PRICE SEVEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

The Devil is an astute businessman. He is quite aware that merchandise well-displayed is half sold. He is probably the originator of the bargain basement for the best value in little sins.

Corn still in theassel has become the principal ingredient in popular songs. Some of the current top-place favorites would set the hair on an Arkansas razor back hog. But come to think of it, the songs that influenced the tender emotions of my generation have not become cultural classics. Love writes its own songs and youth plays its own violins.

Black and faught The Republicans are trying to use some of the advice they were dispensing before the great change, and have discovered that despite the attractive wrapper, it has a tendency to backfire. Well, boys, the Old Ship of State is in your hands and the trip is interesting, even if the destination is uncertain. Kindly have the steward wake us when we get inside the breakwaters of fair harbor.

Lace on the swishing skirts of fate must have caught in the barbed wire that fenced my youthful dreams that afternoon in Hollywood when I called a cab. The cake of hope had seeped through the thin walls of my heart. There was a hunger in my soul that tinsel and lights could not satisfy and I had grown tired of waiting; a dreamer must not look into the factory where dreams are made. A weary man looked at my ticket and checked my luggage. The sheets beneath the blanket were cool and smooth. The coach was dark and silent. Back in Hollywood a telephone was ringing to deliver the long-awaited message. Arizona moonlight flowed down the sides of mountains when I awoke and raised the blind. The train groaned in an agony of might as it battered the rails. Many noises filtered through the darkness but the sound of little bells did not return again to my dreams.

Every time I attempted to clear the result is not unlike the tobacco-chewer who is unmindful that the car window has been raised.

It has been said that many of the world's great accomplishments have been achieved by men and women who are never entirely well. It might be in place to declare that most of the silliness on this watery star is attained by individuals who have never experienced extended discomfort.

Another deficiency that affects foresight is its totally unreliable method of looking around corners.

Roaring Springs P-T.A. Plans For Banquet Complete

All arrangements are complete for the Mother-Daughter banquet to be held at Roaring Springs, Friday night (Feb. 20) according to officials of the Parent-Teacher Association, sponsors of the affair.

Girls and their moms will "go Western" this year, and a big time is anticipated. Everyone is urged to contact Mrs. Herman Davis, Mrs. Hulie Cargile, Mrs. J. Braselton or Mrs. Carl Tardy, for tickets, which will sell for $1.50, to admit a mother and daughter.

The Father-Son banquet will be held Feb. 23, and ticket committee for that affair includes Homer Kingery, Hulie Cargile, Paul Sweatt and John Ray Hunter. Price of tickets is $2.00, it was announced.

Both banquets will be held in the school gymnasium.

Four Die In Plane Crash

Four Lockney men were killed instantly in the crash of a light plane near San Antonio early Monday. One of them, George Turner, Jr. 27, was reared at Roaring Springs. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Turner, Sr. former residents who now live near Lockney. Young Turner was the nephew of Mrs. S. D. Hunter of Roaring Springs and also a nephew of former residents John and Albert Turner who now live near Kress.

Other victims were Glen Mitchell 26, his brother, Rhea Mitchell, 30, and Rev. J. R. Naylor, 33, pastor of the Lockney Baptist church. Glen Mitchell was George Turner's brother-in-law, and his wife was also reared at Roaring Springs.

The plane, a Beechcraft Bonanza, was owned and piloted by Rhea Mitchell, former commercial pilot for Braniff International Air Lines. All four victims were thrown 150 to 200 feet from the plane and their bodies badly mangled.

En Route To Gulf Coast The party took off from Plainview airport at 7:30 Monday morning, en route to Port Isabel on the lower Texas coast for a deep sea fishing trip. The crash occurred about 9 a.m. After cutting a 200-yard swath through trees, the plane burst into flames. An ensuing explosion blew pieces of the plane a quarter of a mile, rescue workers declared.

CAA authorities at San Antonio told Justice of the Peace, Blair Reeves, the investigating coroner, that the pilot radioed the tower there, reported he was flying at 1,500 feet and asked landing instructions because of poor visibility.

Official believed that Mitchell, flying too low to land, tried to climb too fast and that the plane started "falling apart."

