TRAIL DUST By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Mother includes your column in her letters frequently. Your pen portraits of camp fires and starlight and tired though strangely contented souls are so real of those days left behind. Do write something achingly beautiful of houses left behind. A strange assignment to you of the out-of-doors—I do get so hungry for the sun porch. Mother's there at home which she built to house long quiet days and to hold much sunshine and laughter and to love and coax strength inside . . . of the little boy who was five who came so frequently with his assortment of dogs and ropes and made games of eating carrots and drinking milk and who left such an unrelenting emptiness in his wake . . . of the farmer and drummers and cowmen who interrupted their errands in town long enough for brief visits along with strange and thoughtful assortment of little gifts. 'Girl, I've lived on these plains for over forty years and Jim was one of my best friends but this is the first time I've ever been in his house' . . . 'Then there was that little Dresden lady past eighty who danced and sang and was as gay and graceful as a bird . . . 'Why many a time we rode muleback twenty miles to a dance . . . 'she was ten during the Civil War outbreak and remembered incidents that are now history in the homes in Missouri and Nebraska . . . and uncle Frank, who was past eighty also, and had interesting tales of driving stage coaches between Vermont and Quebec . . . and the lawyer who was a judge on the government boat in Alaska . . . it wasn't just the housewives and close friends and kids after school who came to the sun porch, yet nicest of all, watching for that particular someone at evening. 'So write of houses left behind! We've all left them and we all—if for only brief interludes, return. We live where we are born', Ellen Glasgow's conclusion adds up. Sincerely, M. B. P.'

PRESIDENT VISITS CENTENNIAL

Three famous smiles all in a row. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt enjoying Texas hospitality on their tour of the State last week, with Governor James V. Allred serving as official host. Further evidence of the cordial relations existing between the Texas and National Administrations is the naming of Governor Allred to nominate Vice-President John N. Garner at the Democratic convention in Philadelphia.

TEXAS CHEERS PRESIDENT AS TOUR IS MADE

Gov. And Mrs. Allred Are Official Hosts Lone Star State

AUSTIN, June 17. (Special)—Texans were host to the President of the United States and Mrs. Roosevelt last week. At least a million Texans greeted the noted visitors personally, with full-throated yells of welcome, waving sombreros, flags and whistles. Serving as official host and hostess for the Lone Star State were Governor and Mrs. James V. Allred, who met the President and Mrs. Roosevelt when their special train arrived at Texarkana last Wednesday night and accompanied them on the train during the three day swing around the state, through Houston, San Antonio and Austin to Dallas. Personal Friendship The acquaintanceship between President Roosevelt and Governor Allred, which began early during the governor's administration as a result of his contacts with the national administration in seeing that Texas received its fair share of federal loans and grants and in working together to coordinate the state and national social security programs, ripened into a warm personal friendship during the tour it was reported. The First Lady of the Land and the First Lady of Texas also became good friends during their three-day visit and Mrs. Allred introduced Mrs. Roosevelt Friday in the Cotton Bowl at the Centennial Exposition in Dallas. Cordial relations, both personal and official, existing between the Texas and National administrations will be emphasized further next week when Governor Allred makes the nominating speech for Vice-President John N. Garner at the National Democratic Convention in Philadelphia.

MRS. MARTIN'S FUNERAL RITES ARE HELD HERE

Funeral services were held here Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Methodist Church, for Mrs. J. W. Martin, 51, of Roswell, New Mexico, early Motley county resident who died in a sanitarium at Lubbock, Texas, Sunday two weeks after being moved there from her home. Amanda Cornett was born in Stephens county, Texas, January 6, 1885. At an early age she moved with her parents to Stonewall county. The family moved to Motley county in 1891 where they were among the early pioneers who settled this country. On December 3, 1914 she was married to J. W. Martin, when she left this county to make her home elsewhere. In Failing Health Mrs. Martin had been in failing health for some time prior to her removal to the sanitarium. Services were conducted by Rev. D. D. Denison, pastor of the local Methodist church, and interment followed in East Mound Cemetery. Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn her passing, one sister, Mrs. J. E. Russell of Matador, and two brothers, Joe Cornett of Afton and Willie Cornett of Wichita Falls, all of whom were present for the funeral. The Tribune joins the many friends of the family in extending heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved ones.

