PRICE TEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

With the large number of publishers being kidnapped and being held for ransom, a friend says he has become alarmed. Recently a friend of his admitted thinking about kidnapping him and holding him for $15 ransom. The would-be kidnapper admitted, however, that he had had some second thoughts. In the first place he doubted that the newspaper could raise the money and in the second place he wondered if the publishing firm would pay that much to get him back.

You could look at the woman's eyes and feel that they must have shed a bucket of tears. They had left erosion on her cheeks and they betrayed a sadness that left an ache in the heart. Presently her husband brought two buckets of water and placed them on the back porch half shaded by wilting morning-glories. He was slightly stooped as if the suspenders on his overalls were pulling him forward. He was unshaven, and there were snuff stains at the corners of his mouth. He went out without speaking to his wife and scanned the blistering Kansas sky. The woman sliced some fat bacon and put it in a skillet and added a few chunks of coal to the fire. On the back edge of their half section a wooden tower rose against the skyline. The chugging of a steam engine could be heard in the drilling of a wildcat oil test. In the night two men came by the house and got the man out of bed, shouting that they had struck oil. He went with them, and the woman was alone with her thoughts, remaining awake until dawn, and other dawns until she wondered if he would ever return. Later a new car drove up to the unpainted house and she did not know the man that got out. It was her husband, clean and sparkling in new clothes. He picked her up and carried her to the car.

Time makes a great change in our problems. A friend was approached by relatives to buy a wig, and she emphatically refused, saying she was already having a difficult time keeping up with her teeth and glasses.

Morals may be colorful but if they lack sanctity, in the future they will perish like carcass eaten by worm.

Area May Be Excluded From Diapause Program

(Special to the Tribune)

Lack of cooperation from a few cotton producers located below the Caprock north of the Middle Pease River in Motley, Floyd, Briscoe and Hall Counties may cause this general area to be excluded from the High Plains

Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program in 1974. That is the action recommended by the program's Technical Advisory Committee, made up of the nation's leading entomologists in the field of weevil control.

Farmers have refused to allow as much as 15 percent of the cotton acreage in key locations within this area to be treated with insecticide in accordance with the schedule recommended by program entomologists, and this voids the primary principle which provides the basis for the program's success, reports Ed Dean, Field Service Director of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., the organization responsible for coordinating the program.

Saturday Is Youth Night In Revival

Dalton Havard of Texas City, serving as evangelist, is bringing soul-stirring messages at each service, and Ron Dixon, also of Texas City, is leading the singing in inspirational song services. Dr. Havard is pastor of the First Baptist Church in Texas City and Mr. Dixon is the Minister of Music and Youth at the same church.

In services Sunday night, starting at 6 o'clock, a special testimony will be given by Ray Lee Tinney of Dougherty. Rev. Leonard Sims, pastor, has announced.

Mr. Tinney crashed his spraying plane about five years ago and was so badly burned, no hope was given for his recovery. However, he survived the ordeal and will tell of his experience in a Christian witness.

The regular sermon will be by Dr. Havard and will conclude the week's revival. A cordial invitation is extended everyone, to attend the remaining services.

Mesquite Remains Problem On Ranges

DESPITE all the methods tried and being tried in the eradication of the pesky mesquite tree from Texas ranges, there is always plenty to sprout anew each spring.

The problem was the principal subject at Tuesday's regular luncheon-meeting of the Matador Lions, and was discussed by two men from Texas Tech University, Bill Dahl and Ronald Sosebe, who have made extensive studies of the tree in this area. They were introduced by program sponsor, Lion Vann Francis.

They showed a large number of slides, including several made in this area. The men said Texas A&M was the pioneer in the field of eradication. Their studies centered on chemical control of mesquite. They presented several interesting charts showing results of tests as affected by temperature, humidity, rainfall and such factors as the time of the year in which the chemicals are applied, and the results of various chemicals.

They said they found many surprising factors associated with the work of eradication, on which much depends in the West Texas cattle country. The attentive Lions audience apparently felt that all possible is being done to stop the mesquite, and that it eventually will be stopped.

