MAIN STREET IS COMING BACK

The small town is not all through opines the Minnesota Press, official publication of the Minnesota Editorial Association. Instead of being "all washed up," as some critics have proclaimed, enterprising stores on Minnesota's Main Street continue to get a major share of business. We quote:

"The purchaser has begun to learn that it takes money to drive an auto 20 to 100 miles, let alone wear and tear. He has begun to learn that high city taxes and high costs of doing business are also placed on the price ticket of the article he buys. He has also begun to learn that there is not now nearly so much advantage with the quantity buyer as there used to be. The buyer is now an educated buyer. The newspaper and the merchants themselves have taught him a lot more about merchandise than he ever knew before. So, all of this has created a new opportunity for the smaller town merchant of equal merchandising ability and with equal or proportionately equal capital.

"The capable smaller or county seat town merchant has many basic advantages in cost of doing business. He is closer to and understands the wants and necessities of his trade territory. The question of small and quick deliveries is now solved. He sits close to the seat of our fundamental purchasing power. If he is a merchandiser he can sell the best quality at as low a price as that article can be profitably sold anywhere.

"To illustrate that the small town has not gone, though many would-be merchants have passed on and out: According to statistics compiled by the U. S. Department of Commerce, 30.2 per cent of the merchandise bought at retail by people of the United States was purchased in towns of 10,000 or less. In Minnesota 49 per cent of the retail sales are made outside of the three metropolitan cities."

Senorita's Memory Is Perpetuated In Centennial Drama

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 4.—Two hundred and twenty-two years ago in the presidio of Fort St. John on the Rio Grande where the town of Eagle Pass now stands, a fiery and beautiful Spanish senorita stood up and called the governor of Coahuila a fat fool to his face, and dared him to do his worst.

The governor, being a man of action, took the lady, whose name was Maria de Villegas, at her word, and threw her lover, the Frenchman, Louis St. Denis, into the dungeons of Monclova. His Excellency's parting remark just before the heavy iron door clanged shut, was that St. Denis could rot there, unless he was willing to release the Senorita de Villegas from her vows of love. And St. Denis shouted back that he'd rot then.

Out of this Spanish brawl of love, intrigue, and treachery, arose the first woman politician in the Land of the Tejas, Maria, seeing that her Uncle, Don Ramon, commander of the presidio, dared do nothing to aid Louis St. Denis, herself took horse and coach and made the overland journey to Mexico City through hundreds of miles of infested jungles and over mountain passes, to plead with the Viceroy for the life of her beloved.

So well did Maria speak for the Frenchman that the Viceroy released him from the dungeons of Monclova, granted him permission to establish a trade route between the French and Spanish colonies, and was host to Maria and Louis on their honeymoon.

The Franciscan Friars, who were zealous of establishing missions in East Texas, were needing a guide. Louis St. Denis and his wife rode with the monks out of Mexico City down to the Rio Grande and over the route which St. Denis had blazed when he came into the Land of the Tejas Indians out of Louisiana.

Thus, the Old San Antonio Road, now in use for two and a quarter centuries, had its beginning in Texas's first love affair in the patio of Fort St. John one August evening in 1716. Smooth pavements now cover the highway that once only was a footpath.

This charmingly true and thrilling love story is one of the tenses scenes in the Cavalcade of Texas, now playing at the Texas Centennial Exposition as the major attraction, the most talked about dramatic spectacle ever presented at any World's Fair.

ANGEL FOOD CAKE

12 egg whites, 1/4 cups sugar, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1 cup flour, 1 tsp. cream tartar, 1 tsp. vanilla. Add salt to egg whites and beat until they begin to froth.

DEWDROP ANGLE FOOD CAKE

8 egg yolks, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. cream tartar, 1/4 cup water, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1 cup flour, grate rind of one lemon. Add salt to egg yolks and beat rapidly for 10 minutes.

CARAMEL CAKE

1 1/2 cups white sugar, 3 cups flour, 1 tsp. maple, 3/4 cup butter, 2 cups milk, 3 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. vanilla, 4 eggs. In a heavy skillet melt one cup of the sugar over a low flame.