FLYING JENNY TO HAVE PART FRONTIER SHOW

Scenery In County's Past Is Moved For Pioneer Expo

A part of the colorful scenery used in the real drama of Motley county's past two decades ago, was loaded on truck and moved to Ft. Worth early this week to be cast in the colossal re-enactment of Texas yesterday at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial to open there July 1. An old-time flying jenny, or mule drawn merry-go-round, operated by Jeff Morriss in the early days of this county, will be operated by his son, Harry Morriss and Roscoe McWilliams on the Midway at the Ft. Worth show. The equipment, a strong center spindle, overhanging arms to which are attached the rough, wooden seats and other parts of the primitive pleasure machine, will possibly be erected this week it was declared. Mules to furnish the motive power will either be purchased in Ft. Worth, or trucked from here later. Prominent Position Billie Rose, New York producer who is director general of the Ft. Worth Frontier Centennial, is enthusiastic over possibilities offered by the Motley county boys' ride and has allotted them a prominent place on the Midway and is also assuring them full cooperation of the publicity department in advertising the attraction. Messrs Morriss and McWilliams went to Ft. Worth last week for a private interview with Mr. Rose and to complete contracts. The old flying jenny has been stored at Mr. Morriss' farm near Whiteflat for many years and part of the seats have been in the Odd Fellows Hall here in Matador.

O'Banion, director of supervision, stating: 'The state supervisor who visited your school system reports that your school is doing standard work in all departments and recommends that your subject offerings be increased as follows: commercial arithmetic, 1/2 unit; Spanish, 2 units, and that your subject offerings be decreased as follows: advanced arithmetic, 1/2 unit. He emphasized the benefits made possible by the Boy Scout camp at Camp Post this summer. The three different camps of one week each are now in the second period the third to start June 21 to June 27. Only $6.75 pays full expenses for the week camp under troop leadership. An addition feature to the program will be observance of 'Dollar Day', in connection with Father's Day, and the congregation is urged to contribute an extra dollar to the collection. The proceeds of this unique plan for raising money are to be used in payment of repairs of the parsonage and to pay for the Baby Grand piano recently purchased for the church auditorium. Dear M. B. P: You have written from the well of tenderness, more beauty than my humble lines can convey. Besides, too often I find that some things to remember are so close, perhaps sacred, that the thought hurts as needles being driven under ones nails . . . a white house mellowed in the shade of cottonwoods, and the low porch with its rough concrete floor which I built with my own hands as a youth . . . and the chair where she waited through the summer twilight for my home-comings, is still there, empty now . . . and life, too, is empty, M. B. P. . . . please grant for me the right to fill your request for some other memory instead . . . for a while.

Fire flowed through the plate glass where the bee struggled against something it could not see, and beat the ragged little wings to pieces, to pain and to death. Only a few feet away the door was open to freedom, clean, cool air and kindlier sunlight. Perhaps unseen doors open close to us who have no wings, but beat the pinions of life to destruction against the invisible walls of an improperly planned destiny.

Memory's chandelier swiveling from the rafters of childhood, becomes motionless so that the shadows are sharp against the wall of years. Pressed past the locks of time are the silvered hours spent atop a certain high hill waiting for daylight to locate the horses and drive them to the corral. Proud hopes unfettered by futile trying and sanguine dreams secure in their warm nests of simple faith, established this tranquil solitude as a sanctuary. But bare feet wet with dew must finally be fitted with shoes and the cool sapphire and crimson sky surrender to the white jets from the sun.

Panhandle Cattleman Is Claimed By Death At Amarillo Home

AMARILLO, June 16.—Death struck again Monday at the thinning ranks of the Panhandle's empire builders, taking H. F. Mitchell, who as a boy rode horseback, alone from Nebraska to the Palo Duro Canyon and who was one of the Panhandle's first citizens.

