When a sincere man pulls through his ambition through the field of a full day, he is usually too tired to dream. Contently his harvest is in fruit, he contemplates auspicious clouds under which to prepare his

Cowboys with the range wagon in eternity are gathered around their little star fires waiting down. Phantom herds grazing on the lush prairie paradise and gentle remudas standing with half-closed eyes awaiting the chime of spurs and dragging stirrups and girths that dawn is different on earth the same salty remudas move restlessly, biting each other's lips and daring young cowpokes seduced to the cushioned upholstery of an automobile, to fork their saddles. Somewhere in the distance the propeller of a small airplane is turning lazily and the range boss is checking his gasoline gauge. Presently he opens the door, the engine roars and he is in the air, headed for the outfit. He is flying low as the drive progresses, often almost touching the tops of tall mesquite. He speaks into a small microphone and his voice is amplified through a loud-speaker attached to the bottom of the plane. The two cows headed away from the round-up are betrayed and the nearest cowboy is instructed to their position. Four small calves sneaking through the brush are met by two riders piloted by the flying range boss. The range is unchanged except that the mesquite is thicker. Old trails are grassed-over; windmills still screech into the silence of summer nights, but the weary old riders of a vanished era, should they return, would find little that has not been changed since they went through the gate into eternity.

A friend who finds less interest in his mirror since it started reflecting grey hair and wrinkles, says that his wife used to reproach him for two or three days at a time when he was first married, entirely without cause. She would dream a vivid dream of his perfidy, then punish him until the fantasy wore away.

Man seldom attains his ultimate best unless he is explaining the destiny which brought his puny efforts to the depot of failure.

Emptied of its years, the sea of life discloses all the secret fears that fell beneath its surface, hidden mountains of now useless strength and dry depths filled with the silt of wasted days. Crusted with the salt of forgotten tears, grotesque objects have a sameness; both evil and noble dead. Broken shells on the sterile shore, reveal a lasting beauty of the little loves they once shielded with strength and secrecy.

City To Clean-Up, Fence Dump-Ground

City of Matador will spend in the neighborhood of $500 to clean-up and fence the ten-acre dump-grounds located in the corner of the Matador Ranch shipping pasture north of town.

Improving the dumping grounds was approved during the special meeting of the council Tuesday night. The grounds were provided without cost to the city by the ranch many years ago.

Work will start as soon as a right-of-way can be cleared in which to rebuild the fence. The city is seeking use of a power scraper or bulldozer for the work. Arrangements for erection of the estimated one mile of fence have already been made.

MESSAGE ADVISES RETURN TO TEXAS

A message received by relatives here late Wednesday afternoon from Elmer Stearns advised that medical examinations for Mrs. Stearns had been completed at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Md., and that preparations were being made to return home.

Mrs. Stearns has been in an improved condition the past several days, and gaining strength, according to earlier messages.

INDIAN SKELETON IS FOUND NEAR ROARING SPRINGS

Skeleton believed to be that of an Indian woman was found last week in a bluff overlooking a bend in Tongue river about one mile east of Roaring Springs. The discovery was made on the C. R. Brandon, Jr., property where a gravel pit is operated. Part of the skull, buried about 12 or 14 inches beneath the caliche rock surface, and disclosed by the erosion, was reported Friday to Sheriff John Stotts.

Dr. W. C. Holden, head of his history and anthropology department, Texas Technological College and director of the Tech museum, was notified. Accompanied by Mrs. Holden, C. E. Wendt, Mrs. Jean Quinn and Miss Flo Stuart, Dr. Holden arrived at the site yesterday morning and immediately began the delicate operation of removing the skeleton.

Dr. Holden said the skeleton had been in its lonely resting place anywhere from 150 to 250, or possibly as long as a thousand years. Site of the grave, is one of the most scenic in Motley county, high above the winding, tree-lined river, where a narrow ribbon of water from Roaring Springs flows before sinking in the sands. Dr. Holden estimated the Indian woman to have been approximately 30 years of age when her body was crumpled and buried in the shallow grave. He said she was definitely buried before the white-man era.

