TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Tears of rain dripped from the cheeks of clouds above old New Orleans; dripped from the eroding iron grill-work on buildings in the French quarter; dripped through moss hanging on the arms of weary trees and ran in narrow, muddy flumes of car tracks on Canal street. Faltering neon signs attempted to flash their message amid the glare and color of thousands in perfect performance lighting the wide avenue that leads from the world to the Mississippi. Misery and laughter are so close on the narrow streets; old loves, old memories and perished dreams of forgotten thousands whose sandals are long silenced, have left a whispering that mocks the gay music. Aboard the Canal street ferry, lovers huddle close in their automobiles and listen to radios or whisper as the river and five minutes pass. Little tugs pull at the skirts of patient steamers. A gentle pigeon alights on deck mid-river and picks up crumbs of pop corn, then swiftly darts to the deck of a ferry going the opposite direction. The ferry boat whistle shakes boughs of the soul and the brown waves follow each other before frolicking wind. Strutting tugs pass with devilish blasts or race in the Crescent sea. A girl with pesty cheeks and painted lips lights a cigarette below the "Positively no smoking" sign, crosses her legs and a boyish sailor moves to sit beside her. An empty beer bottle rolls out from under the seat and strikes my foot as the ferry strikes the wharf. New Orleans is rich with the sweetness, the beauty and the tragedy of decay; it breathes with the newness of youth and vision. It has no innocence to hide.

Trembling like an impatient monster, the great plane moved past the air port as the starter mechanics towed their wheeled batteries hurriedly from the path of roaring propellers. There was a slight tenseness as the passengers watched the south of the United States move beneath their windows; faster now as if anxious to escape from the wheels of the plane. House tops appeared below, roads and rivers wove their designs into the pattern of speed and space, and grey clouds were even with the wing tip. New Orleans had fallen into the cistern of space and the Gulf was visible thru holes in the floating mass of clouds. Four propellers were chewing the mighty rug of distance and the Clipper moved like a soaring bird. The "no smoking" and "fasten safety belt" sign flashed off and half a hundred passengers were on the staircase of Paradise. Transition into eternity is, perhaps quieter, but no more impressive.

Smiling at my saddled fears, the neat and beautiful hostess struck a match to the fresh cigarette between my lips and removed a soft pillow from the rack overhead which she would have placed for my comfort if some passenger had not pressed the buzzer. She returned in a short time with a bottle of warm milk for the curly-haired baby in fond mother's arms across the aisle. Outside was a world of deep, white canyons, mountains of snow on endless plains. The plane might have been dangling from a star. Here was the fantastic store-room of all beauty. At intervals mountain ranges rose, mountains of mist, pink and blue, purple and grey. The red sun appeared and was gone. Here was the portal of Valhalla. Beauty so great as to bring undreamed tears to earthly eyes, spread as a vista of eternal lavishness. Here was the Sargasso Sea of lovers since time began. Here was the wreckage of their dreams, their promises and the visions of their tomorrow. Beauty so great the earthly bound heart must shrink at its scope. A world of white and See TRAIL DUST Page 8

Roaring Springs Theatre Opens Despite Blizzard

A brief but severe curtain call of winter Friday failed to check the scheduled opening of the area's newest amusement place, the Spring theatre at Roaring Springs. Patrons braved the wind, sand and snow to fill the 316 seat house to capacity, manager Joe M. Thacker declared yesterday. He expressed his appreciation for the immediate patronage which the theatre received. Modern in every detail, the theatre is equipped with up-to-date projectors and sound equipment. The building which has been completely modernized produces perfect acoustics. The modernization has been well planned to include lounges opening off the lobby for ladies and gentlemen, also a drinking fountain in the theatre lobby. Schedule of latest motion picture entertainment includes four complete shows weekly, one play Sunday and Monday, one Tuesday and Wednesday, one Thursday and Friday and one show for Saturday only. Two matinees are scheduled each week on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. A Saturday night preview (10:30 p. m.) of Sunday's picture is also announced. The box office opens at 7:15 and the show starts at 7:30 week days. Two shows are offered each evening. Personnel of the new theatre includes Joe M. (Buzz) Thacker, manager, Arthur Harmon and Jack Davis, operators. Mrs. Joe Thacker box office attendant and Gafford Jackson and Bobby Dodson, pop corn vendors. Scheduled for Saturday night preview, Sunday and Monday is the "most talked-about" picture of the year, "The Outlaw" starring Jane Russell.

Petitions for Dr. J. S. Stanley, George Gray, Kim Wilkinson, Curtis Graham and Ben Edwards have already been filed with Judge Cammack. Deadline for filing of these petitions is March 25th, or ten days before the election, according to Judge Cammack.

