TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Music of accomplishment is enchanting when the fingers are trained at the keyboard absorbing labor.

Religion is faithfully served the hypothesis of a faithful art, an humble spirit, compassion and prayer. Woven into the fabric of a lifetime, it creates a pattern of peace; a cloak to wear into eternity.

A basic fact that glitters in the eyes of society acknowledges about reservations, that our homes are friends of our souls.

Government is a by-product of progress and its cost is amortized by the use of its services.

Our modern lives are further complicated by the building of houses where there is no danger and no danger, and leaving unguarded a thousand shoals to create destruction.

Some the laying mash now and sold as breakfast should put bloom in the cheeks of the consumers, if it were not for the bluish of manufacturers.

The print is omitted from the license because the substance of its meaning is handed by word of mouth from father to daughter.

Material may be salvaged in the wreckage of failure, when fused with experience and rebuilt adjacent to a quay of ambition, becomes stronger because of an original stress.

Gray hair receives more respect when its authority is supported by extensive wealth.

Land Office Is Doing Land Office Business

"DOING a land office business" is an old West Texas term meaning that business is rushing and that a concern or individual is busy. It aptly applies to the office of the Hornica-Bear Creek Land Company, located in the First State bank building. The firm former Red Lake Cattle Corporation land which previously was a part of the Matador Land & Cattle Co.

The office is under the management of John Stevens and D. I. W. Bernie who are part owners of the big block of range land. Business is good. Many parcels of the real estate have already been sold.

The demand has greatly exceeded earlier expectations and prospective buyers are coming from long distances.

Break-up of the range land of the great Matador cattle empire has received wide publicity due to the fame of the Scottish-owned syndicate which operated here for more than 70 years.

Fame of the "Foothill Area" as some of the finest grazing land in the United States is also well known, especially to ranchers throughout the Southwest.

Another factor that has spurred the interest and sales of the land is the shortage of land now on the market. More people are interested in owning land than ever before. Any part of the former Matador Land & Cattle Co. ranch is desirable property.

Some of the 87,000 acres in the Hornica-Bear Creek pastures is excellent farming land. However, all of it is proven grazing land of the best quality.

Windmills and earthen tanks are scattered over the property and the paved Matador-Northfield FM road bisects it.

First State Bank Gains In Standing

STANDING of the First State Bank of Matador gained 1018 places among the 6100 largest banks in the United States during 1958.

The information was released this week to the Tribune from the American Banker, daily banking newspaper published in New York.

Part of the dispatch reads as follows: "The First State Bank of Matador which reported deposits of $3,827,966 on December 31, gained 1018 places in its standing among the 6100 largest banks in the United States during 1958 and now ranks as 6047th largest in size as compared with 7065th place at the end of 1957."

This is revealed in the 1959 Annual Roll Call of Largest Banks in the United States published today by the daily American Banker of New York, which is the trade newspaper of the banking business. There are 14,000 banks in the United States." The message is signed by Clinton D. Axford, editor of the publication. The dispatch was post-marked April 10.

John L. Barnhill, vice-president of the bank said he had previously received a telegram announcing the more than 1000 gain in standing of the pioneer Motley County institution. He said, however, that he had decided to wait for the announcement to be made public by the American Banker.

Tribune Requests News, Ads Early

Present production schedule for the Tribune requires advertisements and news items at least 24 hours earlier than in the past. Any departure from this rule means that the newspaper will be late in reaching the reader and that the Tribune force will be obliged to work most of two nights.

For about six months now the newspaper has gone into the mail late on Wednesdays, so that the readers here and at Roaring Springs may have delivery Thursday mornings and on routes during the day. Advertisers have reported increased returns from advertising and readers appreciate the earlier delivery.

First printing is usually done on Saturdays (two pages). Another printing will, if possible, be made on Mondays, another Tuesdays and the final two pages on Wednesdays.

A great amount of work is required to prepare ad and news copy to print two pages with the Tribune's advertising copy scheduled advertising copy should be received Friday for the following week News items of local interest are urgently needed on Fridays.

