserve, which has been posted with warning signs, is located as follows: All of the Mott pasture, Dutchman pasture, Salt Creek, Edward and West pasture and all of Red Lake pasture.

The State seeks to preserve quail and wild turkey in Mott pasture, quail in Dutchman, Salt Creek, Edwards and West pasture and Prairie Chickens and quail in Red Lake pasture, it was declared.

State To Re-stock

Promises of restocking the game preserve have been received from the state and is expected sometime in the future. Wild turkey will be added to Mott and Prairie chicken to Red Lake and quail to the entire territory.

The new preserve will be regularly patrolled by game warden, Harley Breg, of Spur. All forms of trespassing, including hunting are strictly forbidden and will be vigorously prosecuted upon apprehension of violators.

Further information declared that two other large tracks of land are also included in the new State Game Preserve for Motley county. They are the B. W. Seigler Ranch and C. D. Bird Ranch.

FARMERS MAKE APPLICATIONS FOR TERRACES

Giant Machine Wins Favor Of County At Showing

The intense and widespread interest of Motley County farmers in soil and water conservation is again displayed by the scores of verbal applications already received for the services of the modern terrace building machinery demonstrated by the county last week. Printed application blanks have been sent to more than fifty landowners who have indicated a desire to terrace land this year.

Rated By Agent

The large diesel tractor and terracer will be routed by County Agent Frank A. Buckley. Mr. Buckley states that probably all requests will be granted but that according to present indications the entire period between now and planting time will be required to fill all engagements. The machinery will be operated ten hours per day and will be moved in each case to the next nearest farm in order to save as much time as possible. Those wishing the early use of the machinery should turn in their applications immediately so that as to be included in the first routing. Anyone whose allotted time on the normal time for bedding the land may go ahead with the plowing provided the contour lines are run and the rows are laid with the lines. The terraces may then be

The Tribune joins in extending congratulations and best wishes.

LIONS SPONSOR TREE PLANTING ON WIDE SCALE

Low Priced Trees To Property Owners Are Assured

Despite some loss in attendance because of the cold weather, one of the most enthusiastic and worthy programs to be attempted by the Matador Lions Club, emerged from the civic club's regular meeting and luncheon served at the Baptist Church Tuesday. Following the delicious fried-chicken luncheon served by the Baptist Ladies, the program was sponsored by Dr. Albert Traweck Jr. and included a vocal duet by Math Barkley and Wiley Frank McCown, accompanied by Lioness Rachel Patton at the piano. Addresses were made by Lions Henry Pipkin, R. E. Campbell and Vernon Doss on the club's magazine, "The Lion".

Tree Planting Program

Lion Dr. A. C. Traweck followed the regular program with a suggestion that the club sponsor a tree planting program and offered information declaring a Hammond, Ind., multi-millionaire, a retired doctor, offered all kinds of timber, shade and fruit trees at almost unbelievable low prices. An example showed that 1000 Chinese Elm shade trees could be purchased for $10 at Hammond. Other trees were listed along the same scale. Immediate action was voted by the club to sponsor a county-wide tree planting program and offer all types of trees at exact cost to the property owners. Boss Lion B. F. Tunnell appointed Solon Lea as chairman, assisted by Arvil Craven and U. L. Willie to act as a committee for the tree planting program.

To Borrow Money

The question of finance of the program was discussed and the club voted to authorize the committee to borrow money and make

In connection with his duties at the station, Mr. Traweck will also be engaged in the sales department of the concern, aiding with the Chrysler and Plymouth agency.

Mr. Traweck, who has spent most of his life in Matador, has many friends who will be interested to know of his new location.

Heavy Frost In Matador Monday

Jack Frost, 240 pound, factory representative of the Waples-Platter Co., was in Matador Monday afternoon. Mr. Frost has been connected with the company for the past 33 years.

The Waples-Platter Co., a Texas firm which believes that that which Texas makes makes Texas, was established on the banks of Red River in 1872. It is now the largest wholesale grocery and coffee roasting concern in the south.

The company has a canning plant which claims a capacity of 63,000 beans daily. The factory site is declared to cover over 27 acres.

Rotan Man Buys Lea Ice Company

A deal was completed early this month whereby Clarence Leon of Rotan, Texas purchased the Lea Ice Company plant here. Solon Lea former manager and owner, will remain here as manager for Mr. Leon.

Ice will be manufactured here for local trade and also for Spur where Mr. Leon has another ice station. Mr. Leon is engaged in the ice business at Rotan.

Mr. Lea declared that no change in business policy was contemplated and that after a few minor repairs, the plant would be ready for operation on the arrival of warm weather. The amount of consideration in the deal was not announced.

