STOPS HEAT COMING AND GOING

HOW to reduce to a minimum the heat escaping through walls and ceiling is of primary interest to every one contemplating building a home. Efficient, permanent, economical insulation of adequate thickness is the answer. No other investment you can make in the construction of your home will pay greater dividends in comfort and economy. Engineering tests show PALCO WOOL to be one of the most efficient of the accepted types of permanent insulation. By installing it as a barrier to the passage of heat, in walls and ceiling surrounding your living quarters, you will gain the following advantages in addition to summer coolness.

1. LOWER FUEL BILLS: Palco Wool reduces heat escaping thru walls and ceiling to a minimum, many users reporting savings on fuel bills alone that pay for the entire cost of insulation in a few years' time. You also have the satisfaction of seeing snow on your roof remain until melted by the sun, instead of by escaping heat.

2. COMFORT AND HEALTH: Palco Wool contributes to both comfort and health by making it easy to maintain even, uniform temperatures throughout. By keeping the walls warm, drafts are reduced and proper humidity can be maintained with little danger of condensation. It also eliminates floor drafts set up by warm air coming in contact with cold walls. Instead of the twelve to eighteen degrees difference between ceiling and floor temperatures of uninsulated houses, the difference is less than six degrees, thereby banishing "hot head, cold feet" discomfort.

3. SMALLER HEATING SYSTEM: Due to a greater utilization of heat, a smaller size heating system will suffice in a PALCO WOOL insulated house. A saving of five to fifteen per cent is often effected in the price of the heating plant, partly offsetting the cost of insulation.

4. MUFFLED NOISE: Objectional noises from street traffic, airplanes, train whistles and neighbors' radios are less noticeable when muffled by PALCO WOOL in the walls.

5. REDUCED FIRE HAZARDS: Creating a continuous fire-stop by completely filling the hollow spaces in the walls, PALCO WOOL provides an effective check against rapid-spreading fires. Also by eliminating the necessity of forcing the heating plant during cold spells, the danger from overheating flues is constantly lessened.

SINCE time immemorial, man has sought the shade of trees for protection against the devastating rays of the sun. Coming from the intense heat of a California valley into the cool, fern-clustered depths of a Red wood grove, one is almost startled at the delightful difference in temperature.

This same refreshing feeling is experience when you come from the torrid midday heat outside into the cool atmosphere of a house insulated with PALCO WOOL. With a four-inch thickness of this lightweight, fleecy material in the walls and ceiling surrounding the living quarters, heat is kept outside and the cool comfort of the Redwood grove is brought right into your home.

Thus Man and Nature have combined forces in transforming the durable bark of the Redwoods into a permanent, highly efficient insulation, so moderate in cost that practically everyone can have comfort indoors no matter how the sun beats down outside.

Thousands of enthusiastic users are now enjoying the benefits of PALCO WOOL insulation. Gone are stuffy bedrooms, sleepless nights, fagged-out nerves. Instead, their homes are cool retreats for daytime relaxation and restful sleep at night.

Many home owners report that PALCO WOOL insulation keeps their homes from fifteen to twenty degrees cooler on the hottest days. Air cooling systems function at their best with PALCO WOOL, making it possible to make weather to order at minimum operating expense.

While the value of PALCO WOOL in keeping living quarters cool and comfortable in summer cannot be measured in dollars and cents as it can in winter fuel savings, it assumes tangible value in the minds of prospective renters and buyers. Homes that have a reputation of maintaining cool comfort during the torrid heat are much more desirable than those with "bake-oven" rooms. Top-floor apartments, instead of having their natural advantages offset by excessive heat, command the premium they deserve.

Best of all, this cool summer comfort costs you nothing. Due to its high quality and low cost, PALCO WOOL soon pays for itself in winter fuel savings. If you install a cooling system, it will cut down the size of unit required and also reduce the cost of operation.

Child Welfare Association Begins Tenth Anniversary Year Here

SOCIAL ORGANIZATION HAS AIDED CITY'S UNDERPRIVILEGED CHILDREN

Beginning the tenth year since its organization, the Matador Child Welfare Association will meet next Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The program will include group singing, directed by Mrs. Thelma Dirickson and Mrs. Earl Laughlin; short talks on plans for the year by Mesdames A. C. Traveek, Jr., president; Charlie Keith, vice-president and program chairman; David Guest, third vice-president and finance chairman; Vernon Doss, fourth vice-president and welfare chairman; and Harold Jones, chairman of the luncheon. Mrs. George Springer will speak on, "Stand Behind Your Child," followed by social hour and refreshments.

