TRAIL DUST

By
Douglas Meador

Some boding manifestation is written on the soil pressed with rubber tires which are interchangeable for field tractor and cannon. It is a bold effort of death to gain the alliance of an instrument designed to give life, while a baleful and scathing world stumbles through the darkness of re-written history to let new blood flow in the old channels of conquest.

Many moons have wasted silver against the ceiling of stars since that mauve twilight in early autumn when a tow-headed boy stood beside a shining buggy and held the reins on restless matched-sorrels. There was a fragrance of delicate perfume, the rustle of soft fabric and the sound of small feet treading lightly through the gate; a voice like distant, merry bells which kept on ringing. And as icing for life's dank, brown bread, is the memory of an ethereal caress; of fine lips, velvety as two rose petals blown from the meridian of splendor. Golly, what a mess I could have made of a dragon in that hour.

Mustangs whinney in the remuda and rain beats on tarpaulins wrapped around the cowboy beds but something is gone from the old camp grounds and the enchantment of a chuck-wagon staked on the mesquite flat. Vanished herds follow the dustless trails of yesterday and distance is rolled up like a weather-beaten canvas, while boots, spurs and saddle becomes the flimsy paraphernalia of a vagabond pageantry. A drama loses its sentiment when stage hands begin to fold up the chairs behind a sparse audience.

Music embodies the sovereignty of magnificent vistas and perhaps, some tones of gradeur bridge the still, dark river flowing close to the boundaries of life. Without wishing to expound a phenomenal import, I always enjoy a certain dreamy waltz which a friend used to play and sing altho we will never hear it together again. For if eternity has any of the charm of life then music is with the cargo of the argosy freighted with the soul.

Blue and white clouds of smoke lay against the north horizon and pointed tongues of the prairie fire licked a wide sector, while the biting wind drove harder, laden with the heavy odor of burning sage. Cowboys were riding with hat brims pressed against their foreheads and two wagons loaded with water barrels were driven by nesters at reckless speed across the rocky hills. Cattle bawled as they fled before the crackling line of fire which cut through the fence into the nester's pasture and men shouted as they dipped tow-sacks in the water barrels and beat the flames. There was a smell of burning fetlocks as the saddle horses pranced and snorted over ground where the tall buffalo grass had stood. Cowboys from other ranches began to arrive and the supply of tow-sacks and the water to wet them was exhausted. Beady, red-rimmed eyes shone through blacked faces as the wind roared across the tortured hills and swept the fire beyond all hope of control.

The rich grass in the nester's pasture melted as wax on a ladle until the flames bent under the fence which bordered an almost barren field where a few head of cattle and horses grazed at the dried stubble. The cowboys rode away through the choking haze silently as men ride in defeat. The nester and his wife sat on the spring seat of the wagon and looked across the black pasture where a few cow-chips smoked as need-less sentinels left to guard the victory of havoc. The woman, wrapped in a thin black coat, sobbed as she pressed a shawl about her throat and they drove back toward the half-dug-out; to another winter of privation, when hungry cattle would turn their backs to the blizzards and ice caked on the barbed-wire corrals.

Two pigeons used to drop from the sky every fall and linger in the cottonwoods around my home about the time the leaves started to golden, and remain until the

Demonstration To Be Held In Methodist Church Basement

Miss Gladys Kimbrough, Food Preservation Specialist with the Educational Department of Ball Brothers Co., will be in Matador Friday morning for the purpose of holding a meat canning demonstration. The demonstration, given in cooperation with the Home Demonstration Extension Service of College Station, will be held in the basement of the Methodist Church and will begin at 10:00 o'clock, according to an announcement by Frank A. Buckley, County Agent.

Miss Kimbrough has taught home canning to large groups of women in 30 states and has met most of the questions that can be asked about food preservation. She includes the answers to the more usual ones in her lecture-demonstration. This period is always followed by taking up the individual canning problems of those who attend. Food values, proper servings of canned goods, storage, dietary value of different products, all are frequently related to her informal and interesting way of telling how and showing how to keep the summer's goodness for the winter's table.

Included in Miss Kimbrough's wide experience in foods is the teaching of foods and cookery, working as Home Demonstration Agent, acting as foods editor for a magazine, broadcasting tested recipes, and serving as Home Economics Laboratory Director for a national organization of millers.

Since the demonstration is given free and for the benefit of all women of this and surrounding communities, it is expected that a large group will take advantage of this opportunity to become familiar with methods of canning as taught by the Extension Service.

Officials Of Conoco Visit

T. H. Lawson, southern sales manager and P. R. Erdwurm, assistant division manager, officials of the Continental Oil Company, arrived yesterday on a tour of inspection of stations and bulk plants in this section of the Panhandle. Both are of Fort Worth.

The officials declared the trip, which followed the Gulf Colorado Highway north into the upper Panhandle, returning via Amarillo and Lubbock, to be very encouraging because of improved crop conditions. They also declared that sales were reflecting the agriculture and livestock money being paid to consumers over the territory.

They will probably continue the tour from here on to Wichita Falls and thence back to Fort Worth.

