PRICE TEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Determination and stubbornness have similar features, but are not related. At times they are confused by the world until determination smiles at adversity.

My father was a range chuck wagon cook and used to tell the story about the wagon moving and making camp after dark. He took the coffee pot and went to a rainwater hole nearby, where he scooped up water to make coffee for the evening meal. The next morning it was daylight when he returned and emptied the grounds. Amid the coffee debris was a five inch centipede which had been boiled. He was fearful that the riders might become ill, and kept his secret, but there were no ill results. On another occasion he and another cowboy had been assigned to an extensive fence-repair job that lasted many weeks. They were tired of the fare of fat bacon, beans and bread, and desired some fresh meat. In desperation, one of them shot a chaparral and they dressed and cooked the bird. The next day they came upon another bird of the same variety, eating a rattlesnake. My father said they were not hungry that night and that he could taste the fresh meat for weeks.

A friend who knows the difference in the feel of a car cushion and the cantel of a saddle, remarked recently during 20 degree weather: "I am glad I am not riding to Childress horseback tonight, barefooted, and with iron stirrups."

The law of averages was not intended to apply to the amount earned and the amount needed for expenses.

With the new packaging materials, a challenge may arise in opening a parcel. Recently I considered sending one back to the wholesale house for opening.

You don't always break a habit when you drop it, but on the other hand the practice of this form of carelessness may become a habit.

If you travel the same road often enough, it will seem shorter, and if you are friendly to an enemy long enough, he may become your friend.

MESQUITE PASTURE LANDING of this light plane did not injure the pilot, Rev. Phil Widmer, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Paducah, and a passenger, Sheriff J. D. Spray looks at damaged left wing. The plane, in taking off from a wheat field on the Murrell Ranch, did not clear a fence and landed in the J. B. Cooper Ranch pasture, after breaking off two fence posts. The accident occurred in the northeast part of the county, and the two men are reported to have walked 14 miles to the Cottle County Game Preserve headquarters.

Law Now Requires School Children Be Immunized

Texas law now requires that all children entering school must show proof that they have been immunized for diphtheria, tetanus, measles, polio and rubella (German measles). Preschool children must also be protected against pertussis (whooping cough).

A series of clinics will be held in which children can receive free vaccines, according to Matador Superintendent Charles Johnson. The date and location of the clinic here will be the high school, Feb. 16, March 15 and April 19, from 9:30 a.m. until noon.

In order to decide vaccines needed for each child, it will be necessary for officials to know what vaccines have been administered and the dates of the last doses. Children from two months of age through high school are eligible for the vaccines.

Forms for the clinic may be received at the offices of superintendent and principals in Matador, Roaring Springs and Flomot.

Grocery Store Is Hit by Break-In

Thieves broke into Spot Cash Grocery store here sometime Friday night and removed approximately $38 from two cash registers.

First attempt was made at the back door, probably with a crow bar. A wooden bar across the doors prevented entry.

It is assumed the robbers then came to the front door and used some kind of a prying instrument to gain entrance. Melvin Meason, manager, said he did not miss anything but the money, in nickels, dimes and currency. He said the pennies were left in the cash registers.

Postmaster Speaks At Legion Meeting

POSTAGE is high now but not as high as Pony Express days, according to Postmaster Charlie Scaff, who was principal speaker Monday night at the joint supper meeting of the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary.

"In 1861 when the Pony Express was operated by Wells Fargo, it cost a dollar to send 1/2 oz. across the country. The letter would be carried by train to St. Joseph, Missouri, and then by horseback to the West Coast. It required 10 days for delivery."

Mr. Scaff explained the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th classes of mail and the postage required. He explained that certified mail costs 30c with 15c additional for return receipt. It is necessary to know the value of registered mail, which costs a minimum of 95c for $100 valuation. The fee is 60c for special delivery of first class or air mail.

The Legion had designed a program on Americanism. Mr. Scaff described one post office which is on a boat (with its own zip number) that carries mail to ships at sea.