Mrs. D. P. Keith is treasurer of the association. The offices of second vice-president and entertainment chairman, and secretary are unfilled at present. Superintendent B. F. Tunnell is chairman of the campus beautification program.

Theme for this year's work is "Growing Up in a Democracy." Meetings are held the second Wednesday of each month during the school session.

Organized by a group of Matador teachers and mothers in September, 1931, the association has steadily advanced during the past decade and is the city's only social organization aiding underprivileged children.

Past presidents include Mesdames Ellison S. Crider, H. H. Schweitzer, Fred G. Simpson, Frank Jameson, A. C. Traveek, Jr., F. F. Calhoun, D. E. Pitts, and B. F. Tunnell.

Beneficial Work Performed
Accomplishments of the Child Welfare Association include the following:

(1) Equipped and managed the school lunchroom. (2) Feeding of underprivileged children. (3) Purchase of library books for the school. (4) Bought pictures for schoolrooms. (5) Sponsors Hal-low'en Carnival. (6) Helps finance May Fetes.

(7) Purchase of schoolground equipment. (8) Aided clothing of underprivileged children for ten years. (9) Distributes toys to children at Christmas. (10) Sponsors annual Mother-Daughter banquet. (11) Furnishes magazines for use at school. (12) Aided purchase of new tennis courts.

Programs Outlined
Second meeting of the year will be October 8, and theme of the program will be "School Spirit." Included will be group singing; songs by Matador Pep Squad, directed by Miss Zona Beth Faulkner; talk, "How the Students, School, and Community Benefit from Football," B. F. Tunnell.

Other monthly programs are as follows: November 12, theme, "Education for Peace," group singing; songs, seventh grade; "Youth and World Peace," Judge G. E. Hamilton.

Lowell Sharbutt Is Married Recently In Dimmitt Ceremony

Word has been received here of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Harrison and Lowell Sharbutt, both of Dimmitt, in nuptials solemnized at that city Sunday morning, August 24. Rev. A. F. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dimmitt, officiated in the double ring ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Harrison.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Harrison, and the groom, former AAA assistant here, is a son of Mrs. C. L. Sharbutt of Levelland.

Wedding vows were exchanged before an improvised altar decorated with white clematis, orchid and pink asters. The bride wore a blue velveteen dress with black accessories and a corsage of white gladioli.

J. Rufus Emmons, county agricultural agent here served as best man. Maid of honor was Miss Polly Oswald of Pampa, who wore a tan and rose plaid wool frock with navy blue accessories. Her corsage was of Pickard gladioli.

Following an informal reception, the couple left on a trip to Ruidoso, N. M. The bride traveled in a rose ensemble with black accessories and a corsage of orchid pom-pom asters.

Mr. Sharbutt is a former student of Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene. The bride is a graduate of Post High School and attended Lippert's Business College in Plainview. The couple will be at home in Dimmitt.

Mrs. Emmons also attended the wedding ceremony.

LARGE CARNIVAL TO BE FEATURED AT LUBBOCK FAIR

LUBBOCK, Sept. 4—Featuring four shows that last year were outstanding at the New York World's Fair, the Beckman and Gerety Shows, one of the largest carnival companies in the United States, will present a new type of midway this season at the 28th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair here, October 6 to 11.

A full mile of glittering, streamlined, modernistic midway with 26 thrilling rides and 20 attractive tented theatres, have been combined by Bekman and Gerety to make their midway the nation's largest and most beautiful. More than 30 acres of amusement and thrills are illuminated by eight Deisel light towers that are visible for miles, thousands of bulbs and more than five miles of brilliantly colored neon tubing.

The four added attractions from the World's Fair include the celebrated Zorima Sun-Bathers, the show that played to more than 3,000,000 people last year and is now making its first tour of the larger fairs; Zorina was the most photographed woman in America last year, her picture being used by practically every magazine and newspaper in the country. Other featured attractions are the Midget Village, Wilson's Expedition Show, the London Glass House and Royal Ice Palace Skating Revue.

New attractions also include the Casa Rhumba show, an international revue with artists from "south of the border"; Gay Old New Orleans, negro show with 38 talented negro performers; Hollywood Monkey Circus; Shun-

Beckman and Gerety have played many of the larger state fairs this season, including Michigan, Kansas, Iowa and Oklahoma, and will go from Lubbock to the Louisiana State Fair at Shreveport. It is the largest carnival that has ever played on the South Plains.