APPLE CAKE (GERMAN)

2 cups flour, 1/2 tsp. salt, 2 egg yolks, 2 apples, 1/2 tsp. cinnamon, 2 tsp. baking powder, 1-3 cup shortening, 3/4 cup milk, 3/4 cup sugar, 1 grated lemon rind. Mix and sift all dry ingredients together.

FUDGE CAKE

1/2 cup butter, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1 cup milk, 4 eggs beaten separately, 3 cups flour, 1 tsp. baking powder, 2 squares bitter chocolate, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1/2 cup broken English walnut meats, 1/2 cup raisins, 1 tsp. vanilla. Cream the butter thoroughly, add gradually the sugar and stir until well blended with the butter.

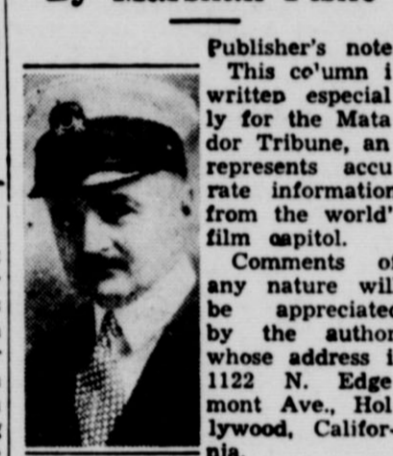

In a slow oven until the cake is put in. Increase heat slightly after the first half hour. Use any frosting you wish, but I like it with a plain white frosting.

GINGERBREAD

1 1/2 cups sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 1 egg, 1 cup sour milk, 2 cups molasses, 2 cups flour, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. ginger, 1 tsp. cinnamon, 1/2 tsp. cloves, 1/2 tsp. nutmeg, 1 tsp. soda, 2 tsp. baking powder.

Cream sugar and butter; add beaten egg; then mix sour milk and molasses together, alternately with dry ingredients sifted together. Pour into a greased and floured shallow pan and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven, 400 degrees F.

HOLLYWOOD By Marshall Fiske

The recent extreme heat wave that crossed the country did not omit Hollywood. Marlene Dietrich was making a picture in color—"The Garden of Allah" at the time. Pictures in color necessitate much more light than the black and white variety, hence a great amount of heat was engendered.

On another set the heat also played havoc. While "Cain and Mable"—starring Clark Gable and Marion Davies—was being filmed the temperature near the rafters, where the electricians were stationed, reached 132 degrees.

While "Cain and Mable"—starring Clark Gable and Marion Davies—was being filmed the temperature near the rafters, where the electricians were stationed, reached 132 degrees. As some of these electricians have been known to faint from the great heat up above, someone got the bright idea of having them all strapped to their posts.

All this goes to show that it is not all "beer and skittles" in the movies, especially when heats runs rampant.

The milestones of progress are often marked by the obsolete discarded remains of things that had their use in by-gone days.

Now-a-days, reality is simulated in a better manner. A camera takes reels of the real scenery. This is then projected on a special "process" screen, which, in turn, is placed beside the train windows in the studio.

Kay Francis may not be the world's greatest actress, but no other actress has so much poise and womanly charm as has she.

Greta Garbo—poor thing—is getting ready to die of consumption in the arms of her young lover Armand (Robert Taylor) who, up to this fatal moment has cruelly misunderstood her great nobility of self-sacrifice when she was giving up her one and only true love affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pipkin of Dalhart, formerly of Matador, visited here last week with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. D. Pipkin, and other relatives.

FARMER'S LIFE

By ED HOLMES

I believe the records will prove that last week 25 kids and grown-ups from this neighborhood took the cheapest and finest vacation imaginable.

Those making the trip in Mr. Ray's big truck were: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ray, Harley and Tommy Ray, Mrs. Maggie Tinnin, Oleta and R. V. Tinnin, Mrs. Wayne Billington, Lola Mae and Louise Billington, Misses Lurene Weems, Susie Holm, Faye Jeter, Rebecca Smith, Glenna Holmes, Milton Weems, Buck Gross, Irvin and Arthur Graham, Bueford Terry, Milton Geton, J. W. and Junior Womack and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Holmes.

