Schools Open with Enrollment of 330

WITH the opening of school Tuesday, 330 students were enrolled in elementary grades and high school. One hundred and seven high school students were informed of several changes including semester test exemptions, nine weeks sessions and a four point grading system. In explaining the semester tests exemptions, Principal Wayland Moore stated that students with a C average would be exempt if they were present every day during the semester. Students with a B average may be absent one day, and with an A, two days to still be qualified for exemptions.

Instead of three terms of six weeks, semesters will be divided into four sessions of nine weeks. Progress reports will be sent to parents, Mr. Moore said.

A four point grading system is being initiated this year, the principal announced. Passing grades will be as follows: A, 100-90; B, 89-80; C, 79-70 and D, 69-60. Grades of 59 and below will be an F and a failing grade.

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

A friend who has been able to hold his age well, says he has always been too heavy for light work and too light for heavy work, so in the interest of his health, he has remained neutral.

If you would like a complete analysis of all the things that need correcting in the country, ask almost any Republican for his opinion of the Democratic convention.

Courage has always been a midwife to destiny; a respectable neighbor to duty.

My first pair of blue serge long trousers cost exactly the same price as an acceptable neck tie in today's market. Apparel prices have changed but so have other things, including myself.

Oil is efficient in appeasing troubled waters, unless it is contained in a poor grade of soft soap.

An inventory of friendships can become involved by those who owe you money and others to whom you owe money. Financing is best conducted beyond the realm of relatives and good friends.

Truth can be like daylight which requires no affidavit to its authenticity.

If you would arouse the emotions of a hippie, show him a river of water and the picture of a soap factory.

Many of life's tragedies are the result of moments of stress, pain and illness which block the path of normal behavior.

City Improving Street Paving

A continuous street paving program started last year by the City of Matador, has been resumed on south Eubank Street. The city is paving the strip between the existing paving to the curb, at a minimum cost to the property owner.

Work is being done by city employees, Mayor Freddie Welling declared, as time is available. City equipment is being used. The only cost to the property owner is that of materials.

Legion, Auxiliary Hear Wanda Matney

By Judy Marrs

"A Vietnam soldier's last letter to his parents stressed that it was up to every American to fight for the freedom we hold so dear. If we don't, the smell of free air could become damp as in a prison cell."

Wanda Matney made the above statements at the regular monthly covered dish supper meeting of the American Legion and Auxiliary Monday night, September 2.

Miss Matney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Matney, attended the Texas Farm Bureau Citizenship Seminar at Waco this summer.

"We have college professors making speeches advocating victory for Viet Cong Communists. The deans tell us that the students do not have to agree with their professors and should have already formed basic character traits and opinions. They are wrong! Our character is still developing at this age. We have been taught at home to respect our teachers and adults. We are attending school to learn!" Miss Matney declared.

She pointed out that World Wars I and II were won because "we are a God-loving nation. It is time to return to the spiritual and ethical values and renew our faith in God."

Miss Matney reminded voters this election year to "vote for the man who is the best and can do the most for our country," instead of someone who would only benefit one's own personal desires.

She concluded her speech by reading the "Creed of an American" by Dean Alfange, noted education, lawyer, soldier and author of "What America Means."

Officers Installed
American Legion and Auxiliary officers for the 1969 fiscal year were installed by Mayor Freddie Welling after the program.

Legion officers are W. C. Palmeyer, Post Commander; R. C. Giesecke, 1st vice commander; Ward Rattan, 2nd vice commander; W. W. Clements, 3rd vice commander; J. R. Whitworth, Adjutant and Finance Officer; E. B. Marrs, Child's Welfare Officer; Howard Traweck, Service Officer; Knox Jameson, Sergeant at Arms; J. Tom Hamilton, historian; Ed Lee, chaplain and Billy Wason, publicity officer.

Baptists to Have Guest Speaker and Billy Graham Film

Dr. Kenneth Theda of Wayland Baptist College, Plainview will preach Sunday morning at the First Baptist Church in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Larry Heard, who is in a revival meeting at Carlisle this week.

For the evening services, the Billy Graham film, "Lucia," will be shown, starting at 7:00 o'clock.

"Lucia" was made in its entirety in Buenos Aires, directed by World Wide Pictures' President, Dick Ross, and is a feature length sound-color motion picture.

