The man who talked with kings saw every man a king, is the mortal body has rested to the warm, moist soil his works live on like the moth in a room in which a has perished to ashes. The who was a friend to his and his friends has de from the stage which was with destiny. His dreams raise their golden spires to sunlight of countless years thousands yet unborn will the wealth of his great t. His strength has become ation's strength and his ideals become a way of life. In his altering spirit a new power given to men who stand be the walled gates of ambition through faith and work, they crush the chains of tribu-ns. He sought no glory but glory of achievement over ems of his people. He gave life for those he served. A man has gone but in go-he has achieved immortality.

Another advantage of a poor memory is the constant comfort being able to forget the past rather than explain it.

Sometimes in taking the short-smoother road, we miss some splendid scenery.

We frequently count our chickens before the complete process incubation has been achieved, and some of us even go so far as to set the table on which they will be served when they reach maturity.

Depots continue their stark play of partings where unown fate will meet the steady approach of the parting moment with the knowledge that it may gain the last whispered word, the last caress, the last fragrance delicate perfume. They fight the mist that drifts from the vale of troubled hearts and laugh with pain that brands the soul. War, in compounding ingredients of hate, did not assure the potent force of human affection, except to destroy it. But every depot has its shaft of sunshine that cuts through the thick fog of heart-ness. It is the sublime ecstasy of meeting in the too few that re-

And flames licked the pot of sun on the western horizon and left a golden sheen on a field of bluebonnets that tilted toward the road. Clad in rags, the strange man stroked his white beard and leaned on the grimy, crooked cane that pushed his weight off the gravelled shoulder along the pavement. His eyes were fastened on the flowers and bewitching sunlight, like a child looking in a picture book opened on the shelf of memory.

Nearly anybody can be born. Being born rich requires deliberate foresight.

A cold mist was falling in the American soldiers were camping. Time had worn its clothing and the park benches laboratory. Two English soldiers were drinking tea and listening to their allies from across the sea, drink coffee and tell of the miracle country. The tall, blue-headed Texan, whose legs had been shaped by a saddle, held a cigarette with the dexterity of a machine and the English soldiers waited patiently until he had lighted it and tasted the sweet smoke. The Texan looked at the cold mist "You know," he said, "there is a hill on our ranch back in Texas, where you can see for three days when the weather is clear."

PRESIDENT HARRY S. TRUMAN
32nd President of the United States of America

A week has passed since the lowering of the flag atop the White House to half staff, and the death of America's most popular President was made known. A Nation that had traveled both the roads of peace and war knew desolation at the loss of so great a Chief Executive.

In his death, President Roosevelt passed on the flaming torch of America's freedom to Harry S. Truman, vice-president and former Missouri resident. He gave the trust with apparent confidence, believing that Truman possessed a steady hand and a compassionate heart, with ideals that were best for our nation's welfare.

As America turns anxious eyes toward President Truman, they also inspect the power behind the throne, the president's wife. Less vivacious than the recent mistress of the White House, Mrs. Truman is no less an advisor and aide to her husband than was Mrs. Roosevelt. While serving as a senator, Truman evidenced faith in his wife's ability. He was known to have said, "I never make a report or deliver a speech without her editing it". Such was his confidence in Bess Truman. The sequence of events that has led Truman to the White House have wielded their influence and patterned Mrs. Truman to be a satisfying First Lady.

Our new president will have the support of a nation's prayers, a silent tribute to a president who was a way of life.

Hamilton Honored At Lions Entertainment

Tribute was paid Scoutmaster Tom Hamilton by Matador Lions Club when a fifty dollar war bond was presented him by Boss Lion D. E. Pitts in program ceremonies Tuesday evening in the basement of the Methodist church. The occasion was Ladies' Night entertainment which has been a semi-annual feature of the club since its organization in September, 1928, with wives and sweethearts, as guests.

The gift, Lion Pitts explained, was in appreciation for the splendid work Lion Hamilton has done for the boys of the community as leader in their scout activities.

Box-office receipts totaled in the neighborhood of five hundred pounds of used clothing, Lion W. F. Jacobs, county chairman of the United National Clothing Collection estimated in an address of appreciation for support which the drive is receiving. Flomot school girls had brought in 140 pounds of clothing, and Roaring Springs and Matador schools had pledged concerted cooperation in collecting old clothes, Mr. Jacobs declared.

Other groups who are aiding with the collection drive include the Boy Scouts and 4-H Club girls.

New Members Initiated

After Lion Henry Pipkin was fined for contributing 5 pounds of old neckties (declared useless items of apparel) and Tailtwister Cy Courtney was forced to pay a dollar because his donation was inadequate, four new members were initiated by Lion R. E. Campbell.

Led blindfolded before the group, Ralph Stapleton of Flomot, C. W. Giesecke, O. V. Johnson and Charlie Parks had to prove their sense of feeling by holding a heated wire, and their sense of taste by identifying a bite of food from a bowl. After the blindfold (See LADIES' NIGHT page 4)

RAYMOND N. DAVIS IS HOSPITALIZED

Pfc. Raymond N. Davis has advised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Davis of Roaring Springs, that he was hospitalized for 9 days after being wounded in action during the Leyete campaign. He also advised them that he had received the Purple Heart award, which he was sending home.