Mr. Mitchell, who would have been 77 years old in October, died at 9:13 o'clock Monday morning at St. Anthony's Hospital where he had been under treatment nine days. He had been ill three weeks.

Born in Indiana he went to Nebraska with his parents as a child. In his 16th or 17th year he left home and rode a broomtail pony across the great High Plains to the Goodnight Ranch in the Palo Duro.

After working several years as a cowboy for Col. Charles Goodnight, Mr. Mitchell became manager of the old LIT Ranch, which had headquarters a mile and a half east of Tascosa. He served in that capacity for 15 years, and then formed a partnership with the late Al Popham and bought the old Frying Pan Ranch.

Thirty years ago he sold his interest in the Frying Pan and became local manager for the Matador Land and Cattle Company. He was still associated with the Matador, in an advisory capacity, at the time of his death, but retired as local manager 10 years ago.

Near Golden Anniversary

He had presented many relics to the Panhandle Plains Historical Society Museum at Canyon. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell would have celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary next January 19. They were married in Tascosa in 1887. Mrs. Mitchell was the former Miss Georgia Byrum of Tascosa.

Mr. Mitchell, who came to Tascosa in '84, said today that they maintained a home in Amarillo for 33 or 34 years, but much of their time was spent on the ranch.

Survivors are the wife, their 11-year-old daughter, Pauline; a sister, Mrs. Anna M. O'Kane of Houston; a niece, Mrs. Bryan A. Stockton of Port Arthur, and a nephew, Frank O'Kane of Houston.

Mr. O'Kane was at his uncle's bedside at the time of death.

RODEO IS CHIEF EVENT COWBOYS STAMFORD MEET

STAMFORD, June 17—Although there will be many worthwhile attractions on the program of the seventh annual Texas Cowboy Reunion to be held in Stamford July 2, 3 and 4 the chief entertainment feature of the Reunion will be the rodeo, featuring the cowhands from the ranches.

Word has been received from numerous contestants and visitors of former years that they will be on hand this year when the gates swing open on July 2. In addition many Centennial visitors to Texas are expected to visit Stamford during the Reunion to witness a rodeo that has been classified as "an authentic survival of a typically Western institution." Former years have seen crowds of 50,000 and 55,000 visitors here during the three days. This year conservative estimates place the attendance at an even greater figure.

Seven rodeo events are on the card for this year's show. Three rodeo performances will be held each day during the Reunion—morning, afternoon and night. Cash prizes in the rodeo events total $1600. Prize saddles, boots, spurs, hats and other premiums will swell the total prize list to approximately $2500.

Cash prizes will be given in bronc-busting, calf-roping, steer riding and wild-cow-milking each day. A special junior steer-riding contest will be staged at night performances on July 3 and 4, and the winners will receive cash prizes. Cowboys over 55 years of age will compete for honors on July 2 and 3 in a special calf-roping contest, the winner to receive a hand-made saddle.

UTILIZING WASTE PRODUCTS

Chemistry may do much in the next few years toward utilizing farm and forest products now wasted. Speakers at the Farm Chemurgic Council's conference on the Pacific Coast pointed out many industrial uses for products and by-products of agriculture. In the end, farmers may gain more from a new industrial demand for their products than from political subsidies.

Discovery of new uses for the once-despised cotton seed has been a godsend to the lint grower. Equally advantageous may become the making of industrial alcohol from surplus potatoes and fruit, often dumped along roadsides for want of a market. Such alcohol, blended with gasoline, may become important as a motor fuel. Eventually we may also use sugar made from dahlia roots and in some regions briquettes from waste sawdust may provide a cheap fuel for many homes. The growing cellulose and papermaking industries are giving new value to American forests.

Recent Texas experiments with soybeans and wood pulps are in the direction pointed out by speakers at the California conference. These products—as well as others yet undreamed of—may add greatly to the Southwest's share of the national income. Texans will need to remain alert to take quick advantage of the advances of science in finding new uses for products which may be grown in this region.