The film deals with domestic discord and the romantic triangle, and what the Bible has to say in resolving the emotional problems that are the hallmark of 20th Century living.

The fire and excitement of gaucho folk music, South America's unmatched scenic grandeur and the excitement that belongs to one of the world's largest cities, are all enriched by full color and authentic sound.

"You will not want to miss either of these services," the pastor said, "everyone is cordially invited, and the church membership is urged to attend."

Rites Held for Mrs. Mitchell

Services for Mrs. J. D. Mitchell, 73, longtime resident of Roaring Springs, were held at 3 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church, Roaring Springs. Officiating were Rev. Robert Moore, pastor of McKenzie Terrace Baptist Church, Lubbock, and the pastor, Rev. Henry Rhynes.

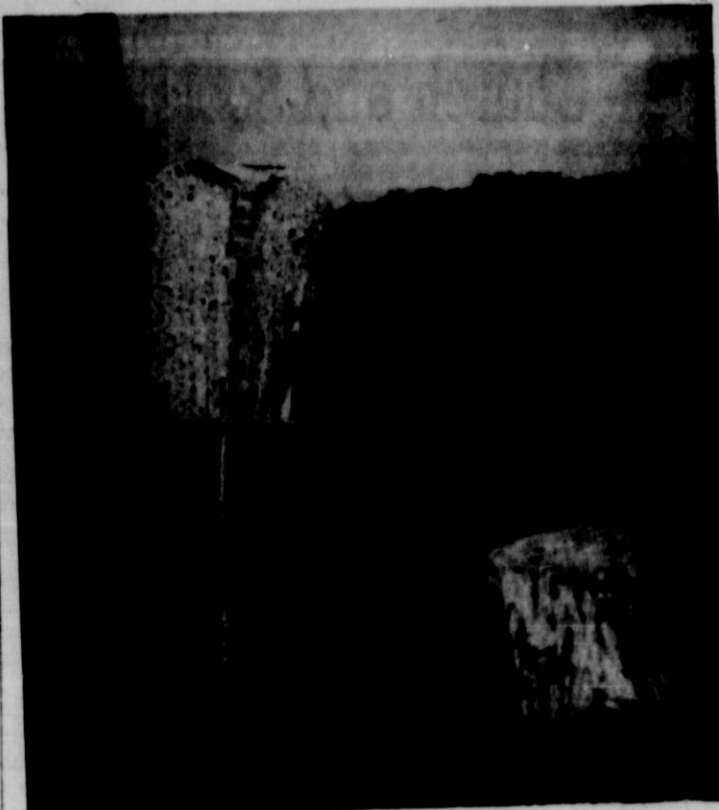

Burial was in the Roaring Springs Cemetery under direction of Seigler Funeral Home.

Mrs. Mitchell died Friday in the Crosbyton Hospital following a lengthy illness. She had been a member of the Baptist Church for many years, and taught the women's Sunday School class, as well as being active in other departments of the church. Tribute was paid to her memory as a dedicated christian and sympathetic neighbor.

The former Isabel Gerrels was born October 7, 1894, at Indian Gap, Hamilton County, Texas, and was married there July 25, 1915 to Judson D. Mitchell. They have made their home in Roaring Springs for 45 years, coming there in 1923. She passed away on August 30, at the age of 73 years, 10 months and 23 days.

Mrs. Mitchell was preceded in death by a son, Lt. Frank Norris Mitchell, "who died in service during World War II."

In the center of the trap is a small cage which contains male boll weevils. Female weevils are attracted by an odor from the males which causes them to fly into the trap. The blue panels of the trap are coated by an extremely sticky substance. Weevils as well as other insects are trapped. Boll weevils infestation is checked by the number caught over a given period of time. This method of checking weevils was first used in Mississippi. —Staff photo

Optimism Prevails In Coach's Report

HIS 1968 MATADORS still "an unknown quantity" Coach Max Kennedy Tuesday reported to the Matador Lions Club on the prospects of the current football season. The concise and detailed address was laced with the coach's confidence and optimism.

"Courtesy" Course Dates Announced

TOURNAMENT ANNOUNCED

A golf tournament for men and women will be held on the Airport golf course Sunday, Sept. 8, it was announced this week. Tee-off time will be 1:45 p.m. All golfers are invited to participate.

cited individual players who will face the 1968 Matador Matadors.

