Cattlemen Improve Ranges With Tanks

Over 100 Built In Past Three Years

A phase of water conservation which has become of major importance in Motley County during the past three years is the building of earthen tanks and reservoirs. More than one hundred large tank dams have been constructed in that period of time across the draws and canyons of this county, according to figures compiled by Frank A. Buckley, county agent. They range in sizes from a few hundred yards to nearly 20,000 yards of earth.

Besides providing well distributed watering places for livestock, these tanks reduce soil erosion in the draws and creeks below the damsites. They are a decided factor in the prevention of floods on the rivers. They better distribute grazing of the range a more uniform turf to thus allow to grow which helps to prevent runoff and soil erosion on the whole area. The companion practice of deferred grazing, also popular in this county, contributes to the same result. On at least two watersheds of Motley County, namely Teepee Creek and Turtle Hole Creek, a large dam has been built on each of the ten or twelve tributaries. This program has largely controlled the erosion and runoff problems of these areas and contributes to the solution of the flood control problem of the mother stream.

Twenty four dams have already been constructed or started in Motley County since January 1, 1939, it is reported by Elbert Reeves, Range Inspector. Those which have been completed include C. D. Bird, Matador, two

Scout Leaders To Hold Camp

The Scouters, those men who back scouting and are responsible for its success in a community, of Spur and Matador will assemble at Roaring Springs park Thursday at four p. m. for one day and two nights of camping activity and training.

Jack Stone, Council executive, George Holland, Field executive, B. G. Wadzeck, scoutmaster of Troop 35 of Spur, and Paul Eubank, scoutmaster of Troop 60 of Matador will serve as instructors during the camping period. Last week-end this group of men attended an instructors camping training course at camp Louis Farr near San Angelo.

Randall Whitworth, C. A. Pitts, Henry Pipkin, L. A. Carlisle, U. L. Willie, R. A. Day, Floyd Hamilton assistant scoutmaster, Houston Schweitzer, junior assistant scoutmaster will comprise the local delegation.

C. T. WASSON TO CROSBYTON SUN

C. T. Wasson, Administrative Assistant of Motley County A. C. A. for the past six months has been transferred to Crosby county where he will act in a similar position.

Mr. and Mrs. Wasson left Sunday for Crosbyton where they will make their home.

TO GALVESTON

Mrs. A. J. Hodges, accompanied by Mr. Hodges, left Saturday for Galveston, where she has re-entered a clinic for another series of treatments for her health, similar to those she has been receiving intermittently during the past year.

Miss Zenobia Haney is filling Mrs. Hodges' vacancy as assistant in the office of Dr. J. S. Stanley, during her absence.

RELATIVE IMPROVE

Homer Bouldin, of Albany, County Judge of his county, is reported to be in an improved condition in a hospital at Stamford, from injuries received about a month ago when he fell and broke his hip.

Judge Bouldin, a grandson of Mrs. C. L. Glenn of this city, was in Lubbock to attend a Judges' conference at the time the accident occurred.

San Jacinto Subject Of Lion Address

Pony Express Trek Group Are Guests At Tuesday Meet

"The same spirit which prompted the valor of Sam Houston and his small band of 700 Texans to defeat Santa Anna and 1,500 well-equipped soldiers at San Jacinto, lives on today," Lion Paul Eubank declared in a stirring address before the Matador Lions Club at the regular meeting held at the Baptist church Tuesday. "The glorious victory which we celebrate Friday is one of the most signal achievements in history," Lion Eubank said, "and today we find Texas making progress and meeting its problems because of men with courage and determination. The freedom of this great state will ever be a monument to that courageous band of pioneers who, on April 21, 1836, literally burned their bridges behind them and in 18 minutes, won independence from Mexico."

Jacobs Is Delegate

Announcement was made that Lion W. F. Jacobs had been selected as delegate to the state convention at El Paso, by the directors meeting Monday morning.

Introduction of guests included Mr. and Mrs. Willie Myers and Mrs. J. M. Davidson, mother of Shannon Davidson, winner of the Nocona, Texas to Oakland, California Pony Express race. Mr. Myers was sponsor of Davidson's participation in the race. Mr. Myers expressed his appreciation for the support and complete co-operation of the Matador Lions Club and other citizens of the county during the long journey.

Other guests introduced included Garth Close, who is in charge of the radio department of the Matador Hardware and Furniture Company.

The meeting was in charge of Lion Henry Pipkin in the absence of Boss Lion Henry Ford.

Funds Slash May Cripple Road Safety

Highway Patrols To Be Reduced If Cut Is Approved

AUSTIN, April 17—The Senate finance committee dealt highway safety and crimina enforcement a staggering blow by slashing $650,000 from annual department of public safety appropriations. W. H. Richardson, Jr., public safety commission chairman, said today.

The Texas highway patrol, rangers, investigators, narcotics agents, crime laboratory and driver's license divisions, were badly crippled or eliminated in some instances by action of the economy-minded senate body, the Austin businessman member of the safety commission declared.

This action, Richardson pointed out, will necessitate the elimination of 46 highway patrol stations now maintained in every part of Texas, remove any possibility of re-issuing drivers' licenses to over two million drivers, eliminate the present issuance of chauffeur and driver licenses, halt suspension and revocation proceedings, "break the back" of the criminal identification bureau and deprive local officers of the facilities of the firearms division of the crime laboratory.

Was Self Sustaining

The highway patrol and driver's license divisions have been self sustaining from additional fees brought into county and state coffers through the efforts of the enforcement personnel, he said. Educational programs sustained jointly by the patrol and funds from driver's license receipts must be discontinued in view of the slash in appropriations.

The narcotic division, created only two years ago to combat a growing dope trafficking menace, was completely forgotten in the senate committees recommendations. Likewise, ten specialized

Local Church To Vote For Pastor Sunday

According to an announcement made in last Sunday's services at the First Baptist Church here, a vote will be taken in services this Sunday morning with reference to calling Rev. W. M. Joslin of Albany as pastor.

Rev. Joslin, it will be remembered, conducted several services here recently at the invitation of the church, while the pastor of this church, Rev. H. M. Weldon, supplied the pulpit at Albany.

It is urged by officials of the church, that a full membership be present when this action is taken Sunday morning, in order that the vote might reflect the decision of the entire church enrollment.

NELL GREEN GETS HONOR GROUP BID

LUBBOCK—Nell Green, home economics student, at Texas Tech has qualified for membership in the Freshman Honor Society. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Green of Roaring Springs.

Sponsored by Forum, honorary organization, and the Association of Women Students, the Freshman Honor Society requires a B-average.

Scout Officials At Executive Session

Paul Eubank, Scoutmaster of Troop 60, Matador, in company with other Scout executives of this area, attended a Camping Training course for executives, scoutmasters and commissioners, in San Angelo during Friday night, Saturday and Sunday morning.

Others from this territory who attended the meeting included: Jack Stone, Lubbock, Executive for the South Plains Area Council; George Holland, Plainview, Field Executive; B. G. Wadzeck, Scoutmaster Troop 35, Spur, and L. A. Coward, Scoutmaster at Ralls.

RETURNS HOME

Edgar Lee returned home Tuesday from Causey, New Mexico, where he has been transacting business and also visiting his sister, Mrs. Floyd Dudah, for the past two weeks.

New Hope Looms On Courthouse Plans

County Officials Assail Washington With Urgent Pleas

Urgent pleas from County Judge W. R. Cammack and the Commissioners' Court to Washington officials for action on the government grant of 45% towards the construction of a new courthouse here, is believed to be gaining strength, according to statements made by members of the court yesterday. Impressive messages have been sent to Senators Tom Connally and Morris Sheppard, to Representative Marvin Jones and to Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, explaining the desperate employment situation of relief families in the county and asking immediate action. The responses have been encouraging, altho no definite action can be hoped for until new appropriations have been made.

Washington officials are reminded that Motley county has voted a bond issue of $80,000 for its share of the construction expense and that the money is waiting for the government cooperation of a grant. The messages stress the burdensome load of additional relief families because of discharge in the W. P. A. ranks.

Best Form of Public Works

Representative Marvin Jones, in a letter dated April 15, declared: "This will acknowledge receipt of message signed by yourself and the Commissioners Court. I shall be glad to submit your message to the Appropriations Committee and to urge that provisions be made for this program, as I feel that this is one of the best forms of public works." (signed) Marvin Jones.

Parts of a message signed by N. S. Gray, Assistant Administrator of the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works, brings this information: "The application for this project, identified by P. W. A. Docket No. Tex. 2495, received favorable recommendations of our examining divisions under the terms of the Public Works Administration Appropriation Act of 1938. However, applications were submitted for funds much in excess of the

JUNIOR CLASS TO PRESENT ANNUAL PLAY

The junior class of Matador High School has announced that it will present its class play next Tuesday night, April 25 at 8:00 o'clock, in the high school auditorium.

The play, which is entitled "A Fortunate Calamity," is a hilarious comedy in three acts. The plot was taken from an incident that actually occurred near a little village along the Ohio River.

The action takes place within the space of three years, but the juniors will be kind enough not to keep the audience waiting that long. They will cram three years fun and excitement into two hours.