Predicted Blizzard Is Only "Pie in The Sky"

FRUSTRATED weather forecasters Monday pulled all the stops and predicted a blizzard on its way across the Texas Panhandle that would make history. They issued livestock warnings and advised people in the North Panhandle to stay off highways and everyone in general to "button down the hatches." It was coming.

What happened? Nothing but a little norther that rubbed out the spring-like weather and brought the mercury back to where respectable mercury should stay at this time of the year.

"The Thing" dilly-dallied around and did not reach here until about three a.m. Tuesday morning. There was some wind, thunder and lightning, hail, rain, sleet and snow. The total (unofficial) precipitation was in the neighborhood of 20-inch, and about the average of other reports from the area. The mercury was slightly above freezing most of the day but because of dampness and a brisk north wind, the weather seemed excessively cold.

"Shirt-sleevers" went after their coats and "long-handlers" put 'em back on, while farmers, ranchers and business men looked at the promising clouds and hoped for anything wet. The predicted blizzard was "pie in the sky." One rancher observed that the change in administration had not improved the weather predicting.

Farm Family Has Narrow Escape When Home Burns

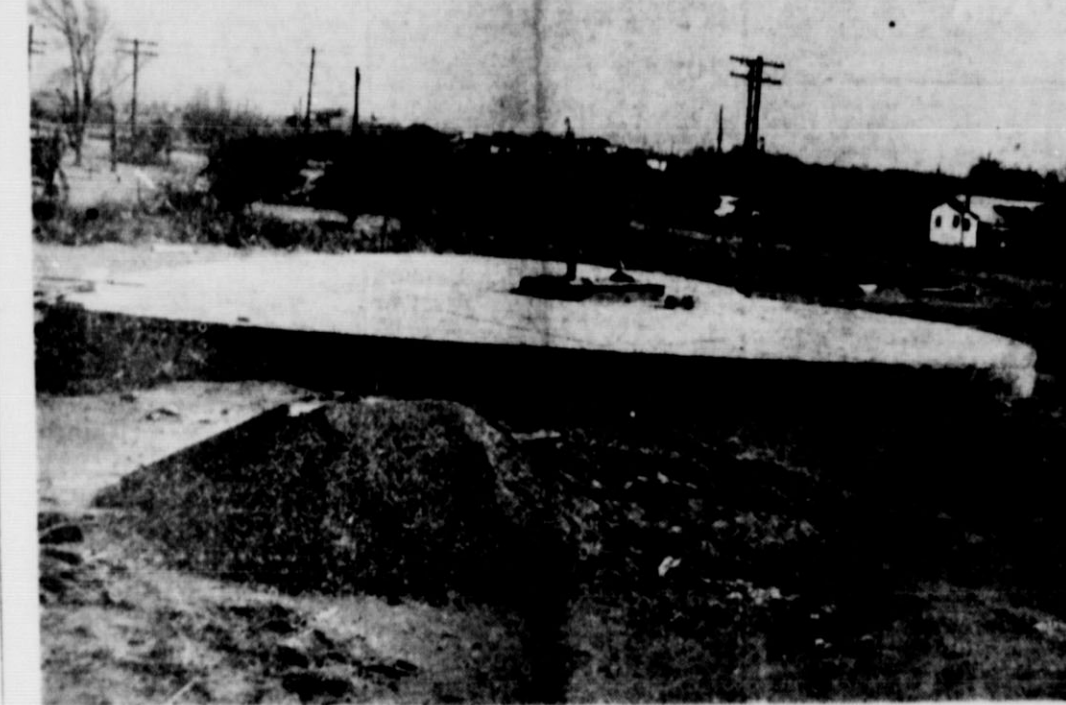

Except for a miraculous escape from their burning home at 1 a.m. Friday morning, a Roaring Springs farm family might have been cremated alive. Mrs. Curtis Murphy awakened a few moments before the house roof fell in and was able to rouse her sleeping husband and two children in time. The Murphy home was on the Lee Davis farm about three miles southeast of Roaring Springs.

The farm family barely escaping with their lives, except a few articles of clothing and two mattresses. Cause of the fire is unknown.