ROARING SPRINGS LIONS HEAR LOCAL PASTOR WEDNESDAY

Rev. Oscar Bruce, pastor of the Matador Methodist church was the featured speaker at the regular luncheon meeting of the Roaring Springs Lions Club held in the Hotel cafe there Wednesday at 12:30. Rev. Bruce told his appreciative audience that happiness is the most universal desire of the world and that it is the underlying motive for most of our activities. "However," he declared, "there are certain rules governing the achievement of happiness and when we violate them, we suffer and the mirage of happiness is lost. We are given to want to make our own rules for obtaining happiness, but it is impossible to beat the game of life. We must play the game according to the rules and these are universal rules, not rules made by myself or any other preacher."

Other distinguished speakers introduced by Boss Lion S. J. Braselton was Lion International secretary Marlow Fisher, who paid tribute to the progressiveness of the club and its worthwhile activities. He said that Lions International is now the largest service organization in the world. Other visitors included deputy sheriff Howe Hines and Lion Douglas Meador of Matador, and Buck Marshall.

Gridsters Set For Game Next Friday Night

Plans are underway to hold final spring practice football game next Friday night, March 28, on Burleson Field, with a small admission charge to defray costs of lights, and also to help pay cost of staging the district track meet to be held here April 12. School officials announced this week. Approximately twenty-four boys are working out daily on Burleson field, in preparation for the annual spring game with the seniors. Coach Brady Thomas is in charge of the practices, and reports that on an average, the boys are looking very good. Several lettermen from last year's team are working daily and several of last year's squad members are also looking up.

Coach Thomas plans to use variations of the "T" next year, and is giving his charges some of the basic plays he expects to use. Boys working out include: Leo Archer, Joe Pitts, Don Bradley, James White, Bonner Nelson, Colonel Garth, Wayne Spray, Bobby Browning, William C. Springs Dealers Are Approved By Purina

After meeting definite standards required by the Ralston Purina Company of St. Louis, Red Ball Feed & Grain firm of Roaring Springs has been made an approved custom mixing station. "We are fully qualified," E. E. Moss, manager, declared, "to render the type of custom grinding and mixing service the Ralston Purina company authorize in the announcement which we have received. We are completely equipped to grind the farmer's own grains and mix them with a balancer which the Purina laboratories and experimental farm have found practical and economical. By grinding the producer's own grains and properly blending them with a Purina balancer, it is possible to increase the farmer's return when he markets his grain thru his livestock in the form of pork, beef, eggs and milk."

Red Ball Feed & Grain will also handle the complete line of Purina feeds and concentrates.

Salty Slap of Winter Slows Down Traffic And Leaves Blanket of Snow on Wide Area

ALWAYS a source of interest, Texas Panhandle weather put on a special exhibit late Friday which drove the mirage of spring back to its place on the calendar, brightened the eyes of fuel dealers and put wrinkles in the brows of stockmen. An almost mild early spring suddenly took on the violence of outraged winter. Starting with a "Jim Dandy" sand storm about 11 a. m. Friday, and followed by rain in the afternoon, the temperature began to drop by night and the rain changed to snow.

Colvert, expert on the formation of junior colleges in Texas, will speak at the Matador High School auditorium Monday afternoon, March 24, at 2:30, on the subject of the proposed location of a junior college at the Childress Army Air Field. The proposed junior college district would take in Motley County and would afford students living in this county the privilege of riding a school bus to the proposed college with the only expense being the regular $50. tuition charge. It is hoped that a large number of citizens from Flomot, Whiteflat, Roaring Springs and Matador will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear Dr. Colvert and meet him after the program to discuss any question about the proposed college district that they might have.

FINAL DRIVE IS CONDUCTED TO COMPLETE CENSUS

An intensive drive is being conducted to get every child who will be six years old before the first of September, or who has not reached his or her eighteenth birthday before that date registered on the school census for the Matador school district. All children in these age groups are required by law to be registered, and local school officials are very interested in securing all that are due to be listed. Officials here believe there is a possibility that each child registered will mean $55. in state money for the local school next year. The number of children registered also affects the number of teachers which the local school may have, as the state allots the number of teachers according to the number of pupils on the scholastic census.

Mrs. Frank Pohl is conducting the census drive here and any parent who has not been contacted is asked to get in touch with her at her home, or call 137 and she will make a personal visit to the home.

Whiteflat Community Club Has Successful Party Tuesday Night

The monthly affair starts with a covered-dish supper, each family bringing a dish of food, and supplying plates, cups, forks and spoons for their immediate group.

