TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Silver bubble drifting on the gulf of night, the moon licks love's altar with white flames that consume the fuel of hours. Fantastic shadows move beneath the whispering trees and there is a glittering path on the waters. The hills are soft pillows tossed against the horizon. Life's most sublime ecstasy dances to the songs in young hearts, each night through the ages new puppets enter the stage. Each night some must leave. To them the shattered vase of hope lies in a barren garden among the debris of broken promises. The white, haunting light reflects from dried cheeks and pours into the hollow eyes of little dreams whose laughter and song have been silenced. Love lights its ancient fire from the moon and returns the cold caresses when the last ember is gone and the ashes crumble.

Somewhere in the night a mockingbird is singing through a door left open by spring. Filtered by the wind, the notes are mellow and rich with a haunting beauty of having passed through the corridors of so many memories.

It is easier to assume a woman's thoughts in silence than to attempt to understand them after an explanation.

A train passed while I watched with my feet on the same soil where I had stood as a child. It was difficult to realize that trains had passed on this right of way every day and night during the long years that bridged a lifetime. Perhaps our itineraries in this world might be less complicated if rails ran straight into eternity.

Yesterday's futility is the empty stable where tomorrow's prancing hopes were fed to await the slackened rein of dawn.

Horns and hoofs clattered in rhythmic thunder torn at intervals by synchronized bellowing as the herd moved slowly north. Behind lay the wide path like a brown tapestry on the shoulder of hills, where the young grass and yellow buttercups were partly buried in trampled-out graves. Swaying with the rocking-chair walk of his horse, the bronze cowboy watched clouds of dust rise from shadows below the caprock and hang for a few moments like red steam when struck with rays of the low sun. He breathed the stench of dust and sweat in his nostrils and softly cursed a bob-tailed cow that grazed at young sage and tried to leave the herd. No trace of twilight remained when the shipping pen gate was closed and the dinky switch engine moved more cattle cars on the siding. Squatted around the chuck-wagon the riders swallowed their bait and sour dough biscuits and washed it down with black coffee. Half a mile away lights of the small town twinkled in mute invitation. The bronze cowboy was shaving by lanternlight when the cold, spring wind struck. It was like disdain in a haughty woman's laughter. He changed to a wool shirt and his heavy California breeches, wrapping a black silk scarf about his throat and rubbing his dried boots with a piece of bacon rind. Music of a crying violin climbed through the wind as he sought the dance. Ten men were waiting to dance with each of the few girls as he walked up and dropped a silver dollar in the musician's hat. His turn was a waltz with the smiling black-haired girl who held a tiny white handkerchief in her hand. She was soft and smelled of soap and ironed starch. Life dropped its ugly mask and his heart sang with the music. Suddenly the music ended and he saw the wide wedding band on her left hand. The wind seemed colder as he went back to the wagon and unrolled his bed. The violin continued playing in his thoughts as he watched the stars; the smiling girl came to his arms and they danced away across the ballroom of forgetfulness.

May Fete Date Set

First peace-time May festival to be held since beginning of World War II, will be presented Friday night, May 3, at 8 o'clock, it was announced this week. The colorful affair, which was presented annually prior to the war, will be directed by Mrs. J. R. Whitworth and Mrs. Homer Kingery.

Also, for the first time an admission of 15 and 25 cents will be charged, and proceeds will be used to purchase playground equipment for the grade school. "A Day In Spring" is the name of the presentation this year, with Betty Jean Fox as queen and Garland Rattan as King. Pupils from the entire grade school will participate as attendants and in entertainment features which will include the May Pole dance.

In the first May festival which was presented about ten years ago, Miss Mary Echols (now Mrs. Raby Webb) was queen, and Beryl Blackshear was king. They were seniors in high school, and their attendants were: (Senior class) Jessie Spencer, Agatha Lancaster, Jack Willis, Selbia Burleson; (Junior class) R. E. Campbell Jr., Dorothy Echols, Harold Campbell, Grace Keltz; (sophomore class) Clayton Titus, Lorene Kingery, L. C. Groves, Ava Clyde Smart; (freshman class) Billy Jo Campbell, Elmerine Russell, Jack Robinson Jr., and Berndina Nelson.