Coach Kennedy's optimism prevails despite the critical shortage of boys who have registered for football. With 27 enrolled, average workouts have numbered 14 or 15, but he feels confident the number will increase with the start of school and more boys are released from ranch and farm work. He is hopeful that he may eventually have a squad of 30.

The dynamic new coach believes the scrimmage Friday night (7:30) with the Silverton Owls (at Silverton) may provide a fair example of the Matadors' potential this season. The home team will meet Paducah at Paducah Sept. 13, and the first home game is with Crowell, Sept. 20, when the Lions will serve a pancake supper before game time. Matador is now in a new district, 2-B.

Assistant Introduced

Assistant Coach Glendell Smith was a guest at the Lions luncheon, as were the two 1968 Captains Don Cox and Darrell Marshall. Coach Kennedy was introduced by program sponsor Irvin Willard.

Lion President Ronnie Christian announced that the club directors did not hold the usual breakfast meeting Monday because of the Labor Day holiday.

Announcement was also made that all advertising had been sold on the 1968 football programs, with the total boosters of the Matadors exceeding previous years.

Be Careful With That Spray!

What happens to that cloud of mist you spray from an aerosol container?

If you could watch a greatly magnified view, you would see that it doesn't just evaporate into nothingness in the air. Instead, it settles on the nearest surfaces.

The mist may be breathed in by little children in the room. It may settle on uncovered dishes, on food being prepared, or on the tops of mugs of milk or glasses of soda pop. It will settle on counter tops, table tops, all of the surfaces where, when you have finished spraying, you may be working.

Be extra careful with sprays, whether using them inside or outside the house, says the Council on Family Health, a non-profit organization sponsored by members of the drug industry as a public service, to promote safety in the home and family health.

What's the first thing to do when using any spray? Read the label, read every word of it, and follow directions exactly. You may find that some insecticides contain flammable chemicals. The label may advise you not to smoke and to turn off any open fires such as stove burners when spraying.

You may be cautioned to spray away from yourself to avoid inhaling the insecticide. If you are using the spray out-of-doors, there may be a caution to stand upwind from the area into which you are spraying.

Before spraying, send the children out of the room. Out-of-doors, keep them at a good distance from the area being sprayed.

Cover or remove all exposed dishes and food. Cover or remove bird baths, dog dishes and fish bowls.

After spraying, wash counter and table tops before preparing food, or serving food on them.

When you have finished using the insecticide, or any other spray, store it out of sight and reach of small children.

COUNTY AGENT PALLEYER SAYS:

Fall seeding of wheat, oats and barley is still the recommended practice for top yields on the rolling plains. These small grains seeded during the fall have consistently outperformed spring seedings in tests at Denton, Chihuahua and Bushland. In fact, in most tests the yields of fall sown grains have been twice that of the spring-seeded crops.

Lower yields and quality from spring-seeded small grains result mainly from environmental factors. Spring-seeded crops must be seeded and become established during a period of generally low rainfall, cool temperatures, high winds and spring freezes. When spring sown, small grains should be seeded as soon as the danger of late freeze damage is past. Late seeding usually results in the crop reaching maturity during hot, dry weather. Also, rusts more frequently damage these late-maturing crops.

The grain quality of spring sown crops is usually poorer because of heat, drought and disease during the fruiting period. Furthermore, the total returns of spring-seeded crops are less than those fall-seeded since they furnish no revenue from winter grazing.

Tests of durum and hard red spring wheat varieties have been conducted at each of the above locations. The average yield of spring varieties has been about half that of winter wheat varieties. Furthermore, their lack of cold tolerance is a major hazard since they may be killed by late spring freezes.

Yields from spring-seeded oats have also been far below those seeded in the fall. In addition, the spring-seeded crop is usually later maturing and encounters greater danger from diseases, hot winds and limited moisture during the fruiting period.

The spring seeding of barley has been practiced only on the High Plains. Intermediate winter varieties such as Wintex and Cordova may be seeded in the fall or spring and are more cold tolerant than oats. True winter varieties of barley are similar in behavior to winter wheats in that they require a certain amount of cold weather to head normally. Such varieties should not be spring seeded.

Average yields from spring-seeded barley were again much lower than yields from barley seeded in the fall. In 1968 spring-sown barley yields were greatly reduced by barley yellow dwarf virus spread by greenbugs. Fall-sown barley escaped damage because it was approaching full growth before the disease occurred.

