TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

After a lifetime of research I have achieved the meridian of personal satisfaction; a dictionary in error. It was, of course, necessary to prove it by another dictionary. Despite its error the book is interesting reading. Everything that has been said and written is between its covers except some of the terms used frequently to express mental thoughts.

When excitement struck the thousands packed close in the great coliseum they breathed as if a wounded animal. It was as if all their hearts beat as one great heart and their voices spoke as one voice. There was a melancholy shadow on the hour for never in all life would they meet again. Here the delicate threads of humanity were woven into a carpet to cushion for a moment the heavy chariot wheels of time. Brought together with a common interest they tasted the cool waters of pleasure from the same pail; the pod and meek, the murderer and the thief. Each with his personal sins and prayers; the surging and fears, loves and bitterness were pressed tight in the embrace of society. Here the throngs rose like a mighty tide, yet when measured with the rule of unknown eons they would fall as a raindrop into the waters of a shoreless sea.

Dreaming in the cool shadows of low adobe walls, the wrinkled old man watched the purple Guatemalan mountains through squinted eyes. His bare, calloused feet rested on the cool paving stones worn hollow by the treading sandals and bare feet of countless thousands who had hurried on. His hair was white with a glint of copper around the edges; his hands were bones covered with rough brown skin. He never turned to look at the feet of those who passed him. He seemed alone with his thoughts, and content. Perhaps the world offers no greater riches.

Without wishing to wear the prophet's robe, the man in the street might observe that the Air Force and Navy seem to be straggling the scenes for another Pearl Harbor, with an atomic motif.

