Thanksgiving Union Service Is Arranged Churches Unite In Annual Program For Day Of Thanks

Arrangements have been completed for annual community Thanksgiving services to be held Wednesday evening, November 23, at the Baptist Church, and rehearsals for one of the most interesting programs ever to be presented on this occasion, are well underway, with Paul Eubank as program director.

The community Thanksgiving program will embrace choir singing and prayers of thanks for the simple blessings of a free, democratic country. Emphasis will be placed on the blessings of friendship, service to fellow-man and the temperance that seeks to improve the lives and ideals of the great masses which constitute the strength of the nation.

Committees from the Baptist and Methodist churches met Sunday afternoon and completed the program outline. Those serving on this committee were Mrs. J. L. Woodruff, W. R. Cammack, Dee Cates, Fay Jacobs, Paul Eubank, Mrs. H. H. Schweitzer and J. R. Whitworth. A decoration committee was appointed, comprised of Mesdames Farris Fish, Elmer Stearns, J. C. Russell and H. H. Schweitzer.

A music committee composed of Dee Cates and J. R. Whitworth, with Miss Mable Jameson in charge of orchestra, led a joint choir rehearsal of the churches of the town, Wednesday evening at the Methodist church, following prayer meeting, in further preparation for the Thanksgiving service.

BETTER COTTON IS OBJECT OF MEETING HERE

Great strides have been made by Motley County farmers during the past two years in the improvement of cotton quality. Cotton of the better grades and staples is bringing greater premiums to the grower this year than for several seasons past. Present indications point to another large increase in plantings of the longer staple varieties for next year's crop.

This encouraging situation justifies a definite move toward one variety communities with their great advantages in the opinion of county agent Frank A. Buckley. A county wide meeting of all who are interested in the better cotton movement has been called by the county agent for Friday morning, November 18, at ten o'clock at the court-house. Two outstanding authorities on the subject will be present to address the meeting and take part in the discussion. E. A. Miller, agronomist, and F. E. Lichte, cotton gin specialist, of the A. & M. College Extension Service, are the visitors who will bring to this county the advantage of their long experience in directing a statewide movement for improvement of cotton quality.

All interested farmers and ginners will be present, and it is suggested that business men leave their place of business long enough to hear these worthy speakers, and lend their moral support to a cause which is vital to all citizens of this community.

Room Built For Cotton Classing

Work has been completed on an addition room to the office of the West Texas Gin here, to be used exclusively by a government cotton classer, according to Joe M. Gaines, manager of the gin.

Mr. Gaines said that a special room and equipment was needed to provide the proper conditions for grading cotton.

The classing room, will be of service to customers of the gin and also to the government classer, which will be used exclusively for the purpose for which it was built, Mr. Gaines said.

MAKES ADDRESS

County Judge, W. R. Cammack, above, who made an address before the Matador Lions Club, Tuesday, with regard to the possibility of securing a WPA project to pave some of the streets in Matador. Judge Cammack, who is recognized as an authority on WPA projects, expressed an opinion that due to the need of finding employment for men listed on the WPA rolls, the project might be authorized.

Lions Favor WPA Paving City Streets Committee To Work With Council For Future Survey

Members of the Matador Lions Club at the regular luncheon-meeting held in the basement of the Baptist Church, Tuesday, indicated that the organization would favor complete investigation into the possibilities of securing a WPA street paving contract for Matador. It is estimated that much of the interest is motivated by the fact that of the 125 men registered for WPA work in Motley county, most of them reside in Matador. The need for paving, especially in the business district, has frequently been pointed out by members.

Lion W. R. Cammack was called upon to make an address regarding the possibilities of the city securing a WPA project, since he is more familiar with the procedure than any one in the county.

Estimate, Would Cost $40

Judge Cammack estimated that it would probably cost between $30 and $50 to secure an engineer's estimate on a project and that in case he recommended the application be made, it would require from four to ten weeks time to secure action. Judge Cammack explained that it would be necessary for the sponsoring agency to supply material and a foreman to work during the process of the project. He said that cash in amount of $7 per month per man worked, would be granted by the government to apply for material or truck hire. He explained that men employed on the

WPA MAY RAZE COURT HOUSE

A telegram received by County Judge W. R. Cammack, Tuesday from Senator Tom Connally, declared that a WPA project had been allowed to raze the present Motley county court house in Matador. The PWA grant is authorized for the new building. Judge Cammack declared that no use will be made of the project unless it is needed and that no particular time limit is designated.

Application was made for the project after bonds had been voted in September, to build a new court house on the site of the present building, through the aid of a Federal grant.

Judge Cammack said that although no action has been taken on the PWA grant application, he had been notified that it is being given careful consideration in Washington.

Humble Rig Being Moved To Location Major Company Soon To Drill On Large Ranch Lease

The Humble Oil and Refining Company is moving a modern rig to a location on the Matador Land And Cattle Company lease, near Duncan Tank, in Dickens county, and will start drilling soon according to information received here this week. The well will be located about 25 miles south and east of Matador, after extensive survey made by the oil company.

The Humble Company leased the entire Matador division of the Matador Land And Cattle Co.'s property early last spring and the contract required that a well be started before December 1, 1938. Engineers have been making surveys over the vast property since the land was leased and arrangements to locate the rig have been under way for some time. The total amount of land included in the lease is estimated to total in the neighborhood of 450,000 acres which is located in Motley, Dickens, Cottle, Floyd and Hall counties.