The eminent anthropologist continues his search for the elusive "Flosium Man" who is known to have lived during the dim and mystic Flosium era. Residents who may find a skeleton in this section, are asked to notify the Tech museum or Dr. Holden before making any attempt to remove the bones. Skeletons of large animal bones found imbedded deep beneath the surface in gravel pits are of particular interest.

Lubbock Balloons Found By Cowboy

Noble (Whishy) Dirickson, Matador ranch cowboy, thought he was seeing things, and investigation proved this true last Thursday as he was riding in Hackberry pasture about 10 miles east of Matador and discovered three huge balloons caught in the branches of a tree. Further examination revealed the following message:

"I let this balloon go on Sunday May 2, 1948. Please return it to Dunston Gillelan, 1517 Ave. F, Lubbock, Texas. I will pay you for your postage and trouble. Thanks."

It was estimated the balloons had traveled approximately 60 air miles.

Dirickson's mount, a bronc, was leary of the objects however and shied away from them, thus preventing his recovering and returning the balloons to the owner.

It May Rain In May, Observers Believe

Rainfall Records Base For Optimistic Outlook

MAY IS THE MONTH of rains according to more than 25 years of records compiled by County Agent J. R. Emmons. The average rainfall for Motley county per year is 21.07 inches, yet last year the total rainfall was only 15.41 inches. 1946 was 27.11 inches and the previous year, 1945, total rainfall was 15.16 (fraction of an inch less than last year).

But it may rain in May. No other month in the year has so many inches to its credit (average is 3.5 inches). To date the total rainfall recorded in Matador during 1948 is 3.77 inches which is slightly less than the over-all average for the same period (4.14 inches).

Remember when it rained? Date was April 22 when City Water Engineer Herman Stanfield recorded 67 inch. But April was slightly short of the annual average, however February was almost double the annual record. This year January produced .05 inch while the average should have been .7 inch; February was 2.2 inches with the average only .66; March was .85 inches, slightly below the average of .98. April's record was .67 inch while the average over a quarter of a century was 1.8 inch.

The amount of rainfall is not as important as the season in which it falls. Some of the best crop years on record were years of slight rainfall (example: 1947) and by the same measure, some of the most prolific rainfall years produced the poorest crops.

Ask any oldtimer: "Sure, its gonna rain; always has."

Cudd And Meador Received Mention In Varsity Show

Martha Rae Cudd and Joe B. Meador, Texas Tech, Lubbock, students appearing in the annual Varsity Show received mention in the reviews of the production which featured over a hundred students. The show opened Monday night for a 3-night run.

Following are excerpts of a review written by Bill Sayers, Lubbock Avalanche staff writer: "... Utilizing the stage for only part of the show, the script is full of surprises and keeps the spectators wondering in which direction to look next for something to happen. From the aisles, backstage, and even from the ceiling, people keep getting into the act. The latter being an angel of unknown variety suspended from the rafters in a maze of wires and wings but managing to look very angelic indeed. (Angel was Joe Berry Meador.)

"One of the most outstanding acts of the entire two hour and 10 minute production was a hill-billy imitation act by Gene Roy Powers and Martha Cudd who silently imitate records played out of sight back stage. The timing and execution were near perfect and they stopped the show for the only encores of the evening."

Lions Attendance Urged As Year Wanes

Attendance at all Lions meetings is being stressed by Boss Lion C. W. Giesecke as Secretary J. R. Whitworth reminds the membership that only three more meetings remain to be held in the current year.

"Attendance is down, and several Lions are not attending the regular meetings", Secretary Whitworth declared.

Lions Board meeting will be held Monday morning, May 17 at 6:30, and regular luncheon will be Tuesday, May 18, in the Methodist church basement.

Work May Start By 1st Of Next Month

WITH a bid of $46,792.70, R. P. Phillips Construction Company of San Angelo, Texas was awarded the contract for paving approximately 18 blocks of Matador streets, after the bids of six contractors had been open and read at a special meeting of the city council held Tuesday evening in the District Court room.

