Drill Hits Violent Air Pocket in Moss Well

Force Lifts 6,000-pound Rotary Table, Blows Mud from Hole on Shinnery Draw

POWERFUL AIR POCKET in the E. E. Moss & Sons' No. 1 M. S. Thacker well on Shinnery Draw, Tuesday morning exploded with sufficient force to lift the 6000-pound rotary table from the rig platform. The air pocket was struck about 7:30 a. m. at 660 feet. Altho all the mud was blown out of the well, no one was injured.

The blow was from the 13-inch pipe only 4 feet below the rotary table. Street talk in Roaring Springs says the only "casualty" in the unusual incident was damage to a 1956 Ford fender by a driller making a hasty exit.

Champion Ropers Plan 2-Day Meet

ANNUAL contests of the Texas-Oklahoma Championship Roping Association will be held at Roaring Springs Old Settlers' Arena Friday and Saturday nights, August 1 and 2. The contests will be held under the sponsorship of the Roaring Springs Lions Club for the second consecutive year.

Ten top teams of Texas and Oklahoma will compete during the two evenings of contests. Admission will be 50c for high school students and under and $1 for adults (each evening).

Pete Flinnigan of Floydada is president of the two-state organization. The group has met in Roaring Springs for several years because they like the friendly reception they have received, convenient accessibility and adequate facilities for handling the program.

The two-state ropers operate under strict rules which may bar a contestant for as small violation as the use of off-color language. Roping fans who have witnessed the contests say they are outstanding in the fine degree of skill exhibited and the unusual code of ethics the contestants observe.

Roaring Springs Lions are going to give away a television set on the last night of the contests, August 2.

Bids should be in by August 2 when they will be considered at a meeting of the association directors. Mail bids to Marvin Patton, Secretary-Treasurer, Matador, Texas.

Drilling was stopped early in the week by loss of circulation which made necessary cementing work. The air pocket was struck a short time after drilling was resumed. At 4 p. m. yesterday the well had reached a depth of 1206 feet.

The furious blast of air blew itself out in about an hour and damage was repaired to make possible the resumption of drilling.

Air pockets were known to be in some formations in the general area of the well. Coring operation a number of years ago struck an air pocket which "blew" for years with sufficient force to throw small rocks out of the hole when tossed inside, according to reports.

Sealed bids will be accepted for purchase of the hamburger and cold drink concession at the 1958 annual reunion of the Motley-Dickens Counties Old Settlers Association, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 28-29-30.

Where Knee-high Blue Bonnets Grow

Lions See Photos Of Vast Alaskan Empire

A TEXAN'S PRIDE smarts when he sees colored pictures of Blue Bonnets growing knee high on any soil but the soil of Texas—and of all places, Alaska. A picture of knee high Blue Bonnets growing in Alaska was only one from an outstanding collection of slides of the union's newest state shown Tuesday to the Matador Lions Club. C. E. Moon, resident Humble Oil & Refining Company geologist, presented the program and explained the pictures.

Mr. Moon was presented at the regular luncheon in the Methodist Church basement by Lion Bill Seale, program sponsor.

He prefaced his explanation of the Alaskan scenes by saying, "We might explain our second place position in the size of states by claiming Alaska as 'Northwest Texas', but the new state of Alaska is one-fifth the size of the entire United States."

Mr. Moon spoke as he changed the large number of excellent pictures. He explained the work of a geologist has recently been in Alaska in the service of the Humble Company in seeking formations that would indicate oil in the rugged terrain.

He said the almost continuous rainfall made it difficult to make pictures in Alaska. In almost every instance the scenery was of breathtaking beauty, including snow capped mountains, glaciers, rivers, islands and a storm at sea as Mr. Moon and his party of geologists were returning to Anchorage.

Mr. Moon showed one film of an oil derrick where a wildcat failure well had been drilled 15 years ago. It was cheaper to drill the rig than to remove it because of the next to impossible transportation difficulties. The absence of roads made it practical to travel the beds of creeks in jeeps.

Travel By Air Most of the trips were made by air (some times by helicopter) altho the geologists often used boats. Much of the work required climbing the steep mountains. The modern city of Anchorage with a population of 50,000 accounts for approximately one-fourth of the entire population of the new state.

Boss Lion Curtis Graham announced that the Matador Lions club would celebrate its 30th anniversary on Sept. 16, in a joint program with the Matador P.T.A.