HERE ARE THE ACTUAL FOOD VALUES YOU GET IN A CAN OF SALMON

Lenten market baskets are always sure to include a generous supply of canned salmon. Now, an analysis reveals that a can of salmon contains all of the dietetic values displayed on the above chart. Rich in protein, minerals, and vitamins, this sea-food is ideal for winter menus, and limited budgets.

SALMON MOLD
Soak 2 tablespoons gelatin in 1/2 cup cold water. Then dissolve in 1 1/2 cups boiling water. Cool. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice, the contents of one 1-pound can salmon, skinned, boned and flaked. Chill until beginning to set, then fold in 1 cup mayonnaise and heap in a damp fish mold. Chill until set, unmold on chockery and garnish with quartered tomatoes.

Other equally attractive party dishes with salmon are easily made as follows:

SALMON CLUB SANDWICHES
Slice 12 pieces bread, 1/4 inch thick, to make 4 sandwiches, three tiers high. Toast bread as needed, making the 4 sandwiches at once. On first slices spread melted butter. Next a crisp lettuce leaf wiped dry. Next, slices of bacon crisply broiled. Next, dry portions of canned salmon. Next, place a slice of previously needed, red ripe tomato. Sprinkle with salt, paprika and mayonnaise. Place another slice of toast on this filling and proceed as with first filling. On top of filling No. 2 place a third slice of warm toast. Cut off crusts and protruding filling with sharp knife. Cut each sandwich in two diagonally, and serve on individual plates garnished with lettuce leaf.

SALMON A LA KING
Simmer 1 can mushrooms, drained and 1 small onion, chopped, in butter. Stir in 2 tablespoons flour. Add 1 1/2 pints milk and 2 egg yolks. Cook slowly until thick. Add one 1-pound can of salmon, shredded. Add 1 pimento, dash of lemon juice and paprika. Serve in patty shells or on buttered toast.

SALMON AND RICE CASSEROLE
Mix 3 cups cooked rice with 1 minced green pepper, 2 teaspoons salt and one pound canned salmon. Bone, skinned and broken into small pieces. Mix with 2 cups thin white sauce and pour into casserole. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) until brown and bubbling—about 25 minutes.

SALMON AND CORN SOUFFLE
Mix one pound canned salmon, flaked, with 2 cups thick white sauce. Add lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce and season. Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites, and pour half of the mixture into a buttered baking dish. Pour in 1 cup canned corn, sautéed slightly, then the rest of the mixture. Cover with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes. Serve with a pickle relish.

STUFFED SALMON
Place 3 slices salt pork on bottom of flat baking pan, arrange one-half pound canned salmon on it, shaped like a steak. Cover with dressing, and then another layer of the salmon. Put three more slices of pork on top and bake 1/2 of an hour. How to make dressing: 1 cup bread-crumbs, 1/2 cup cracker crumbs, 1 small onion, sliced, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup hot water, 1/2 cup melted butter, 1 beaten egg, pinch of sage. Lightly brown the onion in the butter, add hot water and pour this over the bread and cracker crumbs. Season, and stir in the egg. This will serve 6 persons.

ONIONS STUFFED WITH SALMON A LA MEXICANA
10 medium sized onions; 1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper; salt and pepper; 1/2 pound canned salmon; 1 tablespoon melted butter; 2 eggs.
Boil onions for half an hour or until tender, drain, remove centers and fill with salmon, sweet pepper, butter and seasonings. Dredge each onion slightly with flour, dip into well-beaten eggs and fry in deep fat until a golden brown. Serve with tomato sauce.

BAKED SALMON AND SWEET POTATOES
Bake 6 medium sized sweet potatoes. Mash, season with salt, pepper and butter. Add 1/2 pound of finely flaked canned salmon. Mix all together. Place in buttered baking dish, spread top with melted butter, garnish with 2 tablespoons canned salmon. Heat 5 or 8 minutes and serve.