When fall seedings of wheat, oats or barley are winterkilled, spring seedings may be substituted. However, lower yields and lower quality may be expected.

Don't panic if you observe swarming termites in or near your house. Your house won't come crashing down around your ears just because termite swarms are present.

Winged termites are a definite sign of an infestation somewhere, but it may not necessarily mean that damage is being done. These wood infesting insects are capable of flying some distance and could be coming from surrounding infested structures or other wood in the soil.

The homeowner should keep a watchful eye for signs of possible termite infestation. Look for detached wings... they break off soon after swarming takes place and are usually present in the swarming area. Another important sign of termite infestation is shelter tubes. These are earthen tubes or runways built by termites on foundation walls, and are used as passageways to the wooden food source, protection against natural enemies and as a moisture conserving device. Check the foundation walls, both inside and out and particularly in the areas adjacent to bathrooms and kitchens where possible water leaks have occurred. Special attention should also be paid to areas around earthen-filled or wooden decked porches.

If you find that termites are setting up housekeeping, don't let this problem scare you into temporary do-it-yourself measures which may eventually cost more than dependable treatment by a pest control firm. It takes a long time for termites to cause further additional damage, so it will pay you to spend some time in selecting a pest control firm to do the work.

No reliable pest control operator will attempt to impress you with the urgency of immediate action. You will have ample time to investigate the reliability of the operator and to compare his diagnosis and estimate of cost with that of other operators. You may want to check with a Better Business Bureau Membership in a National or State pest control association is also evidence that the firm meets certain standards. Termite inspection requires much experience and knowledge about the habits of termites. A correct diagnosis is most essential to successful treatment.

A reliable operator will provide a plan of the inspected premises, indicating points of infestation and hazardous conditions, and a written statement of the work he proposes to do and its estimated cost. The homeowner should understand what obligations he is assuming and what he is getting in return. The lowest bidder may not be the most reliable operator. If his work is not thorough and based on well established principles of termite control, the results may prove to be the most expensive in the long run.

Due to the competitive price, wheat could become a suitable substitute for feed grain in the livestock ration.

Up to 50 per cent of the grain portion of the ration may be wheat. More than this is not advisable since wheat is a heavy feed and forms a paste in the mouth and stomach of the animal. Protein from wheat can be used as satisfactorily as protein from other sources in balancing a ration. Wheat has about 105 per cent the feeding value of corn.

The outer covering of wheat is hard, therefore it should be coarsely ground or rolled before feeding.

Care and attention are necessary to keep flowering annuals looking attractive until frost. Here are suggestions which can help do the job.

1. Remove all faded flowers to prevent seed production. If plants are allowed to set seed, the flowering period will be shortened.

2. Don't be alarmed if the plants wilt slightly in mid-afternoon. This is the natural method of preventing excessive moisture loss.

3. When soil is dry, water thoroughly, soaking the soil to a depth of 5 to 6 inches. Allow it to become slightly dry before watering again. Use a mulch to conserve moisture.

4. To encourage new growth, cut back drastically. This is especially true of petunias as they have a tendency to become tall and leggy.

5. Stake tall-growing annuals to prevent damage from high winds or heavy rains.

6. Maintain a disease prevention program to fight off mildew and leaf spots. A copy of MP-574, available from my office, lists other details.

7. Apply a complete fertilizer every 4 to 6 weeks.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

TOPIC: Keeping Good Records Throughout the country the IRS District Directors for the various states or areas hand out a lot of good tax advice. Some of the best advice is — "Keep good records and save tax dollars."

Every year thousands of Texans resolve to stop costing themselves money and to keep good records at the beginning of the year or as soon as they start to worry about their income tax during the year. It is not too late to make a July resolution to go on top of the New Year's resolution to at least do a good job of record keeping for the rest of the year. You may have missed some tax savings already, but maybe you can also make some tax savings during the rest of the year.

WASHINGTON AND Small Business

BY C. WILSON HARDER

Sacred Bureaucratic Jobs

Perhaps the American public is so overwhelmed by the disclosures about Vietnam, rioting and looting, juvenile delinquency, the hippies, the monetary crisis and other momentous events that they are what might be termed "soul weary."