RED SPUTNIK III SEEN IN MATADOR

Several alerted witnesses here Tuesday night saw the Red Sputnik III hurtling through the skies at almost exactly 9 p. m. The Russian satellite the size of an automobile, flashed alternately in its course from southwest to northeast. It was clearly visible.

The manmade moon is now orbiting 130 miles above the earth according to the Lubbock Avalanche. It is now circling the earth in 106 minutes, and observers noted that the rays bounced off the satellite as it tumbled end over end, giving it an effect of flashing on and off.

Late callers at the Tribune office, Butch Waybourn and his father, Bill Waybourn, Mrs. R. E. Donovan, and Joe R. Meador of Paducah joined the night shift, Editor Meador, Mrs. Meador and James West in watching the baby "moon" in its return engagement across the West Texas sky.

The satellite had made an initial appearance over the South Plains area Monday night.

Record Heat Wave Broils Panhandle

HOTTEST weather in West Texas in 19 years Monday climaxed a four-day heat wave that kept the mercury above the 100 degree mark in most areas during daylight hours. Lubbock Weather Bureau registered 107 degrees Monday. Bob Stanley here recorded 100 degrees.

Monday's oppressive heat was made more uncomfortable with a driving hot wind out of the southwest. Except for the abundant two to five inches of rainfall which blanketed Motley County the previous week, crops would have suffered along with human beings.

The same heavy rainfall caused water consumption to be lower than on the same date a year ago. City Water Superintendent Sonny Jackson said that the pumping Monday was 258,600 gallons compared with 414,400 gallons on July 14 last year.

In Lubbock the water consumption Monday was over 30 million gallons in less than a 24-hour period.

Because of moisture in the atmosphere, evaporative air conditioners did not render full efficiency during a part of the extreme heat period.

Highest temperature reading in Texas was 116 degrees at Presidio, Monday.

MAIL DUST OLD FRIENDS SAY "PITCHFORK KID" COLORFUL COWBOY

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Old friends say "Pitchfork Kid" the cowboy and champion roper who spent most of his life here, was a colorful character. He was killed in an accident in New Mexico in 1919 and is buried in Amarillo Llano Cemetery. The Tribune is conducting a campaign to raise funds sufficient to erect a memorial at his grave.

"I never knew him but heard of him," writes J. B. Minter (Box 1248) of Dalhart, enclosing $1 for the fund. "I went to work on the 6666 Ranch joining the Pitchfork on the east. I also made two trail trips to the Panhandle and passed through the Matador Range each trip."

"I knew him well," says Mrs. Chloe Meador, widow of the late Doug Meador, who was before the death of her first husband, Mrs. Earl Briscoe, "and he was always considerate and polite. He stayed at our place when we worked for the ranch." She made a $1 contribution to the fund.

J. J. Cooper, son of pioneer A. B. Cooper founded Teepee City, made a $2 contribution. "I knew the Kid for years and worked with him," Mr. Cooper said.

Mr. Cooper corrected an erroneous earlier statement regarding a membership in the Matador Masonic Lodge. "He was never a member," Mr. Cooper said, "altho he might have been a member of the Matador Odd Fellow Lodge."

Mr. Cooper also said he met a man in a hospital in Dallas several years ago who said he knew the "Kid" in Mexico, and was the first man to reach him after he was run over by a wagon load of hay, in the accident which claimed the "Kid's" life.

"Pitchfork Kid" is developing into one of the most colorful cowboys ever to ride the Foothill Ranges. The Tribune is finding new facets to his nature in every friend. They are unanimous in saying that he was honest, sincere, always polite, a great roper and cowboy and a wonderful man to have for a friend.

Mr. Simpson has been raising the large "Chuckers" (weight about 1 pound) as an experiment. They are almost as gentle as chickens. A bantam hen may be seen on the ground in front of the gate. Benton-Farris Vows Exchanged in Recent Ceremony Performed in Albuquerque

In a recent candlelight ceremony in the University Church of Christ of Albuquerque, N. M., Miss Mayme Sue Benton of Albuquerque and John L. Farris of Roaring Springs, Texas were united in a double ring ceremony. Minister Virgil Trout officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Frank Benton of Albuquerque. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Farris of Roaring Springs.