Kitty Hawk Was Nothing Like This

DEARBORN, Mich.—Memories of the mechanical heartbreaks at Kitty Hawk returned for 73-year-old Charles Taylor (above) as he viewed this 2,000-horsepower airplane engine the Ford Rouge plant soon will produce for the army. Taylor was mechanic for Orville and Wilbur Wright when they tried and finally flew the first heavier-than-air plane in 1903 on the sand dunes of Kitty Hawk, N. C. He said the Wright plane was driven by a 200-pound engine that turned up only 12 horsepower. This mechanical giant weighs 2,350 pounds. Ford is rushing toward completion a $27,000,000 plant in which these powerful Pratt & Whitney engines will be built.

Dallasites Watch Bank Construction From Sidewalk Deck

Dallas' Mercantile National Bank is erecting a 30-story bank and office building at Main, Commerce and Ervay Streets in Dallas, and the whole town is talking and watching.

The Sidewalk Superintendents' Club membership is growing daily. More than 17,000 persons have watched the excavating from the gaily colored stand, in its first three weeks of operation.

"Their interest is more than appreciated," he said, almost as soon as the first dig into the hard blue limestone underlying the building site was made by a titanic steam shovel.

Result was a 50-foot "upper-deck" provided with seats and a canopy against Texas' summer sun. The deck is very much like that a-top a Gulf Coast fishing boat, and it is sheltering hundreds of people every day.

It was soon found that the 50-foot covering wasn't sufficient, so 26 feet more were added and the Sidewalk Superintendents' Club continues to grow.

Membership cards have been issued to more visiting foremen than you'd imagine, and by now they're being exhibited in many points thruout the United States and some foreign countries.

Mercantile Bank officials do not claim originality in the Sidewalk Superintendents' Club—but it does seem that the quarters of the Dallas Chapter are the most spacious that have been provided heretofore and a number of new features have been added.

Des Moines, Iowa, had the first one, at the site of the Construction Continues On Dallas' Mercantile National Bank

Bankers Life Building. New York's Rockefeller Center had a spectators' stand. So did Boston, with the famed Milk Street financial district the gathering place, when the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company erected its new building.

The lot fronts 200 feet on Ervay Street, by 120 each on Main and Commerce—24,000 square feet in all. Height of the completed building is to be 431 feet from ground-level to top cornice. It will have 30 floors and two basements. It is scheduled for completion by December, 1942.

At the present time, the Sidewalk Superintendents are engaged in watching blasting activities, and operations of the drag-line, or steam shovel. It is difficult to determine which is the more fascinating.

The modern use of dynamite in blasting can hardly be compared with former methods. The steam shovel, weighing a mere 90,000 pounds, goes into action and with a yawning bite scoops up one-and-one-quarter cubic yards of blasted rock, turns nimbly and accurately deposits its load into a waiting truck. This performance is repeated 60 times an hour.

The average depth of excavation is to be 35 feet which will require the removal of 33,000 cubic yards of rock. Thus, it requires no figuring to determine that the members of the Sidewalk Superintendents' Club have many hours of constructive watching in store for them.

Site of the new bank structure is an historic one from the local standpoint. Upon it, for 50 years, the Dallas Post Office stood. With completion of the New Federal Building and removal of the Post Office thereto, the old structure stood for some time, pending sale of the lot by the Government.

Several bids were submitted, but that of the Mercantile National—$607,000 according to the deed—was finally accepted. W. Bruce Luna, Postmaster up to 1938, recalls that the Government paid $11,000 for the lot back in the '80's.

And so there's prospect that the Dallas Sidewalk Superintendents' Club, an outstanding example of Southern hospitality, will be in session for some time yet to come—until, perhaps it may be necessary to provide members with telescopes with which to pick out top-most details of "A City in the Sky"—431 feet above the street level.

of the Alamo were a group of suicidal maniacs rather than have some Texas writer who knows Texas to do the writing. I have spent years in collecting Texas jokes and some of the best were appropriated in the article without so much as a "by your leave" or a word of acknowledgment.