Jewell McCoy plays the part of Mrs. Merkle, a proud mother. Aileen Russell, as her daughter, Atta, wishes to become rich. Lela, Carpenter, as Ruth, is just a plain girl with an important part. Tom Nell Darsy, as Kate Van Tyle, the good-natured cook. Marie Hunsucker plays the part of Dinah Johnson, a servant. Marie is becoming known for her part in plays as a negro. Norman Harp is Rastus Johnson, an honest cook. Raymond Rattan, as Joe Brown, is a revenue officer. Berard Gullivan, Kenneth Simpson, is a jovial young man. Albert Campbell, Wiley Fulfer, plays a crooked game. We take it for granted that he is the villain.

Much preparation has been given to this play in order to make it a success. Don T. Martin, co-sponsor of the junior class, is in charge of the direction.

Admission prices will be ten and twenty-five cents, and an advance ticket sale will be sponsored.

Date Is Set For Choral Club Program

In regular meeting Monday night at the Baptist church, the Matador Choral Club set May 4 as the date for presentation of the Stephen Collin Foster program.

The club has been in practice during the past month, on parts of the program, and much anticipation is in evidence with regards to the performance. Entirely new and different from any former choral offering ever presented in Matador, the event gives promise of even surpassing the Easter Cantata in appeal.

Following a short choral practice and business session, the club enjoyed a social hour before adjourning. Eighteen members were present.

Child Victim Of Pneumonia

J. D. Lee, age 3 years, 9 months and 19 days, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lee who reside 11 miles north of Matador, died of pneumonia Sunday morning, April 16th, 1939.

Funeral services were held at the home by Rev. Jess Terry, pastor of the Whiteflat Baptist church and interment was made in the Matador East Mound cemetery Monday.

Altho the child had been in poor health most of its short life, death was attributed to a pneumonia attack.

CHURCH MAKES CONDEMNATION LIQUOR SALES

A public condemnation of the sale of prescription liquor has been made by the Plainview Methodist district conference, according to Rev. H. B. Coggin, pastor of the Methodist churches in Whiteflat and Flomot.

The resolution, as released by Rev. Coggin, is as follows: "Be it resolved that the members of the Plainview Conference publicly condemn the practice of those doctors who are writing alcoholic liquor prescriptions, and those drug stores who are selling alcoholic liquors, and we pledge ourselves to give our business, wherever possible, to those drug stores that do not sell alcoholic liquor.

"Be it further resolved that copies of this resolution be sent to the state Senators and Representatives from within the bounds of the Plainview district".

NEW SERVICE ANNOUNCED

A new pick-up and delivery service on cleaning and pressing is announced by the Matador Cleaners. A telephone has been installed and goods will be picked-up and delivered promptly upon call of number 21-M, according to R. A. Day, manager of the establishment. The new service, which is made without extra charge, is now in effect.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

PICTURES IN THE HOME

Active "home" pictures, such as this, are easy to take, either in the daytime or at night with photo bulbs.

PICTURES of the rooms of your home are easy to make, and add to the snapshot collection. They also have memory value, in that the furnishings are changed or the room is remodeled.

A camera is suitable for these pictures. It can be set for a time exposure. The pictures can be taken in the daytime, or at night.

Before taking a picture by day, have the room illuminated as brightly as possible. Illumination may be balanced, in some cases, by adjusting shades of windows that will give a range of the camera. Photos of the amateur "hood" type are quite helpful in "evening up" the illumination. These bulbs are also suitable for taking night pictures of rooms.

With the illumination adjusted, set the camera on a firm support, set for "time." Point it to the part of the room to be pictured, set the lens for a small opening such as f.16, and make the exposure.

The exposure time varies with the brightness of the room. With a box lens, or using lens opening f.16 on a camera so marked, exposure can be as short as 4 seconds on a bright day when the room has white walls and more than one window. On a sunny day would be about 40 seconds. On a day of hazy light leave the shutter open twice as long, and on a very dull day, ten times as long.

These figures will serve as a guide, but for your first picture you should make several "test" shots, with increased exposure each time. Three shots, one with 10-second timing, one with 30 seconds, and one with about 2 minutes, will do. Have a print made from each negative, and you can get a good idea of the timing that will be best for other "interior" pictures.

Photo bulbs, when needed to obtain an even balance of lighting in a room, can be used in bridge lamps with shades tipped up and moved about to direct light wherever necessary. Of course, such lights used for general illumination should not be placed where they will show in the daytime pictures.

If windows are included in the picture, try this: keep the shades down for seven-eighths of the exposure. Then close the camera shutter, being careful not to move the camera; raise the shades, and open the camera shutter for the remaining exposure time. This trick keeps the windows from recording too brightly on the film.

In arranging a room for a picture, it is wise to move any furniture that is quite near the camera, leaving an "open" foreground. This makes the room seem more spacious. The picture should show more floor than ceiling, to avoid a top-heavy appearance.

Winter months are a splendid time to picture the rooms of your home. Take these pictures now, and you will find added value in them in later years.

Education In Conservation Is Committee Aim

National Wildlife Federation Survey Headed by Dr. Henry B. Ward, Famous Zoologist

WASHINGTON, D. C.—That boys and girls should not only be able to tell a buttercup from a violet, but should have some knowledge of the basic relationships of land and water resources to plant and animal life is the purpose of an ambitious educational program launched by the National Wildlife Federation.

Appointed by Jay N. Darling, president of the Federation, as chairman of a committee on conservation education, is Dr. Henry B. Ward, of the University of Illinois, recently described by LIFE magazine as "most famous U. S. zoologist." Dr. Ward is prominent in the American Association for the Advancement of Science, of which he was for some years executive secretary. With Dr. Ward on this committee are Dr. Paul H. Sears, of Oberlin College, noted authority on soil-economics and author of "Deserts On the March" and "This Is Our Land," C. J. Ballam, president of the Wisconsin Wildlife Federation, is the third member.

In its preliminary report, prepared for the annual meeting of the National Wildlife Federation, held in conjunction with the Fourth North American Wildlife Conference in Detroit, Feb. 13 to 17, this committee outlines the needs for adequate text and reference books.

"The need for informative books in this field has been expressed by a number of publishers," said Mr. Darling. "Leading educators are striving to make understandable the bond between the conservation of sustaining resources and the destiny of mankind. In this endeavor the National Wildlife Federation hopes to be of substantial aid."

George W. Barnes, who judged the beef calves at the Plainview show, met with a group of Motley County feeders at Matador Saturday. He was shown the 1130 lb. steer of Charles Russell in the feed pen and commented, "There's a fine piece of beef."

All of the fat animals of the Plainview Show will be shipped to Kansas City by special train. They will be sold at auction at the stockyards. Charles Russell plans to make the trip to the Missouri market to see his prize animal sold. He will travel on a special bus along with many of the other young exhibitors.

TYPHOID IS MENACE IN RURAL AREAS

"The control of typhoid fever in the United States represents an outstanding achievement in preventive medicine. In 1900 the national death rate from this disease was 31.3 per 100,000 population. Today the ratio is 2.1 nationally, but 6.5 in Texas. This marked decrease in typhoid's killing power is based on knowledge of its cause, how it is spread, and the application of scientific control measures," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Offi-

America Has Everything for the Vacationist

SPOTS AND SPORTS OF INFINITE VARIETY

HERE long the lush of spring will be upon us and winter's children will begin their annual study of road maps and vacation booklets, eager to be off and away at the first crack of summer.

Sea or shore, mountain or plain, America has everything for the vacationist: the best hotels, the finest highways, the cleanest beaches, the longest hiking trails, the most elaborate system of parks and playgrounds. Only America could supply an endless variety of pleasure lands; only America would organize two World's Fairs for the same season.

Larry Nixon, author of last year's hit travel book, "Vagabond Voyaging," unfolds in the April Cosmopolitan a preview of summer spots and sports. Across the country from coast to coast he takes his travel-minded readers, high-lighting each state that has some stellar attraction to offer. Every section is inviting. Nixon finds that, in comparing one section with another, all the standard vacation activities can be found, no matter where you turn, where you decide to head, or what your favorite sport might be.

America's a land of superlatives, certainly in vacation possibilities—and from every standpoint the country gives more for the vacation dollar.

Cotton Is Used For Tire Cord

Announcement that license has been issued to an English cotton manufacturer to produce patented Bibb Heat Resistant Cotton Cord for consumption in the British Isles marks a milestone in the victory of cotton over rayon for use throughout the world in automobile and truck tires. The information given out by D. Anderson, President of Manufacturing Company, at an annual banquet for the salesmen in Macon, Georgia, is of vital interest to cotton farmers and concerned with the welfare of the fleecy staple.

Interests have been recently disturbed by reports that the use of rayon would heavily into the 300,000,000 market previously supplied by cotton for use in the manufacture of tires. The figure represents roughly 10% of domestic production.

Rayon Rubber A new method of processing has been given extensive service tests over a period of more than three years. Reports of these tests by prominent tire manufacturers are that the cord outlasted any rubber tread and makers have been able to produce.

The new process is described as not depending entirely upon twist to give strength to cord, as has been the case since the beginning of time, but bounds together the cotton fibers by first softening the waxes inherent in all cotton fiber and finishing the cord while these waxes are soft, meanwhile compressing them to harden, resulting in a cord of revolutionary characteristics.

It is claimed that the lower cost and better performance will protect cotton from the possibility which previously existed that rayon might take away the important tire cord market.