It is perhaps strange that, unlike a bygone day, there is not a mass expression of revulsion against the excesses of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the official name of the War on Poverty people.

Congressional investigations have so far uncovered a deep festering cancer behind so many of OEO operations. Probably the most lurid is the financing by OEO of juvenile gangs in Chicago, and the allegations that even a church was used as an arsenal in which to store arms.

There is no question but what some poverty exists in the United States. How much of this is bona fide poverty among people who cannot help themselves, how much is poverty created by foolish and ridiculous government regulations, and how much is due to individual resistance to working and helping themselves is a moot question.

Yet, there seems to be but little question that despite the billions thrown around by the War on Poverty people, little, if any, good has been achieved.

Yet, until and unless there is a change on the political winds, little will be done to emasculate the whole sorry mess and adopt a common sense attitude toward solution of the problem.

Recently one of the most investigative writers for the Wall Street Journal released a story on the nomination of Bertrand Harding to be the Generalissimo of the War on Poverty, succeeding Sargent Shriver. The story is developed along the line that the new chief is bending every effort to pacify the irate Congressman so as to keep the War on Poverty bureau in operation, and thus justify the vast number of high paid jobs in its administration.

In the course of the article there is quoted an anonymous OEO official as saying "Harding, like the rest of OEO, now is concerned with the agency getting along in the Establishment. The idea is that we're all Feds together; present a united front of the bureaucracy against the people out there."

The people "out there," of course, are the taxpayers.

There is nothing so sacred to a bureaucrat as keeping the "people out there" taxed to keep the bureau's paycheck coming in. Insofar as accomplishing anything of value the credo is "Seek ye first a steady paycheck and all these things might possibly follow after."

Highlights and Sidelights FROM YOUR STATE CAPITAL

By Vern Sanford

Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Until this year no one could vote in any election in Texas unless he had lived in the state for a full year. "Not so now," says Secretary of State Roy R. Barrera.

As the result of a statute passed by the Texas Legislature in 1967, following voter approval of a constitutional amendment in 1966, voting rules have been changed.

Barrera, as the state's chief election officer, advises that any citizen of the United States, 21 years of age or older, who has resided in Texas less than one year and for at least 60 days as of the day of the election, who satisfies the conditions of a qualified voter in the state from whence he came to Texas and would have been qualified to vote had he remained there, may vote in the Presidential Election here this fall.

However, Barrera points out, the voter can not vote on any office except that of president and vice president of the United States.

Furthermore, he must apply for a ballot at the office of the county clerk in the county of his residence— sometime during a 15-day period beginning September 6. If the voter has an official document attesting to the fact that he was a registered voter in the state of his former residence, he should take that document with him when he applies for his ballot. This will eliminate the necessity of the clerk verifying eligibility at the place of his former residence.

It is important to note too, says Barrera, that once declared eligible to vote, the newcomer must cast his ballot in the county clerk's office—not on November 5, the general election date—but sometime during the 15-day period preceding the general election.

WALLACE CHAIRMAN IN AUSTIN—Bard Logan, State Chairman of the American Party and the George Wallace presidential campaign, has started a week-day schedule of working in Austin in American Party headquarters at 506 International Life Building.

"I have made my wife a 'political widow,'" Logan said, "I'm staying in Austin during the week and trying to get home to San Antonio weekends until the campaign gets too heavy, and she's running my business for me back home."

Logan denied reports that his party moved its headquarters from Austin to New Braunfels, explaining, "I presided at the official opening of the New Braunfels local headquarters, and some people thought we had moved there. But we have not. We are right here in Austin."

HIGHWAY PROGRAM—Texas Highway Commission announces a $60.6 million state Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm-to-Market-Road Improvement Program for 1969, including 1,177 projects in 224 counties.

Bulk of the work will serve to increase safety on the highways, and another large portion is for the reconstruction of highways and FM roads, including widening, improvements to shoulders and construction of improved surfacing.

In 1968, the program included 859 projects at a cost of $40 million.

ANTHRAX REPORTED—Texas Animal Health Commission has received a report on an outbreak of deadly anthrax disease in the area around the juncture of Val Verde, Kinney and Edwards Counties.

Nine premises have reported deaths from the disease among cattle, horses and deer.

Commission has also reported 696 screwworm cases confirmed in Texas in July. Mexico reported 1,982 cases in roughly the same period.