Church and Society

El Progresso Club Entertains Guests

El Progresso Club met March 15 at the First Baptist Church for its annual Gentlemen's (and other guests) Evening.

Music in the auditorium, with Mrs. Douglas Meador at the organ, provided a continuing theme featuring St. Patrick's with several Irish tunes, as everyone was greeted in the foyer by the president, Mrs. R. E. Campbell Jr., with a "Faith and begorra!"

Invocation was given by Rev. Leonard Sims, and the buffet meal in the basement further contributed to the Irish theme with shamrocks in great abundance for decoration.

Mrs. Campbell welcomed the group with the program quotation: "I do not know what I may appear to the world; but to myself I seem to have been only a boy playing on the seashore, and diverting myself in now and then finding a smoother pebble or prettier shell than ordinary, whilst the great ocean of truth lay all undiscovered before me." Sir Isaac Newton in Brewster's Memoirs of Newton.

The program continued with Mrs. Furman Vinson reading Psalms 19:1-3. Mrs. W. N. Pipkin presented Furman Vinson, who, in turn introduced the speaker for the evening, Col. Haynes Baumgardner of Lubbock, who used the topic, "America in Space: Around the World, the Moon and Beyond."

"We should all show our appreciation to God for the freedom and bounty of the earth... this is a vast universe," Col. Baumgardner declared. He then described the earth's Galaxy, the solar system and the beginning of the space age.

"To me," he stated, "the most important events in the space program were Christmas Eve, 1968 when Frank Borman read from Genesis. In the beginning... and Neil Armstrong when he put the first foot on the moon, stating 'That's one small step for man; one giant leap for mankind.'"

He credited Russia and the Sputnik as the beginning of the space age in 1957, and pointed out that "our first man to orbit the earth was John Glenn."

He briefly outlined the future space program and said that the Russians and United States "will send up individual space ships and work in each other's space stations."

"As we know it now the space age has created the most peaceful time since the era of 1916-1917," Col. Baumgardner declared. "Next year, we will land a space vehicle on Mars to do research... by 1978-79 we will have the space shuttle with reusable vehicles. They predict 700 flights over the next 12 years after this shuttle system is launched."

Regarding the benefits of the space explorations to "common folk," he cited the weather satellite and its significance to the farmers, the shipping industry and travelers the world over. "It saves the farmers and fuel producers $2,000,000,000 annually by letting them know what is coming in the way of weather," he said. "Another feature is in the field of satellite research, including geodetic and communications... concrete dollar estimates cannot be given in the space program, but international unity has had a far reaching impact on the world through it."

He cited further the various household wares (Corning, see-through plastics, Teflon, freeze dried foods, electric watch batteries and the switch used on wheelchairs) as other examples resulting from space age experiments.

For this most informative and inspirational talk, Col. Baumgardner was given a warm applause and presented a gift by the club president.

The group sang "God Bless America," and the Inspirational Thought and benediction was given by Rev. Douglas Gossett.

The meal of Plantation chicken, green beans, green congealed salad and tossed salad, rolls, pie, coffee and tea was prepared by a food committee composed of Mrs. Harold Campbell, chairman, with Mesdames J. M. Hill Jr., Freeman Thacker and Grace McDowell serving with her. The decorations committee was headed by Mrs. Robert Darsey and serving with her were Mesdames Frank Pohl, Furman Vinson and W. F. Mrs. Billy Wason assisted Mrs. Price in greeting the guests, and others assisting with hospitalities were Mrs. L. B. Campbell and Mrs. Ralph Jones.

World Day Of Prayer Observed

STUDIES ABOUT THE BIBLE

The scripture (Heb. 7:22) says that Christ is the "guarantee" of a "Better" covenant. This should make everybody happy. Under the New Covenant our sins are definitely forgiven. How is the New Covenant better than the Old Covenant?