It is expected that other wells will be drilled over the lease as soon as the Dickens county location is started, however, terms of the contract have not been made public.

Other major companies are reported to hold leases in the territory near the location selected for the first well in the Humble lease. The well will be located near the southern boundary of the Matador Company's property.

FLAMES TAKE TWO HOUSES

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed two houses in the C. D. Pipkin tourist camp about five o'clock this morning and for a time threatened other buildings, including the Motley hotel. Some weakness in the fire alarm system made it impossible to sound the alarm and summons the firemen, while a stiff west wind swept the flames through the small house and toward the hotel.

The fire truck with only three firemen managed to make a hook-up at the corner of Dr. A. C. Traweck's residence and string the hose to the flaming structure, with the aid of residents who had been attracted to the fire.

The first tourist house in which the fire originated, was completely destroyed and the adjoining house was almost a total loss, including the household effects of the two families living in the two buildings. It is probable that the fire would have done much more damage had it not been possible to receive the aid of the fire-fighting equipment and adequate water.

Town Closes Doors For Armistice Day

Matador celebrated Armistice Day by closing practically every place of business, except cafes and filling stations, either part of the day, or the entire day. It was the most general observance of the holiday ever shown here, with many residents visiting out of town, while a large crowd attended the American Legion program at the Matador High School.

A greater part of Matador's population went to Flomot during the afternoon to watch the Flomot Longhorns and Lockney Longhorns clash in a grid battle which netted a tie score of 13-13.

Many estimated the crowd witnessing the football game to exceed 2,500.

JUNIOR CLASS TO HOLD BAKE SALE

Members of the junior class of Matador High School will hold a bake sale Saturday at Jameson's grocery, for the purpose of raising funds for their treasury.

Ladies of the town are requested to keep this in mind, and take advantage of the opportunity of securing a variety of delicacies for Sunday dinner.

Spur Keeps Place After Conference Plebiscite

Selected Leader

Mrs. U. L. Willie, above, prominent local social and civic leader, who was appointed last week as chairman of an 11-county district for the beautification of highways in Texas by the State Highway Department. Objects of the group will include marking historic spots, additional wayside parks and removing unsightly objects along the highways.

MRS. WILIE IS NAMED HEAD OF HIGHWAY GROUP Appointed Chairman Of District To Aid In Beautification

Announcement was made Tuesday at the meeting of the Matador Lions Club, of the appointment of Mrs. U. L. Willie as chairman of an 11-county committee to aid in beautifying highways by the Texas Highway Department. The appointment was prompted through State Highway Engineer, Julian Montgomery, who is organizing civic and service clubs in the state, to create greater beauty along the paths of the motoring public.

Mrs. Willie, in her address before the Lions Club, declared that eleven districts of eleven counties each had been created, and that the activities would include eleven objectives. Wayside parks, city entrances and the proper marking of historic sites will be included in the activities of the committees.

Asks Ranches Be Named

Mrs. Willie stressed the need to improve the appearance of highway routes through Texas cities and especially the approach, which, in many cases, is marred by junk and unsightly objects. She said that managers of automobile wrecking yards would be approached in order to allow old car frames, fenders and other unwanted parts, to be placed in gullies in order to check erosion. Other suggestions included arched entrances to ranches along the highways and the naming of all ranches, with emblems of brands showing to the public.

Mrs. Willie attended a division luncheon held at Childress yesterday and extended an invitation to Lion members to attend.

Butane Gas Plant Is Being Installed

Work was started in Matador this week installing the Butane gas system which will be operated by the P. K. Distributing Co. of Lubbock. The first tank container will be located in the alley back of the Harry Willett & Co. store, where a large hole is being dug to the depth of six feet. The tank will hold 1,000 gallons of Butane, and it is probable that ten or more of the tanks will be placed within the city limits, according to Mayor G. T. Edwards. Earlier estimates were that only three tanks would be needed. It is not known when the system will be placed in operation but because of the special type of equipment, it is believed that customers may obtain the new fuel within a short time.

Eligibility Of Player Is Contested By Flomot

Andy Hurst, Spur's star halfback, was declared eligible as a result of the second plebiscite held this week by the Executive Committee of District 4-B here at 11:22 last night meeting in special session to consider protests lodged by Flomot. The meeting which began at 1 p. m. yesterday was called to consider additional evidence concerning Hurst's eligibility and to give Spur an opportunity to refute the charges presented

All-night rides to distant parts of the State and long distance telephone calls have featured the activity of the District Committee in its effort to obtain information concerning Hurst and his movements. He first entered Roaring Springs, then he moved to Weatherford. From here he moved to Abilene for a semester or two, finally entering the Spur High School in January, 1938, where he has become one of the outstanding players of the Bulldog team.

Following the decision confirming Hurst's eligibility, the committee voted that Matador should forfeit to Lockney, and that Estelino should forfeit to Spur. Thus, Spur and Lockney, the district leaders, could play

Hutton Romance Two Months Old At Marriage

BARBARA HUTTON met Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow only two months before she married him.

Reventlow appeared in Reno the day after Barbara was granted her divorce from Prince Alexis Mdivani, Elsa Maxwell discloses in her new pages from the private life of the famous American heiress in the December Cosmopolitan.