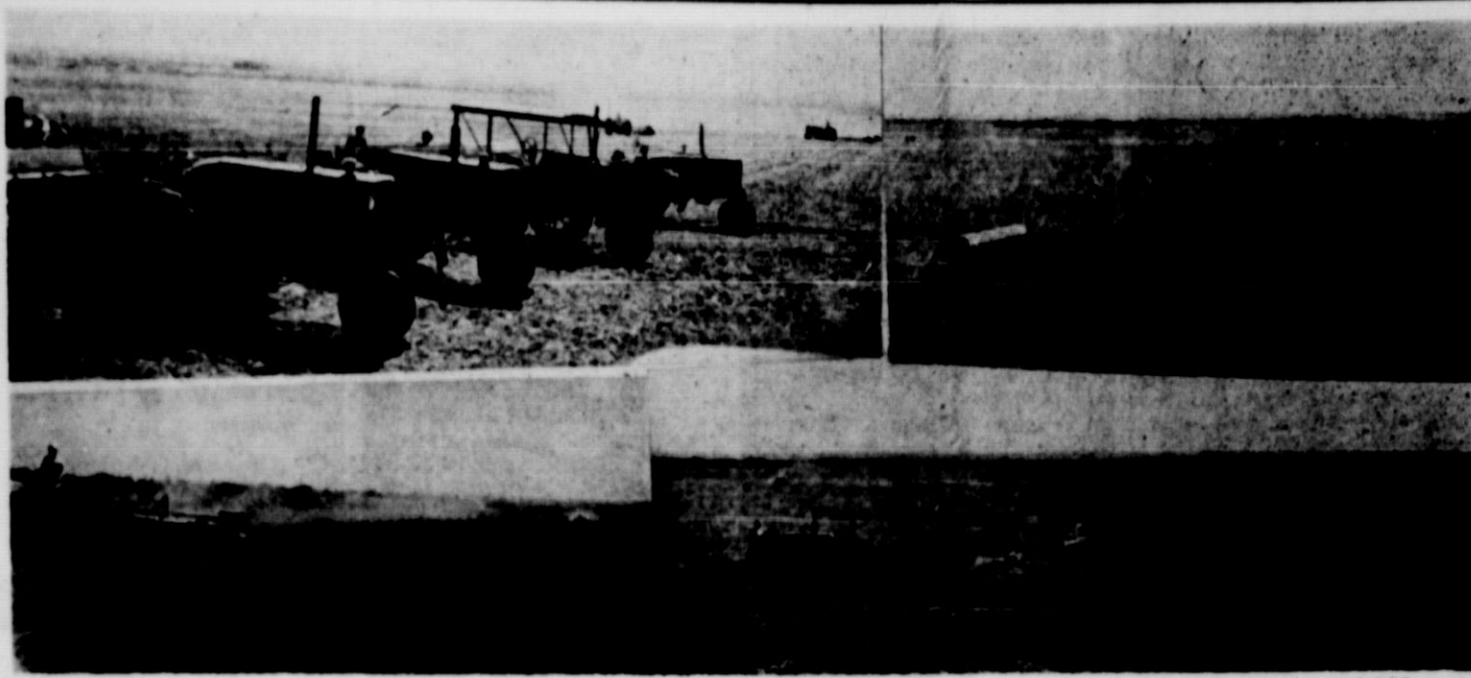

A melancholy voice is in the trees, like the whispering of a hopeless lover who tries to find balm in solitude. Altho no frost has settled on the leaves, many have faded and fallen as if death were greater than the desire to live the season to its end. And the yellow leaves follow the wind's bidding like men who have surrendered the courage to pursue their chosen courses.

Life must be easy. Many times when it strikes a man it will tread his posture, form with hob-nailed shoes, while he is still struggling to regain his breath, rather than bring another to his knees.

MATADOR TO HAVE FLOWER-GIFT SHOP

Formal opening of a flower-gift shop here is announced by Mrs. L. R. Bishop. The shop, located in the L. R. Bishop Feed and Seed store on the east side of the square, will open Saturday and each lady visitor will receive a small corsage as a favor. Also a number of gifts will be presented to fortunate visitors at 5 p. m.

Mrs. Bishop said the stock would include cut flowers, pot plants, artificial wreaths, ivy, arrangements and gifts. Telephone numbers are 52-R and 114-J.

FRATERNITY OF FRIENDSHIP is meeting in the above pictures when neighbors two weeks ago plowed and planted 200 acres of wheat for Ed Whitaker in the Whiteflag community. Mr. Whitaker is ill and unable to tend his farm. At one time 21 tractors were working in the field. The wheatland was one-wayed and re-one-wayed, then planted. Upper left picture shows a group of tractors and drills waiting for seed wheat. Upper right shows a wheat drill in operation. The lower left picture shows tractors and one-ways in operation. Lower right picture shows about 15 of the 21 tractors at work. (Douglas Meador photo).

Matadors Drop Third Conference

Defeat rode with the Matador Matadors to the Staked Plains Friday night where the Ralls Jackrabbits were active in assisting them to drop the third conference try, 27 to nothing. Unable to penetrate the hefty Hare line, the Matadors resorted to aerial tactics, with Sappo Giesecke tossing the pork skin to Grady Phillips and Jodie Graham. Nice try and several exciting threats. The Hares were in the lead by two td's at the half-time.

Sappo Giesecke, Jodie Graham and Grady Phillips turned in great performances with Phillips especially shining in the blocking department.

Bad luck was also with the Matador pep squad which, because of bus trouble, did not reach the gridiron until the second half.

Friday night the Matadors make another try on the conference calendar when they mix with the Tullia Hornets at Tullia. The Hornets' score for the season at present is two wins and three losses.

Parents Invited To Meet With Teachers To Discuss Pupils

Parents of Matador Public School children will be invited to meet with the teacher of each child and discuss the reports and work of each particular pupil during the seventh week of the school year, from October 17 to 21, according to an announcement made this week by Superintendent Bert Ezzell.

The meeting will be in private with each teacher, and parents will be given a complete picture of the child's school work. The child's score on mental ability and general achievement tests will be available as permanent health record. Miss Ruth Jameson, school nurse, will conduct most of the health examinations.

"It is felt by both teachers and patrons that if the parent and teacher can meet and discuss each child individually, a better understanding of what the child needs will result and thus will make for much better work and development by the student," Mr. Ezzell declared.

Specific dates for these conferences have been set for Thursday and Friday, October 13 and 14, when the pupils will be dismissed at 1:00 o'clock, and the parents will gather to meet with the teachers, Mr. Ezzell announced.

Parents will be mailed a notice on the 18th, advising them the exact hour and day that they should meet with the teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Colquet Warren left Friday for Mineral Wells, where they are spending a week.

RAILROAD HEARING SCHEDULED TO BE HELD IN PADUCAH

Texas Railroad Commission hearing to consider the Quana, Acme & Pacific Railway company application to discontinue trains Nos. 1 and 2 will be held in the Cottle county courthouse at Paducah, November 3. The hearing will start at 10 a. m.