The show opened Monday with more than 600 animals competing. Leonard Crowell Jr., 4-H Club boy of Flomot, showed a junior calf, and Burrell Jones of Flomot took

How the plus of OIL-PLATING brings you more than an oil-change

YOU know right off that the fresh oil needed in your crankcase today, isn't to lubricate the crankcase. Either your oil is in the bearings and up to the cylinder head every turn of your engine, or your lubrication isn't 100%.

Now what's the chance for any of the general run of oils to stay up while you've parked the car, for instance? Just about as much chance as there is for a geyser to stay up all by itself! Then every time you start, don't pistons get up to the top before oil gets up from the crankcase? You kill that risk by changing now to OIL-PLATING.

The "magnetic action" of Conoco Germ Processed oil—patented—makes OIL-PLATING stay on inner engine surfaces throughout all your stops, starts and runs this Summer. Your Germ Processed oil keeps a steady hold on the "Full" mark, too, as you'll see—by changing today to Your Mileage Merchant. Continental Oil Company

Sportsmen's Tax Fund Claimed for Wildlife By National Federation

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The voice of conservation in America will be raised emphatically during the present session of congress, it was announced today from headquarters of the National Wildlife Federation.

The legislative program of the Federation, says Carl D. Shoemaker, executive secretary, calls for the carrying out of the purposes of the Pittman-Robertson act, support of the Izak Walton League's anti-pollution bill and the setting up of projects for improvement of fishing by the states. A 10 per cent tax on fishing tackle is proposed for this purpose.

The Pittman-Robertson act earmarked excise tax funds from the sale of arms and ammunition for use in the states for wildlife restoration.

States Benefiting

About 20 states already have set up Pittman-Robertson projects approved by the Bureau of Biological Survey.

Through Federation activity, an advance appropriation of $1,000,000 was made to enable these projects to be launched without waiting until June 30, this year, for the tax funds to be available.

Meanwhile the current budget allots $1,000,000 for Pittman-Robertson operations, although it is estimated that there will be on hand $3,250,000 from sportsmen's tax payments. Taking out the advance of $1,000,000, there would be left about $2,250,000 for the nation-wide restoration projects in the states. By the end of 1939, more than 40 states probably will be in line for Pittman-Robertson benefits, consisting basically of research and of land management for the increase of valuable wildlife.

The excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition now requires legislative renewal every two years. It automatically expires next June. It is proposed to make the tax permanent.

Wildlife Refuge Earnings

There are nearly 300 wildlife refuges administered by the Bureau of Biological Survey. Many of these yield incomes, from hay crops, fur and various leases. This income now goes into the Federal treasury, and will amount within the next year or two to between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000. The Federation urges that this sum be earmarked for administration of the refuge system.

The Izak Walton League has again brought to Congress a bill for the control of stream pollution on a national scale. This is in line with one of the declarations of policy made at the time the National Wildlife Federation was formed. In the last congress an anti-pollution bill, sponsored by the Izak Walton League, was amended until it lost all effectiveness, and was vetoed by the President.

The Federation gives its full support to this new measure.

"At the proper moment," Mr. Shoemaker explains, "the State Federations and their affiliated organizations, such as sportsmen's clubs, Garden Clubs, youth groups, farmers and business men, will be given full information as to what is pending and what should be done to help. Then, they can follow the recommendations of the Federation if they see fit."

"The Federation is a servicing body, with two aims—keeping the public informed what is doing politically in relation to wildlife and building up an adequate program of education in the fundamentals of conservation."

Interested visitor to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Resource and Museum Institute in Abilene recently was the nation's first lady, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Making a thorough inspection, Mrs. Roosevelt thought the exhibits were "wonderful" and was much impressed with West Texas' resources, both developed and undeveloped. "We should get the East's unemployed men and women and West Texas' unemployed resources together," she told WTCC Manager D. A. Handeen, seen talking with her in the top photo as they inspected the Wool & Mohair Booth. In the lower photo, Mrs. Roosevelt is seen at the Cattle Booth. Before her visit to the WTCC exhibit hall, Mrs. Roosevelt spoke at Hardin-Simmons University, later granted a press conference to West Texas newspaper men and women in the WTCC directors' conference room.

Mrs. Roosevelt Urges Farm Careers For Youth

YOUNG people who are emerging into our crowded economic fields would do well to look toward the farm as a means of livelihood and a full and satisfactory way of life, according to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. When depressions come, hundreds of citizens leave the cities and go back to rural areas in order to live. This naive fact seems to indicate that the stability of the farm is preferable, in the time of disaster, to the insecurity of a wage-earner in the city.

Eleanor Roosevelt, America's much-traveled first lady, analyzes the program in the May issue of Cosmopolitan magazine in an article entitled: "Security Begins Beyond the City Limits." She adds a plea for education along with compensational lines which will compensate farm dwellers for the lack of ready-made entertainment offered by cities. Mrs. Roosevelt also discusses opportunities for financial success in farming, cites developments in agricultural methods, new markets and experiments in the industrial use of farm products which will provide year-around employment and new avenues of profit for agriculturists.

"It is possible to have as much culture in the country as in any city and more wholesome community life and amusement, but it requires more personal effort and better training," Mrs. Roosevelt declares. "We must see that education is interpreted in a broader way than in the past. It is absolutely vital that people living in rural areas have access to books of all kinds and learn to enjoy reading. With the radio there is now the possibility of teaching appreciation of good music and of developing participation in community music projects, theatre projects, murals and sculptures all over the country have laid foundations for varied enjoyments which can be built up in rural areas."

Mrs. Roosevelt does not hesitate to touch on the aspects of rural life which are definitely in need of change. Chief among these is the problem of health and nourishment. The high mortality rate among country mothers and babies due to the lack of consistent medical attention, is marked. Education regarding health and diet habits for growing children needs widespread dissemination. In the country where it is possible to raise a wide variety of fresh vegetables, fruits and dairy products, children are often undernourished due to pure ignorance on the part of their parents. Such education can be accomplished.

In urging rural life, Mrs. Roosevelt also urges the development of home-spirit in children who live in rural localities. . . . a sense of belonging and having roots in a particular community, a responsibility for the present and the future of that place. Children are always interested in the traditions, legends and histories of their homes and early instruction in these things will build a lasting loyalty to a locale. Such loyalties will often overshadow the unseemly lures of big cities later on.

"One of the means I saw employed to inculcate this feeling was a project worked out by a progressive school in a rural community," she writes. "There happened to be a log cabin available for the use of the children and they were encouraged to restore this cabin which dated back a hundred years or more. They made it fairly livable with things they collected from their families and their neighbors, of the sort used in the cabin when it was originally built. They gave little plays which depicted the early life of a family in that cabin when the Indians roamed the countryside and the land was being cleared and tilled for the first time. In this way the children learned something of the past and what it had cost their ancestors to establish a community in the wilderness, thus acquiring a respect for the work accomplished and a sense of responsibility toward carrying it on satisfactorily."

Mrs. Roosevelt does not suggest in "Security Lies Beyond the City Limits" that we merely go back to the farm. Instead she insists that we bring the farm forward where it can compete with the city as a way of

MATADOR FOES GET SET FOR AUTUMN GAMES

Grunts, groans, aches and bruises are mingling in the symphony of spring grid training on the territory. Matador foes, past and future, are approaching a new season with high hopes. The Spur Bulldogs started spring training last week, after meeting for preliminary workouts earlier in the year.

At Silverton, 25 football prospects are working out under Coach Durham. Although the slots have not been assigned yet, hopefuls, Johnnie Quillen and likely for center, while Gene Arnold may shift from guard to tackle.

Crowell Wildcat aspirants are their first taste of grime and glory last week when they met the Crowell all-stars. Coach Graves has been putting the through their paces for several weeks, and has a fairly well seasoned outfit. Wayne Camp and Oran Johnson, veteran players will appear with the squad again this year.

And from Flomot, now in another classification under state schoolboy rules, comes what Red Amonet, well published gridster, will take part in the All-Star Gridiron Classic at Houston next fall.

Boy Scouts To Enjoy Camp At N. Y. Fair

Any qualified member of the Boy Scouts of America may apply for an opportunity to take part in a unique demonstration and service camp at the New York World's Fair, Dr. James E. West, Chief Scout Executive of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced. The plan for a Scout camp of approximately 150 different Scouts and leaders each week, on a two-acre site within the Fair grounds from April 30 to October 31, was approved by formal action of the managers of the World's Fair Corporation and the National Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The camp, to be located immediately adjacent to the Federal Building, will accommodate four Troops of 32 Scouts and four leaders. Each site will be equipped with tents of various colors and designs. There will be a large tent for displays of Scouting, including woodcraft, handicraft and campcraft. Troops that have produced outstanding articles of handicraft and campcraft may have them shown there and the exhibit will represent the finest craftsmanship so far developed by the Scouts of the country.

Near the exhibits tent there will be an open area for flag ceremonies, together with a rustic campfire amphitheatre for dramatics and other spectacular demonstrations. A dining hall and kitchen with full equipment will be a part of the camp.

Totem Pole At Gateway

The gateway to be imposing, with a 40 foot totem pole. The camp headquarters building will serve as the administration center and a stockade will surround the entire area. In line with the symphony of colors of the World's Fair the Scout camp will be most colorful with the flying flags of all Scout nations waving aloft, a symbol of world brotherhood and a friendly greeting to visitors from all over the world.