Bid of the San Angelo contractor was $13,900.60 less than that of the highest bidder, Cooper & Woodruff with a bid of $60,693.30. Second lowest bid was that of Charles C. Terry whose offer was $51,789.00. Third place bid was made by Sheppard and Luce, with $56,808.50. J. R. Fanning of Lubbock bid $58,612 while Holland Page's offer was $59,479.50.

The meeting was called to order by Mayor Douglas Meador and immediately turned over to city engineer Cecil Hawk of Lubbock who opened and read the bids. Three secretaries made tabulations of bids on various items called for in the specifications.

The council with engineer Hawk retired to the city hall for private consideration of the six bids. Hawk recommended that the Phillips bid be accepted which received immediate sanction of the five council members. Several of the contractors were waiting for the verdict. Each firm representative was tendered thanks of the city officials and engineer and returned bid bond money (approximately $3,000 with each bid).

When asked when he would be ready to start, Phillips replied: "I am ready to start Monday." "That is too quick for us," said engineer Hawk. "We still have some final surveys to make."

Before leaving yesterday at noon, Hawk declared that in event of no delays, actual construction might start by June 1. The contracting firm must yet perfect 100% for completing the job according to specifications and approval of the engineer.

City water superintendent Herman Stanfield went into immediate action yesterday morning with crews of laborers lowering the remaining water mains in the routs of the paving. All installations beneath the paving are being made with copper tubing.

Reservoirs Are Sought By Worley

West Texans watching white, hot skies burn all hope out of the wheat crop and threaten the outlook for cotton and row-crops, will be encouraged to know that in Washington someone is interested in their plight and future Congressman Eugene Worley, while taking a part in world affairs, has of his first concern, welfare of the people of the district he represents. He is convinced in an opinion shared by thousands of people below the Cap Rock, that the annual rainfall is sufficient to alleviate most of the drought problems if the water could be conserved and not allowed to destroy the soil and other valuable property in a determined rush for lower levels.

Congressman Worley has a plan which would banish the ghost of drought forever from the rich, "always-thirsting" valleys below the Cap Rock. He would build a series of dams to create reservoirs in the deep canyons and rivers which have their beginning in the plains, draining eastward. Thriving cities now faced with the possibility of perishing because of shortage and depletion of water sources, would be assured of progressive futures. Underground water levels would rise, thousands of acres of rich (now arid) land would be placed under irrigation and the entire economy of an area as large as

New Fire Hydrant To Be Installed

South Main street residents will soon have additional fire protection with the installation of another fire hydrant one block south of the Elmer Stearns home, most southerly connect.

Purchase and delivery of 600 feet of 4-inch cast iron pipe was completed early this week. The pipe was purchased from the city of Aspermont at $1 per foot. The pipe was taken up from a previous Aspermont water system, part of it used in the present system and the balance cleaned and sold. All items of pipe are scarce. Four-inch pipe is very critical.

Installation of the new fire hydrant in the south part of town will be rushed in advance of the street paving.

Notice To Ex-Servicemen

Hiya—all you studyn' joes! Say—I've got news! Annie Bee was with a good-looker Saturday nite! Looks like we've been in the dark!

My-My! Just look at those datin' kids at the Jr-Sr. banquet! And my didn't all the gals look be-a-u-tiful? Here are the dates—for your memory book or what have you—Truman and Sarah; June S. and Don W.; Nellie and Gopher; Don and Patti; Ann and Heavy; Annette and Dutch; Norman (Herb) and Rosie; Dorothy and Billy Joe; Shirley and Bobby; Wayne and Melva; Loyd and Ruth Latimer; Rufus and Ethel Emmons; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. When Leo and James White were seen as stags at the banquet, no one was surprised. Joyce and Joy were servin'!

They say that third time's charm and maybe this is about third time for Wanda and Sue L. to have been seen with Tom Fish and Vernon Brogdon! Anyway, it looks like somebody's charmed!!