A copy of the docket order No. 1079-R received this week by the Tribune contains the following excerpt: "The commission will, at said hearing, hear all evidence and statements that may be presented in favor of and in opposition to granting of the application and will, in pursuance of said hearing and the facts there presented, enter such order or orders as, in its opinion, will be just, proper and equitable to all parties concerned."

The statement was dated October 5th and signed by commissioners Olin Cluberson and Ernest O. Thompson.

Plans Underway For Meeting Of Motley Singers

Plans are underway for the semi-annual meeting of the Motley County Singing Convention which will be held at Roaring Springs, next Sunday, October 16, according to an announcement made this week by the president, F. M. Casey.

The meeting will be held at the Roaring Springs school auditorium, and will begin at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

Roaring Springs Lions Club will furnish drinks and bread for the "dinner on the ground" which the visitors will bring with them.

A large crowd is expected for the event, and good singing is on the program for the day. Everyone is invited to attend.

County Agent Gets Free Denver Trip

Add to the First State bank's long list of satisfied customers, one county agent, J. R. Emmons, who has been satisfied with Altho he has been satisfied with the Matador financial institution's service since coming here ten years ago, he has returned to Denver a one-man public relations committee. Cause of his present attitude is:

The bank paid the entire cost of his trip to Denver, October 3, 4 and 5th to attend the National County Agents Association convention where he received the Texas county agent Service Award.

Elmer Stearns, vice-president of the bank, said trip expense was paid as an expression of appreciation to Emmons for his untiring services in aiding farmers and stockmen of the county during the ten years he has been stationed here.

Help Wanted: Pay Good, Work Heavy

Need For Pullers Now Approaching A Crisis

Submerged in a sea of white cotton fields, Motley county is ready to harvest the largest crop in history but any hope of sufficient labor is out of the question. Good pullers are earning $10 to $15 and more daily but too few are available.

STREET MARKERS ARRIVE; NUMBER SALE BOGS DOWN

Markers (metal name plates) for all open streets in Matador have arrived but their erection will be delayed until the bogged-down drive by members of Matador Lions club is completed.

Many members of the club still have their entire assignment of seven property-owners to contact. Confused business and residence property-owners are trying to find the Lions members who have their names on assignment so they can purchase the numbers. It is estimated that the sale of numbers is little more than half completed due to the apathy of many club members.

At present the club is in the red on the deal more than $160 and sufficient money must be raised to purchase 2x2x1-inch angle iron posts. The club treasury "loaned" $90 for the purchase of the original numbers and then made up a deficit of about $70 on the collections, to get the order in process of manufacture as soon as possible.

Members of the Lions club are rechecking the assignments in order to expedite the sale of numbers ($2.50 for each home and business place). The markers cannot be erected until sufficient money has been collected to purchase the angle-iron posts. Installation will be made by the city.

Two markers will be erected in the downtown section within the next few days so the public may see the type which will be at each open intersection as soon as the drive is completed. Purchase of numbers is voluntary. Plan is financed by difference of number cost and selling price.

FARM BUREAU TO OPEN DRIVE FOR NEW MEMBERS

Strategy was outlined Thursday evening by Motley County Farm Bureau leaders at a "Captains' Supper" held at the Matador school lunch room, to assure success in the farm organization's membership drive which will open October 20.

Goal set for the drive, which will continue seven days, is 500 members in the county, according to Ben Edwards, president. Goal for the state drive being conducted during the same period, is 700,000.

Team captains and solicitors will meet in the lunch room again on the evening of October 20 for the kick-off meeting.

Two radios will be in readiness to bring workers the network address of J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation which will be heard over the Texas Lone Star stations, KGNC and KFYO. President Hammond's address will be made in Waco and it is expected 10,000 workers assembled in 200 counties, will hear him. The 30-minute broadcast will include the addresses of other state bureau leaders.

"Farm Bureau is an organization of, by and for farmers," Edwards declared, "and its chief job is to maintain farm prices. To accomplish this, farmers must have organization strong enough today to adopt and maintain an agricultural program that will stabilize the prices of farm products, which will in turn stabilize business and industry."

DATE CHANGED FOR DEDICATION OF NEW COURTHOUSE

Dedication ceremonies for the new courthouse will be held Tuesday night, October 25, at 7:15 o'clock, instead of Thursday night, October 20, as previously announced, according to a change in plans made public this week by County Judge C. W. Giesecke.

The change was made after it was learned that a number of other events had already been scheduled over the county for next Thursday, which would interfere with attendance at the dedication ceremonies.