Guided tours of the World's Fair exhibits will be available to Scouts in small groups under leadership, during approximately one-third of the day. This represents an extraordinary opportunity for Scouts to receive educational values from the Fair and it is recognized by school authorities that a visit to the Fair will be a most desirable and worthwhile educational project.

Contacts With Officials

Service projects, which cannot be done by others and which will not deprive workers of possible employment, will be an important part of a Scout's program during a few hours each day. They will bring Scouts in touch with the management of the enterprise and provide opportunities for meeting many of the distinguished persons involved in or attending the Fair.

Even though a Scout or Scouter's stay in the camp may not exceed one week, there will be accommodations for only 3,900 of the 1,271,900 present registered Scout membership, most of whom, judging from requests already on hand, would like to avail themselves of this privilege. The opportunity will be open to Scouts in any part of the United States who meet the standards prescribed by the National Council and preference will be given to applications in the order of their receipt.

All camp reservations must be made through local Scout Councils and not directly with the National Council. Local Scout Executives have application blanks and will be able to provide further detailed information, including costs. All railroads are giving special round-trip rates for travel to the Fair.

Camping Skill Essential

To be eligible to participate a Scout must have been an active member of the Boy Scouts of America since May 1, 1938, must have had satisfactory camping experience and be able to take care of himself in the open. He own territory or neighboring Councils, provided Scouts and Scouters in each instance meet the prescribed general qualifications. This will not close the door to the consideration of applications for Patrols under adequate leadership if there are vacancies available.

A Scout's required uniform and personal equipment for the World's Fair camp will be practically the same as that he uses at his home Scout Camp and similar to the popular uniform worn by thousands of Scouts at the First National Jamboree at Washington, D. C., in 1937. Leaders will wear the same style uniform as Scouts, and Sea Scouts will wear the official Sea Scout uniform.

MRS. AMERICA BUYS A DRESS

AFTER hours and hours of planning her spring wardrobe, Mrs. America—call her Mrs. Graham—decides what she needs most is a new dress. Not just any dress, but something new, something different, something entirely her own creation. She expects, of course, to spend days looking for it, for hardly a shop in town will carry it.

Mrs. Graham, however (it happens every year), is in for a surprise: for in every shop she visits she will find exactly what she had in mind, and in her own size, too, and at the very price she feels she can pay.

No one knew Mrs. Graham wanted this particular dress—no one, that is, except thousands of manufacturers, designers, button-makers, saleswomen, buyers, stylists, cutters, advertising people, and all the others engaged in creating fashion. Through their combined efforts and knowledge, through their analysis of the market and study of the purchasing power of the people, they are able to anticipate Mrs. Graham's (and millions of other Mrs. Graham's) every desire.

In the April Good Housekeeping, Selma Robinson, noted writer, points out how Mrs. Graham subconsciously had been led to think in terms of the dress she thought was her own creation. For months the fashion world was busy preparing her for it and making up her mind, long before she started planning her spring wardrobe.

The myriad of details involved in the making of a dress, or any other piece of apparel, is somewhat bewildering. But, as Miss Robinson says, "once you assemble all the tiny, baffling pieces of the whole fashion picture, you find a degree of law and order that is amazing in a field so far-flung geographically, artistically, and economically. By trips to Paris and New York, by cabled advice and trans-Atlantic telephone calls, by telegraph and radio and wireless, by honest designing and nimble adaptation, a oneness is achieved that makes it possible for a whole nation to appear simultaneously in cactus green or stone blue, in collarless necks and full skirts, if it so chooses."

must be in good health and present a medical certification of physical fitness and successful smallpox vaccination.

He must also have had sufficient experience in voluntary civic service activities to assure his service creditably when called upon as a member of an organized service Patrol and Troop at the Fair. There will be many occasions on which he will be expected to participate as a member of a Guard of Honor at ceremonies and public events and for distinguished guests, in addition to possible service as an orderly, guide for aged and handicapped persons and assistant to non-commercial exhibitors and in the children's recreational center. With these responsibilities, it will be apparent that participation in the camp must be limited to well trained and experienced Scouts.

Preference will be given to chartered and provisional Troops and Ships organized by Local Councils, either from within their

Refrigeration To Have Vivid Fair Exhibit

Cleopatra's wine bearers, the Roman Emperor Caligula's barge, a "well-house" of the Pilgrims in Massachusetts, the Aurora Borealis, luminous against frozen Arctic regions, are just a few vivid pages out of the exciting story of refrigeration which will be told from start to finish in "The Magic Caves of Ice", the exhibit being staged at the New York World's Fair by Servel, Inc., manufacturers of gas, kerosene refrigerators.

In describing the exhibit, one of the most unusual of its kinds, L. C. Harp, manager of The Matador Hardware and Furniture, which handles Servel Electrolux in this vicinity said: "Those who see the 'Magic Caves of Ice' will gain a new perspective on the relationship of adequate food protection and the development of the means of obtaining it from primitive life to modern day living."

"The exhibit is to be staged in the gas industry's 'Court of Flame' building at the World's Fair. Immediately on entering the exhibit the visitor will find himself surrounded by the strange icicle-like formations of the Ice Age. Long-tapering cylindrical forms known as 'stalactites' hanging from the roof, meet 'stalagmites' another type of geological formation, rising in weird array from the cavern floor.

"Dim lighting, an opening in the cavern walls disclosing a midnight sky brilliant with stars, the Aurora Borealis throwing its mysterious glow over the frigid Arctic, will all add to the realism of the story. A giant Servel Electrolux refrigerator, about 12 feet high, will move constantly on a turntable in the center of the exhibit.

"Outstanding among the sights to be seen in the 'Cave' are ten dioramas which paint a graphic picture of the development of domestic refrigeration from its primitive stages to the present-day silent refrigerator.

"This series of dioramic displays begin with the cave-man and his 'kill', placed in deep recesses of his cave where cool air kept food from spoiling for a short time; then Cleopatra's wine bearers will be shown, where films of ice formed by the desert night winds were used to cool the beverages and other delicacies served by Egypt's glamorous queen; the Roman Emperor Caligula's barge, recently dug up by archaeologists from the bottom of an Italian Lake, with slaves bringing ice and snow from the far-off Apennines will be the next scene.

"Further dioramas show a 'well-house' of the Pilgrims in Massachusetts, indicating the partial protection of food in those days; the harvesting of ice in winter, illustrating 19th century refrigeration; and a dramatization of a famous Gibson drawing entitled 'The Gibson Girl and the Ice Man'. This will picture the girl's distaste of the 'messiness' of the old-fashioned ice box. "The all-gas kitchen of today, with its 1939 Servel Electrolux as an integral part of its furnishings; a farm kitchen, furnished with the kerosene-operated Servel Electrolux, are still other diorama subjects".

Financing Of Homes Makes High Record

Home financing activities during March established a new monthly high in FHA records for Texas, Wm. H. Clark, Jr., State Director, announced yesterday. Small home mortgages selected for appraisal during the month totaled $7,500,000, approximately 84% of which represents homes to be constructed. The previous high $5,864,000, was reported in August, last year.

The average amount of these mortgages are approximately $3,027, and the maximum interest rate is 5%, plus the insurance premium, not exceeding 1/2 of 1%; the term of the mortgages may run from twenty to twenty-five years.

Mortgages accepted for insurance. For instance commitments during March totaled $5,292,800, compared to $4,219,500 for February. Premium-paying mortgages recorded in March totaled $3,520,500, compared with $2,888,800 for February, and $796,000 for March last year. This brings the grand total of small homes, premium-paying mortgages for Texas up to $57,409,300.

The number of new homes started under FHA inspection during March also set a new monthly record exceeding the number at the peak of the building season last year, averaging more than 289 a week during the month.

"Mortgages selected for appraisal have been an exceedingly accurate barometer of residential activity during the past four years," said Mr. Clark. "The record breaking figures for March would appear to bear out predictions of various authorities of a 25 to 40 percent upturn in residential construction this year over 1938."

"It is gratifying to note that the large proportion of homes now being financed under the FHA plan are being bought by families of moderate incomes whose payments average less than $30 a month, including retirement of principal, interest, and mortgage insurance premium—the most liberal terms for home buyers and builders in our history."

Bungalow Home For King And Queen In Rockies

BRING their visit to Jasper National Park, Alberta, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies in Britain's King and Queen will be one of the bungalows at Jasper Park Lodge. The bungalow is a log construction, contains its own living room, big living room with fireplace and several bedrooms, each with its own bathroom. The bungalow sits on a point of land jutting out into Lac Beauport, one of the most colorful tarns in the Canadian Rockies and commands a view of Mount Edith Cavell which was named in memory of a British nurse who was executed by the Germans during the war. The photographs show the interior of the bungalow which is the Royal Residence in Jasper National Park, a corner of the room and Mount Edith Cavell is seen from the bungalow.

past 30 years we are more likely to have harder, dashing rains the last week in April than any other week in the year. We are dry—very dry—at the present time, and for the benefit of the visitors as well as ourselves we hope the rain-maker fills our traps and causes the syrup-pan terrace system to flow at full capacity. In fact, we would welcome a few washouts.