Matadors To Try Spur In Game Friday

Team Shows Up Good As Plainview Is Winner 12 to 7

Altho defeated last Friday night by the Plainview Class A Team, the Matador Matadors will go into a conference game with Spur Bull Dogs on the Matador Arena tomorrow afternoon, which promises sport fans their money's worth. Altho the Matadors were doped to be big losers in the Plainview tilt Friday night, they surprised their hosts by leading the score up to the half when Plainview made another touchdown, leaving the score 12 to 7 in favor of the Class A team.

Fans Are Pleased

Despite threatening inclement weather, a large delegation of fans followed the Matadors to Plainview and were well pleased with the game they witnessed. Without a single exception, fans declared it was the best game the Matadors have played this season and renewed confidence was registered.

While Spur is rated as one of the strongest teams in the conference, it is believed the Matadors will provide entertaining company for the visitors.

Sport fans are urged to support the Matadors as they go into the game tomorrow which will probably be one of the hardest fought contests of the season.

Talks To Nation

Special Call Of Congress

Promises Aid President Roosevelt In 'Fireside Chat' Talks To Nation

President Roosevelt, after calling a special session of congress for November 15th, outlined with pointed emphasis Tuesday night a legislative program designed to help agriculture, industry and labor produce "a balanced abundance without waste."

While the current year has, generally speaking, been economically good, he told the nation in his tenth "fireside chat," there are many groups which "still have less purchasing power and a lower standard of living than the nation as a whole can permanently allow."

The president called for: Crop control legislation to stabilize farm income and the nation's food supply.

Wage and hour legislation to increase the income of low paid employees and, he said, thereby increase production of the things they would buy.

Land use legislation, spreading the TVA idea to other sections, and providing new expanses of fertile soil to which families in the dust bowl and other poorly protected sections may move.

Anti-trust legislation "to end monopoly—not to hurt but to free legitimate business."

Government reorganization to make the processes of democracy "work more efficiently."

"God-send to Cotton Farmer" AUSTIN, Oct. 12.—Congressman Lyndon Johnson of Austin tonight termed President Roosevelt's call of a special session a "God-send to the cotton farmer."

"Now the farmer will know what to expect next year in the way of a production program," Johnson said. "It would have been bad to leave them hanging until next March."

Flomot Man Burned To Death In Blast

COLD RAINS CHECK WORK OF PICKERS

Total of 2.12 Fall Registered Here

A cold rain which started to fall here Monday night, halted the gathering of Motley county's cotton crop, but brought rejoicing to wheat growers and cattlemen. A total of 2.12 inches had been registered in Matador this morning, while the sky remains laden with clouds.

A sharp drop in the temperature followed close on the heels of rain and sent citizens after coats and was a boon to stove and fuel dealers. It was estimated the temperature dropped to about 40 degrees here last night.

With cotton not yet mature and an army of laboring classes arrived for harvesting, the more than 2 inches rainfall not only retarded maturity, but discouraged prospects of gathering what cotton had opened. Rainfall in much of the Panhandle and caused yesterday in favor of the biting chilly norther which swept over much lower temperatures in northern states.

New Agency Implements Opens Here

The Russell Implement Co., under the management of John C. Russell, has opened in the former post office location, recently occupied by the Lea Implement Co. The new enterprise will handle a complete line of Allis-Chalmers Farm implements, including the Allis-Chalmers All-purpose Power tractor, Mr. Russell declared. A complete line of parts and repairs will also be kept in stock at all times to provide immediate service to customers.

The Allis-Chalmers line includes the All-Crop Harvester, which cuts and thrashes more than 60 varieties of crops in the field, similar to the combine. The harvester is said to be very effective in harvesting milo maize, which is thrashed as it is cut, the stalks, heads and chaff being scattered back on the ground where it was grown.

Sees Future Here

Mr. Russell, who is a native son of Motley county, declared that he believed this section is destined to an era of agricultural prosperity in the future because of the more satisfactory and economical farming made possible by mechanical power.

A car load of the new tractors has already been received and other shipments of parts of the complete farm equipment line, are expected in the near future.

COTTON JUMPS OVER $2 BALE

Congress Expected To Peg Price Flurry

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 13.—Bullish influences dominated the cotton market here today and lifted the price level more than $2 a bale over the previous close. Final prices were very steady at net advances of 41 to 45 points.

Shorts covered frantically on the belief that congress would take drastic measures at the coming special session to prevent sharp drops in the price of cotton as well as large crops. The trade brought in moderate volume and added to the better tone.

Alfred Merrell, 45, a farmer of the Flomot community, died at the Traweek Hospital here at 5 o'clock this morning, of burns sustained when he became a living torch after a kerosene can exploded in his hands while kindling a fire about dawn Wednesday morning. Covered with the blazing liquid, he ran 40 yards to a watering trough and jumped in. His family awakened by the blast, witnessed the tragedy as they rushed from the house, which was destroyed.

The injured man was first taken to Quitaque where first aid was rendered at a drug store and then brought here for treatment.

House Is Destroyed

Mr. Merrell had started the fire and believing it had gone out, dashed kerosene from a three gallon can into the stove. There was a blast which exploded the can in his hands. He ran from the house to the water trough and submerged himself. His wife and children who had not arisen, heard the blast and witnessed his tragic plight as they rushed from the house in their night clothes. Looking back, they saw the house a mass of flames. The home and contents were a total loss.