SALMON PIE
Chop 1 cup canned salmon fine, add 2 cups rice, potatoes and 1/2 cup milk. Put in greased baking dish. Spread with 1 egg beaten lightly. Cover with 1/2 cup cracker crumbs into which 2 tablespoons butter have been melted and sprinkle with 1/2 cup grated cheese. Bake until brown.

A. M. Bourland Farm Awarded 1st Place In County Contest

All Meat, Lard, Feed Is Raised For Forty Years

The County winner in the state Centennial Farm and Home Demonstration Contest was judged for district honors Tuesday, June 16. The state and district winners have not been announced, but substantial prizes are offered for these places by the Dallas News, sponsor of the contest which is directed by the Texas Extension Service. Only farms bordering state highways are eligible.
 The farm and home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Bourland, Matador, which won first place in the county, elicited high praise from the district judges, Parker D. Hanna and Ruby Mashburn of College Station, district farm and home demonstration agents. Noteworthy among the points commended by the judges are the fine home and well kept grounds and the beautiful supply of home-grown foods and feeds. It developed that no meat and lard or feed for livestock had been purchased since the farm was established forty-three years ago. Mrs. Bourland called attention to some wool cloth which had been carded, spun, woven and dyed by herself and to a fine quilt which had been quilted by her grandmother over a hundred years ago. On Mr. Bourland's 1450 acre farm are maintained fine brood mares and registered herds of dairy cattle and hogs, besides large acreages of cotton and feed crops.

Seven Other Entrants
 Seven other entrants in the county received distinctive mention by the County Judges, C. C. Stinson and Hattie Tacker, Cottle County Farm and Home Demonstration agents and Mrs. Joe Jeffers, Matador. The A. E. Westmoreland place near Matador drew comment upon the lawn and plantings including some large pecan trees which bear regularly. W. M. Vaughn, Roaring Springs, exhibited some nice poultry and some plums which had been canned fifteen years ago.

John Groves of Matador showed an unusually adequate supply of stored foods and has improved his soil by contouring the rows. Many significant improvements have been made in the home and grounds of Sam Hunter, Roaring Springs. Other contestants given prominent mention are A. B. Nichols, Roaring Springs; W. L. Nall, Flomot and W. E. Ellithorp, Matador.

F. W. Fischer Speaks At Floydada Today

FLOYDADA, June 18.—How over $100,000,000 can be raised by levying adequate taxes on natural resources, 90 percent of which tax money would be paid by consumers in other states and foreign countries, was outlined by F. W. Fischer of Tyler, candidate for governor, in his speech here Thursday. He also spoke in Canyon, Tulla, Plainview and Lubbock during the same day.

With this vast sum of 'brand new money', Fischer said there would be enough to pay every old man and woman over 65 a pension of $15 a month, increase the state highway funds, raise school teachers' salaries and reduce the gasoline tax from 4 cents to 2 cents a gallon. This would effect a saving of hundreds of millions of dollars annually to Texas taxpayers and property owners, Fischer said.

Governor James V. Allred, so Fischer charged, conceived and put through the old age assistance law providing for payment of pensions out of a portion of the liquor tax so as not to tax oil, saying oil was already taxed too high, when Fischer first submitted his plan for taxing natural resources last fall.

"Why is oil taxed too high when our vast fields produce about $480,000,000 a year and the state receives in taxes only about $9,000,000?" Fischer demanded to know, quoting the present tax rate as 2 percent of the value of such oil. He would raise this tax to 15 cents a barrel. "Of course, the producers pay in addition to this 2 percent tax a small ad valorem tax, but it is negligible considering the value of their properties."

RETURN HOME

Mrs. Frank Eiring and daughter Frances, returned the first of the week, to their home at Plainview, after having been here at the bedside of Mrs. Eiring's mother, Mrs. A. B. Echols, who succumbed last Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Eiring plans to join Mr. Eiring at Hot Springs, Arkansas, within a short time, he having proceeded there following a trip to Temple, Texas and upon advice of physicians.