Friends and neighbors of the family have scheduled a public shower to be held at the Roaring Springs school house Friday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. Food, clothing, bedding, furniture or any other item which will help the unfortunate family replace their loss, will be greatly appreciated. Contributions are solicited from all areas of the county and also from neighboring counties.

VALENTINE HOUSE IN MATADOR—Elvin Markham is giving his wife an unusual Valentine this year—one made of masonry and shortly to become their home. Planned by Markham while he was overseas in World War II, the house contains 1,600 square feet of floor space in the half basement and will have an equal amount added when the upper story is finished. The Markhams and three children had planned to move in Saturday, but the floor is not completed. (Photo by Douglas Meador.)

Brief Ceremony Opens New Tribune Building

Moving on a limited scale started Saturday to the new Tribune building at 1001 Main street. Since circumstances prevented a ground-breaking ceremony when the building was started 120 days ago, a brief invocation was spoken Friday evening at 8 p.m. by Rev. Keith McCormick.

A small group of employees, former employees and associates attended. Formal dedication and "house-warming" of the building will be held after all equipment is located and the newspaper has "recovered" from the effects of moving. Union Service Speaker Declares Christianity is pre-eminently a youth movement, instigated by a young man, Jesus Christ, before he reached the age of thirty. Rev. Keith McCormick, pastor of the First Baptist Church reminded an audience Sunday night in attendance at a union youth service held in the First Methodist Church.

The service, honoring young people of the community, is initial observance of Boy Scout Week, and is followed by banquets for the boys and girls later in the week.

Using as his subject, "Faith of Youth," Rev. McCormick declared "Faith of youth is adventurous, courageous and victorious. Adventurous because young people are continually looking forward, not backward; courageous, for if given a chance, youth will stand up to the task at hand, even as Christ himself gambled his life for humanity; and victorious because youth is not fighting a losing battle when faith is channeled through God."

Rev. McCormick also directed stern admonition to his adult listeners. "Many adults are blocking the path of youth by failing to give them the chance to stand up for God," he declared. "Life for God in this day, and age will cost any person, but unless Christianity costs us something, it isn't worthwhile. We should teach youth to pass from 'self-pleasing' to 'God-pleasing'." Unless you come to see the right relationship with God, I fear for the safety of tomorrow as adults we have passed down enough spiritual enthusiasm to our youth of today.

Record Attendance

Attendance at the service set a record, with every available seat in the large sanctuary filled. Members of Matador Lions Club, Scouts' sponsoring organization, were almost 100% in attendance, and a number of visitors from adjoining communities were present.

Opening prayer was by R. E. Campbell, Sr. and Scout Pat Groves read the Scripture from Matthew 4:1-11. A reading, "Equipment" by Edgar A. Guest, was given by Scout Ronnie Steen. Rev. W. V. O'Kelly, Methodist pastor, presented the benediction was pronounced by Minister J. B. Tidmore of the Church of Christ. Choir and congregational singing was led by J. R. Whitworth.

Accompanying a group of F. A. boys to Fort Worth during the week-end to attend the Fat Stock Show, were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moss, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Cox, James Ed. Russel and Charlie Keith. Other residents who attended the show included Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Campbell and son, Gary, and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Cox and son, Charles Ray.

Final Plans Made Ready

Final plans for the sixteenth annual Father-Son banquet organized by Lt. Paul Eubank, are completed. The program this year has been designed to provide more entertainment for the boys than in previous years. The menu, as in past years, will consist of ranch-style "chuck" with tasty barbecued beef as the principal item. Lions officials said one of the largest crowds in the history of the organization is expected tonight. The meeting will be held in the First Baptist church.

Function Declared Highly Successful In Varied Program

Modeling Moms were met with wolf whistles from daughters Tuesday night during a style show which brought to a close the 15th annual Mother-Daughter banquet sponsored by Matador Parent-Teacher Association.

Most popular seemed to be the short-skirted, rolled-hose, spit-curlled era—the styles of the flaming twenties and early thirties—which were greeted with hilarious laughter by former flappers as well as their bobbiy-sox daughters.