Leaving here Wednesday we went through Plainview, Clovis and Roswell and spent the last part of the night in Artesia, New Mexico. Thursday from 10:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. we marched through the Caverns. Came back to Carlsbad city and went swimming, then spent Thursday night there.

982 people went through the impossible the day we did. More than 400 from Texas. At that rate it will take 100 years for all Texans alone to see it. Better speed up, you might not live that long.

Well, when we passed through they all just stopped and looked. Get a bunch together and make this tip or some other this summer.

Mr. Joe Torrens and children of Dallas, and Miss Ina Myrick of Graham visited here last week with the former's sister and family Mrs. John Brandon, returning to their homes Friday.

be foolish to try to describe in a few words what the Divine took millions of our time years to develop.

You will lose your voice and will mainly think of the two adjectives, "wonderful", "grand". It is slightly like walking along a narrow river bed with high walls surrounding every form of beautiful trees, waterfall, colored rocks, statues, etc. Then if somebody were suddenly to hit you with a hammer, supposedly hard enough to knock you out, but you refused to lay down—and in your stupor you would continue to walk down the river bed—but behold! everything has turned to solid rock. Where the sky had been there is a forest growing upside down! As the "Nigger" says, you know you are not there but you IS! You start up the river and there is a partition, beautiful curtains, but they are solid rock. You pass under them and there the river suddenly starts down through the rocks; but look again, it isn't flowing—it is frozen, but it is not the color of ice! You are the only living thing in there. You know you are not rational and that you are just seeing things and you begin to realize that you don't belong there.

After passing for miles up the river that has been divided into palatial mansions, each filled with different wonders, you finally see far ahead a colored steel beam, probably 3 feet wide, reaching from top to bottom. It has every color. You start toward it but your eyes are fooling you again. It turns white. It was only a streak of light. Simply a moonbeam shining through a hole. You finally get out; the sun is pretty bright, but otherwise everything is natural. I don't reckon you were hit on the head, but how come you seeing such things? That was impossible. There is no such thing. That is Carlsbad Cavern.

Three days camping in which we comfortably (more or less) rode 700 miles and the entire eats and truck fare cost only $2 each! Can you beat it?

We paid 4c per mile for the truck expenses of $28. We carried food from home valued at $11, such as eggs, bacon, butter, jelly, fried chicken, pickles, etc., then bought $11 worth of fresh fruit, bread, pork and beans, Bologna sausage, etc. We surely did fare fine.

Now about the Cavern. It would

Such sale shall be made only in unbroken packages and no such liquors shall be consumed on the premises where sold. The Legislature shall pass laws to prescribe regulations relative to the manufacture, sale, transportation, and possession of such spirituous liquors and relative to the establishment of State dispensaries; provided, however, the Legislature shall have the power to regulate the sale for private profit and possession of distilled liquors for medicinal, scientific and mechanical purposes.

"The manufacture, sale, transportation, and possession of all liquors, the alcoholic content of which is entirely and exclusively the result of the fermentation process is hereby authorized under such restrictions as may be authorized by law.

"(b) The Legislature shall enact laws whereby the qualified voters of any county, justice's precinct or incorporated town or city, may, by a majority vote of those voting, determine from time to time whether the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes shall be prohibited or legalized within the prescribed limits, and such laws shall contain provisions for voting on the sale of intoxicating liquors of various types and various alcoholic content.

"(c) In all counties, justice's precincts or incorporated towns or cities wherein the sale of intoxicating liquors had been prohibited by local option elections held under the laws of the State of Texas and in force at the time of the taking effect of Section 20, Article XVI of the Constitution of Texas, it shall continue to be unlawful to manufacture, sell, barter, or exchange in any such county, justice's precinct or incorporated town or city, any spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication or any other intoxicants whatsoever, for beverage purposes, unless and until a majority of the qualified voters in such county or political subdivision thereof voting in an election held for such purpose shall determine such to be lawful; provided that this subsection shall not prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages containing not more than 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight in cities, counties or political subdivisions thereof in which the qualified voters have voted to legalize such sale under the provisions of Chapter 116, Acts of the Regular Session of the 43rd Legislature.

wood electrical floats. These million-dollar floats, which form a brilliant revue of themselves, were built in competition several years ago by the various moving picture studios in Hollywood.

