Judy Marrs Victim In Tragic Accident

Judy Marrs, Matador High School junior, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Marrs, suffered permanent damage to the four fingers on her right hand about 6 p.m. Friday, in a Tribune hand-fed press.

It was the most tragic accident in the Tribune's 33-year history. Miss Marrs was given emergency treatment by Dr. J. S. Stanley and rushed to Lubbock Methodist Hospital by her parents. She was in surgery over two hours.

Smiling from her hospital bed late Sunday, the courageous and indomitable Judy Marrs, refused to have aid in eating her supper. She had already begun adjusting her life to cope with her injury. She had asked for her school books that she might continue her studies. She returned home yesterday.

The press which the young girl was operating was a hand-fed 10x15 C&P platen, equipped with a variable speed motor. The press was operating very slowly in printing 5x8 index cards from a zinc engraving. She had printed about 900 of an order of 1,000.

Tribune publisher Douglas Meador was working at a stone across the shop, and Mrs. Meador was in the front office when the accident occurred.

Meador believes that curled stock may have caused the accident. The box of cards had been turned upside down, in order to replace the printed material in the box. In completing the job after the accident, he found the cards curled, and his theory is that the tragedy probably resulted when an attempt was made to hold the card when it was being printed. Held too long, the press caught the fingers.

Among Matador friends visiting Judy and her parents, Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Campbell, Billy Paul and Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Rattan and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Meador.

A Word of Appreciation

The tragic accident that occurred in the Tribune shop Friday afternoon causes us the deepest grief. We were happy to have Judy associated with the Tribune, even if but a few hours each week, because of her unusual talent and ability, and because of her wonderful attitude and disposition.

We are grateful to her friends and friends of her family for beautiful gifts of flowers, candy, cards, messages of encouragement and personal visits during her stay in the hospital.

We are grateful to everyone who has expressed concern since the accident and those who will continue to encourage her in the months ahead. We know her to be one of the finest and bravest persons in this world and deserving of its richest reward. Sincere and dedicated friends, Lila and Douglas Meador

Mrs. J. K. Crews, 80, pioneer Plains resident, died at her home at 503 Milwaukee, Plainview, at 3 a.m. Saturday. She was the widow of the late J. K. Crews, for many years a banker at Plainview and in other Plains towns, who died August 22.

Graveside rites were conducted for Mrs. Crews at 10 a.m. Monday, in the Childrens Cemetery with the Rev. Robert McGeehe, pastor of Grace Presbyterian Church of Plainview officiating. The Newberry Funeral Home, Childress, was in charge of arrangements.

Former Resident Dies at Paducah

The Rev. Charles Gates, pastor of the church, and Minister Bobby Harp of Abilene, officiated in the services. Burial was in Garden of Memories Cemetery under direction of Norris Funeral Home.

Trail Dust Chest Drive is Set to Open Next Month

A DRIVE to raise $3,000 for the Matador Community Chest will be launched November 15 and continued through November 30. The goal and date for the fund drive was set Thursday afternoon by officers of the organization held in the Commissioners Court room.

President Forrest Campbell submitted a report which showed that expenditures for the past year reached a total of $2,340.27. Largest amount was for local welfare cases in the amount of $677.03. However, of this amount $202.31 was returned to the Community Chest. Loans are made in certain types of emergency cases and the loan is paid when possible.

Perhaps the most interesting figure in the report is $48.64, the amount paid to "outside cases." The chest has in the past been subject to some criticism because so much was paid to transients.

From last year's drive the Community Action Committee was explained by Joe B. Meador, program consultant of the Governor's Office of Economic Opportunity, Tuesday morning at a meeting called by Mayor Freddie Welling and County Judge Forrest Campbell.

"Community Action can be anything from bringing in an industry to a pre-school program which will give a child a head start in his educational career," Meador said.

A nineteen-county area is now being studied by Texas Technological College and Motley County is part of the study area.

A Community Action Committee may study to see if the community or county area has poverty. If there is poverty, the committee should determine the causes of the poverty and finally, the local committee should find ways to remedy the causes.