Declared to be the most enjoyable program ever presented, other features included organ music by Mrs. John Stevens; Invocation by Mrs. Bert Ezzell; Mother's Welcome, Mrs. Gerald Waybourn; Daughter's Response, Barbara Waybourn; address, Mrs. J. E. Edwards; Skit by Mothers, Mesdames John Hamilton, Robert Darsey, W. N. Pipkin and R. E. Campbell, Jr.; music and singing by Mrs. J. D. Craven and Mrs. W. F. Jacobs, accompanied by Miss Rachel Patton, with Rachel Aileen, Patti and Frances Craven assisting. Benediction was led by Mrs. Algie Groves, P.T.A. president. Quartet Of Mothers.

The skit presented by the quartet of mothers was highly entertaining and represented a family of four, parents, son and daughter, parked on the street on Saturday afternoon, with a running comment by the mother (Mrs. Hamilton) about various townfolks as they passed by. Pop was Mrs. Pipkin, with Mrs. Darsey as "Susie" and Mrs. Campbell as "Ralphie," the two unmanageable children.

Mrs. Edwards' short address was spiced by jokes on several daughters, as she "unrolled" her speech from a roll of tissue. She left worthwhile thoughts with her audience as she closed, stressing unselfishness and cooperation for the girls, and high moral training in the home to be maintained by the mothers. "A home can rise no higher than the morals of the mother in it," she pointed out.

Mesdames Craven and Jacobs, attired in black, braid-trimmed toreador suits, played ukeleles and sang several "old-timers," including "Has Anybody Seen My Gal" as they demonstrated the talents of the "Ukelele Girls." The organization, of which they were members back in 1927-28, was directed by former resident, A. Watson, with Mrs. J. H. Sample as sponsors.

Many Styles Modeled

With Mrs. Glenn Woodruff as narrator, styles passed in review beginning with 1776, down to the present. Mrs. W. N. Pipkin modeled a "Martha Washington" styled gown, and another dress of Revolutionary days was worn by Mrs. Andy Hurst. A nightdress of the 1804 period was modeled by Mrs. Robert Darsey, as an example of the See Moms and Girls, back page.

School Leaders In Struggle To Halt Change In Program

Charles H. Tennyson, executive secretary of the Texas State Teachers' Association, has declared that plans for easing the critical classroom shortage will be seriously handicapped if local school districts are required to pay a bigger share of the minimum foundation program.

"Local schools already are paying more than 40 per cent of the cost of public education in Texas," Tennyson said, "although those who want to rearrange the school financing pattern cite only the figures showing that local schools pay about 20 per cent of the minimum foundation program cost. They fail to cite the cost of current operations and repayment of bonded indebtedness."

The big difference in percentages lies in the fact that minimum foundation program does not represent total school costs. Local school districts must pay many additional expenses themselves, including the cost of new buildings and facilities.

Figures compiled by the Texas Education Agency show that the total cost of public education in Texas during the 1951-52 school year was $318,963,078. Tennyson said. Local school districts paid $132,832,708 of that amount, or 41.6 per cent. The state paid $180,918,657 or 56.7 per cent. The federal government contributed 1.7 per cent, or $5,211,713, mostly for the school lunch program.

"Approximately 33,000 children in our elementary schools must attend classes for less than a full day because of the classroom shortage," Tennyson said. "Our local school districts are putting as much money as is feasible into new buildings. Many plans for new school construction may have to be scrapped if local contributions to the minimum foundation fund are increased."

Many States Aid Schools

The limit on local contributions to that fund now stands at $45,000,000. "Many other states grant financial aid to local schools for construction purposes," Tennyson said, "but in Texas the need for buildings and facilities must be met by the local communities themselves."

"Many of the other states help pay school construction costs," Tennyson said. "In recent years, Virginia set aside $45,000,000 for that purpose while Washington appropriated $40,000,000, North Carolina $25,000,000 and Delaware $13,000,000. California recently made available, in two separate moves, $55,000,000 and $79,000,000 to help local school districts meet building costs, in addition to $250,000,000 earmarked for a long-range building program. Massachusetts pays up to 65 per cent of the construction costs for school buildings."

No Plea For Grants. The local school districts in Texas have made no plea for similar grants, Tennyson pointed out. On their own initiative, they are doing their best to alleviate the critical classroom shortage which forces 33,000 students in elementary schools to attend classes for less than a full day.