If you're wondering who is doing all that whisperin' in the Sophomore class about those cute Roaring Springs boys—we hear—from good sources—that it is Mary Stephens, Melba Kimbell and Shirley Estes! Now wonder who THEY could be interested in? Hm-m-m-m!

Been wonderin'—Just who was the person from Matador, who was in charge of the track meet at Floydada and happened to be in the office, there, when the phone rang? A lovely voice came over the phone and said, "What times does the track meet start?" That was enough said—that person—(whoever it was) asked this lovely sounding girl for a dinner date! 'Oh, I'll come', she said, "but I'll be a little late, you see, I'll have to tell my husband to eat in town and get the baby ready." There was no reply for this person—(whoever it was)—had hung up. To the stranger: That smart girl wasn't really married—she was only a high school Senior!

See ya next week,
Miss El Matador.

Small Businesses Must Now Obtain Federal Licenses

Government licenses required for small businesses are reviewed in a new pamphlet, "Small Business and Government Licenses," issued by the Department of Commerce, Ray L. Miller, Dallas Regional Director of the Field Service, has announced.

Licenses obtained from various Federal departments and agencies, as well as those required by state and local governments, are covered, he said.

One chapter sets forth the more common Federal licenses required for small businesses, the agencies from which they are obtained and directions for obtaining them. It includes licenses required for various manufacturers, processors, wholesalers, retailers, importers, carriers, utilities, and service establishments.

A chapter on state licenses covers both license taxes and regulatory licenses, and gives state requirements for a number of small establishments such as beauty shops, drug stores, contractors, and embalmers.

Other chapters deal with local licenses and describe the purposes, types, and effects of licenses generally.

The pamphlet may be purchased from the field offices of the Department of Commerce at 15 cents a copy.

Vehicle Defects Cause Many Fatal Traffic Accidents

Check your car... check accidents" is the May slogan of a continuing program aimed at saving lives on the streets and highways of Texas.

"The brakes of your car can mean the difference between life and death," said Colonel Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety. "Lots of people realize that. But still it's deplorable how many motorists continue to drive with poor brakes. Other car parts, too, can be life savers. Lights, windshield wipers, tires, steering and wheel alignment, the muffler and exhaust system, the glass, rear-view mirror and horn all are important to safety."

"The Texas Highway Patrol requests all motorists to keep their cars in safe operating condition as one means of preventing losses from traffic accidents. This project for May is part of the year-round Operation Safety program for traffic safety. The continuing effort is part of a nation-wide federal safety education promotion of the National Safety Council," said W. J. Elliott, Chief.

"Your life and the lives of others may depend on whether or not your car is kept in safe operating condition," Captain E. L. Posey of the Lubbock District Office of the Texas Highway Patrol said. Vehicle defects were contributing factors in hundreds of fatal traffic accidents, according to accident reports. Yet this figure does not tell the whole story. Information on vehicle condition is available in less than half of all reported fatal cases.

"So check your car... check accidents... and save a life."

Mrs. Minnie K. Berryman of Plainview visited over the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Cordie Stephens of Whiteflat and with her sister and family Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dunning.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Jeb Had the Folks in Stitches!

At the Friday Night Social, Jeb Crowell had the audience in stitches—doing a take-off on the blustering character who belittles everybody and everything that isn't from his own home town.

Well, we can laugh at that sort of character because from where I sit, Americans are just the opposite. We like to boast a bit perhaps, about the paint job on the new barn, or the missus' style of cooking—but we aren't intolerant of people who don't think or act exactly the same way we do.

In our town, for instance: Some folks like band concerts, others don't—some families serve beer with dinner, others, buttermilk—and as for politics, there's plenty of healthy disagreement.

But when it comes to denying folks the right to think or act as they choose... no, we're like you—we don't believe in it, whether it goes for serving beer, or speaking one's mind on public affairs.

THE AUTOMOBILE SITUATION....

From all indications, predictions and surveys with reference to the present and future supply of automobiles and trucks, the demand this year and next will exceed the available supply. Therefore we are not going to be able to supply new units to every one who wants them, since this is true, the wise thing for all of us is to keep our present units in top operating condition. We, here at the Matador Auto Company, your Ford Dealer for over thirty-one years, take pride in the fact that we have the equipment and know how to keep your cars and trucks operating at top efficiency.