"They were married the next day by a justice of the peace in the house Barbara had rented during the six weeks' stay in Reno," says the leader of the International Set. "The newlyweds were photographed and interviewed; they confessed they were radiantly happy. Barbara was violently in love with him, but she did not know his true character.

Even though Elsa Maxwell thoroughly disliked Alexis Mdivani, she admits that, with all his faults, he never pretended—he was always himself, undisguised.

Court, on the other hand, consciously or unconsciously must have pretended at first, because only after months of marriage did Barbara begin to discover that he was literally not the man she thought he was.

"After the birth of her adored baby and her complicated convalescence, Barbara began her first London season," the writer says. "For the first time she lived the life of any normal young married woman with money and good friends. Outwardly, everything was calm and serene. Inwardly, I suppose her troubles had already begun. Her battles with the alternating moods, caprices, and violence of her husband must already have started. It seems strange that no one knew. Her pride would not allow her to show it."

In the Cosmopolitan article the Woolworth princess tells the complete story of her romance and marriage to Count Haugwitz-Reventlow through Miss Maxwell, her intimate friend.

ALL STAR GAME

BE PLAYED A letter received by Mr. Tunnell recently it was announced that an all-star football game, of the B seniors only, will be played at Paducah on Friday, December 30. All-stars from district 10 and 12-B will compete against teams made up of all-stars from 3-B and 4-B. Players are to be chosen from the official all-district teams.

There will be no other game of interest played in all of Texas that day, and it is intended to make this one of the biggest played in this part of Texas. Many university scouts are expected to attend, and also the largest crowd has ever been assembled in Paducah.

The Eastern Team from Districts 10-B and 12-B will include the towns: Crowell, Burkburnett, Seymour, Throckmorton, Chillicothe, Iowa Park, Holliday, Nocona, Bowie, Henrietta, East Jo, Decatur, Weatherford, Rockboro, New Castle, and Paducah.

The Western Team will be selected from Districts 3-B and 4-B which includes Wellington, Clarendon, Lakeview, Memphis, LeFlore, McLean, Shamrock, Mobeetie, Spur, Flomot, Floydada, Belline, Turkey, Silvertown, Matador, Paducah, and Lockney.

A portion of the gate will go to charity. It is intended to make an annual bowl game.

STUDENTS ELECT QUEEN CANDIDATES

On November 9 each class held a meeting and elected its candidate for the Football Queen of 1939 who is to be crowned at the football banquet on December 9. The freshmen selected Wanda Nelson; the sophs chose Frances Carpenter; Jewel McCoy will represent the junior class, and Jimmie Lee Irby was selected from the senior class.

PEP SQUAD BAKE SALE IS SUCCESS

Almost everyone responded very well to the bake sale which was held last Saturday by the pep squad. The proceeds of the sale, including chances on the turkey, amounted to $30.00. This will go a long way towards paying for the football banquet.

SCHOOL HOLIDAYS ARE ANNOUNCED

Last week Mr. Tunnell announced the school holidays for the year. The first was a half holiday on November 11, Armistice Day, November 24 is Thanksgiving, and Friday will also be included in this holiday period.

School will be dismissed on Thursday, December 22 for Christmas, and classes will begin again on Monday, January 2. There will also be a half holiday in the spring, probably in May.

THIS AND THAT—

Yea! Students! Bring flying colors to your candidate for football queen. (By the way, Daisy must be a good gal picker.)

Wiley, how can you let your best "friend" steal your gal? They were seen together last Saturday night. (The persons in question are Minnie Kathleen and James Ed.)

"A-wooing I will go" must have been W. T.'s idea when he called on Wanda Nelson Sunday night. (Don't go so fast, Marshall; it might be dangerous.)

Virginia, what's all this talk about you and those geologists? We all think you have a good eye for business. (May luck be with you, kid.)

Stubble Grazing Is Dangerous

Stubble left on a field when the crop is harvested furnishes protection from wind erosion if not overgrazed. Too much grazing removes the protective cover of vegetation and trampling by live-stock pulverizes the soil and permits blowing. Upper picture shows a stubble field being overgrazed. Bottom picture shows an overgrazed field which has suffered soil losses and is becoming hummocked.

Indoors... Outdoors... Wash-day... Birthday... family history is being made.

NOT long ago a young friend of mine married. He is a camera fan, like the rest of us, and he told me:

"My family history is going to be kept in pictures. I plan to take at least one roll of pictures a week—many more whenever possible. Whenever we do anything—move to a new house—go on a week-end trip—plant flowers—celebrate a birthday or an anniversary—add a new member—whatever it is, the story will be told in pictures."

His plans go further than that, too. His picture record is to be kept in handy, useful form. "There will be a new picture book for every year," he told me. "I plan to have the best shots enlarged, and mount the others contact size. Everything goes into the book, where we'll always be able to find it and recall—from our own snapshots—what we did in past days."

That, now, is an idea for all of us. In every family, things happen each day that we would like to remember. We buy new furniture, plant gardens, build a trellis for roses, put new screens on the back porch, take vacation trips. Children are born, grow up, change year by year. We change, too. And a little day-by-day picture-history of all our everyday activities, as well as activities not-so-everyday, would greatly enrich our memories in later years.

Let's make a mental note—make

Each family picture-book becomes more treasured as the years roll by.

