Heavy Rains Lash County

Muddy waters from a quick 3 1/2 inches rainfall Monday morning changed Matador streets into rivers that overflowed and flooded many areas of the community. Water was reported in several homes and a few places of business.

Matador's already deplorable dirt street system was almost destroyed as rushing waters cut new channels to reach Ballard creek. Rising rapidly, the creek reached the highest stage in about five years. Total rainfall registered in Matador since Saturday was 5.26 inches at 9 p. m. Tuesday, altho some additional showers fell Tuesday night and early yesterday. Some residents believe the rainfall heavier in sections of town remote from the city wells where the rain gauge is maintained by Water Superintendent Herman Standfield.

Reports of as much as eight inches of rain have been received from some county communities, from the storm which started Saturday and continued, intermittently until Wednesday morning.

Cotton Prices Hit 30-Year High Level

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—Cotton prices on the New York futures market hit a 30-year high this week with the March 1951 contract selling at one time at 40 cents a pound.

Active futures contracts on the New York cotton exchange showed net advances of 106 to 142 points over the week, compared with a rise of 14 to 40 points the previous week.

Late in the week the March, 1951, contract sold at 40 cents, the highest price recorded for futures since July, 1920, when the July contract sold for 43.75 cents a pound.

The price for middling 15/16 inch cotton on an average at the ten southern spot markets also reached a new high at 39.51 cents a pound.

Chief Factors Given

Mill price fixing and reports of unfavorable weather in many portions of the cotton belt, which might indicate a decline in crop prospects, were the chief factors in the price situation.

Also entering the picture was a continued good export movement of staple, demand for goods for military and civilian needs and agriculture Secretary Brannan's statement that agricultural price controls are not needed on domestically produced commodities.

The official August forecast placed the 1950 production at 10,308,000 bales of 500 pounds each.

Exports of domestic staple during the week continued in good volume and for the first month of the current season totaled 437,000 bales, almost twice the 224,000 bales of the comparable period last year.

Squint's Drumming For Fair Play!

Squint Miller's mighty proud of the lot he owns that fronts on River Road—one of the prettiest spots around here.

He's been in a stew about it lately, though. Seems that trash-dumpers take one look at his property, stop their car or truck, and out goes a load of rubbish, spilling all over his place and the roadside, too. Wouldn't that make you mad?

Last night Squint dropped by the house. Over a friendly glass of beer, he tells me what he's done. "I put a couple of empty oil drums out there," he says, "with a big sign reading: 'If you must dump trash—use these—I like to keep my property clean!'"

From where I sit, Squint's sign should make any would-be roadside trash-dumpers pretty darned ashamed of themselves. Now and then some folks just have to be reminded that they ought to have as much regard for their neighbors' rights as they do for their own.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Thomas, her mother, Mrs. L. C. Harp, and Mrs. Woodruff. Mrs. Willett and Mrs. Patton assisted with hostess duties and Mrs. Donovan poured.

The dining table was laid with lace over a pale green cloth and centered with an arrangement of rose-colored dahlias, flanked by green tapers in crystal holders.

Dainty sandwiches, cookies and pix were served with coffee and tea.

Approximately 35 guests called during the reception.

Arch Pays Tribute to Flomot Heroic Dead

Program of Motley County Home Demonstration club women has been expanded to include civic improvement in various county communities, bringing rural centers together in a manner reminiscent of the "good old days."

One of the foremost community-wide projects is an impressive rock arch and gate at the entrance of Flomot cemetery. Flomot club women erected the arch as a lasting monument to men in the community who died in the two major conflicts of this country. Dedication services were held Memorial Day. The speaker was J. L. Speer, Flomot veteran of World War I. A bronze plaque set in the arch at the right, is inscribed: "In memory of those men and women who served their country in World Wars I and II."

In raising money for the construction of the arch, various entertainments were promoted, including a community carnival with customary concessions, booths and "side-shows."

An entertainment which created a great deal of interest and drew a large crowd was a woman's basketball game, in which no one under 35 years of age was permitted to play.

"We had a lot of fun, although our husbands had to do their own cooking for days afterwards," was the comment of one goldstar mother of the community.

Much of the success of the fund-raising has been attributed to the untiring efforts of H. George, president, and members of a committee, Mrs. J. Tanner and Mrs. Bernice C. Modesty, however, praise them from taking all the credit.

In addition to the fund-raising of all our club members, Mrs. George said, "we received many donations that aided materially."

While the Flomot women are busy, the Whiteflat club is working, too, in a program to provide recreational facilities and community improvements.

The women received permission to use part of the old flat school building which has been abandoned several years. They raised money to furnish three of the rooms.

Boys Ranch Rodeo Has 8,000 Crowd

Perfect weather, old-fashioned western vittles and the magic of the rodeo drew a crowd estimated at 8,000 to the annual barbecue and rodeo at Boys Ranch, Sunday.

Except for the bad creek bottom which slowed rodeo-bound traffic, it was declared the crowd might have topped 10,000 persons.

The steady stream of cars which began arriving early Sunday morning, dug out Turner creek, between Tascosa and Channing, backing up traffic as far as seven miles at one time.