West Texas Mourns Passing Of Wilbur Hawk At Amarillo

Outstanding Leader Is Buried Friday

Wilbur C. Hawk, 55, outstanding newspaper publisher and civic worker of the plains-panhandle area, died last Wednesday morning at 6:30 at his home in Amarillo, and the remains were interred in Llano Cemetery near that city Friday following the funeral services held at the Central Presbyterian Church.

CAR DRIVERS GET LICENSE

It will be decidedly bad taste and expose considerable worse judgement if you don't drop around to Sheriff J. E. Skinner's office and secure your drivers license, before April first. They are free. In case you do not plan to drive any form of motor vehicle on the highways of Texas during the next three years, you will not need the license, otherwise you had better get them before some traffic officer stops you and asks to see how many coupons you have left. The license has two coupons, each for a traffic offense, but you have to make 'em last three years. On the third offense the judge takes your license and you drive from the back seat or walk.

Heavy Penalty

Miss Rachel Patton, deputy clerk declared that a severe penalty will be imposed upon those who are apprehended while driving without license. The law has been proven the most effective means of reducing the astounding loss of property and life in automobile accidents. Considerable time is required to fill out the application and the license and applicants are requested to apply for the permits at convenient times through the week and avoid Saturday rush.

SEWING ROOM HERE REPLICAS BUSY FACTORY

WPA Project Employs 20 Women To Sew For Needy

With the industry and organization of a well systemized factory, the WPA Sewing Room Project located in the Luckett building here, under the direction of Project Supervisor, Mrs. Sterling Price turns out garments of good material and workmanship for the needy on direct relief in the county. County Commodity Supervisor, A. E. Duncan, declared that the February list shows 12 families, with a total of 34 people on direct relief in the county.

Well-stocked Store

Products from the sewing room, which include every design of garment for every member of the family and estimated at between 1500 and 2000 pieces, are arranged as the merchandise of a well-stocked store. In addition to the clothing department, Mr. Duncan has on hand 90 bushels of apples, 14063 pounds of flour, 2200 cans of beef, 190 pounds of rice and 8 project-made mattresses. The food and clothing, however, is under severe restrictions and each unit must be accounted for to the district office. Only the 12 families on direct relief are eligible for food and clothing. About 20 women are employed in the WPA sewing room project.

County Case Worker

Mr. Duncan explained that application has been made to secure a county case worker in this territory and that in cases where investigation reveals needy families, not on direct relief and not having received a first WPA check, recommendation for food and clothing will be made. In event a case worker selected for the county, each section will be visited regularly and careful investigation of conditions made.

PUBLISHERS NOTE—This is the first of a series of articles written by R. A. Harp, Northfield School teacher. The discourses are not affiliated with the editorial policies of this publication in any respect, except in the belief that readers will find them interesting. Constructive criticism is solicited and any communication addressed to Mr. Harp in care of this newspaper will be promptly forwarded to him.

I see by the papers that the friends of Jimmie Walker, former mayor of New York City, say that Jimmie will probably have plenty to say in the coming political campaign before its close. They neglected to mention—if he doesn't take another trip abroad for his HEALTH.

"New Government", an article in the Saturday Evening Post, by Gareth Garrett portrays many facts concerning the "New Deal" government. It is an interesting article written by a competent author. We find that in reality the New Deal has not solved the problems of the Republic, but we must be mindful of one thing, that is, we have a president who is more than willing to do SOMETHING. He has spent his time trying to devise a way to help the farmer, the laborer, and those who are unable to help themselves. He chooses the best educated men, if not, the best authorities, to help him with his problems. They have made an humble effort to give to all their just deserts. We have heard of constructive criticism. Our President has been ready to take advice—perhaps to much so. His foes have been ready to condemn his efforts without offering anything better. It might be that is what we need is constructive criticism, which would be something new, instead of a new president. Think it over.

Senator Borah, it seems, threatens not to be one of the Republican Party, but to be THE Republican Party.
 The Liberty League isn't in accord with the Presidents policies.
 Perhaps the income tax has something to do with it.
 There is nothing to arouse a more commiserate feeling than a man who has reached the peak of his career and goes back down the ladder to the "Ham and egg" class.
 Yet, that feeling of pity sometimes can not overshadow the unfairness of his action. Al Smith's bolt from the Democratic Party could hardly be in the class of a bolt—anyway not more than a stove bolt.

Politics may not be any cleaner than the crime wave, but at least it gives us something different to read about.

The Townsend Bill seems to be gaining new favor in some parts of the nation. Some legislators predict that there will be many new faces in congress next year due to it. The leaders in favor of the plan estimate that they will be able to swing eight million votes in the next election. If a few changes were made so that the bill would read something like this, "Every person having reached the age of twenty-one years shall receive $200.00 per month as long as that person shall live, and persons not having reached the age of twenty-one shall be considered a minor and everything shall be free to minors", I feel sure they could swing fifty million votes.