Most of these are now married and at least two have children who will appear in the festivals this year.

Miss Cook Assumes Duties As Motley County H. D. Agent

Miss Mary Katherine Cook of Wichita Falls, arrived here the first of the week to assume her new duties as Home Demonstration Agent for Motley County. Miss Ruth Thompson, District Agent, accompanied Miss Cook here, to aid her in getting her work started.

Miss Cook is well acquainted with West Texas ways, having been reared at Post, Texas, where her parents still reside. She has been serving as assistant demonstration agent in Wichita Falls and has her home economics degree from Texas Tech at Lubbock.

In introducing Miss Cook at the Lions Club meeting Tuesday, Miss Thompson declared that there is a dearth of home demonstration agents, and urged that more girls be influenced in majoring in home economics in college, that they might qualify in filling these positions.

Motley County is indeed fortunate in obtaining an agent at this time, as there are now vacancies in three adjoining counties. All women of the county are urged to give Miss Cook their wholehearted support in her work here.

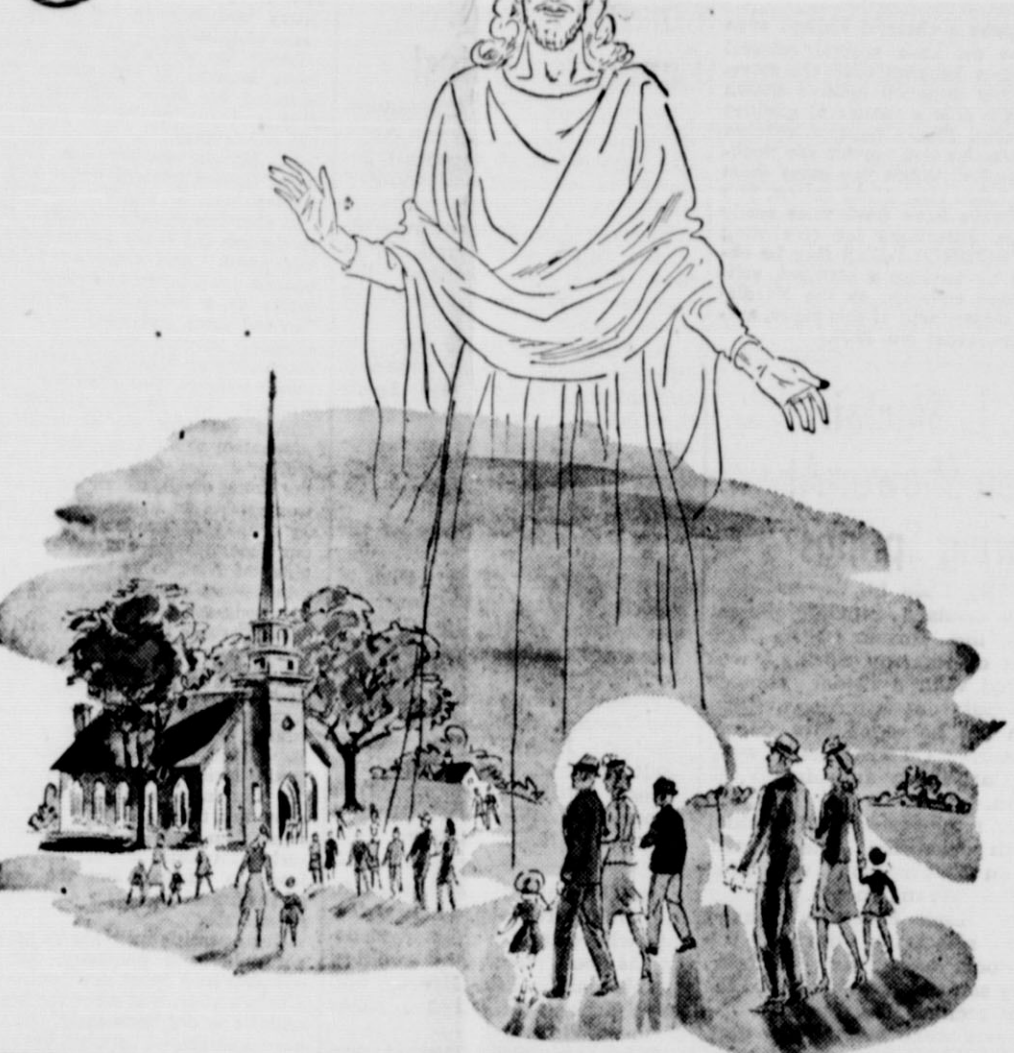

Electronic Ray Keeps Meal Fresh

No other period in the history of mankind has produced the miracles that contribute to our lives today. Have you ever been burned with a cold lamp? There is a lamp burning in the Campbell Food Market meat box that will blister your face in a few seconds, yet it is so cold that you can place your hand close to it without feeling any heat. The lamp is not for lighting purposes (it yields a dim, reddish light). Its purpose is to kill germs that produce spoilage in meat. It is called the Pasteurizer and market manager N. J. Smalley declares the lamp, which has been in use about 30 days, produces wonders. It makes meat tender and healthy, keeping it fresh and free of decay. Mr. Smalley declares that meat which would spoil under refrigeration in two or three days, is as good as at the end of thirty days as when it was placed in the box.

Dr. A. C. Travecek Sr. attended a meeting of the Panhandle Medical Association held in Amarillo last week.

Roy Smith Buys Local Bake Shop

Agather ex-serviceman has entered business in Matador. Roy Smith, formerly employed from 1936 to 1941 by Eddie Jay of Hamlin as manager of the local bakery, is now owner of the establishment.

A deal culminated Monday gave Mr. Smith management of the enterprise which R. L. Brandon had owned and operated for three years. Mr. Brandon was forced to sell his business because of failing health.