Tennyson said there is no danger of state control of education when the local schools themselves are paying 40 per cent of the education bill.

"It should be noted," he said "that the Gilmer-Aikin bills protect local control to the fullest extent and not a single bill has been introduced in the Legislature that would alter or take away local control. Nor would we support any measure that would tend to centralize the control of education."

Self-Employed Now Pay Additional Tax To Social Security

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 — Many self-employed persons must pay an additional tax on their incomes, for social security tax purposes.

It is due, along with the regular income tax, by March 15. This additional tax must be paid by every self-employed person covered by social security if his net earnings from self-employment last year were $400 or more. There's no choice about it—if you come within that category, you owe the tax.

However, several large groups of persons are excluded from social security coverage. These include farmers, railroad workers, public officials, lawyers, doctors, dentists, osteopaths, chiropractors, optometrists, funeral directors, professional engineers, clergymen and public accountants.

This special tax for self-employed persons is 2½ per cent of net earnings from self-employment. The maximum amount that can be taxed is $3,600 a year, which means a top tax of $81.

What if part of your income was from self-employment and part from a job covered by social security from which the old-age and survivors insurance tax was withheld?

As an example, a man might have had $2,000 income from a covered job and $3,000 from self-employment. The social security tax already would have been withheld from his $2,000. Since the maximum amount subject to tax is $3,600, he would owe an additional $36 (2½ per cent of $1,600).

If you make $3,600 or more in covered employment, you don't have to pay this special tax on any balance of your income brought in by self-employment, no matter how large. Remember, the maximum amount subject to tax is $3,600.

Self-employment income represents money received for services rendered rather than from investments. Accordingly, you don't pay the special tax on dividends, interest on investments or capital gains.

The self-employment tax became effective in 1951 and you should have your social security number by now. If not, you can obtain one from any of the 500 Social Security Administration field offices.

This number should be written in on page one of Form 1940. That form, together with a separate Schedule C, is the proper one on which to report self-employment income and figure the tax.

Self-employed persons, of course, must file income tax no estimate is required for the self-employment tax.

One final word: In 1953, jot down various potential deductible expenses, such Assisting with hospitalities were Mesdames Gerald Waybourn, Ellis Key, Walter Ray, C. Warren, Velma Fulfer, Bill Seale, V. Rattan, and Miss Tresa McDonough.

A Valentine motif was used for table decorations which included a Valentine doll, flanked by red candles in crystal holders, cake squares iced with heart-shaped decorations, Valentine candies, and cherry fruit punch. Napkins were white with a red heart in one corner. The table was covered with a silk lace hand-crocheted cloth.

Mrs. Seale presided at the crystal punch service, and Mrs. Key registered the guests. Approximately seventy-five called or sent gifts.

... to have an extension telephone in the house!

You'll be pleasantly surprised at how much an extension adds to the value and usefulness of your present telephone. You'll be pleased, too, with how little an extension adds to your monthly telephone bill—how many steps it subtracts from your daily household.

No matter where you put it, a second telephone in kitchen, bedroom, den or hallway places service always at your fingertips.* Greater convenience encourages greater telephone use—brings you greater value for your telephone dollar. That's true at home and at the office, too.

Just call or come by to order an extension telephone installed right away. It's our pleasure.

*For a minimum additional charge, we will be glad to install extension wall plugs in several rooms of your home, enabling you to move your extension telephone from one location to another. Ask about this added convenience.

We know Harold Dean, Wanda McMahan, Francis and Rachel Craven enjoyed their visit to the Veterans Hospital at Amarillo last week-end. We think it's great that they should go there and entertain the boys in the hospital. There were others from Matador who also went with them.

Well, we had another girl in M.H.S. to get married. Elwanda and Gordon Simmons were married last Tuesday morning in Portales, New Mexico. Gordon is leaving for the Navy next week and Elwanda plans to go on and finish her schooling here in Matador. Here's wishing them the best of happiness.

The seniors selected their invitations this week. It sure gives us a great feeling to be selecting them. It makes us feel the big day is drawing near. We also decided on our senior trip this week. We plan to go to San Antonio in April. We sure are looking forward to it, too.