Vows were exchanged before an altar banked with maiden-hair fern, maroon daisies and pompon chrysanthemums. Miss Judy Street lighted candles. A double quintet sang "I Love You Truly," the Wedding March from "Lohengrin" and "God's Blessings on You."

The bride was given in marriage by Roland Johnson, a close friend of her family. She wore a street-length bouffant cotton sheer dress with embroidery at the neckline, and a shoulder-length veil of illusion falling from a cap of lace, and carried a white Bible covered with pink rosebuds.

Attending the couple were Miss Betty Fenno, and Charles Farris, brother of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the undercroft of the church where Mrs. Roland Johnson, Mrs. Thomas L. Allison and Miss Fenno served refreshments to a large group of friends and relatives.

The bridegroom was reared at Roaring Springs and graduated from high school here in 1954. He also served three years in the U. S. Marine Corps, and spent 18 months of that time in Japan and South Pacific.

The couple will reside in Albuquerque, where they have employment. They visited in Roaring Springs during the past week end, with his parents, who were unable to attend the wedding because of illness.

PIED PINIONS

By Mrs. M.

My knowledge of Spanish, as she is spoke, is that limited. I've always wished I could at least understand the conversations of our Latin-American citizenry, although I doubt seriously that I could ever be able to learn to speak the language.

Once on a jaunt in Monterrey Mexico (as a matter of fact my only trip there Mr. M. became acquainted via the sound of printing presses, with the owner of a large printing establishment in the city, one German (pronounced Herman) Cueva, who later very graciously offered us the services of his chauffeur to drive our car anywhere we wanted to go sight-seeing.

There were several places of interest we wished to visit in that vicinity, so we as graciously accepted the offer of a driver, and worked out an itinerary which included a trip to Saltillo, once the capital of Texas, I understand, and to Horse Tail Falls.

The journey up the mountains to Saltillo was enjoyable. We were going primarily to purchase a serape, as many factories still using hand looms are located there. Mr. Cueva had provided us with a slip of paper containing words we would most likely use in addressing the driver, whose knowledge of English matched our Spanish. There was one for "stop", "go", "dinner", "rest", etc.

We ate lunch in a bower of flowers on the patio of a fine resort hotel, and then proceeded on the trip to the falls. Leaving the main highway, our driver soon took off on a dirt road, winding through dirty little villages. At one of these he stopped and took on another passenger—a youth about his own age, who was hitchhiking.

My waning feeling of security reached zero as I listened to their chatter. This is it, I thought. It might be months before we are missed and anyone comes searching for us; our bodies will probably never be found, since there were plenty of places they could be dumped along that lonely, mountain road.

It was at this point that I coined the classic in pidgin-Spanish. Taking a slip of paper from my purse I wrote a message to Mr. M. who was riding in the front seat with the driver and hitchhiker. "Tell him to return."

Noting the anxiety in my voice, our driver, Aurelio Orajujo stopped the car. After a halting 3-way conversation between him and Mr. M. with the hitchhiker (speaking pidgin-English) acting as interpreter we were reassured that we were on the right road, and so continued.

We did indeed reach the falls. However, first we stopped at a concession stand and were told that the car was to be left there while we made the remainder of the trip, about a half-mile up the mountain side, astride a burro.

I decided to walk. Securing mounts, the rest of the party started off, with me trailing behind. To add to my discomfort, I had unwisely set out that morning wearing shoes not generally recommended for hiking.

My ankles were soon turning this way and that as the path became more rock-strewn. The ultimate was reached when we came to a stream that had to be crossed.

The experience must not have been unusual, inasmuch as one of the burro-burgainers was following close behind me. I could choose either to ride a burro the rest of the way, or turn back I rode.

The falls were beautiful and real. Besides, there was on hand a photographer with one of the original contraptions invented for taking pictures, black hood and all. We have among our souvenirs, a snapshot, posed with Aurelio, who graciously inscribed it.

"Para Uste de. Con el recuerdo de su amigo Junio 29 de 1946."

Visiting here Sunday in the home of Mrs. M. L. Patton were her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Patton of Hale Center with the latter's brother and wife, Judge and Mrs. G. E. Burns of Chicago, Ill.

CHARLOTTE RUSSE by charlotte campbell

Even though no one has created a popular demand for a column by C. Lou I have decided to give it a try. I find a certain amount of consolation in the fact that at least two people have to read this, myself and the linotypist who sets the Tribune type. Howdy Allie!