It a household ritual, and abide by it. "A picture a day keeps the family history up to date. And a complete picture-book each year keeps it permanently."

set of illness, usually from two to six days. On the second day, as a rule, a rash appears which may cover the entire body.

The rash of scarlet fever is usually but not always present. The patient who has symptoms and signs of the disease, but without rash, should be isolated as well as the patient who shows the rash.

A disease such as scarlet fever is dreaded whether in severe or mild form, because of the frequent development of secondary complications especially those of septic nature. Among complications, the most frequent are those affecting ears, neck glands, kidneys or the heart. Convalescent human immune serum prepared in laboratories can be used in many cases to prevent and modify the disease.

Scarlet fever is a disease of the colder months and may be expected to continue until late spring. The current increase in prevalence is not cause for alarm but emphasizes the importance of early recognition, prompt reporting of cases and careful isolation of infected persons.

AAA MEETING IS SCHEDULED

This is the second meeting this fall arranged by farmers themselves in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Association which has brought national agricultural leaders to discuss farm matters with Texas farmers, Day said.

"Marital Guesswork" Gone, Writes Dr. Albert Wiggam

GUESS-WORK has been eliminated from marriage, for marital happiness can now be charted scientifically, authorities maintain. In a sensational article based on the first authorized account of exhaustive laboratory experiments made by Stanford University, Dr. Albert E. Wiggam discloses in the December issue of Cosmopolitan not only that most of our accepted notions about marriage are wrong, the degree of their present married happiness or unhappiness with surprising accuracy.

How To Obtain Your Score on the Marital Happiness Scale

It is a simple matter to score your marital happiness on the scale. There are eight separate items or groups of questions. The figure set opposite each answer is the number of points you earn on that answer.

Collection 235,000 Pounds Tree Seeds Begun In Prairie

Collection of 235,000 pounds of tree and shrub seed is under way in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, under the direction of the U. S. Forest Service. It is announced by Assistant Regional Forester D. S. Olson, in charge of the Division of Timber Management for the Prairie States Forestry Project. Emergency relief labor is used. Seed collection extends through most of the winter, and into late spring.

The seed crop this year was said to be the poorest experienced since the planting of shelterbelts was begun.

Twenty-six varieties of seed are being collected. Mr. Olson said, in varied amounts to meet field shelterbelt requirements. They are: American and Chinese elm, apricot, black locust, honeylocust, black walnut, boxelder, bur oak, caragana, catalpa, cedar, chokecherry, colutea, desert willow, green ash, hackberry, honey-suckle, lilac, mulberry, osage orange, ponderosa and Austrian pine, wild plum, Russian-olive, pecan and coffee tree.

The seed will be cleaned and stored in warehouses, to be planted next spring at Forest Service nurseries which furnish most of the stock for field shelterbelts in the prairie states. It is expected that this year's seed will furnish enough stock for up to 6,000 miles of shelterbelts.

Great care is used. Mr. Olson continued, to segregate seed lots so that seedlings will go to shelterbelt plantings nearest the seed source. Strict adherence to this principle, he said, is one of the chief reasons for the Forest Service's success with trees on the prairies.

There is great variance in the number of clean seed per pound. It was pointed out Mulberry seed, for instance, goes from 200,000 to 400,000 per pound, while bur oak will run only from 35 to 100 o pound. Cedar seed runs from 10,000 to 50,000 a pound.

Each year as cold weather approaches, reports of scarlet fever causes tend to increase in number. This year, a slight increase in recorded prevalence as noted in September, with a larger rise recorded for October and the first week of November. Fever, headache, sore throat and vomiting are early signs of invasion by the scarlet fever germ. The incubation period, or the phase between exposure and on-

 Much of the 1938 cotton crop is being shipped by rail at Roaring Springs, according to W. T. Patton, Jr., station agent for the Quannah, Acme, and Pacific Ry. Mr. Patton declared that over 6,100 bales have already been shipped this season and that he expects between 3,000 and 4,000 more bales will be shipped before the season closes. Last year the railroad hauled 15,824 bales, which were shipped from Roaring Springs.

New Awning Over Post Office Front
 A new, permanent awning is being built across the front of the Hall building which houses the Matador post office. The addition adds to the appearance of the building and will prevent rain and snow from blowing in the north windows, it is declared. In addition to the awning, a storm door will be constructed in the lobby of the post office, in order that heating of the building will not be affected by the north door during the winter months. Other improvements include a concrete loading platform at the rear of the building.

THANKSGIVING
BE THANKFUL FOR MR. AVERAGE MAN'S RESOURCEFULNESS
 THE manifest course of world events is eventually and always controlled by moderate men—stolid, humdrum, every-day men whose single claim on the world is their own moderation. For every tyrant or clown, reformer or criminal—there are millions of those whose single-minded purpose makes possible all that is good in progress, morality and ultimate happiness.
 AT THIS time we can be thankful that the general order of things is pre-vented by such a sane and influential stabilizer. We can be thankful for the foundation of such a temperament upon which our hopes and dreams can be builded.

SCHOOL PLAY TO BE GIVEN NOVEMBER 22nd

The faculty of the Roaring Springs School System will present a three-act mystery farce entitled, "Aunt Susie Shoots The Works," Tuesday night, November 22, it has been announced.

The play, which will be given in the school auditorium, is loaded with fun, laughs, thrills, mystery and pep and is under the able direction and supervision of Miss Bess Medlen.