First: The priesthood was changed from Aaron to Christ. Second: The blood of Christ has more power over sins than the blood of animals. Third: Our high priest, Christ, has entered into the greatest holy place of all - heaven, Heb. 9:24. For Christ did not enter a holy place made with hands, a mere copy of the true one, but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us.

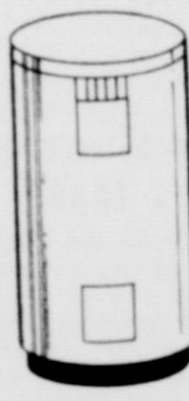

Fourth: The Old Law could not satisfy the human conscience, Heb. 9:9... according to which both gifts and sacrifices are offered which cannot make the worshiper perfect in conscience... Note the words "cannot make." Now listen while the scripture says the New Covenant does bring in a better hope than the Old, Heb. 7:19... (for the Law made nothing perfect), and on the other hand there is a bringing in of a better hope, through which we draw near to God. In speaking of the New Law James writes, 1:25. But one who looks intently at the perfect law, the law of liberty, and abides by it, not having become a forgetful hearer but an effectual doer, this man shall be blessed in what he does.

Fifth: If the Old Law, a temporal and temporary covenant, had been perfect to the satisfaction of God, He would not have "willed" that Christ take it away, Heb. 8:7. For if the first covenant had been faultless, there would have been no occasion for a second. The Old Law was "set aside" because of its weakness, Heb. 7:18. For, on the one hand, there is a setting aside of a former commandment because of its weakness and uselessness...

6 WAYS TO CONSERVE AND SAVE ON WATER HEATERS

- Normally the quantity of Hot water used in a household is about 1/4 to 1/3 of the total water usage. Here are some suggestions that can help you get the most out of your water heater.
 - With a little planning, you can arrange to wash only full loads of clothing in your washer and full loads of dishes in your dishwasher. Less than full loads consumes energy and wastes water needlessly.
 - To assure long life and efficiency, the water heater tank should have a small amount of water drained periodically. Once a month should be adequate. The purpose of draining water from the tank is to prevent sediment build-up in the tank bottom.
 - A water heater that's old, or too small for your family needs, can be wasteful because it's working too hard and using too much energy to keep up with your hot water demands.
 - It's amazing how much water a leaky faucet will drip in a month's time and if the leaking faucet is a hot water faucet, it will waste both energy and water needlessly. As an example, a faucet dripping 90 drops per minute, will waste 300 gallons per month.
 - The thermostat controlling the water temperature is pre-set at the factory to deliver hot water at 150°F. This setting has proven most satisfactory from the standpoint of operating cost and household needs.
 - The thermostat can be adjusted to provide warmer or cooler water temperatures. The thermostats are clearly marked for easy adjustment to increase or decrease the water temperature.

Pork Referendum and Producer Board Election

Being certified by the Commissioner of Agriculture of the State of Texas for this purpose, the Texas Pork Producers Association, 2422 Taho, Sherman, Texas 75090, proposes a referendum election on May 14, 1974 under provision of Article 55c, Vernon's Civil Statutes, on the proposition of whether or not the pork producers in the State of Texas shall assess themselves a maximum amount of 10 cents per head on all slaughter animals to be collected at the point of first processing or sale and to elect members of a 15 member commodity producers board to administer proceeds of such assessment to be used for research, predator control, disease and insect control, education, and promotion designed to encourage the production, marketing, and use of pork.

The referendum and election will be held by mail ballot which will be provided to all eligible voters not later than 15 days prior to the election. Ballots must be mailed to the polling place at Sherman, Texas before midnight on the date of the election.

Any person within this state engaged in the business of producing, or causing to be produced, slaughter hogs for commercial purposes is eligible to vote, including owners of farms and their tenants and sharecroppers, if such person would be required to pay the assessment proposed.

Any person qualified to vote at the referendum may place his name in nomination for membership on the proposed commodity producers board by application to the above or at least ten other persons eligible to vote in the referendum. Such applications must be filed at least 30 days prior to the election date.

Any person qualified to vote who does not receive a ballot prior to April 30, 1974 may obtain one at his local County Agent's Office.