"A Community Action Committee such as the one we are talking about this morning has two main goals. One is to develop a better business climate and the other is to build a better place in which to live, work and play," Meador said.

Judge Campbell stated that if it was the desire of the people in the county to form a Community Action Committee, it would not be designed solely to solicit federal funds, but rather a committee to mobilize local resources to plan and implement projects of which would enrich the lives of the people and to create a more healthy business atmosphere.

Attending the meeting were clerical, civic and club leaders including Rev. John Fitzgerald, Mayor Welling, Judge Campbell, School Supt. Charley Johnson, Billy Wason, Ronald Christian, Fred G. Simpson, and Mmes. Ward Rattan, W. W. Clements, Fred Rattan, Robert Darsey, and W. N. Pipkin, Robert Darsey, Fred Simpson, and Miss Sue Glenn.

Trail Dust

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Our society has reached a period of change when a middle-aged or older woman has too much anatomy into a pair of slacks too small for her, becomes an object of only slight interest.

I don't know where I got off the world, but it must have been when I slowed down to get on the same symbol of pleasure get on, on all its luggage.

Each moment in our lives is a rare room, with a door for entrance and door for exit, each opening once and then closing forever.

Courage is like a bar of gold covered in the sand until the waters of emergency leave it shining in the sun.

In counting our blessings, the ability to smile should be counted twice.

Friendship is a ward of love and seeks no greater glory than the opportunity to serve.

A professional photographer, in explaining some of the financial hazards of his business, cited the payment for pictures. He has made wedding pictures, before he could process and collect for his work.

Financial gain alone lacks some qualities of enduring strength to be the foundation for a life ambition.

Above every cloudy day there is sunshine, and beyond every dark hour there is a mesa of tranquility.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Stevens and their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Vann Francis left Monday morning on a trip to Europe, making the trip with Mr. Francis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Francis of Wichita Falls.

Lions Program By "Spelunker"

AN interesting and unusual program was presented Tuesday at the regular luncheon meeting of the Matador Lions Club held in the basement of the First Methodist Church.

George Gray, of the West Texas Utilities Co. personnel department, Abilene, showed a series of extremely beautiful slides, and explained his hobby, "spelunking." It is a Greek term and means cave study.

Mr. Gray has been in hundreds of caves through the years, and has made colored photographs of fantastic formations in many of them.

"Most of the caves in Texas are south of Abilene in the Edwards Plateau limestone formations," he declared, "and Texas is among the leading cave states. There are more than 1,700 known caves in Texas, including the Caves of Sonora, the most beautiful known in the world. More new caves are being found all the time and 39 were discovered last Labor Day week."

He was introduced by Lion Freddie Welling.

Boss Lion Charlie Johnson announced that the club had earned $139.85 profit in the annual pool and broom sale. He announced that a plaque would be given for the first bale of 1967 cotton produced in the county.

Former Member Visits

Grover C. Mitchell, former owner and publisher of the Motley County News, to which the Matador Tribune is successor, and a former member of the Matador Lions Club, was welcomed as a guest. He was the guest of his son-in-law, Lion Howard Trauek.

Walk and Be Healthy

INDUSTRIAL FOOT HEALTH CUTS COSTS

Foot fatigue and disorders are a leading cause of industrial accidents, employee absenteeism, and lowered morale. In addition to the obvious personal discomfort to the employee, foot ailments are estimated to cost American business approximately $125 million a year in clerical errors, delayed deliveries, cancelled orders and lost production.

In one plant, for example, a worker's elbow was caught in a whirling machine and a costly industrial insurance claim plus the loss of a skilled worker resulted. The real culprit in this accident, however, was a painful lumbago which the employee had neglected.

No wonder, then, that the U.S. Department of Labor reports that 26% of all industrial accidents occur to the feet and legs. It's difficult to keep your mind on your work when you're in pain and even standing becomes an effort.

To reduce this human and financial toll, many businesses are instituting foot clinics, under the direction of a podiatrist, as part of their medical departments. Depending on the need for services, the podiatrist may visit the plant or state for a few hours a day or employ one or more full-time staffs.