"Coffee will be kept brewing for the entire week, and visitors who bring their own doughnuts and ginger snaps will find the dunking fine from Monday morning, April 24, until Saturday night, April 29".

NYA CENTER OPENS AT WEST TEXAS

In announcing establishment of a full-time resident center for out-of-school youth on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon, Texas NYA officials expressed satisfaction this week with the progress being made in further developing this phase of NYA's work-experience program. The Canyon project is the eleventh full-time NYA resident center now operating in Texas.

Fifty boys from Texas Panhandle counties moved into a temporary dormitory and immediately began construction of permanent buildings to house the group. Plans have been worked out by WTSTC, co-sponsor of the project, and NYA officials, to construct the dormitories out of native rock taken from nearby work-experience program. The Canyon project is the eleventh full-time NYA resident center now operating in Texas.

Villain of Backwoods Tales

Since the National Wildlife Federation's annual stamp series is to include a complete gallery of familiar mammals, birds, trees and flowers, one of America's best known beasts of prey has a place in the 1939 sheets. The cougar, also known as puma, panther, mountain lion and catamount, has a terrifying reputation, largely because of its blood-chilling voice. But the cougar does not prey on human beings, although a deadly enemy of deer. Morgan Stinemetz painted this cougar portrait that appears among the 80 Wildlife Week stamp subjects.

Palo Duro Canyon.

Youths assigned to the Canyon resident center will be offered related training in fundamental shop practices and progressive farming. Dr. J. A. Hill, president has designated R. A. Terrill, Head of the Manual Arts Department, to supervise the training program. Olie T. Brown, a graduate of the college, is the NYA Superintendent.

Dickens, Guthrie Highway Being Topped Now

Topping is under way on Highway 24 from Dickens to the King County line, 18.2 miles, and will be completed within the next few days. Base work is already finished, and the oil base has been put down.

The twelve mile stretch from Guthrie to the county line is almost topped, so that highway traffic will be open soon. Completion of this 30 miles will supply an important link in Dickens' connection with other Texas points.

The State Highway Department Division Office here has recently employed five full-time workers from the ranks of youths working on NYA highway improvement and beautification projects.

Spur Station Plans Field Week Soon

The Spur Experiment Station, center of agricultural research in this section, and an important part of the state farm program, will hold open house for interested visitors from April 24 to 29, it was announced this week.

A newsy, informal discussion of some of the station's work is given below:

"Group visitors to the Spur Station have increased materially in recent years, and many are of the opinion that they have a much better opportunity to study the experimental work in small groups than they have at the larger field days. This year we are experimenting with a field week instead of the regular field day. There will be no set hours for arrival and no set speeches. Every effort will be made to discuss the problems of most interest to the visitor. In addition to the men working at the station, representatives of the School of Agriculture at Texas Tech and specialists from the Soil Conservation Service and various branches of A. and M. College will be on hand to participate in the group discussions.

Feeding Test

"Four groups of cattle are now finishing a 200-day feeding experiment in which silage has been used. Other cattle fed heavy grain ration have just been marketed, and several groups of smaller animals are being headed for the September market.

"Considerable progress has been made in pasture studies during the past year, so that even those who visit the station regularly each year will find new things of interest pertaining to grass and grass production.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

LIFE IS OUR OPPORTUNITY

There is hardly a moment in the day when anyone, in any situation, cannot find an opportunity to benefit himself by benefitting others in some way or other.

"OPPORTUNITY"

In an old city by the storied shores Where the bright summit of Olympus soars, A cryptic statue mounted towards the light— Heel-winged, tip-toed, and poised for instant flight.

"O statue, tell your name," a traveler cried, And solemnly the marble lips replied: "Men call me Opportunity: I lift My winged feet from the earth to show how swift My flight, how short my stay— How Fate is ever waiting on the way."

SENIOR PLAY CAST IS CHOSEN

The cast for "Mama's Baby Boy," a three-act comedy to be presented by the senior class, was chosen last week. It is as follows: Mrs. Shephard McLean, (a young widow) Betty Joe Simpson; Shephard McLean, (her young son) Harold Faulkner; Luther Long, (a widower) Houston Schweitzer;

phy, and Norman M. Pitts; and backs: Kenneth Simpson, Leroy Nelson, John Allsup, Mutt Berryman, James Edmondson, James R. Neblett, and Buster Mize. These boys will be joined next fall by two lettermen, Ervin Clower, guard, who injured a leg during the winter and will be unable to take part in spring training. E. A. Day also will not be able to take part in spring work out, because of a broken arm; but both boys will be back ready for heavy duty next fall.

The boys have been engaged in light practice all this week. They are getting in shape first before they begin their heavy practice. The boys have looked very good in their workouts, and it looks as if we are going to see a lot from these boys next year. Most of the boys are large and husky, and all but a few freshmen have had from one to three years of experience. The squad on an average will have more experience than usual.

Institute Of Student Opinion Students Pick Favorite World's Fair

Since Spring is here and school is almost out, everyone is thinking about his summer vacation. Because of the two World Fairs this year, we asked several students which one they had rather attend. Jimmie Lee Guthrie and Dorothy Acker had rather go to New York City because they have never travelled in the East. Delora Markham had rather attend the Western Fair because of the climate, but Helen Hill would enjoy going to San Francisco because it is not so crowded. When we interviewed the boys, we found that two-thirds of the ones asked wanted to go to New York.

McElton Scaggs and Oliver Spray had rather attend the Eastern Fair because New York City is the largest city in the world. McElton has always had a desire to see the Atlantic Ocean. Mutt Berryman and Jack Martin would enjoy the New York Fair because they would see customs different from the South and they have never traveled in the East. Those preferring to attend the San Francisco Fair are James Edmondson and Leroy Nelson. Leroy said it would be a warmer climate, but James' reason was that the West appealed to him more than the East.

PERSONALITY

Did you ever hear the expression "She has no personality"? It is one that causes a smile. Every person has personality. Your personality is you—whatever you are—vivacious, alert, strong, engaging, stolid, dead, heavy, boorish, pleasing. But you may not like your personality and, worse than that, others may not like it. Then all you have to do is to choose the personality you admire and be like that. At the moment of introduction, appearance is the most important feature of your personality. If you are slovenly or unkempt, you do not register in a favorable way. The keynote then is be well groomed. It is unfortunate that in one's daily contacts, appearance carries such great weight. The person observing you may have no opportunity to speak to you. He may never know whether your mind is a blank or a mint of knowledge, but he does know and he never forgets that you were (if you were) pleasing to the eye. If your voice is loud, harsh, scrappy, nasal, or coarse, it is indicative of a lack of refinement. Then your personality will suffer. All you have to do is to poke around mentally in your head until you find the tone which to you sounds most pleasing. Speak for your close friend; read to her; have a frank discussion about your voice; and then set about to improve it. Listen to your voice as you speak and keep it subject to your control. A pleasant voice can and should be cultivated. It enters largely into the pleasing personality. Eliminate profane words from your vocabulary. They do not add charm to your personality. Though your friends may laugh, they do not admire your choice of words. Have you ever noticed that the persons whose English is the poorest is the one who speaks for the benefit of all those around? Do not make yourself the laughing stock of persons around you. If your English is correct, speak quietly; and if it isn't correct, you'd better make it so. (Continued next week)

Por la Escuela

Mr. Tunnell together with seventeen seniors enjoyed a trip to Silver Falls last Monday. This was the occasion of the annual "Senior Day." Most of the time was spent in skating and taking pictures of the group.

The first injury in this season's football workouts was received by Billie Tunnell last Friday in the form of a broken collar-bone. Besides being painful, the injury will keep him from practice during the remainder of the spring training season.

The six girls who are considered the best athletes in M. H. S. were chosen on Tuesday. Those selected are Lillie Seal, Elwanda Willingham, Eugenia Tilson, Wandean Garrison, Mary Ellen Barton, and Willena Willingham. These girls and Mr. Gray will spend Saturday at Patton Springs where each school in the district is sending its best girl athletes for a picnic.

SOPH PARADE

The Sophomores were very glad to have a new pupil, Helen Hill from Whiteflat, to enroll Monday, April 10. Helen was with us our sixth year in grade school. We were very happy to have her back. We hope she enjoys going to this school.

The sophomores presented a program Friday afternoon, opening with Mr. Tunnell leading the songs, "The More We Get Together" and "Pack Up Your Troubles." Then the sophomore quartet composed of Juanita Mize, Edna Jackson, Joyce Irby, and Frances Carpenter sang "Little Sir Echo" and "Umbrella Man." Lela Carpenter accompanied them on the piano. Frances Carpenter gave the reading, "Aunt Hannah Hayseed." A one act play, "Back to School," was presented. The play cast was as follows:

Servant, Ietta Bird; Connie, Frances Carpenter; Blanch, Juanita Mize; Flora (Tadpole) Joyce Irby; Daisy, Frances Stearns; Miss Graham, Ruth Rushing; Edna, Mary Ellen Barton. Eugenia Tilson gave the reading, "An Examination in History." This splendid program was under the direction of Frances Stearns and Hugh C. Gray. Where there's a will, there are relatives.

This Week's Song Hit "Good For Nothin'"

In this great big world we live in some folks win fortune or fame. Tho' I have no fame or fortune, I'll be happy just the same.

Everybody calls me good for nothin' because I cannot tell the distance to a star. But I can tell the world how wonderful you are. I'm good for nothin' but love.