Since there are not going to be enough new units to supply the demand, we are entering the used car and truck field in a much larger way than we have for the past few years, in an effort to help take care of the transportation needs of our trade area. If we do not have what you want we will get it for you if it can be had.

See us for better used cars and trucks.

Finest Quality CHICKS

The public may be interested to know that each group of chicks in which the price is being reduced is a hybrid obtained from crossing my White Leghorn stock of hens with male birds of a heavy breed to supply the public with a bird of good body weight for table use and also a good layer. They have the advantage of the high egg production of my White Leghorn stock on one side and also the extra vigor, vitality and efficiency that comes from crossing two different breeds in any kind of livestock.

The group that was crossed with the Rhode Island Red male birds was designated as assorted because, due to a shortage in the number of Red males a few of my well bred White Leghorn males were used which will cause a small percentage of the chicks to be from my White Leghorn stock.

COSTS OF
ELECTRIC SERVICE
HAVE BEEN GOING UP

BUT THE PRICE
YOU PAY FOR
ELECTRIC SERVICE
IS STILL . . .
DOWN!

It's a hard fight!

THE cost of producing electric service is going up . . . and up! Everyday necessities are taking more and more of Reddy Kilowatt's pay—but he is fighting to keep your electric service the biggest bargain in your family budget.

Fuel is up, materials are up, structures are up, new equipment is up, the average cost per man-hour worked is up; almost everything needed to provide you with electric service is up except the hire of capital. Many people—who are owners either directly or indirectly through savings accounts, insurance policies, trust funds, or similar institutions—are getting less for our use or hire of their savings.

Thus, here is one very important difference between Reddy Kilowatt's services and most other things you buy. While other costs have almost doubled since 1938, the hourly pay of Reddy Kilowatt—average cost per kilowatt-hour for residential use—has come down 17 per cent.

Trucker Ring Charged With Defrauding Floyd Farmers

Charges that a ring of truckers has been operating in Floyd county and this area of West Texas that have defrauded Floyd farmers of many thousands of dollars are made in a statement issued April 21 by H. Howe, foreman of the Floyd county grand jury. The statement is bristling with charges of cheating in weights and other and these the grand jury does not want to hurt, but "unless you know your trucker, you cannot be too careful in dealing with him, and we urge you to use every precaution." The statement addressed "To the citizens of Floyd county" is in full as follows: "Your grand jury has recently had under investigation certain alleged law violations by a ring of truckers who have been operating throughout Floyd county and this area of West Texas. While the evidence so far obtained is insufficient to warrant the return of any indictments against any particular person, it is sufficient to convince any reasonable man that the farmers of Floyd county have been defrauded of many thousands of dollars by illegitimate truckers within the past two years. Declare Instances Numerous "Many instances have been discovered where truckers have bought grain and hay in Floyd county and then trucked in several hundred miles down the State and sold it for the same price they had paid for it in Floyd county. We think is reasonable to assume that these truckers made their profit, and a good profit too, by cheating the farmers of Floyd county on weights. "We had before us a confession of one of the members of this ring which told of one of these truckers boasting that he made $30,000 by his illegitimate operations last season. Many others were able to buy big, fine automobiles and new trucks. This particular ring was making its illegitimate profit by cheating on weights, and the ways they have of doing this are so many and so devious they cannot be outlined in this report. However, the only sure way a farmer can deal with a trucker he does not know is to go with him when he weighs his empty truck across the scales and then stay with him until he has weighed the loaded truck back across. "We know, of course, there are many honest truckers, and we would not want to hurt them, but our investigation convinces us there is a very high percentage of dishonest truckers operating in this area. Unless you know your trucker, you cannot be too careful in dealing with him, and we urge you to use every precaution. Warn Against Checks "Another matter we feel should be called to the attention of the farmer to be considered in dealing with unknown truckers is that of accepting checks. A great many hundreds of dollars were lost by farmers last year through bad checks. Our officers warn us that it will probably be worse this year unless the farmers use more precaution. "It is just not safe to take checks from truckers, you do not know. Find out before you load a man's truck whether he is going to give you a check, and if he is, ask him to accompany you to see your banker who can probably determine whether the check will be good. "The grand jury believes that honest truckers will not object to investigation. If a trucker objects to investigation, the wise thing to do is not to deal with him. This report is respectfully submitted in an effort to be of assistance to the citizens of Floyd county."—Floyd County Hesperian.