The car key with other possessions was in the burning house and it was necessary to go about one mile in order to secure the aid of a neighbor.

No announcements of funeral arrangements was made at press time this morning.

College Favorite

DENTON, Texas, Oct. —Miss Mary Helen Ethridge, junior from Grandview, represented the North Texas State Teachers College at the Pan-American Exposition's All-College Casino Dance in Dallas recently. Miss Ethridge was last year elected College Favorite by the student body.

"No modern football blayer has traveled as far as has Gerald Mann. Folks down in Dallas and throughout the State of Texas report to me that he will be the next Attorney General of Texas. He'll have thousands of northern California football fans pulling for him as well as those reconstructed kids from the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children."

California fans evidently think well of Jerry but then who does not. Mann has only started in his quest for bigger things.

Police of Syracuse, N. Y., are looking for a three-ton trench digger, an eight-ton coal truck, and a huge furnace stolen in that city.

Two years ago Judge Cornelius Shea of Hartford, Conn., imposed a 10-day sentence on a thief who stole one of his suits. Recently he gave the same thief the same penalty for the same crime.

Although his life was in danger after he was bitten by a water moccasin, Harry Tetzlaff of Kalamazoo has recovered, but the snake is dead. Sand in its mouth choked it to death.

Citizens of Belvidre, Ill., unanimously shunned an opportunity to make $5. All they had to do was roll up a 20-foot python and carry it back to the carnival from which it escaped.

"I just don't think I can make it on the outside," explained 65-year-old J. H. Deering to the warden of the Oklahoma state penitentiary when he asked for readmission to the prison.

Bert Thompson of Seattle told emergency hospital attendants he couldn't sleep and couldn't eat. An X-ray revealed the trouble—he had swallowed his teeth, the whole lower denture.

Lightning wrecked a table about which five men were playing poker in Branchville, N. J., but none of them was seriously hurt.

Texas isn't the only place Gerald Mann is well known. Pat Frayne of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin had this to say about him recently in his "So What Dept."
"Back on the afternoon of January 1, 1928, Gerald Mann of S. M. U. kept throwing passes to Rags Matthews of Texas Christian for the greater glory of the West's All-Star football team—it was a great display of football fireworks, which many fans still remember as one of the outstanding feats of many of the Shrine East v. West classics.

"Mann spent 1925, 1926 and 1927 at S. M. U. under Ray Morrison, was backfield coach for two years and then graduated from Harvard law school.

"The present Governor of Texas, James V. Allred, when attorney general, appointed Gerald as assistant and later moved him into the position of Secretary of State for Texas. He authored the present Texas security act, which saved investors in Texas millions of dollars.

"Mann resigned from the Secretary of State job to represent Texas before the administration bodies in Washington and secured $10,000,000 in federal projects for his state, returning to Dallas in 1935 to enter into private practice of law.

Renovated Kitchen Provides Light-Conditioning

By Jean Prentice

I TALKED, not long ago, with a little elderly lady who had just visited... for the first time... one of the modern new kitchens. She was all a-sparkle.
 "This kitchen," she exclaimed, "had a refrigerator big enough to hold a steer, cupboards everywhere... and the most marvelous lighting!"
 She had visited a light-conditioned kitchen. Light-conditioning is one of the newest conveniences to be added to the room that is so important a part of the homemaker's life.

Non-technically, the term means having the right amount and the right kind of lighting available... regardless of whether or not the sky outside is black with night or grey with threatening clouds.
 Often a kitchen has the most daylight of any room in the house.

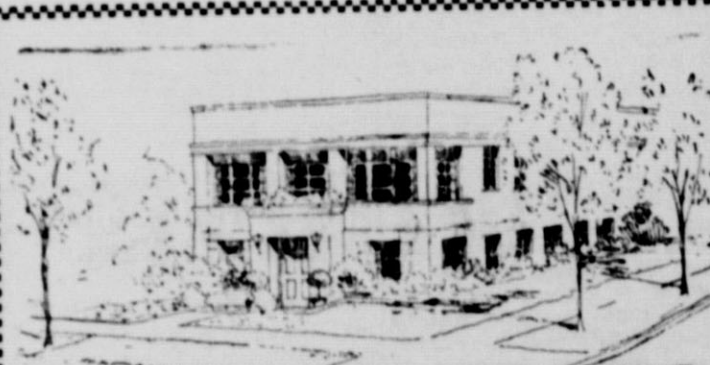

In addition to the ceiling fixture, this renovated kitchen provides ample light at each work-center to ease labor and prevent eyestrain.

Even so, the natural light in the center of many kitchens is only 1/100th of the light at the window sill. This is not enough for quick seeing and nimble fingers at work, and the addition of scientific lighting is the answer.

When a kitchen is light-conditioned, you do not stand at the sink or stove with your shadow falling on your work. There are side-wall fixtures or lamps with 60-watt bulbs over each work area, and a 100 or 150-watt bulb in the center ceiling fixture to give general lighting.

 In the light-conditioned kitchen shown here, note the smartly-styled center ceiling fixture, the new "soft-fit" lighting above the sink, and a matching fixture at the cupboard.