A 10-year old boy turned in the following essay on "Cats":

"Cats and people are funny animals. Cats have four paws but only one mother. People have forefathers but only one mother. When a cat smells a rat, he gets excited; so do people. Cats carry tails and a lot of people carry tails, also. All cats have fur coats. Some people have fur coats and the ones that don't have fur coats say catty things about the ones who do have them." Matador, Texas

The changes that El Paso has undergone—and the picture is true in general of Texas cities and towns—is graphically set forth by William Moran, able editor of the El Paso Labor Advocate, who wrote this during prohibition days:

When I first came to El Paso it had ten banks and sixty-four saloons. Eggs were twenty cents a dozen. Texas street was an unpaved country road. Home buyers insisted on close-in locations. The valley struggled with Johnson grass, and dust storms made miserable the lives of the people. Road-houses were infamous.

The bungalow craze was just beginning. Beauty parlors, tourist camps, chain stores, auto laundries, bungalow courts, closed cars, home brew and bare-legged women were all unknown. Golf was at a minimum and bridge only understood in limited circles. Petting was done in the parlor and drinking was left to the men. Ash trays had achieved no gift popularity. The luncheon clubs were yet unborn. Self-expression was found in the kitchen and workshop. Daylight hours were filled with labor and night-time was undisturbed by the moan of the saxophone.

Horses were still to be seen on down-town streets, and people carried packages unashamed. Installment buying was but faintly developed. Homes were furnished in tearful taupes and mournful mauves; jazz decoration, rich colorings and rococo styles were evidences of crudeness and barbarity. The bathroom was unholly unless in white.

Gin had not yet become a household word. The cocktail shaker never appeared except at stag suppers, and people quit dancing after forty. Divorces were spoken of in whispers. The speed limit was fifteen miles an hour.

Today, where the horse-wrangler lately plied his trade, we have city-planning and zoning, stop streets, through streets, one-way streets and loading zones, with electric traffic control. Movies, talkies, co-operative apartments, tabulated public endeavors and card indexed charities are the rule of the day. Rayon has displaced cotton, and ice cream comes by wire. Few are too poor to ride and all are too proud to walk. Potatoes are peeled by electricity and furnaces fired by robot. Business men are whisked fifteen floors upward for a four-hour day in a five-day week. Surely civilization, on the border, has delighted, if not enriched the lives of the people.

"Cattle" will be the central theme of the 1941 State Fair of Texas, which isn't very far away—October 4 to 19. Two national beef cattle shows will be the feature of the $150,000 livestock division. In the National Hereford Show (the third consecutive year it has been held at the State Fair) $30,000 in prizes are offered and awards in the National Aberdeen-Angus Show total $10,000. The Hereford prizes represent the biggest amount ever offered by any fair in a single classification of livestock. It is declared by this columnist's old friend, E. Paul Jones, publicity director.

At least 400 head of Aberdeen-Angus are expected in Dallas for what will be the first national show ever held for the breed of black cattle.

But of course cattle are by no means all. When closely questioned the officials will admit that the 1941 State Fair will be the biggest and best yet—and they point to $17,500 in prize money for "the biggest farm show ever housed under a single roof"; $7,500 for poultry, besides the hobby show, culinary, textiles, flowers, pigeons and others—the grand total of prizes reaching the breath-taking figure of $150,000.

Sign in a cross-roads store: "If you spit on the floor at home, spit on the floor here. We want you to feel at home."

It'll soon be that time o' year when the following lines will be true:

"The naked hills lie wanlon to the breeze; The fields are nude, the groves unfrosted; Bare are the shivering limbs of shameless trees— What wonder is it that the corn is shocked?"

A good many readers have asked me to comment on the recent article about Texas which appeared in American Mercury (which used to be a right good magazine) and which was reprinted in Readers' Digest. It was just one more case of Eastern editors preferring to have an outsider pass thru Texas in a fast automobile and then write something to the effect that the heroes

BOYCE HOUSE'S BOOK, "OIL BOOM" HIGHLY PRAISED

"Oil Boom is a bully book packed with human stories and human characters," declared J. Frank Doble, famous Southwestern author, in commenting on the new book by Boyce House, whose column appears in over 200 Texas newspapers, including the Tribune.

Other typical comments on House's book: "A dramatic, graphic, quite readable, highly anecdotal, human interest narrative," Stanley E. Babb in Galveston News.

"Facts more thrilling than any fiction, melodrama wilder than any the movies have offered, history while it is still new enough to be free of legendary color—an epic glamorous and incredible—Hilton R. Greer in Dallas News.