Night and day they call me good for nothin' because I cannot name a single bird that flies. But I could write a book about your lovely eyes. I'm good for nothin' but love.

Fish in the sea are a mystery to me—and so is the moon and the tide. Without all these things my heart laughs and sings whenever you're by my side.

I guess I'll always be a good for nothin', a good for nothing can be good for somethin' too. Because I heard you whisper, "Darling, I love you." I'm good for nothin' but love. By Eddie De Lang

The Poet's Corner "Appreciation"

Have you ever been tempted to wish for the stars? Or maybe a sight-seeing trip to Mars? Or even a dream more mythical still, A smile from the one who is sure you don't live?

Or maybe a dress that is just the right hue? The kind of blue that's made only for you; Better still, a hanky to match your old wine, To wear when at Tony's your beau wants to dine?

Me? Oh, yes, I've wished the same things, And longed for objects I could never obtain;

And yet I have more than I could buy, The love of two people for who would die! By Wandell Berryman

To Whom It May Concern

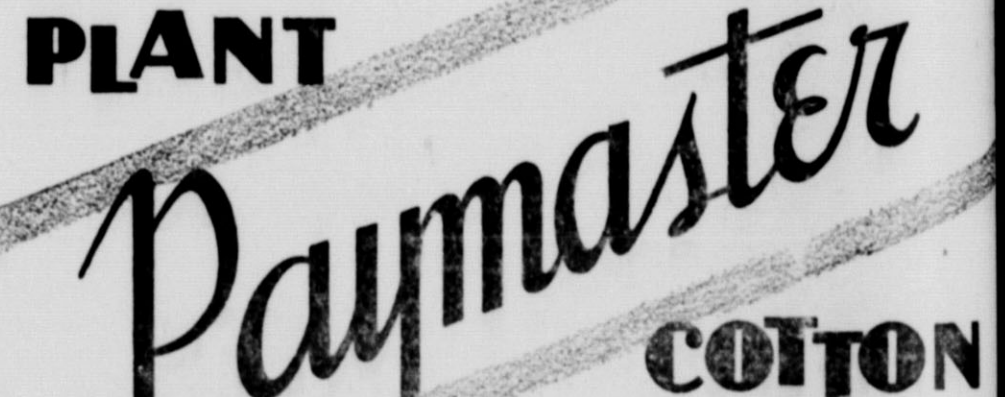

Hardly a day passes that cannot find something to do will help others. Boy Scouts do their good deeds every day why shouldn't we? Does a boy need help with his work? anyone help? Help even though you don't know and you have earned a grade. Although some people do not help, there are plenty of those that would be much happier they had a helping hand than they are in trouble.

A kind deed is always remembered; and it should be, for deeds should not be thought as a way of raising one's own opinion. Kind deeds never should be done with idea that the favor will be turned. This would not be a deed. It would only be a loan expected to be paid back. If we could remember the that we needed a helping hand, we might be more eager to help others. A sympathetic listener even helps sometimes we want to tell our troubles remember how kind deeds appreciated and learn to appreciate them as well.

Thoughts To Think About

A keen sense of humor has led many a cutting remark. When we are unkind to ourselves a great injury. You are indeed rich if you enjoy the myriad beauties of day and night. Unless your worth increases with your wealth, you are poorer. It is your go rather than comeback that determines progress. There are a lot of hitchhikers on the Road to Ruin. It is better to be criticized than to criticize. H. M. Stans

The Only Cotton Being Bred on the Plains that is Ginned on a Strictly One Variety Gin

10 Quick Facts About PAYMASTER Cotton

- 1. Early maturing—Exceptionally heavy poundage on first picking. The Plains country has the shortest growing season in the cotton belt—an annual average of only 198 frost-free days.
2. Long staple—Between 15-16 inch to inch and better depending on moisture and soil fertility.
3. Exceptional lint turnout—38.3 per cent on the first 100 bales picked in 1938 and 30.6 per cent on "snaps" on first 100 bales harvested in 1938—a high figure for staple cotton.
4. Fiber—A hard fiber of good spinning qualities.
5. Big boll—Average 50 to 60 per pound and over 90 per cent are five-lock.
6. Drouth-resistant—A deep rooting hearty plant that stands up well under adverse growing conditions.
7. Heavy yield—A high pounds-per-acre return that spells extra dollars per field per season.
8. A strong open stalk of medium height—with light foliage which allows sunlight to hasten maturity on lower branches.
9. Priced at moderate cost.
10. A home product for home need—At last, the South Plains has a proven strain of cotton especially bred to fit its particular needs.

PICTURES IN THE HOME

Active "home" pictures, such as this, are easy to take, either in the daytime or at night with photo bulbs.

PICTURES of the rooms of your home are easy to make, and add to the snapshot collection. They also have memory value, in the event furnishings are changed or the room is remodeled.

A camera is suitable for these pictures. If it can be set for a time in the daytime, or at night, before taking a picture by day, have the room illuminated as brightly as possible. Illumination may be balanced, in some cases, by adding shades of windows that will be out of range of the camera. Photos of the amateur "flood" type are quite helpful in "evening up" the illumination. These bulbs are also suitable for taking night pictures of rooms.

With the illumination adjusted, set the camera on a firm support, set for "time." Point it to the part of the room to be pictured, set the lens for a small opening such as f.16, and make the exposure.

The exposure time varies with the brightness of the room. With a box camera, or using lens opening f.16 on cameras so marked, exposure can be as short as 4 seconds on a bright day when the room has white walls and more than one window. On dark walls and only one window, exposure on a sunny day would be about 40 seconds. On a day of hazy light, have the shutter open twice as long, and on a very dull day, ten times as long.

These figures will serve as a guide, but for your first picture you should make several "test" shots, with increased exposure each time. Three shots, one with 10-second timing, one with 30 seconds, and one with about 2 minutes, will do. Have a print made from each negative, and you can get a good idea of the timing that will be best for other "interior" pictures.

Photo bulbs, when needed to obtain an even balance of lighting in a room, can be used in bridge lamps with shades tipped up and moved about to direct light wherever necessary. Of course, such lights used for general illumination should not be placed where they will show in the daytime pictures.

If windows are included in the picture, try this: keep the shades down for seven-eighths of the exposure. Then close the camera shutter, being careful not to move the camera; raise the shades, and open the camera shutter for the remaining exposure time. This trick keeps the windows from recording too brightly on the film.

In arranging a room for a picture, it is wise to move any furniture that is quite near the camera, leaving an "open" foreground. This makes the room seem more spacious. The picture should show more floor than ceiling, to avoid a top-heavy appearance.

Winter months are a splendid time to picture the rooms of your home. Take these pictures now, and you will find added value in them in later years.

Cotton Is Used For Tire Cord

Announcement that license has been issued to an English cotton manufacturer to produce patented Bibb Heat Resistant Cotton Cord for consumption in the British Isles marks a milestone in the history of cotton over the world for use throughout the automobile and truck industry.

The information given out by D. Anderson, President of the Manufacturing Company, at an annual banquet for the salesmen in Macon, Georgia, is of vital interest to cotton farmers and is concerned with the welfare of the fleecy staple.

Human interests have been disturbed recently by reports that the use of rayon would heavily into the 300,000,000 market previously supplied by cotton for use in the manufacture of tires. The figure represents roughly 10% of domestic production.

Latex Rubber

A new method of processing has been given extensive service tests over a period of more than three years. Reports of these tests by prominent tire manufacturers are that the cord utilized any rubber tread tire makers have been able to produce.

The new process is described as not depending entirely upon twist to give strength to cord, as has been the case since the beginning of time, but bounds together the cotton fibers by first softening the waxes inherent in all cotton fiber and finishing the cord while these waxes are soft, meanwhile compressing them and permitting them to harden, resulting in a cord of revolutionary characteristics.

It is claimed that the lower cost and better performance will protect cotton from the possibility which previously existed that rayon might take away the important tire cord market.

Education In Conservation Is Committee Aim

National Wildlife Federation Survey Headed by Dr. Henry B. Ward, Famous Zoologist

WASHINGTON, D. C.—That boys and girls should not only be able to tell a buttercup from a violet, but should have some knowledge of the basic relationships of land and water resources to plant and animal life is the purpose of an ambitious educational program launched by the National Wildlife Federation.

Appointed by Jay N. Darling, president of the Federation, as chairman of a committee on conservation education, is Dr. Henry B. Ward, of the University of Illinois, recently described by LIFE magazine as "most famous U. S. zoologist." Dr. Ward is prominent in the American Association for the Advancement of Science, of which he was for some years executive secretary. With Dr. Ward on this committee are Dr. Paul B. Sears, of Oberlin College, noted authority on soil-economics and author of "Deserts on the March" and "This is Our Land," C. J. Ballam, president of the Wisconsin Wildlife Federation, is the third member.

In its preliminary report, prepared for the annual meeting of the National Wildlife Federation, held in conjunction with the Fourth North American Wildlife Conference in Detroit, Feb. 13 to 17, this committee outlines the needs for adequate text and reference books.

"The need for informative books in this field has been expressed by a number of publishers," said Mr. Darling. "Leading educators are striving to make understandable the bond between the conservation of sustaining resources and the destiny of mankind. In this endeavor the National Wildlife Federation hopes to be of substantial aid."

eleventh place with his pig.