A football game at Roaring Springs, a banquet at Flomot, Eastern Star meeting at Matador which will be attended by state dignitaries, and a meeting of the Farm Bureau here, are among the affairs already on the county's social calendar for the 20th.

Original program for the dedication will be carried out, Judge Giesecke said. Only the date is changed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Rushing attended funeral services Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Abilene for their son-in-law, C. P. Ivey, 43, who died in St. Ann Hospital Friday, October 7. He had been in failing health the past five years, and bedfast for the past six weeks.

SUMMER ENCORE IS FOLLOWED BY COOL AND FAIR WEATHER

SUDDEN impulse of summer to return Saturday evening for an encore, replete with rain, hail, wind and lightning, resulted in destruction of an estimated 2,000 to 3,000 bales of open cotton. County agent J. R. Emmons said it was impossible to estimate the amount of damage to cotton still in the green boll.

Returning to the stage again Sunday evening the weather threatened to repeat Saturday's performance but dissipated with little more than high wind and .05-inch rainfall registered here. One report of a tornado-shaped cloud east of town Sunday brought no reports of damage.

The Saturday evening rain, wind and hail storm struck with sudden fury and dumped 1.34 inches of rainfall within 22 minutes, flooding every section of the community. Hail accompanied the rain and damaged most of the neon signs in the business section and in some instances broke window panes. During the height of the storm a short developed in the fire department alarm system causing the fire siren to sound. Many residents believed the siren a signal that a tornado was approaching. The heavy hail storm destroyed flowers and left a carpet of leaves under trees in Matador. Traveling a path about 2-miles wide the hail left Nelson McMahan northeast of town with an estimated 90% damage to his cotton. Tutt Garnett in the hail area said he had 12 bales open when the storm struck and he now estimates he will gather four. It is believed that green bolls bruised by hail stones will sour before opening or produce a faulty grade of lint.

The entire Panhandle felt the "out-of-season" storm. Much damage in Amarillo and as far south as Lubbock. Tornadoes were reported near Claude and Brownfield Sunday night. The twisters were small and resulted in little damage. Rainfall in the county during the two storm evenings ranged from showers to 2 inches at Flomot.

Lower temperatures and fair weather followed the storm front with Dalhart in the north Panhandle reporting light frost Wednesday morning.

LOOPHOLES in the Law

By WILL WILSON

District Attorney of Dallas County

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of short case histories all taken from court records, showing how legal loopholes often enable criminals to escape punishment in Texas. Will Wilson is chairman of a special steering committee of the State Bar, which is working for revision of the antiquated Criminal Procedure in order to eliminate loopholes in Code of Criminal these loopholes.)

Mr. Homeowner went out for a short while, neglecting to close the front door of his private residence. The entrance was completely open, and during Mr. Homeowner's absence Light fingered Harry came in and started picking up articles that suited his fancy.

Just as Harry had his arms pretty well loaded, he heard a noise behind him. He whirled around to see Mr. Homeowner standing in front of him. Harry dodged past the owner of the house, ran out the front door, which was still open, and disappeared with a number of Mr. Homeowner's valuables still in his possession.

Harry was captured and prosecuted for burglary. Mr. Homeowner testified convincingly against him and he was convicted.

The verdict was reversed by the appellate court. This court held the defendant could not be held guilty of burglary because he had walked right into the house through the open door without any use of force and had left the same way, again without using force. The court ruling held that force must be used either in entering or leaving premises before the crime of burglary can be committed.

The State Bar of Texas is endeavoring to close such legal loopholes as this. This statewide organization of attorneys is working to bring this about through a revision of Texas' outmoded criminal statutes.

TEXAS FARMERS MOVE TO CITIES

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 11.—The farm population of Texas declined 11,000 last year, Texas A&M college announced Saturday.

The college's agricultural experiment station said 123,000 persons settled down on Texas farms and ranches in 1948, but that 134,000 others moved to town.

The experiment station released the figures after a survey it conducted jointly with the United States Department of Agriculture.

Shift Slowing Down
There are definite signs that the shift of population from farm to city is slowing down, the report said. During the years 1940-48—which included, of course, the war years—the average loss in Texas' farm population was 48,600 persons a year, as compared with 1948's 11,000.

Farm population for the state was 1,701,000 on January 1, 1949 and 1,712,000 on the same date in 1948.