The cast, which includes nearly all of the teachers in the Roaring Springs school, is comprised of Mr. Giesecke, Mr. Walker, Mr. Paddock, Mr. Jarrett, Mrs. Williams, Miss Keahey, Miss Liner, Miss Fletcher, Miss Green, Mrs. Miller and Miss Smiley.

Students Report School Activities

The senior class is still on its feet and as suggested in our motto "We're not on top but climbing." We are starting early in business activities this year. We have selected our invitations, and a senior play which is scheduled to be presented December 16.

Our plans are to make this the best senior play ever to be presented here. We have good material, a good director and a good play, so there's no reason why it shouldn't be a big event.

Here's to give you a hint: If you want a mystery, come; if you want a comedy, come; if you want romance, come. We have a play that will suit everyone; if you doubt it, we'd like to change your mind.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Eugene L. Naugle, Pastor

By the time that these notes appear in print, this writer will be in Memphis, Texas, attending the sessions of the Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the Methodist Church. In many ways this has been a good year. Some progress has been made for which we are truly thankful. We sincerely hope that some foundations have been laid upon which much more progress may be built.

Altho everything may not have gone just as we would have wished, may we look on the bright side of things as did the old woman living in a small room in a city. A caller said, "You never see the sunshine in this north room, do you? The answer was, "The sun never shines in here, but I can see it shining upon my neighbor's windows." The genuinely grateful heart will be sure to see sunshine and rejoice in it.

FIRST BAPTIST NEWS

There is evidently an increasing interest in Sunday School and church in our midst. Our attendance both morning and night was encouraging. The absentees from Sunday School are missing interesting Sunday morning hours. This quarter we are studying the ten commandments in detail, anyone who thinks he knows the ten commandments should come and give ear.

Sunday night, thanks to Rev. Graham, Jack and Birdie Nell Nichols, and W. T. Patton, we had special music in the form of a four-piece string orchestra. We should all be using our talents for the glory of our Lord.

Next Sunday morning the pulpit committee will be ready to make recommendations for a new pastor. Every member is urged to be present and have a voice in filling this important office.

The bookkeeping club has undertaken a candy selling project, which has proved to be a very successful venture. If you ever see anyone trailing after you, the least you are expected to do is to buy one bar of candy. You should buy more because you would be helping the school as well as promoting an enthusiastic mood in the club.

The club has several students working toward the upbuilding of the venture besides the members. The club has selected Marietta McCarty as bookkeeper. We have eleven members, and Mr. Jarrett is our sponsor.

ing. After about three years holding his cattle in the Indian territory, he purchased a tract of land near Wellington, which became known as the Goodwin Ranch and by its cattle brand, the Hat G 2.

Let Us Be Thankful for the Privilege of Living Electrically

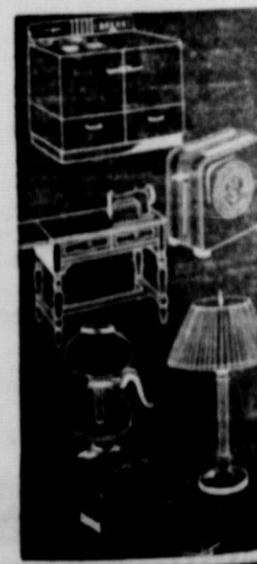

Thanksgiving

1620 They cooked a turkey before a blazing hearth fire.

They baked in a dutch oven.
They dipped candles, had flickering light.
They spun, wove and sewed cloth by hand.
They spent weary hours cleaning house.
They chopped ice in rivers and lakes.
They didn't have it so easy.
They would have been thankful for all the electric servants we now have.