Every column must have a trade-mark, which happens to be its title. "Charlotte Russe" is a fancy way of saying cake with ice cream on top or tapioca pudding. I feel that I should apologize for posing behind a dessert. The purpose of this column is neither to inform nor entertain. It is merely a filler to be used when a six page paper turns out with only five pages worth of type.

I have been a member of the Trib tribe for five weeks and have loved every inky day. I have yet to become unreasonably devoted to the profession, but I am young. I have heard that veteran newspaper people have ink in their blood. If they don't chances are that it is all over them.

The newspaper world is truly apart in this best of all possible worlds. Even farther apart is the filing system in the newspaper plant. I am about to catch on. It is similar to the under-the-bed-filing system that I use at home.

Besides phone answering my office duties consist of typing, sweeping and swearing. I am convinced that everyone should work for the public at least once. In my seventeen year lifetime I have tried clerking and jerking but writing is by far most dangerous.

So far I have stuck with bridal showers and HD reports. There is very little that one can write into a clan or club meeting that will cause a libel.

My writing is like my talking. I can do both for hours without saying much of anything. To end today's effort I am making a plea for good dog stories, sad or glad ones. Everybody has to have some sort of collection. Dog stories aren't any worse than collecting sea shells or stamps.

Citizens of Alaska to Make Final Decision Whether to Become a State of Union

—Here's a look at Alaska, now for admission to the 49th state which means "The Last Frontier" was discovered by Russian explorers, who the towns of Kodiak, Wrangell and established the area's first industry, fishing.

Abandoned By Indians
Original inhabitants, Eskimos, now number 100 U. S. citizens, were believed to have crossed an extinct land from Siberia and Asia.

United States purchased Alaska from Russia in 1867 for $7,200,000. The great gold and silver mining developed under U. S. rule.

Covers 586,400 square miles and is 2 1/2 times as large as the combined area of the entire United States.

Tallest Mountain
The 19,500 mile-long Yukon is the greatest river, and its mouth is Mt. McKinley, 29,000 feet, the highest in North America. Glaciers cover 100,000 square miles, and the big Malaspina Glacier off Alaska near Yakutat, is the largest in the world.

It is not a land of ice and snow, although there are plenty of glaciers in the territory. The climate in the southeastern panhandle is mild, both winter and summer. At Juneau, the capital, temperatures usually are in the 50s and in the 70s in the winter and in the 70s in the summer with rainfall averaging 60 inches a year. At Anchorage, the largest city, winters are mild, and summers with Chicago, and sum-

Two-footed Man in Texas

The language of the two-footed man seems to fit Bill Blakley, who made his start in the working cowboy. He has his ropes with him on his ranch at roundup.

Blakley's service as a Senator in 1957, the "Two-footed" man was named as an old boot, it was a well polished and never soiled or worn from its purposeful path. The man Blakley is a sure-footed man who knows exactly what he is doing and what he will do.

Blakley will vote to return to the Senate in July 28 because he truly believes in the north, traditions and laws of all Texas.

New Senate Hand Aided Democrats

When William A. Blakley was appointed to the U. S. Senate in 1957, he was a political unknown in Texas. But Washington awaited his arrival with great interest. So close was the party balance in the Senate that Blakley's vote was the difference between Democratic and Republican control.

True to his Democratic tradition, Bill Blakley voted with his fellow Democrats. They have been in control ever since.

Now Bill Blakley seeks his first elective term in the U. S. Senate. A vote for Blakley is a vote for sound, Democratic government.

KNOW YOUR SENATOR! 900 Attend Program And Tulia's Biggest Banquet

Citizens from a broad area of the High Plains produced what many termed an unprecedented show in Tulia, March 31st. The area -- the fifteen county Thirtieth Senatorial District of Texas. The "Show" -- an Appreciation Dinner-Program honoring State Senator Andy J. Rogers of Childress. 30 to 100 persons from each of the 15 agricultural counties turned out for the evening-long program in the cafeteria and auditorium of Tulia High School. 75 business and farm leaders from outside the district joined in the "Chorus Of Thank You's" to the Senator. A majority of the Panhandle-South Plains Representatives and Senators, also two major daily newspaper representatives were present.

INDEXING

By MORRIS HIGLEY

Andy Rogers may be deflected some day. He may not run for re-election. At least he has not announced.

But win, lose or draw, Andy Rogers has something to remember that is fine and wonderful.