Cal Farley, Boys Ranch director, flew over the congested area and said many rodeo-bound cars turned back because of the traffic snarl.

Roy Turner, Oldham county commissioner, was busy through out the day with caterpillars.

The rodeo, staged with the assistance of the Amarillo Will Rogers Range Riders, was reeled off with only one casualty—that to a bull which had been brought in as part of the rodeo stock. The animal suffered a broken leg in one of the chutes, and was shot.

Sixty-seven Boys Ranch cowhands competed in the rodeo which offered total prize money of $516. Tommy Mason emerged as top money winner, with Connie Phillips and Bill Baker close behind.

Gull Claims Boss Seeks Control Of Panhandle Politics

Congressman Ben Gull, home from Washington during the House recess, opened his re-election campaign Monday night with an address in his home town of Pampa.

Gull reviewed his voting record in the House and attacked the "crazy quilt" foreign policy of the Administration.

"We have been running our international affairs on a day-to-day basis," he declared. "We have zigzagged and reversed ourselves, and more often than not, we have zigged when we should have zagged. We have lost the respect and confidence of our allies through our timid, political and revolving State Department."

The 18th district representative recently introduced in the House a joint resolution demanding that the State Department set and follow definite foreign policies in Europe and Asia.

Gull also is the author of a farm bill which would establish a bi-partisan advisory committee from among farmers themselves, allowing them to participate in the writing of their own agricultural program. This bill is now in the House Agricultural Committee, of which the Pampa lawmaker is a member.

Gull declared that if President Truman vetoes the anti-communist bill, which Gull supported, he will vote to override the veto. Gull was paired against the controls bill which passed the House last week.

"Some of the time, I voted with the Republicans; sometimes I voted against the Republicans," he explained. "I always voted as my conscience dictated, and in the way I thought best for the people of America generally, and the people of the Panhandle in particular."

One passage of Gull's address hit hard at bossism in politics.

"I have heard that a political boss in Amarillo has hopes of electing his own private Congressman in the november election by beating Ben Gull," he said. "If he wants to become boss of the Panhandle, this individual most certainly will have to beat Ben Gull, because I am opposed to bossism."

Health Department Receives Gift Of "Northwest Fleas"

You wouldn't ordinarily consider a boxful of dead fleas as very much of a gift.

But entomological workers—specialists who study insects which spread disease—at the Texas State Department of Health, recently were "thrilled" by a gift of Pacific Northwest fleas from Dr. C. Andresen Hubbard, formerly head of the Biology Department at Pacific University in Oregon. He has made similar gifts, collected during a lifetime of studying disease spreaders, to 20 of the world's outstanding institutions in biological sciences.

State Health Officer Geo. W.

Cox, acknowledging the gift, said it was "something of a compliment" to be classed as a leader in biological studies along with the British Museum, Canada's National Museum, Brazil's Escola Nacional de Agronomia, the Parasitological Laboratory in Sevastopol, Russia, Pakistan's Malaria Institute, the American Museum of Natural History in New York, and "many others of equal prominence."

The Texas Health Department was the only health agency in the nation to benefit from the presentation. It's disease vector collection is reputedly one of the finest in the world. Dr. Cox says the entire assortment, including ticks and mites as well as fleas, is open to study by graduate and advanced undergraduate students in Texas colleges and universities.

Departmental entomological studies are described by Dr. Cox as a "determination of the specific types of insects of medical importance in the state, their distribution, seasonal abundance and how they can best be controlled."

Department entomologists conducted a two year investigation of typhus fever in Lavaca county in 1944-46. Step by step, they traced out the process by which rodent fleas spread typhus from rat to human beings.

In 1949, they finished a study which showed bubonic plague—the Black Death of the Middle Ages—was infecting wild rodents in four South Plains counties in West Texas.

"Our entomologists are disease detectives," Dr. Cox says. "The gift from Dr. Hubbard will help them run down insect culprits."

There's a Great Day Coming—

Yes, it's a great day when thousands of West Texas youngsters go back to school. Whether they are beginning their first year in kindergarten or their senior year in college, their education is proof of the American heritage of equal opportunity for all.

Our youths of today are intelligent and ambitious. All they need is the full opportunity to develop their ideas freely and market their talents as each sees fit. We must guard that "full opportunity" so that when the "individual initiative and energy" of American youth fathers an idea, they may call upon the American system of free enterprise to make realities of their ideas and ambitions.

Parent-Teacher Association Executive Committee Meets; Discuss Activities

With first meeting of Matador Parent-Teacher Association scheduled for Wednesday, September 27, executive members met Wednesday morning, August 30, with the president, Mrs. Harold Campbell, for the first meeting of that group. All members with the exception of three were present. Also present were Supt. Bert Ezzell, High school principal Vance Gilbreath and Grade school principal J. E. Edwards.

Newly elected president, Mrs. Campbell presided and expressed her appreciation for the way everyone had cooperated with her.

Among the first activities on the organization's list will be a watermelon feast honoring the faculty members and members of the school board, which will be held on the high school campus Thursday evening, September 14, at 8:00 p. m. The affair will be sponsored jointly by the P. T. A. and Matador Lions Club.