ADDING IT UP—Two California mathematicians-engineers are coming to Austin to begin computer work on the best ways to meet the problem of water shortages in Texas.

Their work comes under the water program being devised by the Texas Water Development Board. Simply stated, the mathematicians will work on a theoretical model of how Texas water resources can be best moved to where they are needed.

STATE INCOME TAX DISCUSSED—Constitutional Revision Commission finished its first full review of recommendations for a new constitution after a battle royal on the question of state income taxation.

Commission wound up recommending that the current provision allowing an income tax be retained, but there was considerable support for prohibiting income taxes.

Revenue and Taxation Committee, headed by George Wilson of Dallas president of Lone Star Steel Company, had recommended retention of the clause authorizing such a tax. But Wilson quickly joined forces with Houston Rep. Bill Archer during the full commission meeting in an effort to forbid income taxation.

Wilson said a prohibition on the income tax "would be helpful to our chambers of commerce in recruiting industry." San Antonio Mayor Walter McAllister termed income taxes "socialistic, communistic and Marxistic."

By a vote of 7-5 (most of the 25-man commission were absent or failed to vote) the prohibition of the income tax was approved. But Denton Rep. Alonzo Jamison forced reconsideration of the issue when he moved that the sales tax be limited to its current level, "if we are going to bind the hands of the legislature in the matter of one tax."

Wilson and Archer were strongly opposed to restricting the sales tax level but Dallas Times Herald Editor Felix McKnight, who had voted with Wilson, changed his mind and said he thought decisions on tax policy should not be made by a constitutional drafting body. He moved for reconsideration.

By a 10-2 vote the income tax prohibition was opened for reconsideration, and the prohibition on income tax was then defeated by a vote of 9-6.

Commission will meet again in late September to look after actual drafting work. The proposed charter will be submitted to the legislature in January.

COME TO CHURCH SUNDAY

Surcharge Tax To Be Included In Declaration

Individual taxpayers who previously filed declarations of estimated federal income tax for 1968 must now revise their estimates to reflect the new surcharge tax recently enacted in law, Ellis Campbell, Jr., IRS District Director for Northern Texas, said today. He also reminded taxpayers to file Form 1040 ES, declaration of estimated tax, if their federal income tax for 1968 will exceed their withholding by $40 or more.

Mr. Campbell said a new 1040 ES worksheet is now being developed to aid taxpayers in computing the amount of revised estimated tax. It will be mailed to taxpayers at the time they are billed for their third quarter installment due September 15. The worksheet will also be available at IRS offices around the first of September.

The new tax law imposes a 10 per cent annual surcharge tax retroactive to April 1 on individual tax returns. This means, Mr. Campbell said, that most taxpayers who file on a calendar year basis will be required to pay a 7½ per cent surcharge on federal income tax covering income received during 1968.

Taxpayers who previously based their 1968 estimate on tax paid during 1967 can no longer use this method after Sept. 15, Mr. Campbell said. The law now requires individuals to use "anticipated income" as the basis for computing estimated tax.

A new Form 1040FY will be sent to fiscal year taxpayers in time to file and pay the surcharge tax by the due date, Mr. Campbell said. Form 1040FY will also be available at IRS offices the first part of August.

Area Rural FHA Loans Available

There are many low and moderate income rural families living in sub-standard housing in Floyd and Motley counties. This need not be the case as housing credit is available from the Farmers Home Administration according to Alfred A. Harrison, County Supervisor.

stance to an elderly couple who had lost everything they had accumulated due to sickness in the family. The husband is unable to work and was not able to meet the rent of adequate modest housing. Due to his age money was not available from conventional credit. Farmers Home Administration loaned this couple funds to purchase a home with repayment of $34.00 per month.

A couple with seven children who works as farm labor and has been in Floyd County for twelve years had never owned a home or lived in a home with all modern conveniences or near school or churches, now own their own home that is adequate and modest with all modern conveniences near schools and churches. The monthly repayment is $33.00 enabling them to be taxpayers and have pride in ownership.

Farmers Home Administration housing loans are made to families unable to obtain credit from private sources at reasonable rates and terms and are tailored to individual needs. They can be made in the rural countryside on in towns up to 5,500 population.