His most memorable moment must be the Appreciation Dinner and program given Monday night at Tulia.

I have never seen anything like it in my life. I do not think anyone who attended has ever seen anything like it.

—Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Rogers, along with Georgia Ann and, of course, Andy must have felt wonderful Monday night. And still do.

The idea for the Appreciation Dinner did not originate in Childress. In fact, as far as I know, Childress residents did not have anything to do with it.

And when Andy heard about the proposal, he said that it could not be done.

Andy was wrong. And I imagine right now he is happy that he was wrong. I would be

A dozen leaders in the district were programmed to speak. They, typically, represented a cross-section of Plains life.

One was the Senator's pastor. He lauded the honoree for his fight against liquor, narcotics, and lewd literature. "Senator Rogers is always on the right side of every moral issue," said the churchman. "He works and works for a high moral atmosphere to prevail."

A county teachers' association president called attention to Senator Rogers' work in behalf of public education. A Memphis druggist related that Rogers has always had an "open ear" for the small businessman.

A district judge praised the quality of legislation introduced and supported by the Senator. A mayor and insurance man emphasized the value of Andy Rogers' fight against corruption in Austin, particularly in connection with the insurance investigations.

Said an official of one of the veterans' organizations: "Andy told us for a long time there was serious trouble in the veteran's land program. He was right. And when this was cleaned up, Andy worked hard to see that this good program was not scrapped."

A newspaper editor and publisher, a former president of the Panhandle Press Association, observed: "This is the first time I've ever heard of people traveling so far just for a state senator. But it's fitting," he added, "for Andy Rogers for a job well done."

Spokesmen for the major farm organizations expressed approval of the Senator's record on farm-to-market roads, local ownership of underground water, rural electrification, and other legislation of concern to agriculture. Said the farm spokesman who rounded out the program:

"His view of all Andy Rogers has done for agriculture, I'm amazed to hear from the other speakers here this evening that he's had time for such effective work for so many others, too." The farmer concluded:

"Andy Rogers must use a six-row political tractor!" The Senator acknowledged the praise-filled evening with obvious humility. He spoke humbly, too, of his "close personal friend" — Lewis B. Taylor of Austin and Waco — who had been stricken with a fatal heart attack there a few minutes earlier.

To the series of "thank you's" which had been expressed during the evening, Rogers responded:

"What's been accomplished, you've done. The credit belongs to you, to my parents, and to my wife who have all supported me so strongly. I really feel like I owe you all an appreciation dinner."

and National Committeeman Byron Skelton.

A further quote from the same bulletin explains: "WHAT THE CONVENTION DOES — according to our present statutes, the 'grass roots' precinct convention is the only place where the individual voter can have a voice in Democratic Party affairs. And it is the only place in American government where a minority can — and often does — rule.

County conventions are governed by precinct delegates. The state convention is governed by county delegates. And national convention decisions are made by state delegates. It all begins at the precinct level."

Kimbell Relatives Hold 10th Reunion

Descendants of Benjamin Davis Kimbell gathered for their tenth family reunion July 6. They met at Plainview Clubhouse, Central Park.

There were 68 cousins, nieces, and nephews present from their homes in New Mexico, Oklahoma, North Texas, and this West Texas area. Heavy rains prevented some from attending the reunion. Morris Kimbell and family who live in Missouri were unable to attend due to a heart attack suffered by Mr. Kimbell recently.

Each family enjoyed visiting and picnicing from basket lunches. They all resolved to continue the annual reunion.

Benjamin Davis Kimbell traveled from Tennessee in 1823 to make his home in East Texas. His three sons, Ed, George, and Will later settled in Motley County. Ed and Will moved to this region in 1888. George met them in 1903 and settled near the Gasoline community.

Blakley Story Is Typically Texan

The typical American story is of the poor boy who made good through his own efforts. This is the story of Bill Blakley, born in a covered wagon while his parents were on their way to homestead in Oklahoma territory. He has come a long way in 59 years. Said the Austin American Statesman, when William A. Blakley announced for the Senate:

"He was a top-hand cowboy; he was a crackerjack bank clerk; he was an exceptionally good accountant and lawyer. We have an idea that he is going to be a refreshing, able political candidate. He would make a great United States Senator."

Vote for Bill Blakley on July 26 — an able man whose only ambition is to serve all of Texas.