All-Star Football Game To Be Played

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 4—The Southwest's first major football game of 1936, to be played in the Cotton Bowl at the Texas Centennial Exposition September 7, will show a cast of all-star characters equivalent to anyone's who's who in the great American grid game today.

Southwest fans have seen grid ghosts go galloping over their gridirons before, to be sure, but this battle in the Cotton Bowl Labor Day night between the Chicago Bears and a picked All-American eleven dominated by Southern stars promises to be a case of collective gambling.

Familiar Names
There will be half a hundred or more of these grid stars on hand for this game, and a majority of them, whether members of one team or the other, are not strangers to All-American ranks. Check these names in your who's who in football: Truman Spain of Southern Methodist University; Bobby Wilson also of Southern Methodist; Westmuller of Southern California; Bob Reynolds, also of Southern California; John McCauley of Rice Institute; Ike Poole and Jimmy Howell of Arkansas; Throgmorton of Vanderbilt; Lutz University of Southern California; and "Iron Man" Wetsel of Southern Methodist University.

Great Backs
The Bears, boast of the greatest fullback, Bronko Nagurski; the most elusive half-back, Bettie Feathers, All-American from Tennessee; the greatest wingman in a decade, Bill Hewitt, All-American from the Big 10, and one of the greatest linemen in the game; and George Musso, the 260-pound tackle.

The Bears are the most spectacular of national grid outfits and were runners-up in the 1935 national championship.

Tickets for this game, and all other major games in the Cotton Bowl will go on sale in Dallas August 15. Tickets may be secured by mail through the Centennial Exposition Ticket department. Reserved seats will sell for $2.20.

MOVIE CHATTER

By A Rogue
The Farmer in the Dell
Thursday night, "The Farmer in the Dell" will please all who see it as did "Everybody's Old Man".

last Thursday. The stars are Fred Stone, Jean Parker and Esther Dale. There is plenty of comedy, also drama. A retired midwest farmer accidentally crashes the movie, and much to his surprise, rises to fame as an actor. You'll like this picture.

White Fang
Friday and Saturday the Rogue presents Jack London's, "White Fang", a sequel to "The Call of the Wild" (which will be shown at a later date.) It is the story of an Alaskan prospector acting as a guide, who gets into a mess of trouble including a murder charge. White Fang, the supposed wolf and a lost diary established his innocence, save his life and win the girl for him. The stars are Michael Whalen, Jean Muir, Slim Sumner, and Lightning, the dog.

Dark Angel
Sunday and Monday, "Dark Angel", starring Fredric March, Merle Oberon and Herbert Marshall, a United Artist production. A picture although not released in the last few months, but a go-getter. We bought a number of U. A. pictures just so you could see Dark Angel, Barbary Coast, The Call of the Wild, These Three, Things to Come and others. None but favorable comments have been passed on "Dark Angel".

Schmeling—Louis Fight!

Duty at Pacific Outpost Popular With U. S. Marines Who Serve in Hawaii

Famous in song and story, Hawaii is one of the most popular posts in the Marine Corps today, and most marines are eager to be given a tour of duty there, according to Lt. Col. T. E. Thrasher, Jr., who interviews numerous applicants for service at his office, in the Douglas Building at 257 South Spring Street, Los Angeles, California.

"News travels fast in our service," Colonel Thrasher says, "and men who return from our station at Pearl Harbor pass the word along to their buddies at home that life in the Hawaiian Islands is interesting and attractive."

"If it comes to a popular vote, China would doubtless come first in a marine's choice of foreign service, but duty in Hawaii is always a welcome alternative."

"The principal mission of marines in Hawaii is to guard our large naval station at Pearl Harbor, now rapidly developing into one of the finest naval bases in the world. Honolulu, the mecca of tourists, is only eight miles away."

"Marines who sojourn there for periods of a year or longer live in the most equitable climate in the world. They are within easy traveling distance of the Beach at Waikiki, and swimming, boating, fishing and sightseeing are their principal amusements."

"With a large Army post nearby and American warships constantly arriving or departing from Honolulu, there is lively competition among the various services in boxing, baseball and other sports."