SHELTERBELT PROJECT MAY ESTABLISH REGIONAL HEADQUARTERS AT PADUCAH

PADUCAH, Oct. 3.—The probability of establishing a sub-office in Paducah for shelterbelt work was announced this week by J. R. Stockstill of Childress, assistant to Edgar H. Kemp, senior shelterbelt assistant for this section of Texas and Oklahoma.

Stockstill spent several days this week in Paducah, contacting farmers of the county in an effort to secure applications for at least 150 to 200 miles of shelterbelt in the Chalk, Sneedville and Dunlap communities, which would make possible the establishment of the office.

If this is accomplished, it will mean work for from 200 to 250 Cottle county men for the next three months and permanent work for a small crew that will be used to cultivate the trees after their growth warrants it.

The Dunlap vicinity north of Paducah has 26 miles of shelterbelt, which was planted last spring and which has thrived beyond expectations. Officials plan to bring the shelterbelt strips from each of the above mentioned communities right on up to the city limits of Paducah.

Monster Hydraulic Press Speeds
Fabrication of Airplane Parts

CONFRONTED with a rapidly expanding demand for its commercial transport planes, the Douglas Aircraft Company has installed the world's largest high-speed hydraulic press in its plant at Santa Monica, California. With a pressing force of 10,000,000 pounds the huge press is as versatile as it is powerful, being capable of performing a total of several thousand production operations in the shaping and forming of parts for the Douglas planes.

Transportation of the gigantic machine to Santa Monica from the plant of the Hydraulic Press Manufacturing Company at Mount Gilead, Ohio, where it was built, presented a difficult problem. The press stands as high as a four-story building and weighs nearly a million pounds. The head alone weighs 175,400 pounds, the bed nearly 150,000 pounds; the ram more than 40,000 pounds. No single land transportation device ever built or imagined was capable of carrying the full weight of such a load.

The problem was solved by disassembling the press and mounting the parts on nine special flat cars. To move even the disassembled machine into the Douglas plant it was necessary to tear away the front and part of the roof of the building in which it was to be housed. The sandy soil upon which the plant is built had necessitated construction of a special concrete foundation.

The machine's pressing force of 10,000,000 pounds is created by a single hydraulic ram, six feet in diameter and actuated by oil under a pressure of 2500 pounds per square inch. Mounted on top of the press, the oil supply reservoir holds enough oil to fill the crank-cases of 2000 motor cars. Pressure is generated by a battery of four radial pumps of the reversible delivery type, driven by two 150 horse power electric motors.

When official of the Douglas Aircraft Company first considered use of a hydraulic press as a means of applying interchangeability, flexibility and greater manufacturing economy to the fabrication of aircraft parts, a miniature press was constructed to test the possibilities. So satisfactory was this test that an initial 2000-ton-pressure press was installed two years ago.

Installation of the new press enables the company to shape 3000 airplane parts—all of aluminum alloy, on its hydraulic presses.

To a letter which questioned the efficiency of Omaha's police department, Police Commissioner Jepsen replied: "Dear Sir: Phooey. Richard W. Jepsen."

EASY TO LAND IN JAIL WITH NEW GAME LAW

AUSTIN, Oct. 11.—A sportsman so inclined wouldn't have much trouble landing in jail in Texas.

In addition to the general laws applicable to the entire state, there are 545 applications of special county laws on game, fish and trapping, according to a compilation made today by J. G. Burr, director of research of the Texas Game, Fish and oyster commission.

"That doesn't mean there are 545 separate county laws; one special law may be applicable to several counties. But the applications are the same as laws, so that there are 545 ways of getting in jail, not including the general laws," Burr explained.

There are 212 applications of local laws affecting game, including 20 on squirrels, 20 on quails, 64 on turkeys, 121 on deer and 9 in doves, Burr said. A total of 218 applications of local laws affect fresh water fishing, two affect the taking of oysters, and 91 govern trapping.

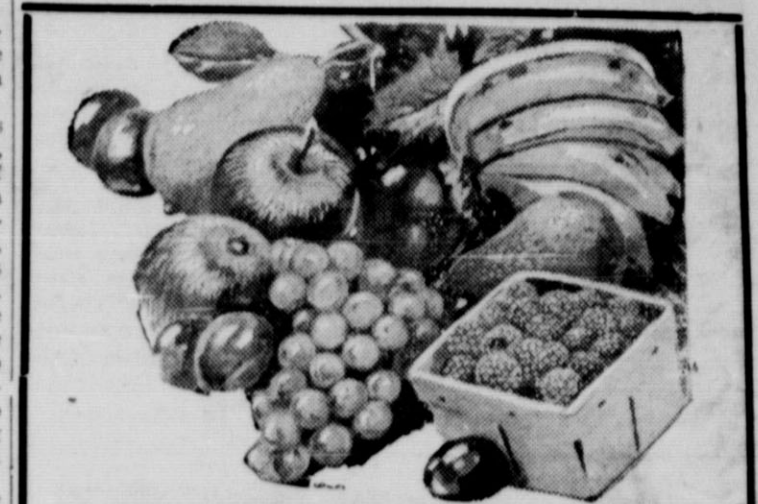

Virtually all of the state's special county laws have been passed since 1925, Burr said. In that year there were no special game laws, and only seven relating to fish. Most of the present special laws have been passed since 1930. The last regular and special sessions of the legislature contributed 47 special county laws relating to game and fish and one general trapping law.