About one out of four people in Texas live on farms and ranches today, as contrasted with 33 per cent in 1940 and 49 per cent in 1920. Farm population makes up 19 per cent of the total for the nation as a whole.

The decrease in farm population is due partly to the trend toward large scale farming, mechanization and increased production per agricultural worker, Wayne C. Rober, assistant professor of the Texas A&M department of agricultural economics and sociology said.

In 1787, he points out, a farmer could do little more than feed himself and his family; it took 19 farm people to support one other American. Today 19 farm people support themselves, 56 other Americans and 10 persons abroad. In the past 50 years output per farm worker has increased by 250 per cent.

The ratio of farm to urban population in Texas, however, reflects also the degree in which the state is going industrial.

PIONEER ED DENNY HELPED ESTABLISH EARLY NEWSPAPERS

Pioneer Ed Denny of Childress, who visited the Tribune recently, related more early experiences than the present editor Lee Smith being lodged in jail for "contempt of court", as published in last week's Tribune. Shortage of space made impossible the publishing of the entire interview.

Mr. Denny was a printer on the pioneer Childress Index in the 1890's. He returned to Matador for a short time in 1902.

Mr. Denny said it was a two-man bank (building still stands on south side of courthouse square) and that he held two offices, that of assistant cashier and janitor. During the brief period he was here with the bank, he was also associated with the Matador Maverick newspaper.

In 1906 or 7 he established the present Paducah Post at Paducah (not the first newspaper in Paducah) which was printed in his shop at Childress for a year on Mr. Denny's $3,600 two-color Cottrell press. The press was driven by a gasoline engine and the first power press in this section of West Texas. Mr. Denny solicited county printing all over this area, making the rounds in a buggy. The two-color press was ahead of its time by almost half a century. In the modern print shops of today only a few in large West Texas cities operate two-color presses.

Mr. Denny called Northfield his home until he married in Childress about 1900. It was the Bitterlake settlement in those days. The name of the community was changed to Northfield about the time the postoffice was established in 1904, he declared. He remembers the Nash gin which operated in Bitterlake canyon (Northfield) about 1903. He said everyone who lived beyond what is now Turtle Hole linecamp considered Childress his town except for voting.

The smiling, grey-haired man who has lived beyond the allotted three score and ten years, helped build the present Motley county jail. It was started in the fall of 1891 (Mr. Denny was 19 years of age) and completed in the spring of 1892. Jube Aiken and Pat Cornett were the contractors and stone cutters included Lon King, Charles Blerwirth and D. S. Kries. Blerwirth was a stone cutter employed in the construction of the Texas state capitol building Kries was also an expert stone cutter from Switzerland.

Mr. Denny's father and mother are buried in Northfield cemetery.

PUBLISHER'S NOTE: An interesting incident associated with story published last week from information provided by Mr. Denny, who told of pioneer Matador Maverick Lee Smith editor being placed in jail on order by District Judge William McGill, is provided by James E. Meador, father of Tribune editor Douglas Meador.

Mr. Meador said he and the late Jack Luckett were riding horseback to Seymour and near the present city of Benjamin they met Judge McGill driving a new, red two-wheel cart, on his way to Matador. He said the judge had a double-barrel shot gun in the seat beside him. The two cowboys talked to the judge who told them he was on his way here to settle the two-sheriff episode. He told the two riders that he had been informed Texas Rangers had been summoned.

Northwest Texas Methodists To Hold Mass Meeting At Lubbock Next Week

Methodists representing nearly every community in the Northwest Texas conference will attend an Advance mass meeting at the First Methodist church in Lubbock, Texas, on Oct. 20-21. Bishop William C. Martin, resident bishop of the Dallas Area and national chairman of Methodism's four-year program, Advance for Christ and His Church, will direct the meeting.

"Our Faith" will be the central theme of the meeting which features addresses by Bishop Ralph S. Cushman, resident bishop of the St. Paul Area, Bishop Hazen G. Werner, Columbus, Ohio, resident bishop of the Ohio Area and Bishop Martin. Bishop Cushman will speak on "Our Faith in Christ" and Bishop Werner on "Our Christian Conception of the Worth of Man."

Other speakers include Dr. Evelyn M. Duvall, secretary of the National Conference on Family Relations, and Dr. Warren Johnston, pastor, First Methodist church, Fort Worth, Texas.

A series of eight "Faith booklets" to be studied simultaneously by the church's eight and a half million members, will be officially introduced at the meeting, which will also include opportunity for group discussions and a youth meeting in the evening.