Another unusual post office is at the bottom of the Grand Canyon which serves a group of Indians living there. Delivery is three times per week by burro, from Kingman, Arizona. Scaff went into detail explaining the delivery of mail in large cities. He said the Empire State building in New York has 37 carriers to deliver the 50,000 pieces that reach the building each day and not counting the other classes of mail.

He said another single building complex is being constructed, which expects to handle 160,000 pieces of mail daily.

Scaff said new innovations are speeding the mail delivery where computers and electronic scanners can handle 38,000 to 40,000 pieces of mail in an hour or about 10 to 12 times as fast as mail can be handled manually.

He said the small post office may lose its identity (unless the customer requests a local post mark.) Three air pick up centers will be Childress, Amarillo and Lubbock, in this area. The post marks will bear the names of these towns (metered mail will bear its own post mark). The plan is to reduce employees and several thousand have retired and not been replaced in the past year. More will be retired in the future.

Postmaster Scaff was introduced by Legion Commander Billy Wason. After the program, the Legion and Auxiliary groups each retired for a business meeting.

Their headpieces were bows with long ribbon streamers, sprinkled with tiny red satin roses, and each carried a long-stemmed red rose tied with long red ribbon.

Dan Puston of Turkey was best man. Groomsmen were Rodney

Mullin, Claud Robison, John Maxwell and Tim Salem, all of Turkey. Serving as ushers were Phil Engle of Tulsa, and Dennis Irby of Turkey.

Miss Mandy Vance presided at the silver punch service, with Miss Diane Tompson serving the four-tiered wedding cake.

Silver candelabras with red and white carnations decorated the bridegroom's table, which was laid with an ecru cutwork cloth. Chocolate cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Stanley Martin and Miss Brenda Wason. Rice bags were presented to the guests by Carla and Cody Christian.

Book Review Given For Club Program

A quotation from J. Frank Dobie, eminent Texas writer — "Books — and by books I mean well-chosen books, are life itself." — introduced the program for El Progresso Study Club, meeting January 27 in the home of Mrs. W. D. Lipscomb.

Leader, Mrs. J. L. Woodruff presented Mrs. W. N. Pipkin who reviewed the book, "Our Common Herd," by Sue Sanders.

A very sad and interesting autobiography of a pioneer woman and her family, who grew up in Central Texas in the latter part of the 19th century and early 20th, the story tells of Sue Sanders' advancement from rags to riches. She traveled from Texas to New Mexico, and to the Oklahoma oil fields, where she accidentally became wealthy, but she never forgot one lesson which she learned early in life, "Don't ever quit. If you work hard enough and long enough, you just can't help but win out."

Mrs. Pipkin gave the review in a very charming and interesting manner as she traced the "ups and downs" in the life of this remarkable woman.

Mrs. Ben Keltz presented the Inspirational Thought, reading a poem with the theme, "If you think you can't — you can't," from a book, "Please Give a Devotion of Gladness," by Amy Bolding.

Deadline Nearing To Get Medicare

The first three months of 1972 are very important to people age 65 and over who are not enrolled for medical insurance benefits under Medicare. This may be the last chance for many people to obtain this protection which helps pay for doctor bills.

The general enrollment period in which medical insurance can be obtained covers the first three months of 1972 — January, February, and March. A person who became age 65 in September 1968 or earlier and had never enrolled for medical coverage is no longer eligible. Anyone who became age 65 in October 1968 through September 1969 and has never been enrolled must enroll during this general enrollment period if he wants it, because this is his last chance to get this medical insurance.

A person who had medical insurance that terminated may be eligible to re-enroll. For detailed information about this and other important matters, call the social security office in Plainview, telephone number 293-4371.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

Aphids are very interesting insects. In many species no males have ever been found. The females give birth to living young in most instances, at times they lay eggs. A single aphid, if none of its offspring died, could produce 1,500,000,000,000,000 individuals in a single season. (That's a bunch)

Aphids are called "plant lice" and there are hundreds of species which range greatly in size, shape and color. Aphids are responsible for transmitting many plant diseases, therefore the necessity of control.