Frequently it is impossible to submit advertising copy before Monday evening, but an announcement of intention to use advertising space will greatly aid in planning the edition, and the space will be held open.

News items should be received by Monday evening Friday (or Saturday is better) so that the copy can be prepared and setting into type, corrected and made up in pages for printing as soon as possible. Early copy is always appreciated because the Tribune seeks to better serve its advertisers, readers and friends with dependable delivery.

Is your garbage can a heavy eater? How much does it cost to feed it for a year?

The average American feeds 225 pounds of food a year to the garbage can, according to estimates by extension foods specialists. That's two-thirds of a pound a day. For a family of five that would add up to 3-1/2 pounds a day or 1,125 pounds a year. At the low rate of 25 cents a pound, this means a family of five pays $281 for groceries they do not eat.

Specialists point to four common causes of food waste in the home: lack of good planning and buying, which result in over-buying, poor preparation and serving of food, poor use of leftovers, and improper practices of preservation and storage.

What to do about them? Plan your buying and preserving so that food can be used or stored promptly before it loses freshness and flavor or spoils. Serve food when it reaches the just-right stage. It loses texture and flavor if overcooked or if it stands too long before it is served. Keep all food clean, cool and covered until you use it. Check food often and keep it moving.

And remember impulsive buying is costly, especially in foods. Buying because the food looks good, is attractively displayed, or suits your appetite at the moment, often rules out such considerations as price, nutritive value, amount needed, family preferences, and left-overs, or other foods that you already have on hand.

MOVING TO FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Myers returned last week from a trip to Florida, and are making arrangements to move near Ocala, where Mr. Myers will manage a ranch. Their small sons, Cody and Jeffery have been with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Neighbors, Matador, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Myers of Spur, and will accompany their parents when they leave this weekend to return to Florida.

An opinion survey, made in behalf of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, reveals a rising spending mood among the people. They have reduced their installment debt and are in a strong position, as a result, to buy the big items that they passed up during the recession, such as autos, furniture and appliances.

National Survey Shows Motley County Business Increased During Recession

Special to the Tribune

NEW YORK, Mar. 23 — By absorbing more than its usual share of the nation's goods and services during the recent recession period, Motley County did its part in paving the road back to business recovery.

A study of consumer spending in that period, based on data gathered by the Commerce Department and by other sources, reveals that the dire misgivings that were exhibited in many areas were not so visible locally. This is seen in connection with figures on the gross national product (GNP), which is the dollar value of all goods and services produced in the country. It is the generally recognized measure of economic performance. The GNP amounted to approximately $430 billion in the recession year, several billion under the 1957 level.

Of the $430 billion, some $306 billion, or 71 percent of it, represented consumer buying of goods and services, an indication of where the real economic power lies.

Motley County's contribution toward this volume came to $3,740,000 in the period.

It consisted of retail purchases of goods and commodities, $2,970,000, and outlays for services of all types, estimated at $770,000.

The total, achieved during a time of national business decline, was actually 6.1 percent above that of the previous twelve months, when goods and services locally added up to $3,525,000.

Some of this rise, however, is attributable to the inroads on purchasing power, caused by inflation, it is pointed out.

At the present time, with business good in most sections of the United States and with the recession rapidly fading into the background, the talk is of the future. Are we heading into a new boom? If so, what is the timetable?

An opinion survey, made in behalf of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, reveals a rising spending mood among the people. They have reduced their installment debt and are in a strong position, as a result, to buy the big items that they passed up during the recession, such as autos, furniture and appliances.

Most economists agree that 1959 will be a good year but that the real upsurge will take place in the '60s.

Why are some drugs like "ecstasy sauce?"

If you read "Li'l Abner" you may recall how the Gourmet's Club plotted to make "Ecstasy Sauce" from the Yokums' pet pig, Salomey. Recipe: Boil down one hammas alabamas (Salomey) until just one single, solitary delicious drop remains—and that is "Ecstasy Sauce." In terms of food, this is humorously ridiculous, but it's actually routine in the making of drugs. Often hundreds of pounds of raw materials must be processed and reprocessed to obtain one tiny pinch of the active medication. Which helps explain why modern drugs are so potent, and why we pharmacists dispense them only when your physician writes a prescription.