VISIT IN SLATON

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Collier and Mrs. Pearl Moorman drove to Slaton Sunday, where they visited with Mrs. Moorman's sister, Mrs. Dave Hoffman.

On their return home they visited a short while in Lubbock with Wilburn Cox of Spur, who is confined in the Lubbock Sanitarium and whose condition is showing gradual improvement.

Law breakers will find a warm reception awaiting them if they visit the Texas Centennial Exposition June 12 at Dallas. This sixth day of the Exposition will be Sheriff's Day. A short program is to be given at the Roy Bean Cabin and the visiting Sheriffs will then be shown the $25,000,000 Exposition.

Under captains Lion J. D. Craven and Lion Solon Lea, the divided membership of the Matador Lions club will meet at the airport field in the north section of town Thursday afternoon at 6:30 for the first struggle under the clubs sponsorship of a soft ball league in the community this summer. The sponsorship was approved at the Tuesday meeting of the Lions, committees appointed and organization started and teams selected to play the first game by declaring the members located on the west side of the luncheon table as the 'Westies' and those on the east side of the table as the 'Easties'.

Captains Begin

J. D. Craven was appointed as captain of the Easties and Solon Lea as captain of the Westies. The soft ball committee appointed by Boss Lion Tunnell is as follows: L. R. Bishop, chairman, J. D. Craven and John Hamilton.

Several games of the popular sport have been played this week which prompted the Lions Club to decide the sponsorship.

All interested organizations are urged to form teams and the public is invited to the airport field game at 6:30 Thursday afternoon.

and the introduction of guest, Joe Schaded of Paducah, secretary Whitworth made a very favorable report of the past year's work. The club is out of debt, all dues are paid and a small cash balance remains in the bank. Also the club membership has increased from 34 a year ago to 44 members now. The club stands 3rd in the district of 27 of 36 clubs.

Lion John Hamilton presented retiring Boss Lion Tunnell with an appropriate past-president pin in appreciation of the club for his services. In a following brief address, Lion Tunnell declared that there was no effort attached with the place he held, since every member was willing and eager to do his assigned share of duties. Lion Tunnell also expressed his appreciation to the club for the fine services rendered the schools here.

Pay Scout Masters Dues

The membership and luncheon dues of Lion Vernon Doss, or any Lion member who acts as scout master, will be paid in the future by the organization after a motion approved at the Tuesday meeting. Immediate action was also ordered in opening the wading pool in the City Park sponsored by the club. The park committee was authorized to open the wading pool Tuesday afternoon.

charge his duties learns more about the manner in which his duties should be discharged, and profits by the experiences he has during his first term so that he is always more efficient and capable during his second term. I feel that if I should be elected to a second term in this office that my record at the end of the next two years will be satisfactory to that majority of the people who are in favor of law enforcement and who desire diligent prosecution of those who persist in violating the laws of our State.

The duties of my office require me to be available to all officers of your county at all times possible. And there is only a short period of time until the primary election. For those reasons it will be impossible for me to make a person to person campaign of the entire county, and I will not, therefore, be able to see all of the majority of them. But that, those upon whom I do not get to call personally will understand the reason and will realize that their vote and influence are nevertheless earnestly solicited and will be deeply appreciated. And should I be re-elected I will do my utmost to make you a good and diligent County Attorney.

New Oven Installed At Local Bake Shop

A new rotating oven, heated by gas, was installed and placed in service at the City Bakery here this week. The new unit will save much labor, time and fuel according to Venus Gillespie, manager of the bakery.

Gas for heating purposes is supplied through the aid of drums of compressed natural gas. The large oven is kept in constant motion through power supplied by an electric motor, thus producing a more evenly baked loaf, Mr. Gillespie declared. Only a short time is required to bring the oven to the baking temperature which is another advantage over the former type wood-fired oven.

Mr. Gillespie declared that business warranted more modern equipment producing the higher quality bakery loaf.