George W. Barnes, who judged the beef calves at the Plainview show, met with a group of Motley County feeders at Matador Saturday. He was shown the 1130 lb. steer of Charles Russell in the feed pen and commented, "There's a fine piece of beef."

All of the fat animals of the Plainview Show will be shipped to Kansas City by special train. They will be sold at auction at the stockyards. Charles Russell plans to make the trip to the Missouri market to see his prize animal sold. He will travel on a special bus along with many of the other young exhibitors.

TYPHOID IS MENACE IN RURAL AREAS

"The control of typhoid fever in the United States represents an outstanding achievement in preventive medicine. In 1900 the national death rate from this disease was 31.3 per 100,000 population. Today the ratio is 2.1 nationally, but 6.5 in Texas. This marked decrease in typhoid's killing power is based on knowledge of its cause, how it is spread, and the application of scientific control measures," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Offi-

SPOTS AND SPORTS OF INFINITE VARIETY

ERE long the lush of spring will be upon us and winter's children will begin their annual study of road maps and vacation booklets, eager to be off and away at the first crack of summer.

Sea or shore, mountain or plain, America has everything for the vacationist: the best hotels, the finest highways, the cleanest beaches, the longest hiking trails, the most elaborate system of parks and playgrounds. Only America could supply an endless variety of pleasure lands; only America would organize two World's Fairs for the same season.

Larry Nixon, author of last year's hit travel book, "Vagabond Voyaging," unfolds in the April Cosmopolitan a preview of summer spots and sports. Across the country from coast to coast he takes his travel-minded readers, high-lighting each state that has some stellar attraction to offer. Every section is inviting. Nixon finds that, in comparing one section with another, all the standard vacation activities can be found, no matter where you turn, where you decide to head, or what your favorite sport might be.

America's land of superlatives, certainly in vacation possibilities—and from every standpoint the country gives more for the vacation dollar.

ill. If it were possible to prevent people from becoming infected with germs coming from these sources, typhoid would cease to be a problem.

Rural Dangers

"In cities and towns, thanks to safe water and milk supplies, adequate sewage facilities, and environmental sanitation, typhoid has almost been eliminated. Unfortunately, sanitary and environmental protection on a community basis cannot be offered to those living in rural areas. While control methods are the same for both city and country, in rural districts it is essential that not only public health officials but the householder become personally interested in them if they are to be effective," Dr. Cox warned.

If every rural dweller in Texas realized his personal obligation in the anti-typhoid campaign and conscientiously took the necessary precautions, the typhoid rate in Texas eventually would come close to the vanishing point. It is an attainable objective. Personal cooperation in eliminating typhoid hazards and wide-spread typhoid immunizations are the key."

How the plus of OIL-PLATING brings you more than an oil-change

YOU KNOW right off that the fresh oil needed in your crankcase today, isn't to lubricate the crankcase. Either your oil is in the bearings and up to the cylinder head every turn of your engine, or your lubrication isn't 100%.

Now what's the chance for any of the general run of oils to stay up while you've parked the car, for instance? Just about as much chance as there is for a geyser to stay up all by itself! Then every time you start, don't pistons get up to the top before oil gets up from the crankcase? You kill that risk by changing now to OIL-PLATING.

The "magnetic action" of Conoco Germ Processed oil—patented—makes OIL-PLATING stay on inner engine surfaces throughout all your stops, starts and runs this Summer. Your Germ Processed oil keeps a steady hold on the "Full" mark, too, as you'll see—by changing today to Your Mileage Merchant. Continental Oil Company investigators working out of ranger headquarters, an ballistics in the scientific crime detection laboratory were dropped from the senate report on recommended budgets. All file clerks in the rapidly growing bureau of identification were not provided for, Richardson said.

Richardson said the senate body's report was a "great shock" to the public safety commission and pointed to the national safety record established last year in Texas in traffic death reductions and decreases in criminal activities as "recommendation enough as to the need of a unified state police force."

"The driver's license law—vague as it was—added to the forces that brought a traffic fatality reduction of over 20 percent last year, but the lack of appropriations for continuing this important work after September 1 would deprive the state of an annual income of $450,000 from chauffeur fees alone as well as forestall attempts to reissue driver's licenses that would bring a possible income of a million dollars," he continued.

County officials interpreted the communications as favorable in event more PWA funds are provided, which is declared very probable at present. Congress was considering the PWA funds yesterday according to the daily press but no action was reported.

Judge Cammack said that he was still hopeful that the grant would be made, however, it was his opinion that it might be some time in the summer before the money would be made available. He said that he and the Commissioners' Court would continue to seek action until it was granted or until all possibilities had been exhausted.

HARRIS-NELSON NUPTIALS READ

Marriage rites were read at Spur, Texas, Saturday evening, April 15, by Rev. J. H. Miles, pastor of the First Christian Church of that place, uniting John Harris and Miss Bermdina Nelson, both of Matador.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Harris were reared here and attended the Matador schools. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Nelson of this place, graduated from high school in the class of 1938. Mr. Harris is the son of Lud Harris also of Matador, and operates the Texaco Service Station here. They will continue to make this their home.

The many friends of the popular young couple join in wishing for them much happiness.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS BY BOYCE HOUSE

Texas Christian University, the comparatively small school which won world-wide fame with its national championship football team last season, is facing a fight, if not for existence, at least against being seriously crippled. The facts as summarized by friends of the Fort Worth institution (of which all Texas is proud) are:

Celebrated for its high educational standing T.C.U. is the owner of over 100,000 acres in the Panhandle, in the world's greatest gas field. Its wells are in the sweet gas area, which is allowed to produce only for lighting and heating, and so these wells are being drained by those in the sour gas area where gas is used to lift oil and also to make carbon black. The sour gas zone, though only half as large as the sweet gas district, is producing 25 percent more gas.

Now it is proposed, through a bill introduced in the legislature, to cut down the production of the T. C. U. wells though they are making only half what they would be permitted to produce if their market was larger. Yet they are to be forced to share their market with other wells in the sweet gas district although those other wells already have produced more gas than the T. C. U. wells; and, as the pressure has been lowered in the other wells, gas would drain from under the T. C. U. property. Thus, the small university would be deprived of a large part of its gas—yet the purpose of the bill is described as being to prevent drainage!

It is interesting to learn that sponsors of the measure are quoted as not urging state-wide application of the principle of the bill but want it applied only to the field in which the T. C. U. wells are located. No legislator would have the temerity to introduce a measure to reduce by one-third the oil and gas revenues of the powerful State University and to drain its holdings for the benefit of others. Yet these lands are the endowment of T. C. U. just as vast West Texas oil and gas lands are the far richer endowment of the University of Texas, and, if it had not been for the revenue from its gas wells, T. C. U. probably would have had to close its doors during the worst of the depression.

Five different times, similar attempts have been made against T. C. U. and, five times, T. C. U. has won in the courts. And now a sixth effort is being made in the face of a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States holding such a law unconstitutional. Justice Brandeis declared that it was an attempt to take from the pipe-line owner the money lost through curtailed use of properties developed at large expense and to take from the land-owner the money lost because of drainage of the gas which T. C. U. would be forbidden to produce. The great liberal jurist summed it up in these ringing words: "Our law reports present no more glaring instance of the taking of one man's property and giving it to another."

The board of Texas Christian University is appealing to all former students and to all members of the Christian Church to protest to their lawmakers. Friends of the courageous, even though small, university believe in fair play and are confident that T. C. U. will wage as great and as victorious a fight as its Horned Frogs did on the gridiron last fall.

Entry in our "oldest joke" contest: A judge asked the defendant, "Guilty or not guilty?" To which the defendant replied, "Ain't that what we've got the jury for?"

Then there was the man who was tried for horse-stealing. After his lawyer had made an eloquent speech and the defendant had been acquitted, he asked, "Does that mean I get to keep the horse?"

Radio-man Elliott Roosevelt recently volunteered to act as a mediator between the newspapers of Texas and the Governor. Now Mr. Roosevelt himself is engaged in a dispute with Governor O'Daniel as to whether the Roosevelt network has threatened to put O'Daniel off the air. I am sure, in view of his own gratuitous and officious offer to the press of Texas, Radio-man Roosevelt will welcome my offer, as a newspaperman, to serve a peace-maker between him and the Governor.

They that can give up Essential Liberty to obtain a little temporary Safety deserve neither Liberty nor Safety.—Benjamin Franklin.

RETURN HERE TO LIVE

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Clements and family, former Matador residents, returned here Saturday to again occupy their home, after residing at Plainview for the past six months. Mr. Clements is joint owner of a barber shop at Roaring Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gray, who have been living in the Clements home, have moved into their new home east of here, which has just been completed.

AT PRESS MEETING

Misses Kara Hunsucker and Mary Ola Tipton accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ben Meador to Amarillo Thursday evening, where they attended a convention of the Panhandle Press Association during Friday and Saturday.

Young People Holds Service

The local young people of Church of Christ presented their other monthly service last night, April 16. They had a very interesting program which was composed of singing by the Class's quartet and talks by the young men.

The class was well pleased with the attendance which was proved. They are now ready to go to Northfield to attend a program which will be held second Sunday in next month.

Miss Amy Glenn, together with her sister, Mrs. J. L. Wagner, and son Glenn Lewis, are in business in Lubbock Saturday.