Many of the special county laws provide closed seasons for various species. Four counties have closed seasons on doves, 15 on quails, 45 on wild turkeys, 54 on deer and 57 on foxes.

The game commission, under present statutes, does not have power to regulate open seasons on any species except ducks and

TRENCH SILOS
EARN PROFITS
FOR RANCHMAN

The trench silo puts more profits into the cattle business according to Geo. W. Seigler, who grows some of the finest white-face cattle in Motley County on his ranch twenty miles northeast of Matador. Mr. Seigler filled his first trench in 1935 as a trial at the suggestion of County Agent, Frank A. Buckley. He was so well pleased with the experience that he filled three last year. This year he has purchased a silage combine of latest design and will go into the winter with approximately seven hundred fifty tons of good grain sorghum silage buried in the ground.

Mr. Seigler has developed many uses for silage in cooperation with the county agent. Whenever the cows begin to fail, silage is added to the grass. Young bulls are put in good breeding condition on silage before being put into service. After the main calf crop is sold as feeders, shorts and cutbacks are put on silage in the dry lot to better fit them for the market.

Missionary Groups

The Blanche Simpson and Dorcas circles of the Baptist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Clyde Bartlett, with twelve ladies present. Following a brief devotional and business session, the ladies spent the afternoon quilting on a quilt for Buckner's Orphan Home. The group will meet next week with Mrs. H. M. Weldon.

Mrs. J. D. Craven was hostess to the Henrietta Shuck circle last week with 8 members present. Minutes were read, after which a devotional was rendered by Mrs. Seigler, Circle Chairman. Members worked on a quilt for the Orphan's home. Refreshments were served to Mesdames Lloyd Fulkerson, Jack Edwards, Hub Swearingen, Carney Fulkerson, Bill McCaghren, Elbert Seigler. Miss Evelyn Fulkerson and the hostess.

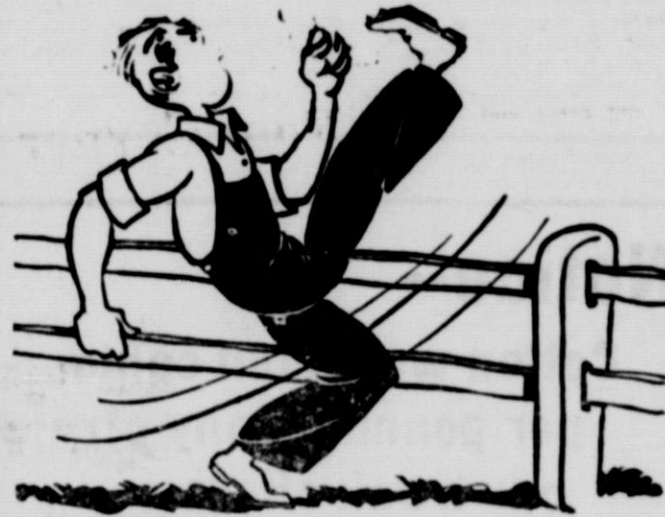

The Henrietta Shuck Circle met Monday afternoon of this week in the one of Miss Evelyn Fulkerson and work was continued on quilts to be sent to the orphan's home. The minutes and devotional were read by the secretary, Mrs. Lloyd Fulkerson, and Chairman, Mrs. Elbert Seigler. Refreshments were served to the five members and two visitors present, being Mesdames Lloyd Fulkerson, Elbert Seigler, Jack Edwards, Bill McCaghren, R. E. Campbell and Forrest Campbell and the hostess. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Lloyd Fulkerson at which time the quilts will be set together.

More Than the Comforts of Home For Mothers When They Travel

CHILDREN can be happier and more comfortable now on trains than they ever are at home for there is an increasing number of air conditioned trains, whereas there are relatively few residences, as yet, equipped with these desirable facilities for greater ease and better health.

The railways of the United States have been the greatest single factor in showing the general public the advantages of air conditioning. William B. Henderson, executive vice-president of the Air Conditioning Manufacturers' Association, recently pointed out.

The roads, furthermore, have not been content to rest with the addition of air conditioning as the final great improvement in their equipment. To the crew of every cross-country train of one popular line, for instance, has been added a competent, attractive young woman, a registered nurse, to cater to the women passengers, look after the youngsters.

With all the responsibilities of maternal care taken over by these willing helpers, mothers can relax, enjoy to the fullest, as they ride, the same comfort provided for them at home by enterprising and thoughtful theater managers, store proprietors and all the other business men who are air conditioning their establishments.

displayed is used advisedly) on a couch casket which revealed her whole attire. Somehow, it struck a discordant note, this very unconventional attire. It seemed so out of place under the existing macabre circumstances. It lacked dignity to say the least.

MUSSOLINI'S SON IN HOLLYWOOD

Mussolini's son, Vittorio, is the guest at this writing of Hal Roach the Producer of Hal Roach Comedies. The host's position is a delicate one. Eddie Cantor, Fredric March et al have come out very plainly in their attitude toward him. They resent his and his father's brutal slaughter of a defenseless nation, Ethiopia and their combined attitude towards the Jews and the Spanish situation. Hence the dissension in the camp. Notwithstanding all this, Hal Roach gave a party in his guest's honor and also to celebrate their own twentieth wedding anniversary. Much thought must have been expended in making out the list of the guests under the existing trying circumstances.