Mr. Smith was a baker in the armed services for three years. He had been employed by the Abilene Pastry shop for four months since receiving his discharge.

Present personnel of the shop will probably be retained, Mr. Smith declared, and will include Mrs. John Brandon, Frank Webb, Clyde Ray and Dan Ashford.

An experienced baker, Mr. Smith said he would strive to offer the best quality of bakery products at all times and so solicits a continuation of the shop's patronage. He said that he was glad to return to Matador and that it had always seemed like home to him while employed other places and during the time he spent in service.

Lions Hear Program On Easter Lore

Origin of various Easter customs in observance of the Resurrection of Christ and the circumstances surrounding the changes in date of the occasion from year to year, were told by Patti Pipkin, freshman student of Matador High School, before the Lions Club in regular luncheon meeting Tuesday, in the Methodist church basement.

Program Sponsor, R. E. Campbell Sr., introduced the young speaker, after miniature chevrons were presented to members of the club, who had served in the armed forces, and were members at the time they entered the service. These were Lions Bert Ezzell, Howard Tra-week, R. E. Campbell Jr., and Jack Barton.

Lion (Ben) Douglas Meador made the presentation of the chevrons, and also a key to Ralph Stapleton and membership cards to two new members, Albert Rattan and Frank Pohl.

L. B. (Bob) Robertson solicited the support of the Lions Club in making arrangements for the Memorial Day program to be sponsored by the American Legion, when Lieut. Governor John Lee Smith will be principal speaker. It was suggested that the business houses of the city close for the occasion, at least during program hours.

Matador Lions and their wives were extended an invitation to attend Charter Night ceremonies at Roaring Springs next Tuesday evening, April 23, for the Roaring Springs Lions Club.

Three committees were appointed as follows: Henry Pipkin, D. E. Pitts and C. W. Giescke, to select the outstanding Lion for the year; T. B. Edmondson, W. R. Cammack, Ben Keltz, G. E. Hamilton and Ben Meador as a committee to aid in arranging for the Motley County.

Easter Falls On San Jacinto Day This Year and 1957

Easter Sunday and San Jacinto Day come on the same date this year, April 21, a coincidence that will not be repeated until 1957, 11 years from the 1946 Easter.

The fact however, holds significance only for Texans, since San Jacinto Day commemorates the decisive battle of San Jacinto, fought in the Texas Revolution for Independence from Mexico.

In the 25-year period, 1943-68, the earliest Easter is March 25, 1951; the latest, April 25, 1943.