There is an old saying that, "Politicians look from office to office while statesmen look from generation to generation". Perhaps it was said before both looked from pocket book to pocket book.
 George Bernard Shaw, the life long critic of England, has suggested that the United States should chuck its constitution in the ocean.
 Mr. Shaw is a rather elderly person and the job of criticizing the U. S. being so much greater than that of England, may prove to be much for him. However, his idea might be worth our consideration.

J. Pierpont Morgan stated before the Senate Munitions Committee.
 "Without the leisure class civilization would dwindle and pass away" Such a statement should prove clearly that Mr. Morgan inherited his money. He, also, must have a

The investigation by the Senate Munitions Committee failed to produce any scandalous headlines, so the newspapers pronounced it a "flop". When J. Pierpont Morgan went to sleep one day during the investigation the newshawks walk-

One would hardly associate angels with Hollywood, rather the forked tail and the cloven hoof are conjured up by the great majority of people when they think of our fair city.

But you may take my word for it, there are angels here. But I must confess at the start, they are not white angels—but of the dusky persuasion. These Hollywood angels range all the way from "high yaller" through all the varying shades of browns and 'calf au lait', sepias, culminating in hues of darkest ebony.

These angels I saw strolling about a studio lot during a momentary lull in activity. I saw lady angels and gentlemen angels and wee colored mites—cherubs. They were all attired in the conventional angelic garb one has come to associate with them. They were all there in the burlap robes with a cord tied around their middle, sandals and their wings were flapping about as they walked.
 The wings of the cherubs differed somewhat from that worn by the elders. They reminded one of the fluffy, fuzzy down seen on young fowls.

However, I am sorry to report their deportment on this occasion was not exactly comely. From the denizens of a finer, higher world, one had been led to expect conduct not so wordily promisc-Some of these gentlemen angels I saw playing "craps"—seven come eleven—"come to papa baby"— that sort of thing. Some were calling up their sweeties making dates others mentioned such sordid things as pork chops and bologna—a group nearby were laughing at a joke—no doubt risqué, and so it went. But one must not expect too much from these "angels"—they were the synthetic Hollywood kind and they were all here to do their share in helping to bring the great negro play "Green Pastures" to the screen.

Negroes are being used in three current pictures—the one mentioned above, "Hearts Divided" starring Marion Davies, and "Show Boat" with John Boles being made by the Universal Studios. I am glad to see them given a chance—they have vast possibilities in the amusement field—no other race has such a fine sense of rhythm. In the domain of the song and the dance they shine. They are born entertainers.

At a recent affair, the guests—of the feminine persuasion—were all asked to come to this party attired in all white. Did they comply? Of course not. Some thought white made them look too large, others, too washed out, others purposely ignored the request so that by comparison, they would stand out from the crowd. And when the time came and the 'whites' beheld the colored ones, there was an inward gnashing of teeth, outwardly, however, they wore their sweetest smiles. The best acting is often in real life. Nor was everything a bed of roses among the masculine members. A couple of them so far forgot themselves as to resort to fistfights. But I think they all enjoyed the refreshments. Sometimes often in fact, this is the pleasantest feature of the whole evening. Even at parties, movie stars show that the public idols have feet of clay.

 Walter Pitkin, author of the best

In a discussion of "New Careers

Pitkin stresses the present hous-

MOVIE CHATTER

(By A. Rogue)

"Thunder Mountain" Zane Grey's latest book is just out and breaking all Zane Grey records. Now that the public is buying it, reading it and discussing it you can see it at your theatre Friday and Saturday. The stars are George O'Brien, Frances Grant and Barbara Fritchie (an expert horsewoman, who requires no double for her riding scenes.) This picture was filmed in the heart of the mother lode country, near Senora California, scene of many sensational gold rushes. The story was adopted from Zane Grey's novel of the Idaho gold rush.

"Mutiny on the Bounty" For weeks you have waited to see "Mutiny on the Bounty"—the first $2,000,000 film in all screen history. Out of the actual pages of history, Metro Goldwyn-Mayer has brought to the screen the most gripping sea adventure of all time! "Mutiny on the Bounty" starring Clark Gable, Charles Laughton and Franchot Tone will be shown at the Rogue Sunday and Monday only. The lure of the sea—men's tyranny—South sea paradise—disillusionment—Muntiny—men hounded around the world—and death—all these came to the men of "Mutiny on the Bounty"! That great picture that can't be missed Sunday and Monday only!

Walter Bain, as well as a number of other Northfield citizens were in Matador Saturday, watching the ball games and transacting business.

Mrs. J. A. Tipton spent the latter part of the week visiting relatives in Matador.