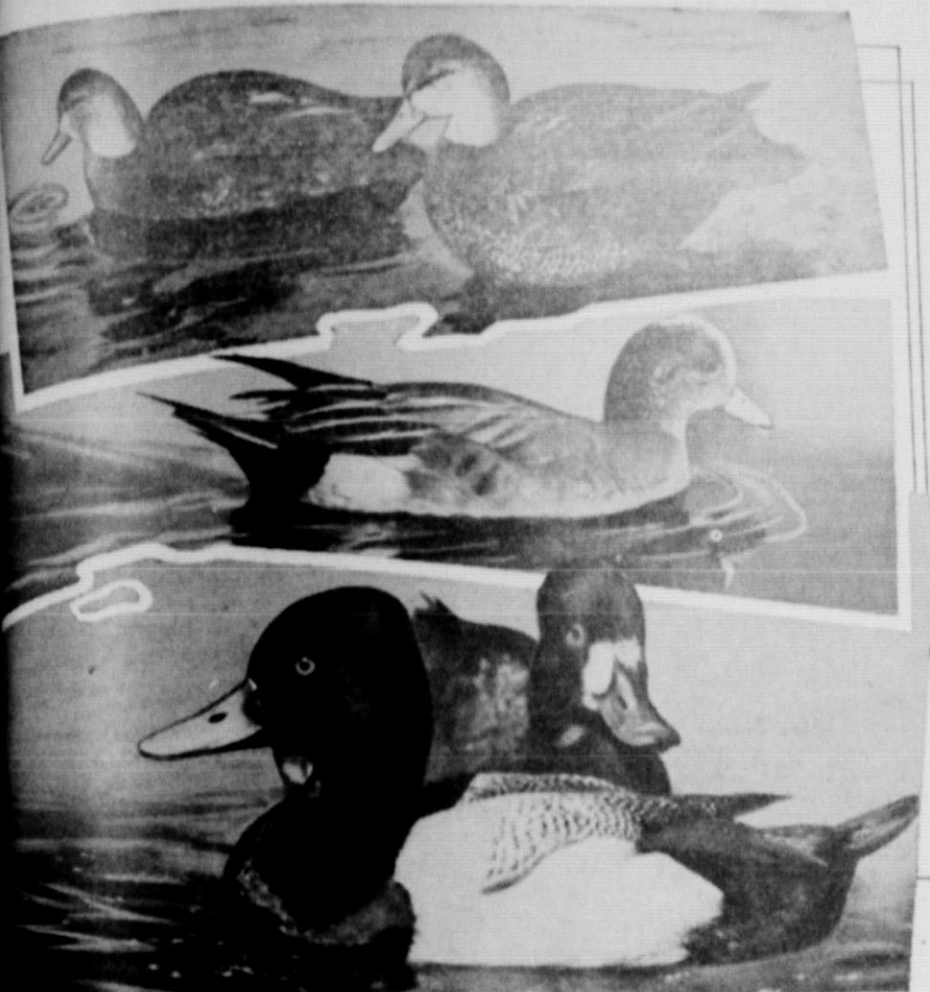

1938

We depend on an automatic electric range to cook the turkey.
We use controlled electric heat.
We flip a switch, get a flood of good light.
We use electric looms, electric sewing machines.
We use electric vacuum cleaners, save time.
We have electric refrigeration.
We have it a thousand times easier.
We are thankful to live in an age when Electric Service is plentiful—and costs so little.

WATERFOWL BACK ON PRODUCTION

Top, pair of black mallards, the wariest of all. This is one of the most popular species east of the Mississippi. Middle, a baldpate, or American widgeon, coming back in large number along the Pacific Flyway. Bottom, broadbill or blue-bill, a favorite of open water. Plentiful again as the duck depression ends.

Winged Hosts Restored On Flyways

JAY N. DARLING, chief of the Bureau of Biological Survey, said today that the present system of wildfowl protection was started. He is president of the National Federation, an alliance of sportsmen working for conservation.

most of the breeding areas in the United States greatly helped in turning out the 1938 crop of wildfowl. From practically all observers in the north and west have come enthusiastic reports. That these were based on actualities was demonstrated when the Bureau of Biological Survey announced the wildfowl hunting regulations—an extension of from 30 to 45 days in the season, a possession limit of 20 instead of ten, permission to include in a day's kill an aggregate of three canvasback, red-head ruddy or buffhead, the species that had been given complete protection.

extinction of the ducks, and that of North America are likely. Wildlife has been through the last stage. Within ten years, the number of wildfowl will be as high as in 1871, buffalo herds in the western plains in numbers for thousands of miles beyond the ken of the last band was.

Themselves, legal protection for wildfowl was demanded, and Hunter, the wise old man, said: "There's still plenty of wildfowl; they've just taken another step they took was to."

Some of us who had the pleasure of hard-working with the Bureau of Biological Survey, it seemed to be a good idea to adopt the advice of either of the two courses which were advocated. We might as well go the over-optimistic way, and by controlling the liberal shooting season, we might put an end to the hunting in a very short time. The urgent appeal of excessive hunting has been heeded, and the waterfowl hunting program is now being carried out in a practical or necessary manner.

The grounds open to the public with no duck stamp for patrol, and would alienate sportsmen who, once blind to the value of the waterfowl, can be a valuable conservation ally. The hunting season was regulated by regulations which left a surplus from the season's production, and the job of preserving seed was begun. At the same time, the political obstructionism of the program of breeding ground restoration that is now yielding improved water conditions in drainage sharks. Upper and lower Souris, Bear River, Crescent Lake, Lake Bowdoin, Waulby, Valetine, Malheur, Sand Lake, Mud Lake, Nose pipe, and Pablo—hundreds of thousands of acres of sun-baked mud, of sterile, dusty flats from which cheated settlers had been starved out have had their water restored and are now rich with new life.

Linking the breeding areas with the wintering ground are chains of federal refuges; upper Mississippi, Pea Island, White River, Mattamuskeet, Cape Romain, the vast sanctuaries of the Mississippi Delta region.

Not only has an emergency been met, but safeguards have been set up for the years to come. There should be a back-log of breeding stock that is almost immune to gunfire, completing the annual cycle of migration and breeding on government refuges, while the young of each successive year go adventuring along new routes. Banding returns show that this is precisely what is happening.

If our capital is safe, we may proceed to declare national dividends. It used to be said that 75 percent of the waterfowl crossing the United States in migration originated in the Canadian provinces. This ratio is being radically improved with grain-growing in Alberta taking up 16,000,000 acres in 1935 as against 600,000 acres in 1906, with drought still rendering large areas unproductive of wildfowl.

Canada Co-operating

The Dominion of Canada is co-operating with American sportsmen in Ducks Unlimited in restoring breeding grounds in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Waterhen Marsh, consisting of 11,000 acres, is a typical project, recapturing an abused region to restore one of the finest canvasback nesting areas in the north. The Canadian Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration has included wildfowl restoration in a water conservation program that starts out with an appropriation of $3,500,000. When Ducks Unlimited has succeeded in duplicating in Canada what the Biological Survey has done for the nesting areas of the United States the old duck hunter's dreams have a good prospect of coming true.