COUNTY AGENT ALLMEYER SAYS:

USING INSECTICIDES

With the coming of warm weather the insects start bothering our crops. Extension entomologists at Texas A & M have been busy this spring getting out new publications on insects and their control. One thing they stress again this year is that the insecticides are not poisons and you should use them when using any insecticide. The best way to tell how an insecticide is to read the instructions on the container. They are put there for your protection. The instructions tell exactly how to use the insecticide and they should be followed to the letter. Another warning is to store insecticides out of reach of small children. It is a good idea to store insecticide material in a high or in a locked cabinet. Not everyone knows and follows these precautions, but it takes only a little poison to cause severe sickness or even death.

CAMPUS CUES

by Carolyn Pohl

If Mr. Moore had a place to plug in an electric wire in his ear, he would have enough power to light a Christmas tree. Better still you would not even have to plug in to Mr. Moore to get a lighted tree, he would do. This was found out about two weeks ago when the students body sang "happy birthday" to him in study hall. Mr. Moore turned as red as a lighted tree decorated in red lights. He must have been embarrassed!

The juniors in the Junior Play are never seen without their play books. After all, we all must make Mr. Moss think we are studying our parts.

Everyone was sore after cheerleader tryouts. You can still hear moans and groans as girls go up and down the stairs.

Laugh a while - One turkey gobbled to another. "If Grandpa knew how much we were costing a pound this year, he'd turn over in his grave."

See ya next week!

WEEK END VISITORS

Visiting here during the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stearns were his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Stearns and son Richard, of Temple. A sister-in-law, Mrs. W. A. Stearns of Lubbock, and her daughter and son, Mrs. L. E. Crites and Gene of Kansas City, Mo., joined them for the day Sunday.

Cotton Stephens of Albuquerque, N. M. visited during the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Stephens. He was accompanied by Mrs. Bernice Duke and son, Bobby Mack, who were guests in the Stephens home.

RECENT VISITOR

Nolan Fulkerson of Lubbock, salesman for Schilling products, was here Wednesday of last week on his regularly scheduled trip to Matador, and while here visited with relatives, his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Fulkerson, and in-laws, the Douglas Meadors.

TO FATHER'S BEDSIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stanley left this morning for Moore, Texas, to the bedside of her father, F. M. Conover, who is critically ill.

Broiled Chicken, Lemon Herb Sauce

Here's a new way to serve that favorite pair, Chicken and Rice. As the chicken broils, it's basted with a special lemon herb sauce. The wonderful sauce and the chicken are served over rice made fancy with pimiento-stuffed green olives.

- INGREDIENTS:
 1 ready-to-cook young chicken, 2½ to 3½ lbs., cut up
 ¼ cup melted margarine or butter
 1 small clove garlic, minced
 ½ teaspoon salt
 ½ teaspoon thyme
 ¼ teaspoon black pepper
 ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
 ¼ teaspoon paprika
 3 tablespoons lemon juice
 1 cup uncooked white rice
 2 cups water
 ¼ to 1/3 cup sliced stuffed green olives

METHOD: Cut the chicken into serving pieces. Rinse in cold water. Drain. Pre-heat broiler. Melt margarine or butter in a small saucepan. Add the garlic, 1½ teaspoons salt, thyme, ¼ teaspoon black pepper, poultry seasoning, paprika and lemon juice. Place the chicken (skin side down) in the broiler pan or other shallow pan. Use a pan from which it will be easy to pour the lemon sauce after the chicken broils. Spoon some of the sauce over the chicken. Broil. When brown on one side, turn so skin side is up. Baste with sauce. Allow 40 to 50 minutes for the chicken to cook.

About 25 minutes before the chicken is done, put the rice, water, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon black pepper in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid. Simmer 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on at least 10 minutes. Fold in the olives. To serve, place chicken over the rice. Pour on lemon sauce or serve in a separate dish. This recipe makes 4 to 6 servings.