"He has boiled down the material for a short story into a sentence; for an epic poem into a page; for a novel into a chapter," Paul Bolton in State Observer.

"Oil Boom is a splendid addition to any library, particularly a Texan's", State Press in Dallas News.

Drunken Driving Law Is Effective

Convictions for drunken driving in Texas have increased 340 per cent under the new law making this offense a misdemeanor, State Police Director Homer Garrison, Jr., reported today.

Two hundred and thirty driver's licenses were suspended or revoked upon conviction for driving while intoxicated between June 19, when the law became effective, and August 22. This compares with 50 suspensions in the same period last year.

Law enforcement officers and safety officials contended that the old law, under which a first offense was a felony, was so strict that enforcement fell down thru reluctance of juries and courts to send a defendant to the penitentiary. The recent Legislature enacted the new law which makes the first offense a misdemeanor punishable by automatic suspension of the driver's license for six months and a fine or jail sentence or both. The second offense becomes a felony punishable by a one-year suspension of the drivers license and a penitentiary sentence.

Eight convictions under the new law were for second offenses and one was for a third offense.

"These figures do not give an absolutely clear analysis of results obtained under the new law," Colonel Garrison pointed out, "because many city officers now are filing first offense cases in state courts, whereas they were previously filed in municipal courts. Nevertheless, the increase in convictions has been so overwhelming large that the new law apparently has already proven its effectiveness."

The SNAPSHOT GUIDE FRAMING

Greater appeal was obtained in this picture by using a hayrake as a frame for the subject. Watch for similar properties to your snapshots into good pictorial studies.

FIND a natural frame for your picture subjects, and, as a rule, you'll get more appealing and interesting snapshots. This is especially true when shooting a landscape, but can be very effectively used when snapping pictures of people.

A "frame" may be a doorway, an arch, or a branch of a tree framing one side and top of a scenic view. This adds depth or third dimension to a picture, aids in "holding it together," and often permits blocking out undesirable objects. It can also be used to concentrate attention on a subject which, without a frame, might appear "lost" or too small.

Consider the wheel of a hayrake as "frame," what might have been just another record snapshot of this young lady has been transformed into a novel, effective picture. The wheel is naturally large and accentuated because it is nearer to the camera than the subject. Wherever your eye strikes the photograph, it is immediately carried to her face, either by the spokes of the wheel or by the steel tire. In addition to adding a dramatic touch, the wheel also provides a medium for holding the picture together.

Note that both the wheel and girl are in sharp focus, accomplished by using a small opening to get as much light as possible. A medium filter, commonly called a "stopper," slipped over the lens, thereby separating the light of the clothing from the background.

Before you release the shutter on your next pictures, see if it is possible to border the subject with some type of frame. By framing around a tree near your subject, you can almost always find a branch that forms an arch center of interest. Or you can use an arch of a bridge, iron grille-work, or many things that can be used for framing.

Framing your subjects is easily acquired, and by using a frame you can often change even the most ordinary picture into a picture that has an artistic, pictorial quality. Try it and see if it does not give you more interest-compelling pictures.

Taxpayers, Save Money!

House Bill No. 76, passed recently by the Legislature and signed by the Governor, releases all penalty and interest on State and County Ad Valorem Taxes, both real and personal, that were delinquent before July 1, 1940.

If you have any such delinquent State and County Taxes, you may take advantage of this complete interest and penalty remission NOW by paying

ALL TAXES DUE

If a lien holder wants to pay all the delinquent taxes on the property on which he holds a lien, it will be necessary for him to pay a penalty of 6 per cent, unless all the taxes on all other property owned by the taxpayer, both personal and real, are paid at the same time. The above rule also applies to the owner of the property.

THIS LAW EXPIRES NOVEMBER 1, 1941

(The usual penalty will be collected on delinquent taxes for 1940, which must be paid at the same time other delinquent taxes are paid.)

To show your savings under this law, use the following figures to compute the usual penalty that would customarily be collected, and will again be in effect after November 1, 1941:

1934 and all Prior Years—44 per Cent	1937—26 Per Cent
1935—38 Per Cent	1938—20 Per Cent
1936—32 Per Cent	1939—16 Per Cent

Under the Penalty Remission Bill, all penalty and interest are released if all delinquent taxes are paid. If only a portion of the delinquent taxes are paid, the penalty is only 6%, as compared with the usual and customary penalty shown above.