The other night at the theatre his picture was flashed on the screen and soon as young Mussolini started to speak most of his strongly accented English was lost on his auditors on account of the loud hissing thruout the audience. A police guard is always in attendance to protect him from molesters. Not an enviable state of affairs to say the least.

A GREAT PICTURE. "LOST HORIZON"

"Lost Horizon" is one of the finest pictures to come out of Hollywood. If you miss it you will have missed a picture truly great. The picture varies somewhat from Hilton's book. Concessions have been made in favor of popular entertainment. Its spiritual beauty, however, has been left intact. One glimpses in it a vision of "Utopia," a finer, better, fairer land where conditions obtain that are far better than in this "Vale of Tears." The picture strongly hints of significant spiritual things and forces removed from the ordinary ken.

The photography is a marvel of art. The views of the snowy, stormy mountain ranges and the wastes of Tibet contrast greatly with the sunny, calm, serene atmosphere of the Tibetan retreat. Symbolic, perhaps, of the storm and stress of present ordinary every-day life and the calm serenity and peace and beauty of "Utopia."

The cast, headed by Ronald Coleman, all acquit themselves well. The scene between Coleman and the High Lama is especially fine. The personality of this high Tibetan character two hundred years old will be indelibly impressed on your mind once you have seen the picture. One comes away after having witnessed this cinema treat with a fine, clean, exalted feeling and spiritual uplift that very few pictures ever inspire.

Again I urge you to see "Lost Horizon" when it comes your way if you appreciate what is fine and beautiful and decidedly out of the ordinary.

Four Corner Lake Waters To Be Saved

Fertile Land To Be Saved By Terrace Of Watershed

"Water! Water! Everywhere but in the right place," is the experience which has caused C. B. Whitten, County Attorney and prominent farmer of Motley County, to determine to put the elusive element back in its place or know the reason why.

Crops valued at four to five thousand dollars growing in the rich alluvial soil of three intermittent lake beds totaling 150 acres in area were destroyed when flooded by summer rains, while crops on higher land suffered from drouth in the same season. An extensive plan has been worked out in cooperation with County Agent Frank A. Buckley whereby the surplus water will be soaked into the upland to benefit crops and the lake beds will also be insured against the menace of summer floods.

Construction is nearly complete on the two hundred acres of the watershed of the historic Four Corners lake. Flood waters from a shallow draw which normally empties into the lake the drainage from several hundred acres of land lying to the north and west, will be diverted and distributed over a regular field by means of the "syrup-pan" system of level terraces as planned by Mr. Buckley. While the terraces are between two and three feet in height, they are fifty feet wide, and Mr. Whitten expects to work them with his grain machinery without difficulty.

Terracing of the remainder of the watershed of this lake awaits only the removal of summer crops from the land. The watershed of a large lake on Mr. Whitten's place three miles east of Matador will be the site of another extensive demonstration in the utilization of surplus water when harvest of the present crop clears the way for construction.

ON SICK LIST

Mrs. Harry Carter has been confined to her bed this week because of illness, having been stricken Saturday.

Mrs. W. M. Vaughn is seriously ill at her home in north Matador.

Mrs. Troy Drennon, who has been confined to her bed at the home of her father, Joe M. Gaines for the past several months, is reported to be in a very critical condition, with doubtful chances for recovery.

IN HOSPITAL

Miss Amy Glenn, teacher in Matador grade school has been compelled to relinquish her duties temporarily due to illness which resulted in her removal to Tra-week hospital last week. It was at first feared that an operation was imminent, from the seriousness of Miss Glen's condition. Mrs. J. L. Woodruff, Miss Glen's sister, is acting as substitute teacher during her absence.

Mrs. U. D. Patton, who underwent a minor operation at Tra-week Hospital last week, was removed to her home Tuesday.

"natural well," as it contains water. At one time a windmill was put over it.

A few years ago a man lost his wagon and team near the Pease river, northwest of town, while gathering feed. The "sink" occurred just as the team was passing over it. The hole dropped about 36 feet deep. One of the mules was killed, the other was so badly crippled that it had to be shot.

A few years ago a "sink" occurred on the John J. Richards ranch northwest of town, seemingly for no cause at all. It was near the edge of a field, but on pasture land.

This latest mishap in the Hackberry community is giving Mr. Brooks much concern, as it will take many tons of dirt to fill it up; and, to put it in the commissioner's own language, "Money is hard to get for extra road work

Age Assistance To End After October

Discontinuance of old age assistance after October, or a pro-rata reduction in grants, was forecast this week by the Texas Board of Control in an official communication addressed to State Representative Harry N. Graves.

The official statement indicated the possibility that payments to the needy aged might not be made in November, December, January and, probably, in February. Cause of the crises, as explained by the members of the Board of Control which is the Old Age Assistance Commission, is that all, or nearly all, of the present available state assistance funds will have to be used to take care of $1,627,900 owed a Dallas bank and due not later than January 1.