More Milk Per Cow? Here's How!

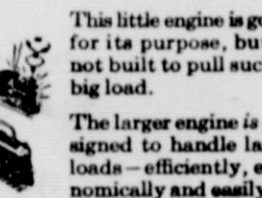

The number of dairy cows in the United States has increased only 1% since 1940. In the same eight years, a 10% increase in population has added about 12,000,000 more mouths to feed. These new American appetites need plenty of dairy products. Where are they coming from? More cows? Certainly that should mean more milk. But to bring more cows into production takes time—three years or more. The other solution is to increase the average production of milk and butterfat per cow. On many farms, dairy production has been increased without adding more cows. Here's how:

1. Improve your pastures. Dairyman have a saying: "Grow more grass and make more cash!" Good grass is your best and cheapest dairy feed. Lime and fertilize. Control weeds by spraying and mowing. Reseed to improve grasses. These are all good pasture builders.
2. Handle your milk and cream efficiently. Mechanical separators reduce loss of butterfat and improve its quality. Give more careful attention to sanitation. Quick cooling and proper handling can help you sell milk and cream, of better quality, for more profit.
3. Eliminate cattle pests. New sprays, like derris and DDT, used on the herd and in the barn, can rid your cows of grubs, practically eliminate pesky flies and lice. These pests rob America of an unbelievable amount of milk each year. Iowa alone sets the loss caused by heel flies and grubs at nearly 250 million pounds of milk in one year.
4. Control mastitis and Bang's disease. They are serious enemies of milk production. Complete control of them could increase the nation's milk supply 30% or more. That would be one quart every day for 30,000,000 people.
5. Check with your neighbors. See what they have done to increase their herd averages. You can also get help from your County Agent, your Vocational Agricultural teacher, your State College Experiment Station, or your State Veterinarian.

Increase production with more milk per cow. And more milk per cow means more cash for you.

"It takes a big engine to pull a HEAVY Load"

This little engine is good for its purpose, but is not built to pull such a big load.

The larger engine is designed to handle large loads—efficiently, economically and easily.

Two-thirds of the livestock is produced west of the Mississippi River. Two-thirds of the meat is eaten east of the Mississippi. Bringing these two together is a job requiring a large engine.

That's why the country needs nationwide meat packers like Swift & Company. For with processing plants located where most of the livestock is raised, we can help bridge the gap between western range and the kitchen range. It is an important job, and we're proud that we are able to handle a share of it.

How you gonna care for 'em down on the farm?

Fresh, high-quality eggs grade better, bring better prices and help build consumer demand. Ideal eggs are large, fresh and clean. They are uniform in size and shape. Clear, thick whites, and firm, evenly colored yolks show good interior quality.

Top grade eggs begin with a good flock of layers, properly fed and cared for. Remove the roosters when breeding season ends—your hens will lay as well and infertile eggs keep much better. Keep the nests well filled with straw. Gather eggs two or three times a day... Never wash eggs! Use steel wool to clean the dirty ones... Keep them in a cool place—not over 60°. Sort them in the case according to color and size. Market them at least twice a week.

Remember, your best advertisement is to produce eggs which will reach the consumer fresh, clean and evenly sized. Quality helps make a better market for your eggs.

Soda Bill sez:

... if you bark at people all day you'll be dog-tired by night.

... it's funny how opportunities look so much bigger going away than when coming.

HAM & EGGS GO TOGETHER

Milk, cream, poultry and eggs brought producers a gross income of nearly $1 1/2 billion dollars last year. That's big business!