While it is the hunter whose duck stamp purchases finance much of the Bureau of Biological Survey's work in protecting wildfowl, restoration means a lot more than improved shooting. On the lower Souris, in North Dakota, 112 species of birds nested last summer. Such rare species as the long-billed curlew of the Great Plains region and the trumpeter swan have been saved from extinction by the new reservoirs of water and new reservoirs of drainage removed nature's most precious element.

Wildfowl have not "come back." They have been rescued from extinction by a gigantic effort. Scientific measures, applied on a continental scale, are overcoming the results of man's habits formed when the supply of game was unlimited.

Waterfowl Capital Safe

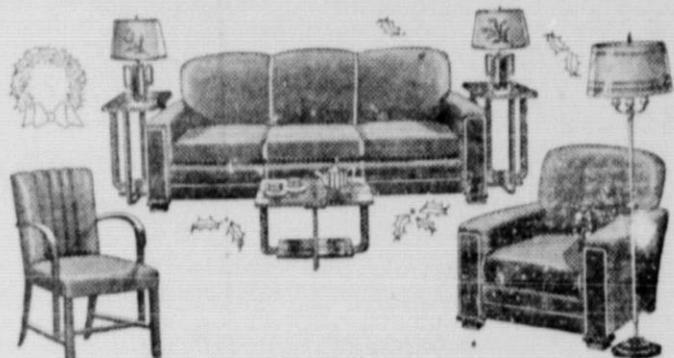

Our hopes for the future are founded on the estimates of wildfowl hatched and reared in the great restored areas, forever safe from the criminal exploitation of

"GREEN GOLD" OF YUCATAN

"Green Gold" is the nickname of the cacti (henequin) that abounds in Yucatan. From it many products of commercial value were manufactured and shipped to the four corners of the world.

The "Chi-Chi" Henequin Hacienda

The young son of Count de Regil took me in his car and we visited the Chi-chi Hacienda a short distance from Merida. After my arrival the Majordomo walked about with us explaining to me various phases of the place.

The home of the haciendado of this hacienda was an impressive affair standing on a low stone terrace. Across the entire front of the house stretched a white and yellow porch, hundreds of feet long, whose roof was upheld by a series of arches.

Near the house, at one side, one sees a small chapel. Here the master and his family, as well as his help, worship. Inside this private chapel, were some fine

The SNAPSHOT GUILD PICTURING THE HOUSE

Careful "framing" with trees made this snapshot more pleasing.

ALMOST everyone who has a camera takes pictures of his home, but many of us neglect the few simple suggestions which would make our snapshots of "home sweet home" much more pleasing. Here they are:

First, keep the camera level, or vertical lines will be distorted. Stand back far enough to get the picture without tilting the camera.

Second, pick a time when the sun lights the house at the proper angle. The sun rays should strike the house at a slant so that shadows are cast by such details as window frames and weatherboarding.

Third, try to "frame" the picture attractively with trees or overhanging branches. Such a natural "frame" for the house gives depth to the picture and adds pictorial charm.

A good fourth rule—use a color

Space didn't permit taking a complete view, but the doorway and roof angles alone made a charming shot.

filter over the camera lens to give tone to the sky. Rich-toned sky is especially pleasing in pictures of white houses, and it improves the effect of any picture.

If you have no recent pictures of your home, take a few today, following these suggestions. Perhaps your house is so situated that you can't apply all the rules, but each, by itself, will help you produce pictures that more attractively present the place where you live.

paintings, some of them having formerly reposed in the Cathedral in Merida before an anti-clerical element began its devastating work.

On both sides of the courtyard facing the home of the haciendado are a number of small houses which shelter the help. (About 75 families.)

I expressed a desire to the Major-domo to see some of the machinery used in freeing the tough fibres from the cacti. He thereupon conducted me to a small building sheltering this machine, which cut, pounded, shredded, the vegetable matter in the interstices of the leaves, leaving the fibres exposed. This waste was utilized. Cheap mattresses were stuffed with it as well as motor car seats. The long fibres, now freed, were hung over wires in a nearby yard to dry in the sun for a day or so. I saw a yard full of these drying fibres and it reminded me strangely of spaghetti hanging out on the line to dry, as I had often seen in travelling thru southern Italy.

I admired the self-sufficiency of this hacienda where one had a home a factory, schools and chapels, individual homes for the help, not to mention orchards, gardens stocked with fow, a swimming pool, and all in one compound. This Chi-chi henequin hacienda is typical of such estates in Yucatan. Not to see at least one of these plantations, is to miss a great deal of that which would otherwise not be very comprehensive.

MONTEJO MANSION—MERIDA, YUCATAN

The first mansion built in Merida after the destruction of the ancient Maya city, Tho, was the home of the Governor of Yucatan, Francisco Montejo, who in turn was an officer under Cortez.

Two things stand out in one's mind in regard to it: its doorway and its fine facade.

Over the doorway is a small balcony with a Belgian flag flying at the masthead. The Belgian Consul resides here at present. Two Spanish knights flank this doorway in its upper reaches. The warrior's feet are firmly planted on the heads of four mayas. This is a pure case of adding insult to injury—a blot on the family escutcheon that cannot be extirpated.

Flanking four very fine windows with handsome balconies and grilling, are caryatides upholding the architrave. A shield, armor and crossed rapiers further ornament the top of each window.