COTTE COUNTY HIGHWAY FALLS IN LARGE HOLE

PADUCAH—Texas, Oct 10—One dark night this week about 8 o'clock, one of Cottle county's soil trucks equalling Idaho's "sinking canyon," occurred about 200 yards west of the Hackberry school house in the southeast part of the county. The earth caved in at a point just where the road starts up a sand hill. It left a hole about 14 feet deep, 36 feet wide and 42 feet long in the middle of the highway.

Returning home from the Hackberry store, a weary car driver saw the new canyon and swerved enough to clear the front wheels. As the rear wheels passed over the edge, however, the earth took another "sink." The rate of speed at which the automobile was traveling was great enough that the rear wheels were jacking out of the sinking ground, but they left a track about eight inches deep in the ditching ground.

The occurrence frightened the passengers and they drove immediately to the home of Calvin Brooks, commissioner of precinct 4, and told him of the incident. Brooks rushed to the place with some lumber and fixed it off for the night. The units caved in even after he reached the spot. A heavy tractor and grader are now at work on this spot.

There have been a number of sinks of this nature over different sections of the county. The first one occurred 35 or 40 years ago about 12 miles southwest of Paducah. It was about 60 feet deep and has become known as the

A short time ago when Thelma Todd was buried her attire started a fad. She was laid out in pajamas. Miss Blackford, too, was similarly attired in white satin pajamas, pink negligee trimmed with white fur, and pink satin slippers. She was displayed (and

Smart Decorative Motif Balanced By Built-In Lighting

Adequate illumination for seeing, and decorative light for beauty, are combined in a variety of attractive forms in this smart library.

By Jean Prentice

DRAMATIC changes are becoming noticeable in home lighting. To the man and woman poring over blue prints of a new home, or to the family planning modernization of an older house, these developments suggest interesting possibilities.

Infinite Variety

Light, in its most advanced artistic expressions, may now be found flowing from built-in ceiling panels, from the tops of doors or windows, from windows in inside walls . . . and from other surprising places!

We are beginning to discover that light holds many possibilities for new decorative treatment in the home. Like the sculptor's clay, it is flexible and can be blended into the decorative scheme of a room.

For example, a small library or study is illustrated, where spaciousness is created by clever planning. A mirrored wall behind the lounge reflects the opposite side of the room. The grained walls have a stream-lined appearance and the bookshelves at the left are built-in.

Diffused Light Is Smooth

Stepping right in line with the design of the room is the built-in lighting in the ceiling. It takes up no additional space. A single metal trough (seen again in the mirror) conceals the bulbs. The light is directed to the rounded ceiling surface above the trough and reflected smoothly down on the entire length of the lounge.

Never, never should abundance of light be sacrificed for decorative effects in locations where it is needed for eye tasks. There is no sacrifice here. The lighting on the lounge meets the scientific standards for reading safely. It is of the required amount, well-diffused and without glare.

Glass Bricks Cleverly Used

Even from a reclining position on this lounge, a person does not subject his eyes to harmful glare.

Highly pleasing, too, in this room, is the lighted glass brick window which may be seen reflected in the mirror! Though really an inside wall, the window suggests the out-of-doors.

Back of the window is a small space between it and a second wall. Here on the floor are placed reflectors. These send some of their light up to the wall behind the window, to be reflected back on the glass blocks. They also send some of their light directly to the window.

Silhouetted against the window are a plant and books . . . graceful and pleasing additions to the decorative ensemble.

We regret that Betty Jo Simpson had to give up her position as pep squad leader because of the condition of her throat. Tom Nell Darsey was elected to take Betty Jo's place.

Improvement For School's Tennis Courts Is Urged

One of the greatest needs of this school in the athletic field is an improvement in the tennis courts. The school's tennis courts have never been satisfactory. Having only a surface of poor grade clay, the courts cannot be used for a week or more after a good rain. Gravel work out of the present surfacing becomes loose on the top of the ground, causing skid balls and making it difficult for quick movement. An asphalt court, good clay court, or even a caliche covering would eliminate most of these disadvantages.

It is surprising to note the number of students and teachers who play tennis. About thirty-five students played in the high school and grade school try-outs last season. There are many others who are also occasional players. This makes a number twice as large, if not larger, than the number who play basketball. Also in the past, tennis has cost the school less than any other popular sport. Basketball never pays for itself except in very successful years. Track costs the school many times as much as tennis.

There are many other reasons too numerous to mention why tennis should be kept "going" in the school.

The lack of good courts is hindering the progress of this very fine sport. There has already been some talk of getting first class courts. Let's pull together for this outstanding need!

Juniors In Try On Low Demerits

Band Is Guest Of Theatre Wednesday

The manager of the local theatre gave the Matador Band a theatre party last Wednesday night. A good comedy was showing, and everyone had a delightful time. The band members thank Mr. Dirickson for the excellent entertainment.

BEAT SPUR!

WE WONDER WHY—

1. Willie Fulfer always notices every thing Lela Carpenter does? (Maybe he thinks she's cute)
2. Moette Muse always sits by Dillon Mize in English class.