M.G.S. played Quitaque last week and won both games. The girls won with a score of 36-16 and the boys won 34-24. Lucille Nolen and Garland Cartwright were high-pointers for Matador.

Third Grade Wins Five Dollar Prize

The students in grade school sold tickets last week to the movie, "Here Come The Nelsons," for the polio drive and the class which sold the most tickets was to be awarded a five dollar prize. The results were as follows: Third grade, $70.60; Sixth, $68.29; Fourth, $46.27; Fifth, $35; Eighth, $24.75; and Seventh, $23.50. They made up a total of $268.

AUSTIN, TEX. — Maybe you don't realize it, but as a taxpayer you have 40,000 employees.

These people are state workers. And it looks like you are going to increase their salaries. All depends on the legislature.

A bill to hike the pay of state workers has been introduced by the Austin delegation. Representatives Obie Jones, Pearce Johnson and C. L. Sandahl Jr. and Senator Johnnie B. Rogers. If it passes, the measure will give "temporary emergency" wage boosts of 15 per cent on all state salaries up to $3,600 per year and 15 per cent on the first $3,600 of higher salaries.

Robert B. Baldwin, Representatives Obie Jones, Pearce Johnson and C. L. Sandahl Jr. and Senator Johnnie B. Rogers. In his opening message to the legislature, Governor Shivers asked that an increase in workers' pay be included in the budget bill, but that can not become effective until September 1 when the fiscal year begins. Hence the emergency legislation.

It is Edward Clark, Austin attorney, who bosses the legislature, says Leslie Velie, writing in the February Reader's Digest. Velie charges that some of the state's most important laws are written in Clark's office and in his capacity as lobbyist for Herman Brown of the firm of Brown & Root.

Velie says Clark has and uses the power to tell potential political candidates "not to bother" to run, and that he can tell the lawmakers "what they should bother with."

Tribune, Matador, Motley County, Texas, Thursday, February 12, 1953

In reply to all this, Clark snapped that Velie's story was "false, foul, and infamous smear." He added that he was "shocked and surprised" that the Digest would print a story so "very definitely off-color and completely untrue."

Your hat is too old to wear when a feller refuses to take it from a crowded rack.

What every girl should know about COOKING...

It's so easy to bake, roast or broil with an Electric Range... no flame, less shrinkage of roasts, cleaner cooking, and a cleaner kitchen.

You can plug in the coffee-maker the night before, set the automatic clock timer, and coffee's ready when you get up in the morning—you can plug in the toaster or other appliances, too.

The deep-well cooker has many uses, not only for meats—but many other things—to make large quantities of coffee or cocoa at party time, to sterilize baby's bottles—and even to pop corn!

DID YOU KNOW with an Electric Range you can:

Keep foods warm for long periods on low, gentle heat of surface units... prepare jams and preserves under broiler unit... use controlled, measured heat to cook frozen vegetables and fish without water, in aluminum foil on surface units... "prove" yeast dough in warming oven... freshen rolls by wrapping in aluminum foil and placing on surface unit on low heat for a few minutes?

Carr Is Pushed For House Post

State Rep. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock is being boomed as a candidate for Speaker of the House for the 54th Texas Legislature which convenes in 1953.

About this time of the year in every season, campaigns in behalf of a number of men for the honored position in the House are organized.

Reports from Austin say Carr, 34, who is serving his second term as representative, is one of six lawmakers being considered for the post now held by Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba.

Carr, representative from Lubbock County, 97th District, Place 1, has a host of friends at Austin and over the state who would like to see him named to the key position.

Carr is a member of the Revenue and Taxation, Criminal Jurisprudence, Privileges, Suffrage and Elections, Judiciary and Conservation and Reclamation committees.

A former Lubbock County Attorney and assistant District Attorney, Carr served the second largest district in population in the state before last year's redistricting. Four representatives now serve the same area.

In the 52nd Legislature, he authored the new hot check law and co-authored veterans legislation and the redistricting law. During the past two years he has been a member of the State Crime Investigating Committee, which is soon to make its final report and recommendations to the present Legislature.

Other lawmakers reported considered as candidates include: Joe Pyle, 41, insurance man from Fort Worth; Jim Lindsey, 26, attorney from Texarkana; Dolph Briscoe, 32, rancher from Uvalde; Pearce Johnson, Austin; and Horace Houston Jr., 32, attorney from Dallas.