Other Easter Sunday dates of the period are 1944, April 9; 1945, April 1; 1947, April 17; 1948, March 28; 1949, April 17; 1950, April 9; 1952, April 13; 1953, April 5; 1954, April 18; 1955, April 10.

Wheat Purchase Program Outlined

Motley County farmers who have 1945 wheat on their farms are urged to lend it to the gov- ernment now and collect any time they want to until March 31, 1947. W. L. McWilliams, chairman of the county ACA committee, reports.

The county ACA office has a supply of forms for the use of producers and warehousemen in making the sale agreement with the Commodity Credit Corpora- tion.

Wheat eligible for purchase is wheat which would have been eligible for CCC loans under the 1945 program. On or after the date of delivery, the seller may name the date on which he wishes the purchase price to be determined, but he must sub- mit his request as to purchase date in writing. If no such re- quest is submitted, he will get the market price as of March 31, 1947. The offer to purchase under this plan will remain open until July 1, 1946.

Purpose of the so-called "wheat certificate plan" is to bring out wheat which is stored on farms awaiting higher prices Mr. McWilliams said, since the government has been unable to meet its full quota of wheat for shipment to famine areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson Jr., of Emporia, Kansas, were recent visitors here with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Renfro and other relatives. Mr. Johnson recently received his discharge from the armed forces.

Now... no wheat used in beer or ale

And wheat alone can solve the problem of feeding the world's hungry

Actually wheat has never been a large item in the brewing process—only 10.3000 of the entire U. S. wheat crop was used in 1945:

In accordance with United States Govern- ment policy, the brewing industry has used no wheat whatever since March 1, 1946.

OTHER MATERIALS CUT 30%
The other grains used have been reduced by 30%—that is, to 70% of the 1945 amount.

Wheat alone can solve the problem of feeding the hungry. The grains to which the industry is now restricted, are of a variety and grade not normally consumed by the people of the world as food.

LESS BEER AND ALE
Altogether, the brewing industry is using 30%

less materials than in 1945. This results in a proportionately lower production. But since the current demand for beer and ale is about 25% greater than a year ago, the real shortage is nearer 50%.

Consequently, your dealer will not be able to supply you with all the beer and ale you would like. We know you will understand the reason for this.

Your attention is earnestly directed to the recommendations of President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee, which are summarized in the box below.

This statement tells in clear, simple terms what each of us individually can do to help during the emergency.

UNITED STATES BREWERS FOUNDATION

What the President's Famine Emergency Committee asks us all to do

1. Save and share wheat and fat products . . . Go light on all foods that take wheat, fats and oils—saus, macaroni, cakes, cookies, pastries and deep-fried foods. Use drippings for pan-frying. Save salad oil—use boiled dressings.
2. Buy and serve more plentiful foods . . . Balance diets with the more plentiful foods, such as potatoes, fresh fruits and vegetables.
3. Waste NO food . . . Dress up today's leftovers for tomorrow. Make every crust count with milk toast, crumb-toppings, bread puddings and stuffings. Take no more than you can eat. Clean your plate. Turn in unusable fat savings promptly.

Old-Wives Tales Come True

Though modern science and medical research gave us an understanding of nutrition and explained how our bodies use the foods we eat, man's food folklore has sometimes come surprisingly close to the truth, without the why's and wherefore's being known. It was science that revealed the facts, and proved or disproved the merits of many an old-wife's tale.

In Europe during the Middle Ages, burned sponges were used to treat goiter. It was not until 1819 that chemists discovered that iodine in the ash did really act as a curative agent. And cod-liver oil was poured down infant throats for centuries as a treatment for rickets. The fact came and went, sometimes skipping several generations. But its persistence in infant-feeding folklore is unique. Today we know that Vitamin D, present plentifully, makes cod-liver oil an important preventive agent and cure for this wobbly-legged deficiency. Scurvy, the dread of all sailors long at sea, was combatted in the Middle Ages by drinks of lemonade. Now, in our time, science has revealed this pleasant drink to be potent in Vitamin C—best known protector against the body-robbing scourge.