The Advance program represents Methodism's positive thrust at secularism and indifference and has the purpose of a deeper understanding of the basic elements of the Christian faith.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

But Curly "Knows What The Score Is!"

Was over at Doc Sherman's drug store listening to the World Series on the radio. Curly Lawson wanders in and says: "How about a chocolate malted, Doc?"

"Sorry, Curly," says Doc, "can't make you a malted for a while yet." "What the idea?" Curly asks. "Well," says Doc, "most of the folks want to hear the game and the mixer makes too much noise." Curly thinks a moment and says, "Okay with me Doc—I'll take a chocolate soda."

This shows how tolerant folks can be. Doc showed his respect for how the majority felt; Curly was big enough not to insist on his malted even though he doesn't happen to be fond of baseball.

From where I sit, willingness to respect the other people's feelings is important in a Democracy. If we're tolerant of a person's like for baseball or a glass of temperate beer, we've come a long way on the right road... the road to a better America, that is!

BILL LEBOW AIDS NATION'S DRIVE FOR POLIO FUNDS

Bill Lebow, Clovis infantile paralysis victim who recently completed a trip to New York by wheel chair (and returned home by plane), received the praise of National Infantile Paralysis Foundation officials for his appearance in New York. His long trip by wheel chair aroused national interest in the emergency polio drive because of the wide publicity given his feat.

He estimates he was photographed by representatives of the press at least five times a week while he was gone, but is awaiting a report from the National Foundation as to the exact total. On his journey home, he was interviewed at Chicago and Kansas City, where his planes stopped, and received special consideration from members of the planes' crews, who already had heard about his proposed tour around the world.

Lebow's arrival in New York

Foundation officials told him that the drive was lagging badly until publicity about his feat began circulating by press and radio, but that it picked up immediately and amazingly when stories about him were released and he began appearing on television shows.

Lebow, who began his trip with the avowed purpose of turning over all funds he received beyond his actual expenses to the aid of crippled children, says that in spite of the fact that he is credited with boosting the national fund by half a million dollars, he is personally "in the hole" on the projects to the tune of about $3,000.

Publicity on the final phases of Lebow's trip was handled by Dee Collins, Clovis newspaper man, who met the wheelchair traveler in Philadelphia. Both were highly praised by National Foundation officers, who said the stunt could have not been better from the standpoint of boosting this year's drive.

FORMER RESIDENT WEDS

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Cudd of Slaton, former Matador residents, are announcing the recent marriage of their daughter, Mary Ann Cudd, to Robert Neil Guinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Guinn of Slaton. The ceremony was performed at the Littlefield Church of Christ with Ned Fairbairn officiating.

Mrs. Guinn is a student at Slaton High school and Mr. Guinn attends Texas Technological college, Lubbock. They are living in Slaton.

Couple 'Forgot' To Visit The J. P.

ALICE, Oct. 8—The story of a couple who "forgot" to get married for 20 years came to light in Alice today.

Mrs. Juanita Hulsey, chief deputy county clerk for Jim Wells County, said the whole error was uprooted when a man came to the courthouse for a copy of his marriage license. The license was there—but it showed that the couple had neglected to visit a minister or a justice of the peace.

The gentleman promptly went home, got his wife and five children, and got married.

The 20-year-old license was used.—Mineral Wells Index.

THE PEP SQUAD HAS BUS TROUBLE

Boy, did we have trouble last Friday night getting to Ralls.

We left Matador about 5:45 and got there at the half of the ball game.

Our "cracker-box" almost lost a cracker, just as we got on top of the caprock. We unloaded and stayed at Georgia Martin's gate until another bus got there. After the other bus arrived, we all climbed aboard and started to Ralls again. We didn't have any more trouble until we were about six miles from Ralls. Then, all of a sudden, the bus just quit. Bill Jameson pulled us on to Ralls with his pickup.

Everyone looked so surprised when we entered the gates to the stadium. I think the boys thought we had let them down, but we did our best for the rest of the game. We got back to Matador about 11:30, Friday night.

The Chatter Box

Seems like Joy was the interested one over her picture Friday. Cute!

Sappo and Doris were running about Thursday night. Also Saturday night. Storm or no storm they seem to be going right along.

Barbara S. and Douglas Hale were bouncing around after pep rally. Things were pretty exciting. Weren't they?