It Pays To Creep Feed Beef Calves

Many beef cow men have found that by spending $7 to $8 per calf for a top creep feed for 90 to 100 days, they can get up to $15.00 per head more for their calves at weaning time.

Whether you're growing out feeder calves under range conditions or finishing slaughter calves on pasture, you will find it pays to creep feed.

Many ranchers say they like to creep feed because their calves wean easier, shrink less, are gentler and carry more bloom. Others have commented that calves are more uniform at weaning time with fewer tail-enders as a result. Some have listed the indirect benefits, such as more size in their replacement heifers.

Of course, to get the most from creep feeding, you need good beef type animals that will fatten when young. It will require time and patience for you to get calves started eating from a creep.

The best bet is to separate a few calves and place them in the creep. They'll act as decoys for the rest of the calves.

Here are some other tips on creep feeding that will increase your profit this year:

- (1) Locate your creep feeder near water holes, salt licks, or shade where cows and calves loaf regularly.
- (2) Calves will not go very far from their mothers for supplemental feed.
- (3) Mineral boxes should be attached to the end of the creep feeder.
- (4) More and more cattle producers find that if their creep feeds contain disease-fighting Aureomycin, they get greater growth and least-cost gains plus improved control of scours and foot rot.
- (5) At the end of a 112-day self-feeding trial in Colorado, calves receiving Aureomycin continuously in a creep feed weighed 61 pounds more than calves creep fed without the antibiotic. Result—the medicated calves averaged a 36 per cent greater daily gain and a 26 per cent improvement in feed efficiency.

Once started, creep rations should be available at all times. Calves will usually start eating creep feed at 3 to 4 weeks. No doubt about it, say many beef producers today—creep feeding tends to make a deeper, wider and beefier calf. Meaning—creep feeding more than pays for itself if handled properly from start to past weaning.

By David Anderson

AUSTIN, — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith went to Washington recently for the third time in his life.

President Johnson invited him to drop by the White House for a chat.

He told Smith he had been watching during Smith's 18 years in the Texas House, Senate and lieutenant governor's office.

"The thing that impresses me about you," Johnson said, "is that you always do better than anyone thought you would."

Someone else might have taken that as faint praise, but Smith took it as a compliment. "I don't want to sound like I'm bragging on myself, but I thought that pretty well summed it up," he said.

Doing Better At Career

With help from his twin angels — pluck and luck — Smith has made a career of doing better than expected.

He has been plucky enough to take some political gambles and lucky enough to win them. Now, at 56, he is the heavy favorite to achieve his lifetime goal, the governor's mansion.

Smith was eight when he first decided he wanted to be governor, and he was a most unlikely prospect.

He was the seventh of 13 children of a West Texas tenant farmer who had his children out in the fields at sunup with hoe in hand.

Smith worked his way through high school and college and got his financial start running service stations and movie theaters in Lubbock.

When he met his future wife, Ima, in a class at Texas Tech, she was engaged to marry someone else. With characteristic audacity Smith wooed her anyway and won.

His political career began in 1944 when he was elected to the Legislature, and continued through six years in the House, six in the Senate and six as lieutenant governor. Twice along the way he got beaten, but each time he came back.

Announced Against Connally

Last August he had the luck to announce for governor against incumbent John Connally, and five months later, the luck to see Connally drop out.

Now only Republican Paul Eggers stands between Smith and the governor's mansion.

The ideal politician today is supposed to be young, imaginative, handsome, telegenic, sophisticated, ambitious and rich. Smith is none of these.

He is short, stocky, bald and bespectacled. He gets up at 5:30 a.m. and does 20 minutes of push-ups, situps and other exercises.

He knows he does not come across well on television, so he avoids it.

The organ-grinders with their playful monkeys, laughing clowns with Keystone Kops props, and strolling Shakespearean Players are only part of the unannounced free entertainment on the 92.6-acre grounds.

Visitors walking towards pavilions for visits to interesting exhibits often stop and watch a shootout by a pair of Western gunslingers or a fast draw exhibition.

Plainview Set For Air Show

Plainview will be the site of the National Air Show on September 8, 1968. The show will be sponsored by the Plainview Kiwanis Club to help raise funds to retire the debt on the recently completed boys clubhouse adjacent to the airport.