Announcement was also made that Matador Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor a play, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" on Friday night, October 13, in the high school auditorium, which will be enacted by real dwarfs.

Mrs. Campbell urged that parents give the teachers and school board wholehearted cooperation. She also stressed the spiritual needs in her opening address. "We are made up of three things," she asserted. "The physical, mental and spiritual. I feel that the spiritual has been neglected in the past, and in our work this year, I especially want to keep spiritual needs in mind and practice this in our own little P. T. A. in our homes and our community, and perhaps something of our work will flow from our community across our nation."

An all-day meeting on Parent-Teacher work was held in Mrs. Campbell's home the past summer, with Mrs. M. C. Butler, Lubbock, president of Fourteenth district, and Mrs. H. G. Stinnett, Plainview, first state vice-president, present. Eleven members of the local unit are completing a course on Parent-Teacher work and several others have expressed a desire to take the course.

MISS MARTIN ATTENDS WEDDING OF ROOMMATE

Miss Elwanda Martin spent the week-end at Brady, where she attended the wedding Saturday evening, of her former roommate at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Miss Twila Deck of Pear Valley, near Brady. Miss Martin sang at the wedding and attended a wedding rehearsal luncheon in Brady Saturday. She was also the guest of other friends there, including Dr. and Mrs. Dee Ray Jenkins, the latter also being an ex-roommate of hers.

Mrs. A. B. Groves accompanied Miss Martin to Brady, Friday and visited her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Groves during the week-end.

Pied 'Pinions

BY MR. J. M.

From a current woman's magazine, "Cultivate politeness for family use. If a guest dropped in on a hot afternoon you would suggest a cold drink. Why not show your husband the same consideration?" For the simple reason that ours would never survive the shock.

If these 'pinions appear somewhat more pied than usual, they are justifiably so. Having been elbowed aside for two weeks to make room for the Old Settlers, during which we didn't have time to pen any 'pinions anyway we were just getting back to a normal pace, when out on our car we went spinning, to make news, so here we sit on our hospital bed, all patched up, trying to un-pie our mind; such as remains.

They say one re-lives his life during the last few minutes of consciousness, so we guess we were aware that this wasn't IT, since we didn't review any past events, and didn't pass out. We could see car wheels spinning as we lay there on the pavement and we thought, well Doris must have turned the car over. In trying to brace myself, we must have been thrown against the door handle, or clutched at it, causing the door to open and spill us out. At any rate, that is how we happened to be scooping up the gravel in our girdle.

We feel somewhat like a celebrity. The flowers are beautiful—a potted gloxinia from the Lions Club, and vases of colorful asters and dahlias from others, not to mention the many cards and visits from friends. Humbly, we say, thanks to each of you.

The nurses and doctors also have been so kind and considerate, and the food is fit for a queen. Since the nurses come on at different hours, we have had opportunity to get acquainted with them all. Of course we already knew Ora Faye Patton, Bertha Garrison and Bessie Morrison, and have the pleasure now of knowing Alyce Speer Palmer, whose husband is in a hospital in Washington, and their two youngsters are with her parents, the Joe Speers at Flomot; Mrs. Carl King, who brought her two small boys, ages 19 months and 3 years, to live here when "Froggy" (as we all know him) was sent to Okinawa and is now in Korea; and Miss Viola Stinson, whose home is Paducah, and who has been here about a month. We understand that Mrs. Joy and Mrs. Smallwood are responsible for the delicious meals.

Mr. M. offered to bring us a small radio to keep us entertained while hospitalized, but we declined. We couldn't hear what all was going on in the corridors with a radio on. For instance, the conversation the other morning between Mary Sue Burleson, 8, and her mother, the former Mollie Barton. Mary Sue wanted to know if, when she died they would put her in a wooden coffin; we didn't hear the answer to that one, but then Mary Sue asked if her name wouldn't be in the paper, if she should do something well. Mary Sue, just because your dad got his name in the paper because he broke his leg, doesn't necessarily mean you have to do something drastic to be written about. Your wit and personality will see you through; and then there will be records of school activities, as you grow and progress, and finally you will be grown-up and the press will be carrying stories about your wedding! There's a lot yet to be written about you, Mary Sue Burleson.

Terminology is rather confusing. For instance, when a new patient is brought to the hospital our first thought is, "Wonder what he is in for?" meaning, what brings him here.

Prices Pegged On Cottonseed And Soybeans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6—The Agriculture Department announced Wednesday a national average price support of $2.06 a bushel for 1950 crop soybeans and price support loans of $31 a ton on cottonseed.

This compares with $2.11 a bushel on last year's crop of soybeans, and with support loans of $49.50 a ton on 1949 cottonseed. Where the purchase program may be necessary, the department said, cottonseed purchases will be made at $47 a ton compared with $46 a ton last year.

The 1950 soybean support price is based on 80 per cent of the September 1 parity price compared with 90 per cent last year. Soybean loans and purchase agreements will be available through January 31, 1951. To be eligible for support, soybeans must grade No. 4 or better and contain not more than 14 per cent moisture, the department said.