A special release to the Tribune advises that Pfc. Davis had also been awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge for exemplary conduct under enemy fire during the Leyete campaign. Excerpts from the release follows:

"Entering the army in January, 1944, Pfc. Davis had basic training at Camp Howze, Texas. He came overseas in May, 1944, to join the veteran 32nd Infantry Division and is now serving as a day for Oklahoma City, where company on Luzon. In addition to the Philippine operations, he has seen action at Aitape in New Guinea and Morotai in the Netherlands East Indies."

W. M. Fuller Dies At Quanah Wed.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, for W. M. Fuller, who died Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the Quanah Hospital, where he was conveyed Monday for treatment of uremia. His condition was declared acute when taken to Quanah.

At his bedside were his wife and four children, Misses Chloey and Alla Mae Fuller, S/Sgt. G. W. Fuller of El Paso and Elwyn Fuller, Matador; two daughters-in-law, Mrs. G. W. Fuller and Mrs. Norris Fuller, and a sister, Mrs. B. F. Moring of Plainview. The other son, Pvt. Norris Fuller has been stationed at a base in the Pacific.

Mr. Fuller's aged mother, Mrs. G. W. Fuller had accompanied Mrs. Moring here from Plainview, but remained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Boggus.

Regional Chairman To Attend Meeting Of Bond Workers

C. M. Smith, Chairman of Amarillo Region will attend the county-wide meeting here Monday night of workers in the Seventh War Loan drive, it was learned late Wednesday by Elmer Stearns County Chairman of the War Finance Committee.

Mr. Stearns also announced that the place of the meeting has been changed from the Legion building to the dining hall of the Masonic Lodge.

Purpose of the meeting is to determine dates for the drive to be conducted in Motley county.

Tribune Acquires Second Newspaper

Many Tribune readers will probably be surprised at the announcement that a second newspaper will be published under the same management, since much difficulty has been encountered in the past four months with this publication.

A deal was culminated March 30 whereby the Cochran County Headlight was purchased from Frank Huntsucker and Douglas Meador became editor with this week's issue. This issue of the Tribune has been published with Mrs. Douglas Meador as editor. No change will be made in the policy of the Tribune. Additional personnel is being employed to operate both plants and equipment of the two shops will also be used as requirements demand. No equipment will be removed from either plant since both have ample facilities, except in the case of commercial printing when the automatic press here may be used for outside work.

Editor Meador expects to divide his time between the two papers, spending one or two days here each week. Mrs. Meador and Miss Mary Ruth Muse will work advertising and news reporting, in addition to office and shop duties.

Mechanical department is in charge of Earl McBride, with Charles Ray Cox assisting.

MISS GLENN IS VISITOR

Banquet Speaker Points To Peace

RESPONSIBILITY RESTS IN HANDS OF NATION'S WOMEN, MRS. ADAMS AVERS

"IN THE HANDS of mothers and daughters rest the responsibilities of peace", Mrs. J. L. Adams of Crosbyton, President of the 14th District Parent-Teachers Association, reminded her audience of women and girls gathered in the basement of the Baptist Church for the seventh annual Mothers-Daughters banquet, Friday evening. "All the responsibility of peace did not rest in the hands of the president, nor will they rest in the hands of the president today... we can only have peace when it begins in the hearts and home of the people of our nation", Mrs. Adams pointed out.

Now Overseas

Dorothy Willett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Willett of Matador, recently arrived in England for further assignment in the European Theatre of Operations as an American Red Cross hospital staff aide. Until her Red Cross appointment, Miss Willett was employed by the Tennessee Valley Authority, Knoxville, Tenn. She is a graduate of Brady, Texas, High School and Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Texas.

Rev. Turrentine Closes Revival

Rev. Geo. E. Turrentine, pastor of the local Methodist church, returned home Tuesday noon from Spade, where he has just closed a successful revival meeting. He was accompanied by Mrs. Turrentine, who visited in Lubbock with their daughter while he was at Spade.

More Contributors Aid Sending Paper

Generous contributions from friends and relatives continue to support the Tribune's plan of sending the home-town paper to men and women in uniform all over the world, and for this assistance, we express our humble appreciation. Also, we would not forget those who contribute so generously of their time each week, in assisting with rolling the "single-wraps" and in helping in so many other ways, in getting the Tribune 'out' and in the mail.

Following contributions have been received since last week: Miss Thersia Godfrey $2, Miss Bessie Medlen, (Roaring Springs) $1, Bill Hill (Portales, N. M.) $1, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Martin $5, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edwards (Silverton) $3, Mrs. E. L. Smallwood $1, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Darsey (Whiteflat) $5, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ho-Gland (Roaring Springs) $1, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Webb $1.50, Roy Burleson $2.50, Mrs. Myra Sparks (Flomot) $5, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eiring (Plainview) $5.

THANKS, MATADOR FRIENDS

It is with genuine regret that we leave Matador. During the six months we have made our home here, we have met and known the friendliest people of any community in which we have ever resided. There is not a single instance where we have not found a sincere effort to assist in any possible way and to extend to us a welcome which made for pleasure and comfort. We will not forget the good people of Matador. We hope you will not forget us.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dudley and Blanche Sue.

PROTECT VITAL FARM MACHINERY with CORRECT LUBRICANTS and FUELS

Correct Fuels and Lubricants for farm machinery are just as important as the right seed for your crops. Inferior seed produce small crop yield, and improperly lubricated machinery... or use of inferior fuels, oils and greases, result in costly breakdowns, inefficient service, and less farm income. For years Southwestern farmers and ranchers have used Magnolia Fuels and Lubricants, finding that they are economical and help cut down costly repair bills. Get added protection for your tractors, trucks, automobiles, and other farm machinery, with Magnolia Products.