Much early medical and midwife lore advises that some kind of semi-solid food be introduced very early in baby's feeding schedules. Hippocrates, the great Greek medic, advised mothers in the 5th Century B. C. that "They that take other foods during suckling bear weaning the more easily." Today we know that there are many more reasons than easy-weaning for the early introduction of semi-solid foods to infants. But the distinguished, ancient doctor was on the right track.

Our scientists have shown us that not only is it necessary, for the complete and finest development of a baby's body, that other foods than milk be served them early, but they have also shown us what best does the job. The answer is a wide range of supplementary foods: cod-liver oil, orange juice, and strained vegetables, fruits, cereals, dairy products, and meats. By introducing these prepared strained foods as early as your doctor says the word, modern mothers can know their babies are receiving a plentiful supply of the body-building elements they need.

Fixing Up the Farm by BURTON WILLIAMS

Pugging Bossy's Guns

A DOMINEERING cow and a vicious set of horns is a nuisance in an otherwise docile herd of good dairy animals. Her aggressiveness is disturbing enough, but the danger of injury to other cows is always present.

Horns on domestic animals are useless, except for ornamental value in the show and sales rings. Since the great majority of farmers raise cows for production, de-horning is becoming a more common practice. Many farmers prefer they are one to two weeks when during this period the "horn buttons" can be destroyed easily and without injury to animals if ordinary precautions are taken.

For those who like attractive horns, a simple device is illustrated above which often takes the "right" out of bossy by removing much of the effectiveness of her weapons. It's like plugging a gun barrel. The value of the device is psychological as well as practical. The rubber hose should be long enough and the hole big enough so the guard can extend at least half way down each horn.

Candidate For Governor Here

Caso March, who was a combat soldier during World War II and wounded in the battle for Okinawa, was in Matador Sunday on a tour of every county seat in the state during his campaign for governor. He is 35.

In his platform, Mr. March advocates repeal of the state ad valorem or property tax to be substituted with taxes on certain natural resources, especially gas. He declares that a tax of only 1¢ per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas would raise almost $26,000,000 annually, which is $11,000,000 more than ad valorem tax. Under such a tax, the people of Chicago and other great northern cities would place millions in the state's tax coffers.

His ambitious platform is outlined in a small leaflet and admittedly embraces many principles from Pat M. Neff, Morris Sheppard, William Jennings Bryan, Woodrow Wilson and the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

He was born seven miles north of Ft. Worth and worked his way through Baylor University. He is a graduate of the National Law School of Washington, D. C. and for eight years before his enlistment in the army, served as an attorney for the Federal Power Commission and helped recover many millions to consumers in reduced gas rates. March is a prominent Baptist layman and has been active in church work wherever making his home.

He spent his mustering out check from the army to file for the governor candidacy.

Results Count..

IN THE CATTLE BUSINESS, same as anywhere else—a ranchman may have a wonderful-looking bunch of cows and good-looking bulls. If they do not nick, the results are apparent both in the show ring and in commercial auction sales. That is, even with good pasture, chemicals, water and feed, it takes proper handling and management.

The same conditions apply to the electric business. Miles of well-constructed transmission lines, neatly-kept substations and impressive generating stations do not complete the service of an electric company to its community. It takes folks seasoned in the "know how" of their business to render proper service and steeped in the customs of this section to sell this section's advantages to the nation.

Employees of this company are proud of their West Texas ancestry, and of their part in rendering, in addition to electric service, community service worthy of this great section.

"Okay, just so the engine's OIL-PLATED!"

"This one is . . . and you're 101% right," the car salesman agrees. He goes on to explain, "We want this car to show you real engine endurance—which means the least carbon, sludge, and upkeep you can have. That's goodwill for us. And all it takes to keep your engine's insides OIL-PLATED is Conoco Nth motor oil. . . Say, this time you're figuring to treat your new car right!" . . .

Many of the oldest cars, too, are being kept in the running by having their engines OIL-PLATED. This internal wear-fighter—OIL-PLATING—is created by magnet-like action. That comes from Conoco Nth oil's added ingredient—surfacing your engine's insides with durable OIL-PLATING. There's your barrier against lots of wear. You can have it in any car—any model or year—by driving around to Your Conoco Mileage Merchant's station. You'll get your correct Spring grade of Conoco Nth oil—and an OIL-PLATED engine.