What is this about Frances and Travis, also Betty and Charles getting stuck Saturday night? It was kinda muddy tho, FISH.

Speedy—what is this we hear about you Saturday night? Something about "Stormy Weather". Bonnie was sure stepping around Tuesday night. Now Rat, we can hardly keep up with you as it is.

Have you all noticed how that Billy P. has been driving about here lately? (And I don't think he is by himself.)

I wonder what this is all about MELBA? Especially Saturday nite. We aren't going to need to twist your arm, are we Melba?

MAN: Did you see that good looking man here from N-F—Monday? Maybe that was what Mr. Gilbreath was questioning about. Look out Wanda.

—M. H. S.—

Mother: Last night I put two apples in the cupboard, and now there is only one. How do you explain that?
Jerry W.: It was so dark that I guess I didn't see the other one.

Marge: "I'd mash them."

Rivers of grass...

"Rivers of grass" flow across this country. Millions of cattle and lambs have spent the spring and summer turning grass into meat. Now they are ready for round-up and shipment. So in October they move to the markets—in a great flood of livestock. Many go direct from the range to meat-packing plants. Others go to the feed lots to be grain-finished. But, either way, these meat animals are mostly grass—which folks cannot eat—converted into appetizing, nourishing meat for people. They are adding greatly to the health and wealth of the nation. Without this "livestock economy," in which you and we are engaged, 779,000,000 acres of our United States would produce little food for human use.

Whether you ship your cattle and lambs early or late—whether it's to Chicago, Ft. Worth, Denver or any of scores of other markets—you'll find buyers there to bid for them. With many others, Swift & Company helps provide the year-round daily market which is as essential to your business as it is to ours.

Your grass, turned into meat, is a vital raw material of all meat-packing operations. There is keen competition for it. Every meat packer and commercial slaughterer (and there are more than 18,000 of them in the United States) must have a regular supply of meat animals. Each buyer knows the high bid gets the animals. He knows also that his own price range is set by supply and demand. He sees your steers and lambs as so many pounds of meat and by-products. The price you are offered for your livestock is governed by what the meat packer can get for the meat and the by-products.

Your Markets for Meat

In the early days of our country, livestock was produced close to the point where it was eaten. But as the population grew, those conditions changed. Today two thirds of the people live east of the Mississippi, while two thirds of the livestock is produced west of that river. To bridge that gap of more than 1,000 miles is no small job. Millions of head of livestock must be processed and the meat distributed to where it is wanted. The facilities of nationwide meat packers provide you with markets for your meat animals; move the meat to cities and towns where it is in demand.

Swift & Company, and other nationwide meat packers, sell meat to retailers wherever there are people who want to buy it... no matter how far that may be from your farm or ranch. We bring you the benefit of national, rather than local, demand. This means that, in selling your livestock, you choose between the price created by local demand, or the price created by the national demand of millions of meat eaters.

We work hard to encourage people to serve meat oftener—to eat more of it... And we are proud that our nationwide system is one of the most efficient, low-cost food distribution systems in the United States.

Quotes of the Month

"We, as ranchers, are not sufficient unto ourselves. In fact, we are only the beginning of the beef line. Of equal importance are the feeder, the processor, the distributor and the consumer. Disregard the rights or welfare of any of these, and sooner or later we suffer."
Sam R. McKelvie
Pres. Sandhills Cattle Ass'n

"He gave it for his opinion that whoever could make two ears of corn, or two blades of grass, to grow upon a spot of ground where only one grew before, would deserve better of mankind, and do more essential service to his country, than the whole race of politicians put together."
Gulliver's Travels (written in 1726)

Supplement that Poor Forage

by Robert D. Rasmussen
New Mexico A. & M. College

Dried-up pastures and winter weather create the same feeding problem for the cattleman. They simply mean that you have lower quality feed and less of it. And you have little choice as to what you can do about it. You can let the cattle eat what they can find. In this case you're likely to take a weight loss on your cows. You'll also take a chance on a weak calf crop. Or you can feed a supplement. If you feed enough of the right kind, your cows and unborn calves will come through in good, healthy condition.

California experiments on deficient range showed the cow herd that got a protein supplement contained a 91% calf crop. Cows on similar range, without a supplement, produced a 61% calf crop. Arizona found that feeding supplement increased the weight of the calves at birth by 10 pounds.