3. W. T. Marshall has a girl's bracelet. (Could it be Wandell Berryman's?)

4. Myrnaeve always watches what the seniors do. (Could it be Buddy Davis she is watching?)

5. Marion is so interested in a certain sophomore boy.

Fighting Spirit Of Matadors Is Lauded

From the standpoint of defense, the Matadors made a most remarkable showing against Turkey and Plainview. And as long as they fight to stay off their opponents as they did in these games, they will have the respect and admiration of all who really know the game of foot ball. While they do not occupy any fancied position in the conference race at this time, certainly they are not out of the picture. The Matadors can fight their way to the top yet. If alibies were the usual excuse foot ball teams use, the Matadors could present a colorful lot of them. Spur Bulldogs come to Matador this week. What a game that encounter promises to be!

The SNAPSHOT GUILD DO'S AND DON'TS

Give your camera half a chance and you'll get good snapshots.

It's really quite surprising the number of amateurs who go meekly along snapping pictures without giving any thought as to why their snapshots appear somewhat smudgy or cloudy.

If your snapshots can be classed with the above the chances are the trouble can be attributed to your own neglect and not to faulty construction of the camera.

A dirty lens, for example, will cause smudgy prints. A lens is the eye of your camera. Can you see clearly if your glasses are smudged by finger prints?

Cleaning a lens is a very simple operation. All you need is a soft, unstarched linen handkerchief and perhaps a match or pencil, if the lens is quite small. The rear surface of the lens can easily be reached by removing the back of the camera. If the camera has a double lens (one behind and one in front of the shutter diaphragm), the front combination may be removed by turning to the left, which will allow you to work through the shutter opening when set for "time," with the handkerchief over the end of the match or lead pencil. If the lens is quite dirty, breath on it and then rub quickly with the handkerchief. Be sure, when replacing the front lens to screw it back into the shutter as far as it will go. The suggestion to work through the shutter opening also applies to cleaning the front surface of single lens fitted to box cameras and certain folding models. Work carefully and don't exert too much pressure. It isn't necessary and might scratch the surface.

Taking it for granted that you have a clean lens and that your camera is in good mechanical condition let's discuss some "do's" and "don'ts."

With the familiar box type camera it is so easy unknowingly to have your finger extended slightly—or more so—over the lens. The result is obvious. You will have an unattractive black smudge over part of your picture. So keep your fingers away from the front of the lens.

Another error is a double exposure caused by failing to turn the film roll to the next number after snapping a picture. If you fail to turn it you may find, when your prints are returned, that quite miraculously grandma is sitting in her favorite chair out in the middle of a lake.

When using a focusing type camera be sure to set the lens at the correct distance mark, for if you don't the chances are that your picture will be out of focus and blurred.

World's Greatest and Smallest Meet In New York's Radio City Music Hall

SMALLEST vacuum cleaner ever made is this tiny model perfect instrument being examined in their dressing room by Jane Sproule, left, and Pauline Kaye, of the forty-two pretty girls who make up America's only permanent corps de ballet. They perform daily on the stage of Rockefeller Center's Radio City Music Hall in New York City, largest stage and theater in the world, before audiences that total 25,000 to 175,000 weekly.

Some idea of the minute nature of the vacuum cleaner may be had by comparing it with the lipstick and pencil photographed alongside it, yet it is as perfect in every detail as any vacuum cleaner of those with which millions of American housewives daily freshen their floor coverings, upholstery and draperies. The vacuum cleaner is a reproduction, exact in all respects, of a typical American home aid. It was made by an unidentified French craftsman, however, and was bought in Paris by Jules Charbneau, owner of a world-famed collection of miniature reproductions recently shown at the Music Hall.

OIL STOVE IS CAUSE OF FIRE

An oil stove exploding in the home of V. A. Pearson in northeast Matador was the cause of considerable fire loss Monday afternoon. The house, which is owned by Hugh Cook, is estimated to be damaged about $300, partially covered by insurance. Most of Mr. Pearson's property was saved, it was declared. Except for the efficient service of the Matador Fire Department, the house would have been a total loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearson were away from home at the time of the fire and their daughter returned home from school, lighted the oil stove, when it either exploded or ignited the building from the burner turned too high. The fire alarm was also turned in Friday when trash at the Spears Gin caused a damage estimated to amount to about $50. It was quickly brought under control by the fire department.

WEDDING RITES READ SATURDAY

Howard Edmondson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Edmondson of Matador, and Miss Bonnie Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Webb of Roaring Springs, were united in marriage in an impressive ceremony read by Rev. D. D. Denison, pastor of First Methodist Church of this city, Saturday evening, October 9, 1937. Mrs. Denison was the only attendant at the wedding, which was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage.

Mrs. Edmondson who was reared in the Roaring Springs community, graduated from Roaring Springs High School in 1935. The groom was born and reared in Matador and graduated from Matador High School in 1931, after which he was enrolled at North Texas Agricultural College at Arlington, Texas. Following a year at N. T. A. C. he returned to his home here and has since been connected with his father in business at Western Dry Goods Company. He is also a member of the Matador Volunteer Fire De-

Both young people have been held in highest esteem in their respective communities and are popular members of the younger groups both here and at Roaring Springs. Although their marriage terminates a courtship of over a year, it comes as no little surprise to their many friends.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Edmondson drove to Canyon where they visited with Miss Virginia Edmondson and Julian Edmondson, sister and brother of the groom, who are attending West Texas Teachers College. They returned to Matador Sunday and will make this their future home.