Such care for employees find that safety records improve, production increases and employee morale soars.

Insurance companies approve introduction of this service, viewing it as a means of reducing sick and accident compensation payments. Industrial foot health clinics have been endorsed by the Department of Labor, U.S. Public Health Service, Veterans Administration and AFL-CIO.

Where such clinics do not exist, employees can avoid many of the consequences of poor foot health by following some general rules recommended by the American Podiatry Association.

1. Keep your feet clean. Use warm water and a mild soap.

2. Dry feet thoroughly. Blot, do not rub hard with the towel. Use a foot powder.

3. Do not wear tight garters.

4. Avoid cutting corns, calluses or ingrown nails. Corns and calluses are nature's angry defense against a continued pressure. Seek professional care.

5. If you suffer foot injuries such as bruises, burns, cuts, cracks, or frostbite, or if an ulcer or sore appears on the foot, see your podiatrist or medical doctor promptly.

6. Be careful of exposing feet to cold and dampness. Always change your hose and shoes promptly if your feet get wet.

7. Wear the type of shoe that will give you the maximum comfort and protection for the work you are doing. Remember that run-down heels and worn soles can be the direct cause of falls.

For additional information, write The American Podiatry Association, 1015 North 17th St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

Livestock owners should be on the alert for screwworm cases now as it is possible that Hurricane Beulah could have blown fertile screwworm flies from parts of Mexico below the barrier zone. If any cases of worms are found, be sure to kill the worms, and submit a sample to the laboratory at Mission for identification.

If you don't have a mailing kit, let me know, for unless the screwworm is positively identified at the Mission Lab, no help will be provided.

Small grain disease problems can be largely solved by planting seed of resistant varieties or seed which have been treated with a chemical fungicide for disease control. This treatment is simple and cheap and excellent insurance against crop losses from seed-borne diseases.

Many small grain diseases are caused by organisms carried on the surface of the seed and can be easily controlled. Loose smut of wheat and barley is an exception, as the organism causing this disease is carried inside the seed and cannot be controlled with chemicals.

All seed treatment chemicals are poison, and should be handled with care. No more seed should be treated than will be planted, and treated seed should never be fed to livestock or poultry, or mixed with untreated seed which may be fed or sold. Strict compliance with the label instructions is a must when handling chemicals.

Seed treatment may be done commercially or at home, as long as the seed are covered uniformly, and the proper chemical is used, and the proper amount of chemical is applied.

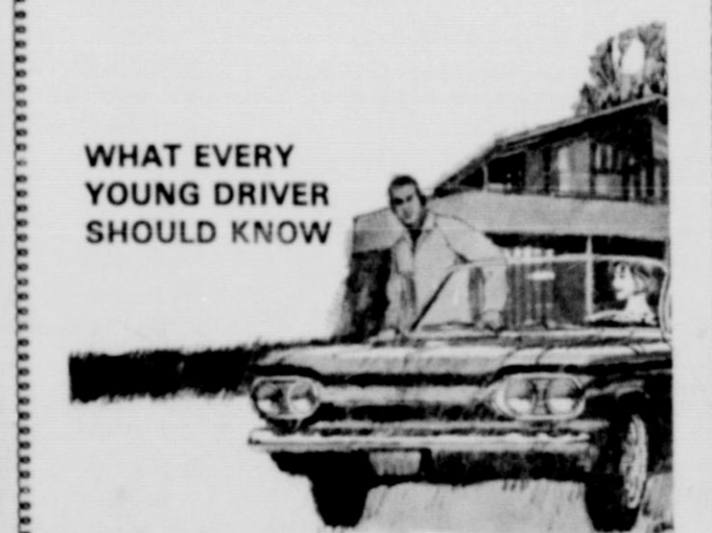

Leaves often become a problem this time of the year. These can serve a useful purpose, if they are collected and made into compost.

Place in layers in an out-of-the-way place as they become available, using a wire mesh or board for semi-active storage of either letter or legal files in one box...