Every family in the nation uses dairy and poultry products. These products are perishable. They have to be handled with care. It's a big job to process and distribute butter, cheese, ice cream, dressed poultry, and eggs in prime condition. It's a nationwide job—as broad and as long as America.

We have nationwide refrigerating and meat distributing facilities to serve both producers and consumers. It is economical to use these same coolers, refrigerator cars and trucks for dairy and poultry products.

The Swift salesman sells meat, poultry, eggs, cheese, butter and other products. In this way we can have one salesman for sixteen or more products, instead of sixteen salesmen each selling one product. The same goes for delivery, too.

If you were in business marketing many different products to the same buyers, would you have one salesman for each product? You would have each salesman sell many of your products. That saves money, effort, travel and the buyers' time. That's our way, too.

Standardbred vs. Crossbred Chickens

by R. George Jaop
Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio

The relative merits of standardbred vs. crossbred chickens may be summed up in three words—not much difference. But this difference is more often in favor of the well-chosen crossbred.

The advantages of a good crossbred are: faster growth and more eggs. However, many a slip can occur in crossbreeding chickens which will make them inferior, market-wise, to standardbreds.

For example, to produce a suitable crossbred, both standardbred parental breeds must be of top quality. If one has a mediocre egg production, it is almost a certainty the resulting crossbred will be a poorer producer than the high-producing standardbred side of the family.

The fact that crossbreds usually are darker-colored may be a market disadvantage. Many markets pay a premium for white-feathered chickens. White Plymouth Rocks are not suitable for crossbreeding. If they are crossed with New Hampshire, dark-colored chickens will often result. Therefore, the premium for whites is lost. And the slightly faster growth rate of crossbreds may not make up this profit difference.

In color of eggs, the crossbred producer is also at a market disadvantage. Most egg-producing crossbreds lay colored eggs. Many markets pay more for white eggs. Therefore, the crossbred producer forfeits the profit on white eggs until crossbreds, which will consistently lay white eggs, are produced.

In certain cases, crossbreds may develop a greater susceptibility to disease than the better parent.

It is possible to develop crossbreds superior to the better standardbred strain. But determining the most suitable crossbreds is difficult because two different breeds are involved.

some eastern states would become a valuable heritage to posterity.

Below is a copy of a letter received this week by the Tribune from Congress Worley to Lt. General Raymond A. Wheeler, Chief of Engineers, Army Ground Forces, Washington, D. C. The letter is dated May 5, 1948:

"Dear General Wheeler: This letter is in further reference to the proposed Upper Red River Flood Control Project in which I have frequently expressed my interest and which I sincerely hope may soon be approved by your Department. I refer particularly to the two sites known as the Cap Rock Reservoirs which were being restudied by the Corps of Engineers.

"As you know, this high-plains area is semi-arid and is frequently ravaged by drought and dust storms. Yet this vast area has soils unexcelled anywhere in the world and it abounds in mineral wealth. It has become increasingly obvious that future economic expansion throughout the Texas Panhandle will be closely related to the development and utilization of the limited water resources for agriculture and for domestic, municipal and industrial purposes. As conditions now exist, floods frequently drive down the valleys in the area and carry away soil and the previous water supply to the detriment of the whole area.

"For many years it has become an increasing moment to me that our ground and surface water resources should be developed in so far as practicable in order that the growing towns and cities in the Panhandle of Texas may be assured of water supplies, and in order that a score of needed related multiple-purpose benefits can be obtained for this area. Storage of the surface waters would in most instances provide agricultural benefits in a wide area where such benefits are now a scarcity, as well as irrigation, municipal water supply, flood control, silt control, fish, wildlife and recreation.

"I shall greatly appreciate your advising me concerning the status of the Engineers Report on this project, and I earnestly urge your fullest cooperation looking toward early authorization of this project.

"In this connection, let me express the thanks of the people of my Congressional District, as well as my own, for the fine cooperation which you and your Department have extended in the past. Sincerely yours, (signed) Eugene Worley."