Refrigeration To Have Vivid Fair Exhibit

Cleopatra's wine bearers, the Roman Emperor Caligula's barge, a "well-house" of the Pilgrims in Massachusetts, the Aurora Borealis, luminous against frozen Arctic regions, are just a few vivid pages out of the exciting story of refrigeration which will be told from start to finish in "The Magic Caves of Ice," the exhibit being staged at the New York World's Fair by Servel, Inc., manufacturers of gas, kerosene refrigerators.

In describing the exhibit, one of the most unusual of its kinds, L. C. Harp, manager of The Matador Hardware and Furniture, which handles Servel Electrolux in this vicinity said: "Those who see the 'Magic Caves of Ice' will gain a new perspective on the relationship of adequate food protection and the development of the means of obtaining it from primitive life to modern day living.

Financing Of Homes Makes High Record

Home financing activities during March established a new monthly high in FHA records for Texas. Wm. H. Clark, Jr., State Director, announced yesterday. Small home mortgages selected for appraisal during the month totaled $7,500,000, approximately 84% of which represents homes to be constructed.

The average amount of these mortgages are approximately $3,027, and the maximum interest rate is 5%, plus the insurance premium, not exceeding 1/2 of 1%; the term of the mortgages may run from twenty to twenty-five years.

Mortgages accepted for insurance. For instance commitments during March totaled $5,292,800, compared to $4,219,500 for February. Premium-paying mortgages recorded in March totaled $3,520,500, compared with $2,888,800 for February, and $796,000 for March last year.

home Tuesday night, which was enjoyed by a number of friends. The G. W. Redding children have been ill with the measles during the past week. Orville Kingery is still on the sick list this week. Miss Larvell Watson is able to be in school again this week.

Northfield News

Mrs. C. B. Ashford and daughter, Barbara Jean, and Mrs. A. E. Duncan and son Cecil, of Points Blanks, and Mrs. Herman Ashford of Mineral Wells, are visiting friends and relatives here this week. Mrs. Roy Shannon entertained the young folks of the community with a party Saturday night.

The teachers accompanied all the children who participated in the literary and track meet events, together with their parents, to Languish Falls, Friday for a picnic. A number of kodaks were taken on the trip for the purpose of snapshots. Bro. King of Tell, preached at the Church of Christ Sunday.

Mrs. Robert Cook, who has been ill, is reported much better. Vincent Thomas spent Saturday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Canada, and Woodrow Kincannon, were among Northfield citizens who transacted business in Childress Saturday.

LIFE IS OUR OPPORTUNITY

There is hardly a moment in the day when anyone, in any situation, cannot find an opportunity to benefit himself by benefitting others in some way or other.

Football Boys Start Spring Training

Thirty big, husky boys reported to Coach Martin for suits Monday to begin spring football training. Of the thirty boys that reported, fourteen are lettermen, and several others are squadmen from last year's squad or the squad the year before.

SENIOR PLAY CAST IS CHOSEN

The cast for "Mama's Baby Boy," a three-act comedy to be presented by the senior class, was chosen last week. It is as follows: Mrs. Shepherd McLean, (a young widow) Betty Joe Simpson; Shepherd McLean, (her young son) Harold Faulkner; Luther Long, (a widower) Houston Schweitzer;

phy, and Norman M. Pitts; and backs: Kenneth Simpson, Leroy Nelson, John Allsup, Mutt Berryman, James Edmondson, James R. Neblett, and Buster Mize. These boys will be joined next fall by two lettermen, Ervin Clower, guard, who injured a leg during the winter and will be unable to take part in spring training. E. A. Day also will not be able to take part in spring work out, because of a broken arm; but both boys will be back ready for heavy duty next fall.

The boys have been engaged in light practice all this week. They are getting in shape first before they begin their heavy practice. The boys have looked very good in their workouts, and it looks as if we are going to see a lot from these boys next year. Most of the boys are large and husky, and all but a few freshmen have had from one to three years of experience. The squad on an average will have more experience than usual.

Institute Of Student Opinion Students Pick Favorite World's Fair

Since Spring is here and school is almost out, everyone is thinking about big summer vacation. Because of the two World Fairs this year, we asked several students which one they had rather attend.

McElton Scaggs and Oliver Spray had rather attend the Eastern Fair because New York City is the largest city in the world. McElton has always had a desire to see the Atlantic Ocean.

This Week's Song Hit "Good For Nothin"

In this great big world we live in some folks win fortune or fame. Tho' I have no fame or fortune, I'll be happy just the same.

Everybody calls me good for nothin' because I cannot tell the distance to a star. But I can tell the world how wonderful you are, I'm good for nothin' but love.

Night and day they call me good for nothin' because I cannot name a single bird that flies. But I could write a book about your lovely eyes, I'm good for nothin' but love.

Fish in the sea are a mystery to me—and so is the moon and the tide. Without all these things my heart laughs and sings whenever you're by my side.

I guess I'll always be a good for nothin', a good for nothin' can be good for somethin' too. Because I heard you whisper, "Darling, I love you." I'm good for nothin' but love.

By Eddie De Lang

The Poet's Corner "Appreciation"

Have you ever been tempted to wish for the stars? Or maybe a sight-seeing trip to Mars? Or even a dream more mythical still, A smile from the one who is sure you don't live?

Or maybe a dress that is just the right hue? The kind of blue that's made only for you; Better still, a hanky to match your old wine. To wear when at Tony's your beau wants to dine?

Me? Oh, yes, I've wished the same things, And longed for objects I could never obtain;

And yet I have more than could buy, The love of two people for who would die? By Wandell Berry

To Whom It May Concern

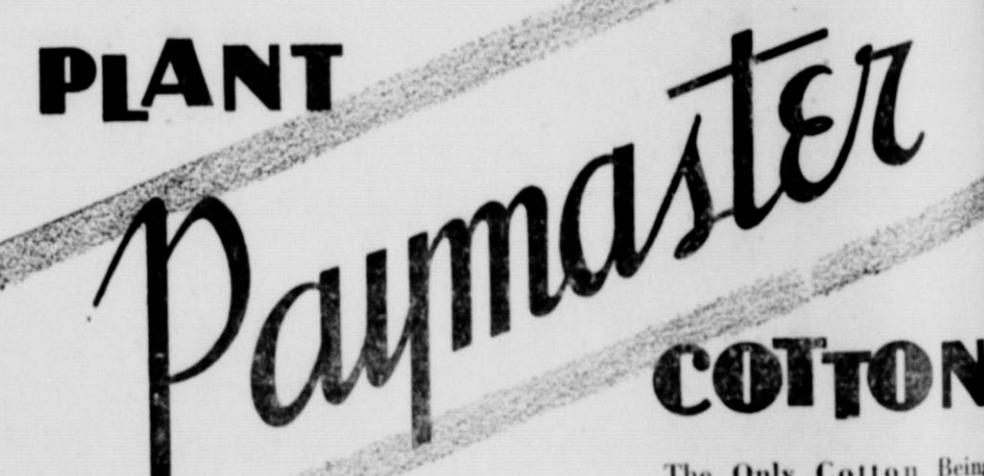

Hardly a day passes that cannot find something to do will help others. Boy Scouts, their good deeds every day why shouldn't we? Does a need help with his work? anyone need help? Help even though you don't know it and you have earned a bit. Although some people do not help, there are plenty of them that would be much happier they had a helping hand when they are in trouble.

A kind deed is always needed, and it should be, but deeds should not be thought as a way of raising one's self another's opinion. Kind never should be done with idea that the favor will be turned. This would not be a deed. It would only be a loan expected to be paid back. If we could remember that we needed a helping hand we might be more eager to help others. A sympathetic listener even helps someone we want to tell our troubles, remember how kind deeds appreciated and learn to appreciate them as well.

Thoughts To Think About

A keen sense of humor has led many a cutting remark. When we are unjust to ourselves we do ourselves a great injury. You are indeed rich if you enjoy the myriad beauties of day and night. Unless your worth increases with your wealth, you are poorer. It is your go rather than comeback that determines progress. There are a lot of hitches on the Road to Ruin. It is better to be criticized to criticize. H. M. Stans

The Only Cotton Being Bred on the Plains that is Ginned on a Strictly One Variety Gin

10 Quick Facts About PAYMASTER Cotton

- 1. Early maturing—Exceptionally heavy poundage on first picking. The Plains country has the shortest growing season in the cotton belt—an annual average of only 198 frost-free days.
2. Long staple—Between 15-16 inch to inch and better depending on moisture and soil fertility.
3. Exceptional lint turnout—38.3 per cent on the first 100 bales picked in 1938 and 30.6 per cent on "snaps" on first 100 bales harvested in 1938—a high figure for staple cotton.
4. Fiber—A hard fiber of good spinning qualities.
5. Big boll—Average 50 to 60 per pound and over 90 per cent are five-lock.
6. Drouth-resistant—A deep rooting hearty plant that stands up well under adverse growing conditions.
7. Heavy yield—A high pounds-per-acre return that spells extra dollars per field per season.
8. A strong open stalk of medium height—with light foliage which allows sunlight to hasten maturity on lower branches.
9. Priced at moderate cost.
10. A home product for home need—At last, the South Plains has a proven strain of cotton especially bred to fit its particular needs.