Observer Is Observed

I stood across the street from this Montejo mansion to make a rough sketch of it in my notebook. Soon I had an audience about me—the young and the old. No one could understand what in the world I wanted to draw that old house for—that was hundreds of years old, while nearby stood a brand-new building, all modern. Yes, these Gringos surely did the craziest things— So it always is with the tourist who likes the picturesque and the native who does not give a hoot for it but prefers what is new and modern and convenient. Hence, in Egypt, one sees trolly cars going out to the pyramids and in Venice, chugging naptha launches on the canals. And why anyone should ever want to ride camels in Egypt, or use gondolas in Venice, is just too much for native comprehension.

The Cathedral, Merida, Yucatan

This Cathedral was begun in the middle of the 16th century and completed at its close. The first impression it makes on the beholder is one of great over-powering massiveness. It stands there as a laudly dominating entity in stone. But it is very plain. The reason—no gold or silver mines in Yucatan.

Above the entrance, in the choir loft, I saw the partially mutilated console of the pipe organ. This was the work of the anti-clericals during a recent Revolution. Some pictures that formerly adorned the walls were now to be seen in a small chapel in the Chichi hacienda. Count de Regil who accompanied me, pointed out a fine large bas-relief at which he and all his bears and friends had their baptism.

Hammocks Being Made

My host then took me to where hammocks were manufactured. Shuttles pass and out, back and forth, dexterous twist of the wrist came a twisting, a knitting beneath the agile fingers. The patterns were alike, color or design. When I held these, lace-like filaments evolve before my eyes, thought struck me, "Yes, they are very beautiful, but are they strong enough to withstand hard usage?" was shown the twine, three of which these hammocks made. It came from England was the truest material kind. These hammocks built to last a life-time do. The hammocks that were the finest and most durable of their kind. Cheaply made of the fibres of the quin, come within range of peon, and they are in evidence. These hammocks serve of furniture, beds, chaise-longues, couches, chairs, rolled in one. And when visiting, one brings his hammock and hangs it up as provided by the host.

PILGRIMS OF 1938

The still chill of a November morning, 317 years ago, gave no indication of man's feeling's. Silent men, with flintlocks shouldered, and pale women, their cowls drawn close, slipped silently through early winter's snow. And there were smiles on their faces—smiles of thankfulness for a haven that responded to their diligent toil so munificently.

project might earn a maximum amount of $28.50 per month. Boss Lion Henry Ford said that he would name a committee to work with the city council for further investigation of the possibilities of the project.

New Members In Club

After the delicious chicken dinner served by the Baptist ladies, two new members, Charles T. Wasson and Floyd Hamilton, were introduced and welcomed into the club by Tail Twister J. D. Craven. Visitors included Mrs. U. L. Willie, recently appointed district beautification chairman by the State Highway Department, L. A. Stearns, prominent rancher of this section and District Judge, Alton B. Chapman of Spur. Mrs. Willie made an interesting address explaining the duties of her new appointment, asking the cooperation of the Lions Club in adding to the beauty of the highways and in marking historic and interesting spots in the county.

Lion R. E. Campbell, speaking in behalf of the Club, expressed regret in the probable loss of Lion Rev. D. D. Denison, pastor of the Methodist church. He paid highest tribute to Lion Denison as a member of the club and as a citizen exerting great influence for the good of the community.

The program was under the sponsorship of Lion Elmer Stearns.

Hunters Are Required To Hold Permits Written Permission Of Landowners In Preserve Is Needed

With the open season for ducks and geese already here and the quail season which opens Dec. 1 rapidly approaching, landowners and sportsmen alike are familiarizing themselves with the new "Red Tape" which has been enacted about the arts of hunting and fishing in this county.

Allotments which limit the game to be taken were mailed this week to landowners who have placed their lands in the Extension Service game preserve demonstration and have turned in their inventory of game. The allotments were set Saturday in a special meeting of the executive committee of the Motley County Game Management Association. Landowners are not to allow hunting or fishing in excess of these allotments.

Written permits from the landowner on a special form are required of all hunters and fishermen. Anyone apprehended without the permit in his possession is subject to prosecution for trespassing without the necessity of the landowner filing a charge. At the end of each day, hunters and fishermen are to show on their permit blank the numbers of game and fish killed or caught and turn in the form to the landowner.

While these precautions may appear slightly irksome at first, they will eventually be accepted and welcomed by all, county agent Frank A. Buckley predicts. The idea will then seem natural he says, because it puts into the hands of the landowner adequate control of his lands and at the same time insures a permanent and bountiful population of the wildlife species which furnish sport and pleasure for the citizen who loves the out-of-doors.

Hardin-Simmons Has More Students

Hardin-Simmons University, at Abilene, founded in 1891, has an increased enrollment for its forty-seventh year, recently begun. The freshman class is the largest in H-SU history, said Dr. J. D. Sandefer, dean of senior college and university heads in Texas, who is beginning his thirtieth year as president at Hardin-Simmons.

3 p. m.

The committee also voted to admit Matador into a new district created by the recent vote and ruling of the Texas Interscholastic League. All the schools of Texas will be divided into class AA, A or B according to the scholastic enrollment. Matador will be included in the class A district with Paducah, Spur, Floydada, Lockney, Crosbyton, and Ralls.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes fail in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eye—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too-frequent urination.