Hasn't Made Decision

Friends of each man are asking other members of the House to sign pledge cards or to reserve consideration until later. Actually the race won't be decided until the day the 54th Legislature convenes in 1953, but campaigning is underway now on the theory that most members will return for the next session.

Carr told the Avalanche-Journal by telephone Saturday that some of his friends had sounded him out about making the race for speaker but that the race was so long off that he could not say what his plans would be. He said he was not making a campaign for the post at this stage and would more or less depend upon developments to assist him in his decision.

"It is flattering, of course, to have my friends seeking support in my behalf," Carr said. "It is too early to make a decision."

A sea day on shipboard begins at noon. A flotilla is a fleet of small vessels.

"If Everyone"

If everyone who drives a car could lie a month in bed, With broken bones and stitched-up wounds, or fractures of the head.

And there endure the agonies that many people do, They'd never need preach safety any more to me or you.

If everyone could stand beside the bed of some close friend And hear the doctor say "no hope" before the final end, And see him there unconscious, never knowing what took place,

The law and rules of traffic I am sure we'd soon embrace.

If everyone could meet the wife and children left behind, And step into the darkened home where once the sunlight shined, And look upon "The Vacant Chair" where Daddy used to sit I am sure such reckless drivers would be forced to think a bit.

If everyone who takes the wheel would say a little prayer, And keep in mind those in the car depending on his care, And make a vow and pledge himself to never take a chance The Great Crusade for safety then would suddenly advance.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Just a Little "Outdated"

Back in December we sent out our yearly calendar. It listed the last date for renewing drivers' licenses, and things like the dates for registering to vote, when the hunting and fishing seasons open—even suggested you note down the wife's birthday, too.

I figured dates like these were important to keep in mind—and this was a good way to do it. Unfortunately, it now turns out I never really paid close attention to my own calendar!

Not 'til today that is—so here I am not able to drive the car this weekend until I get my driver's license renewed on Monday!

From where I sit, I guess good advice, like charity, should begin at home. I'm always advising all of you to worry less about your neighbors (what they do, or say, and whether or not they should enjoy a temperate glass of beer) and pay more attention to whether you yourself are doing the right thing. Guess I'll "make a note" to follow my own formula!

Mrs. Charlie Keith displayed a dress of the 1918's and a filmy negligee dated 1920 was worn by Mrs. Freddie Welling.

Short floating chiffon and bead-trimmed dresses of the 1927-28 and 30-31 years were modeled by Mesdames Robert Darsey, Bill Dunning, J. R. Whitworth, R. E. Donovan, Harold Campbell, R. E. Campbell, Jr., J. R. Emmons, Jinks Wilson and John Hamilton, and the dress which Mrs. R. E. Campbell, Jr., wore was an "original" Paris creation.

Other styles modeled were, Mrs. Ben Edwards, 1938, Mrs. Mike Hoyle, 1944; Mrs. Andy Hurst, 1946-47; Mrs. R. E. Campbell, Jr., 1947-48, and three 1953 styles by Mesdames Charlie Keith, Jack Norman and Glenn Woodruff.

Wedding Dresses Worn

Climaxing the show were reviews of wedding dresses. Mrs. Loyd Latimer modeled a grey faille and velvet wedding dress which belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. D. C. Keith, who was Matley County's first bride in 1891. Mrs. John Hamilton wore her mother's wedding dress of cream colored lace and cashmere, worn as a bride in 1898. Mrs. W. N. Pipkin modeled her 1921 wedding dress of fur-trimmed aqua crepe. Mrs. Jinks Wilson wore a 1934 wedding dress of lace belonging to Mrs. J. R. Emmons, and Mrs. Glenn Woodruff's 1951 wedding gown was worn by Mrs. J. E. Edwards.

Banquet tables and other decorations featured a Valentine motif, and the delicious menu consisted of baked ham, pineapple salad, potato salad, carrots and peas, hot rolls, layer cake, coffee and hot chocolate.

Parent-Teacher Association officials expressed profound gratitude to all who helped with banquet and program preparations and all others who assisted in any way.