THE AMAZING AMERICAN

The following article was in one of the many papers which crosses our desk here at the Hesperian each week, and the text of it was so like the everyday citizen of our nation that we felt it would be appropriate to share it with our readers.

—Wendell Tooley in the Floyd County Hesperian

THE AMAZING AMERICAN

The amazing American whips enemy nations, then gives them the shirt off his back.

He yells for speed laws that will stop fast driving, but won't buy a car if it won't do a hundred.

The amazing American gets scared half to death if he votes a billion dollars for education, but he's cool as the center seed of a cucumber about spending three billion dollars a year for smoking death-dealing tobacco.

He complains about his wife's cooking, yet, on a camping trip, he will eat half-fried potatoes, burnt fish, and coffee made with gritty creek water in a rusty bucket and think it's wonderful.

He knows every major baseball and football team in the leagues, but doesn't know half the words in the Star Spangled Banner.

The amazing American will work hard on a farm so he can move to town to make more money so he can move back to the farm.

In his office he likes to talk about baseball, football or fishing, but on the creek bank or at the game he talks business.

He is the only guy in the world who will pay $1 to park his car while he eats a 50 cent sandwich.

An American likes to cuss his government, but he'll fight any foreigner who does.

He will spend half a day looking for vitamin pills to make him live longer, then drive 90 miles an hour on slick pavement to make up for the time he has lost.

He irrigates desert to make farmland, then puts the extra acres in a soil bank.

He spent 280 million dollars this year on tranquilizers and an equal sum on pep pills.

He tosses cans out the car window, drops gum wrappers in the gutter, plants auto graveyards along the highways, hides a meadow or a mountain with a billboard, then stands up at his civic meeting, and, with a lump in his throat, sings "America the Beautiful."

Yet, for all that, the amazing American is still a pretty nice guy. Despite all that he is not—and because of all that he is—calling anybody "a real American" is still the highest compliment you can pay.

Standing Ovation

Shaken by emotion when he was asked to speak, Mayor Welling said: "When I moved to Matador in 1940, I came here to make this my home. I love Matador."

"Regarding civic work, I want to recognize and pay tribute to Ott Hines, a bachelor, who has been faithful in Scout work and every civic project. He is always willing to work. I want also to commend the Lions. They have always been willing to promote almost any project."

He then looked toward his father and said, "My dad was stern, and we all had to work, but he was good to us."

Bobcats Claw Matadors 47-14

by Jesse Perkins

Matador Matadors lost a crucial game to the Newcastle Bobcats Friday night on Burleson Field by a score of 47-14.

The Matadors took the opening kick-off and after three plays were forced to punt Newcastle, on its second play gave Preston Pitts the pigskin who dashed 75 yards for a touchdown, but the try for the extra point was blocked. The Matadors still unable to light the fire were once again forced to punt Newcastle then drove down the field with Pitts sweeping five yards around end to score another six points.

In the second period the speedy Pitts took off on a 38 yard run for another touchdown. Newcastle again received a punt and marched down the field with Choate going eight yards for a touchdown. The extra points were run by Pitts.

The Matadors with only seconds left in the first half went for the bomb, but the flashy Pitts intercepted it and went 70 yards to add six more leaving a 30-0 half-time score.

During the third quarter a fighting Matador eleven caught fire and marched down the field with Joey Meador scoring from three yards out. The Matadors defense recovered three Bobcats fumbles and held them to a scoreless quarter.

In the final stanza Newcastle's Pitts was again off as he went around end for 31 yards and his fifth touchdown.

The Bobcats scored one more time on a 40 yard pass with Pitts running the extra. Then with five seconds left in the game Matadors Larry Bostick connected with Mark Timmons for a 65 yard pass play and a touchdown.

Joey Meador rushed for 102 yards, followed by Mark Timmons with 51 yards and Larry Bostick 65 yards passing.

On defense Mark Timmons had 13 tackles, Darrel Marshall five, Jackie Bynum five and Ronnie Welling five. David Garrison recovered two fumbles, Don Cox one and Glen Moss one.

This week the Matadors meet Chillicothe in a conference game at Chillicothe.