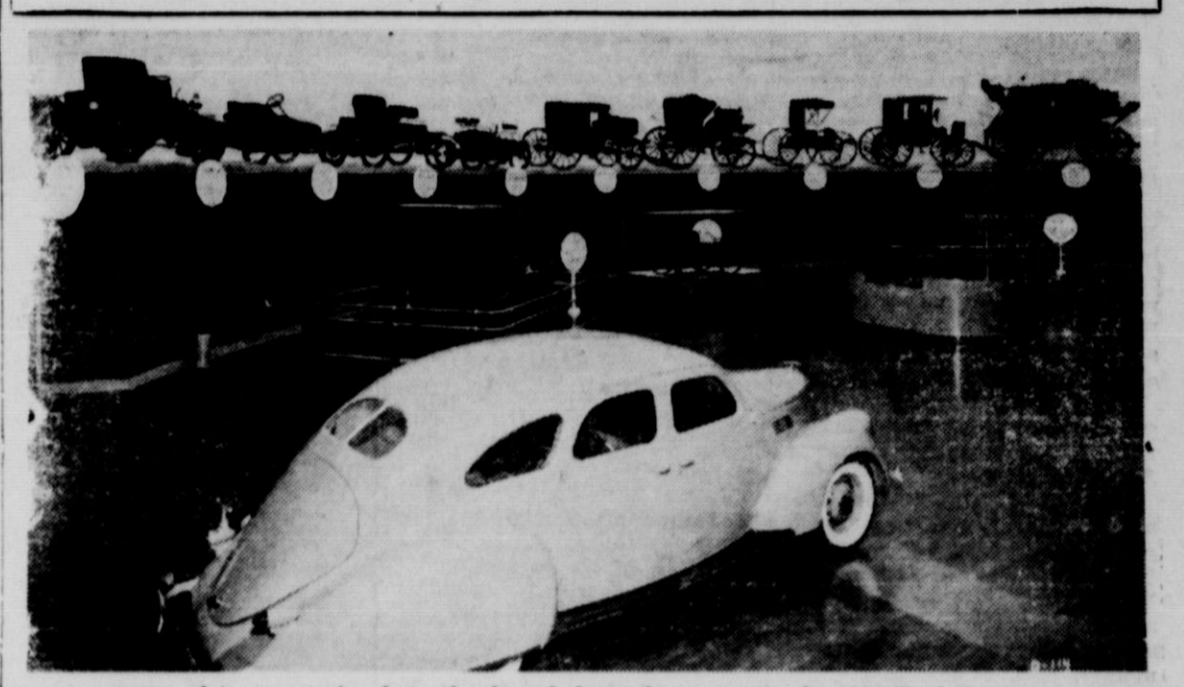

While Pearl Harbor is on the Island of Oahu, it is only a short journey to the neighboring Island of Hawaii, site of the Hawaiian National Park and the famous volcano Kilauea.

"Of course the little grass shacks are almost extinct in the Hawaiian Islands, the natives having gone modern through American and European contacts. The Hula Hula is not quite the exotic affair it is pictured in the movies, but garlands of flowers, called leis, are still draped about the necks of visiting tourists."

"No country on earth has so many mixed races as Hawaii, yet there is scarcely any racial disorder and the people are peaceful and law-abiding."

"The population was recently estimated as 380,211. Among them are about 22,000 of the original and supposedly Polynesian race, some 30,000 who are a mixture of

Greenfield, Historical Community, to House Workshop of Wright Brothers Pageant of Transportation at Ford Exposition

A pageant of transportation from the day of the early ox cart to the 1936 Ford V-8 is presented in the rotunda of the Ford Exposition building at the Texas Centennial in Dallas. Here is a partial view of the display with the first Ford ever built in the rear of the information desk and the 1903 model to the right.

Air Pioneers' Building Goes to Join Collection of Structures That Make Up Famous Village at Dearborn, Michigan

The Pageant of Transportation as displayed by the Ford Motor Company in its building at the Texas Centennial in Dallas shows only vehicles which travel upon the ground. However, in Dearborn, Mich., the history of transportation as portrayed by the Edison Institute includes aviation. This display is now augmented by another historical exhibit.