The show will feature aerobatic flying, skydiving, military displays, antique aircraft displays, home-built aircraft displays, private aircraft displays, and exhibits from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Houston. Performing for the first time in this area will be Harold Krier, whose fabulous flying has captured the U.S.A. Precision Aerobatic Championship seven times.

Also appearing will be Charlie Hillard who last year edged Krier out of the National Championship by a scant 200 points and in so doing became the youngest pilot to ever win the title.

Special events during the show will be a hair-raising car to plane transfer by the National Air show professional stunt man (Pictured Above), a glider demonstration, and an attempted (!) flight of a 1929 Curtis-Wright pusher plane. Like the American Indian and the buffalo, the old fashioned bi-plane of yesteryear, with its colorful helmet and goggles, white-scarfed pilot is rapidly vanishing from the skies. These open-cockpit planes are now sadly passing out of the aviation picture and only a handful remain. Parents of today's children (who probably have never seen a bi-plane) might remember the old days when everyone flocked out to the local air patch to the air show. The Plainview Kiwanis Club will be bringing back a bit of yesteryear for residents of the Panhandle to enjoy while it is still possible.

Starting with a patriotic salute to America's Armed Forces in which a parachutist unfurls a giant American flag as he floats to earth while planes circle him trailing billowy white smoke and aerial bombs explode as the National Anthem is played and ending with Harold Krier flying upside-down to snare a red ribbon from between two poles a scant 20 feet from the ground at 140 miles per hour, it is a show that will never be forgotten.

There are so many highlights to the San Antonio World's Fair Vespucci and the controversial film on the world's largest screen at the United States Pavilion.

But, it takes a wandering fair visitor to discover the Swiss Boutique with walls of musical and cuckoo clocks, each set at different times to keep from driving the shopkeeper deaf.

CREED OF AN AMERICAN

By Dean Alfange
Noted Educator, Lawyer, Soldier and author of
"WHAT AMERICA MEANS"
I do not choose to be a common man.

It is my right to be uncommon—if I can.

I seek opportunity—not security.

I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me.

I want to take a calculated risk—to dream and to build—to fail and to succeed.

I refuse to barter incentive for dole.

I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence—the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of utopia.

I will not trade freedom for beneficence nor my dignity for a handout.

It is my heritage to think and act for myself, enjoy the benefit of my creations, and to face the world boldly and say: this I have done.

All this is what it means to be an American.

PALLMEYER RETURNS FROM GEORGIA CAMP

Hiway Improvement Slated for County

The Texas Highway Commission on August 26th approved the expenditure of $451,000 for highway safety and betterment in Motley County during 1969.

District Engineer V. J. McGee of Childress said that a total of 5.1 miles on State Highway 70, from the Dickens County Line North to Dutchman Creek Bridge, will be involved and will cover the purchase of right of way, widening, reconditioning and resurfacing. Work will be under the supervision of Algie Groves, Engineering Technician V, Matador, Texas.

The work is part of the Highway Commission's combined Farm to Market Road Improvement and State Highway Safety and Betterment Program for 1969 which involves the expenditure of $60.6 million State-wide.

The program includes 1,177 projects in 224 counties of the State. In all, 7,764.1 miles of highways and FM roads will undergo improvements. Sixty-two per cent of the work will be on US and State-numbered highways.

The bulk of the work will serve to increase safety on the highways. A large portion of the program is for the reconstruction of highways and FM roads, including such work as widening pavement and structures, improvements to shoulders and construction of improved surfacing.

Scope of the program this year has been expanded from the 1968 program passed last year. Last year, the program included 859 projects on a total of 5,182 miles. Cost of last year's program was $40 million.

J. H. Kuiltgen, chairman of the Highway Commission, said: "This program emphasizes the long-standing concern of the Texas Highway Commission and the Highway Department for the safety of those who use the highways."

Weevil Control Program Starts

For the fifth year the government Diapause Weevil Control program has been started in Motley County. County Agent Bill Pallmeyer says many fields are showing boll weevil infestation.

Spray planes were scheduled to start Tuesday but high winds prevented them from operating. Cost of spraying is 25c per bale, which means on half-bale cotton, the cost is 12 1/2c per acre.

Actual cost of weevil spraying is $1.05 per acre. Last year this area was sprayed seven times, which means the cost was $7.35 per acre, but cost the grower only 12 1/2c, according to Pallmeyer. Planes are operating from Buzz Field Air Port.