The amount of supplement needed varies. Cows carrying calves, and young stock require more protein than open cows or mature animals. A safe rule to follow is to watch the condition of the stock. Keep them healthy and thrifty.

Research by the New Mexico agricultural experiment station shows that during the winter months range forage is most critically short of phosphorus as well as protein. While some of the cake supplements are high in phosphorus as well as protein, most ranchers over the state are using mineral supplement for year-round use. A mineral supplement containing at least 6% phosphorus should be made available at all times to range cattle. Experiments have shown that year-round use is better and more profitable than seasonal use.

Here's a goal for cattlemen. Use whatever kind and amount of supplement is necessary to keep your cattle healthy and thrifty. (Editor's Note: The principles of animal nutrition discussed above apply in all parts of the country.)

Voters To Decide Nov. 8 If Women May be Jurors

AUSTIN, Sept. 30.—Whether Texas women shall serve on juries is one of the questions to be answered at the Nov. 8 election on 10 proposed constitutional amendments.

The women on juries submission is one of three affecting court procedure, the other two being:

Whether persons involved in lunacy hearings shall be permitted to waive trial by jury.

Whether district judges in multi-county districts shall have to go to the county seat of the county where a case is pending and "The Lord's My Shepherd". The Methodist Hour can be heard locally over radio station KGNC at 7:30 a. m. o'clock.

Dr. Watts is a personal friend of Rev. Marvin Brotherton of Matador and was his Pastor when he volunteered for the Ministry.

in order to sign documents affecting the case.

Little or no interest has been noted on the court order amendment, but much activity is due on the other two.

Several women's organizations are pushing the amendment to put women on juries, both petit and grand.

Aroused Much Debate
The proposal aroused much debate in the Legislature, some humorous and some serious.

Chief of the real arguments advanced against the plan was the cost to county governments of the state.

Opponents contend it would necessitate separate dormitories for every county or county appropriations to cover hotel bills of the women jurors.

Counties now have dormitories where jurors on criminal cases are quartered overnight, but none of these has facilities for women.

Another expense argument is that additional deputy sheriffs would be needed to stay with the women at night. A deputy must be with jurors at all times they are out of the courtroom, and a woman would be needed to stay with the female section of a mixed jury.

STANLEY BROTHERS VISITED BY AUNT FROM CALIFORNIA

Mrs. Mary Stanley of Los Angeles, California, aunt of Dr. J. S. Stanley and R. M. Stanley, paid her nephews a surprise visit Tuesday morning.

Accompanied by three elderly lady companions, Mrs. Stanley will have visited 19 states, including the Pacific Northwest, when she reaches home. After visiting in the Stanley homes a short time the quartet departed for Carlsbad, California.

Mrs. Stanley's visit here was the first time Bob Stanley had seen his aunt since 1906.

On reaching Paducah, before they arrived in Matador, the four ladies stopped at a cotton gin and were shown through the plant at their request. It was the first gin plant any of the group had ever inspected.

Mrs. Robert Darsey Is Circle Hostess

Mrs. Robert Darsey was hostess Tuesday night, to the Henrietta Shuck Circle of the Baptist W. M. U. for a community mission program.

Visitation was done by several members, after which, Mrs. Dick Groves discussed the first chapter of the book, "A Winning Witness" by G. S. Dobbins. Mrs. Joe E. Campbell, chairman, conducted the devotional.

Coffee and cake were served to: Mesdames Don Cameron, J. Farris Fish, Forrest Campbell, Ben Meador, Dick Groves, R. E. Campbell, jr., Fred Clower, Joe E. Campbell, Loyd Fulkerson, and the hostess.

Cottonseed Plan Solves Problem

WACO, Oct. 5.—President J. Walter Hammond of the Texas Farm Bureau believes the new price announced for cottonseed has solved the cottonseed problem.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced Tuesday a program to buy cottonseed for $46.50 a ton at the gin.

"This action will save farmers some $10 a ton", Hammond said Wednesday. He said cottonseed has been as low as $36 a ton in some areas.

The farmer under the old plan could get the $49.50 loan rate only if he had storage space. Hammond said most farmers did not have such space.

According to a notice sent to the McLennan County Agricultural Credit Agency here by B. F. Vance, state production marketing agency director, the ginners will act as agent for the county committee of the county agricultural credit agency.

He will purchase cottonseed from the farmer at $46.50 a ton. The ginner then will be reimbursed by the Commodity Credit Corporation plus handling charges.

The ginner will store the seed.