In Dayton, Ohio, Henry Ford purchased the building formerly occupied by the Wright Cycle Company and the laboratory in which Wilbur and Orville Wright designed and built the world's first successful airplane 33 years ago. Ford plans to move the building to his Edison Institute, which is the name of the combined Edison

Museum and the Greenfield Village, constructed to endure for generations as exhibitions of progress in engineering, mechanics and the useful arts and crafts.

The Wright building is a two-story brick and frame structure. It was here that the Wright brothers had their bicycle manufacturing plant and repair shop. In this place they began work on an airplane and accurately analyzed for the first time what aeronautical engineers call the "travel of the center of pressure," on an airplane wing. It was their analysis of this that makes it possible to construct an airplane light enough to fly, yet strong enough to carry a load and withstand all the strains of flight.

Many American buildings which have become shrines are located in Greenfield village. Also there are exact reproductions of such buildings as Independence Hall, Congress Hall, and the City Hall of Philadelphia.

Nearly every aspect of the village reflects the life of the small American community of fifty or one hundred years ago. Among the buildings is the Clinton Inn, built in 1821 in Clinton, Mich., and once a stopping place between Detroit and Chicago. Nearby is the chapel of Martha Mary, named for the mothers of Mr. and Mrs. Ford.

The original red school house in which Ford occupied a seat as a boy is maintained as it was in the early days of Dearborn. Nearby is the Lincoln courthouse.

Outstanding to most visitors is the Henry Ford museum of buildings reconstructed from, or reproductions of, the structures in which Thomas A. Edison labored from 1876 to 1886.

Major George Edwards, together with his sons Bill, Jake and Tom, spent the week-end fishing at Lake Pauline.

Mrs. Sallie Hudson of Throckmorton, is visiting here with her daughter, Mrs. S. J. Hall and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wason and son Elliott of Stamford, are visiting here in the home of Mrs. Mollie Wason and other relatives.

WILL SING AND PLAY FOR NATION

Young "Swing" Maestro Substitutes for Fred Waring

Tommy Dorsey, the trombone playing "swing" maestro, will bring his group of musical artists to Texas during August to broadcast a series of coast-to-coast CBS programs for the Ford Motor Company. Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians will be on vacation all during August. Each Tuesday night at the Texas Centennial Exposition Dorsey's orchestra will broadcast from the Gulf Radio studios.

The programs, which are sponsored by Ford dealers, will be presented twice each Tuesday night. The first time will be from 7 p. m. to 7:30 central standard time for the eastern and central states. The same broadcast will be repeated from 10 to 10:30 p. m. central standard time for Pacific coast and mountain states.

Two members of the orchestra will be featured. Edythe Wright, auburn haired vocalist, has a clever style, often changing the lyrics of her songs, substituting words and in some cases even whole lines that strike her fancy or better express her interpretation of the song's mood or meaning. Incidentally, she has three hobbies, golf, tennis and writing poetry.

Jack Leonard, also a vocalist, is a most personable and charming young man with a great deal of talent. He contributes considerable appeal of the orchestra.

It will be held to raise money for the continuation of the Girl Scout organization.

Last week's meeting consisted of an over-night outing to Roaring Springs Tuesday night. About twelve girls and Mrs. Jeffers attended.

Mrs. Amanda Burks Honored At Dallas

DALLAS, Texas, August 3.—A portrait of Mrs. Amanda Burks, "Queen of the Trail Drivers," those leathery faced fellows who sent millions of longhorns across the unbroken Texas sod, today hung in the Hall of Cattle Kings at No. 1 livestock building of the Texas Centennial Exposition.

Of forty-seven portraits of famous cattle barons of Texas to find a place of honor in the lounge Mrs. Burks will be the only woman, according to Gus L. Ford, who arranged and designs for the livestock section of the $25,000,000 World's Fair.

Mrs. Burks gained the title of "Queen of the Trail Drivers" when she made the long trek with her husband, William Franklin Burks, when he was in the cattle industry at Banquette, Nueces County. Following his death in 1877 on LaMotta Ranch, thirty miles southeast of Cotulla, Mrs. Burks took over his affairs and continued in the cattle and ranching business almost to her death in 1934 at the age of 90.