 Hiya, all you keeds—How's everybody?? Now for a lil' gossip!
 Seems as tho everybody picked last Sunday week as a good time to get stuck; Pup, Roaring Springs (natchery) Heavy was caught out at Whiteflat, and Billy Taylor was rescued from the Matador Pasture!

Billy Jo and Charlotte H. made a cute couple at the preview Sat. nite. Too much habit! Nellie Jean seems to be getting regular mail from a certain boy in Amarillo! Isn't his name Donald Ray Berry??
 We hear that Heavy has been sleeping in comfort! In some clothes that were a LITTLE too big for him!!

James W. and Annette seem to go on the "ons" and "offs". They were seen at the show Thursday nite, and Saturday nite they were a little "off". Billy Taylor really likes the "billys"—Billy W., Billy Dan, and Billy S.

CONGRATULATIONS are given to Billy Frank for the accomplished feat of landing Monte Frits, and to Ann Harp for making R. C. break his established record of not going with the girls. CONDOLENCE is extended to all the rest of the unlucky gals!!

Seems as tho all the ever-lovin' couples of MHS have ceased to love anymore!!

Shorty and Hal were together last Thursday night, we hear!! Lewis has been having a smile on his face here lately!! Could it be that Mickey has gotten over the mumps?

Carol and Gene are making a steady "seen-together" these days! Wonder how long it will last? Everybody else is breaking up!!

Mary, didn't you have a nice trip Thursday night with a certain Ralph Jones?? And didn't you haunt Turkey and Quitaque?? Now, Mary!!

Jerry and Heavy were seen together Saturday night. Ruby sure likes to ride around in new Oldsmobiles!!

Has anybody noticed the Senior Class ring on Mary Frances' third finger, left hand? What say Colonel??

Chareen, what is this we hear about you going with Bob Rattan?? Well, that is all of the news for now!!

Love, Miss El Matador.

"We wish to thank each of these men and all individuals, companies who have donated to this cause or who have aided in any way to make our show possible" the boys and their adviser declared.

International Harvester announces $20,000,000 price reductions

We believe there is nothing more important to this country than to lower the prices of the goods that people buy.

The American people have insisted that the government withdraw from its attempts to control prices in peacetime. That places the responsibility where it belongs—in the hands of business and industry. Not all business can reduce prices now. Not all can reduce by the same amount.

Our company has felt a duty to act as promptly as possible. In our case, the business outlook now makes it possible to move toward the goal of lower prices. The only way out of the vicious circle of higher and higher prices is to break through.

We have taken this step not because of present competitive conditions nor because of a drop in demand from customers. We have taken it because of our belief that ANY PRICE IS TOO HIGH IF IT CAN BE REDUCED.

These reductions, which will save the users of our products approximately $20,000,000 a year, will become effective before April 1, and will apply to a selected list of tractor, farm machine, motor truck, and industrial power products. Since we lose money on a few of our products, and barely break even on some others, these reductions will not apply to our entire line. Reductions will be made individually on products. Some will be cut more than others. Exact details will be announced as soon as possible.

Our ability to maintain this lower level of prices will depend in part on what happens to the prices and flow of materials that we buy from others. Because we believe price reduction is vital, we are willing to assume the risks that are involved.

These benefits to customers will depend, too, on uninterrupted production at reasonable wage levels. This is not a program that can be carried out if it is hampered by strikes or work stoppages.

Our employees have had substantial increases in pay, and wage questions are currently being discussed with many of the unions with which we deal. Stockholders have recently had an increase in dividend rate. Having considered the interests of these two groups, we are now making these price reductions for the benefit of the third group—our customers.

Business, to our way of thinking, has a social as well as an economic responsibility. This company has long followed the policy of operating in the interests of three groups—its customers, its employees and its stockholders. The duty of the management is to see that equal justice is done as between the three groups.

This price reduction program is another demonstration of our policy in action.

FLU EPIDEMIC SWEEPS STATE

Reports coming in to the State Health Department from various sections of the State indicate that the number of influenza cases has increased to epidemic proportions in many areas. The reported incidence recently is 11,824 cases, however, this represents only a fraction of the actual number of cases in the State since many cases are not receiving medical care, and therefore remain unreported. There were perhaps an estimated 200,000 cases of influenza this week in Texas.

Commenting on this situation recently, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said that most of these cases are mild and tend themselves to treatment readily. He pointed out that two cooperative factors are essential to victims of this disease: first, to call the family physician promptly when suspicious symptoms appear; and second, to take it easy for a reasonable length of time after the acute stage has subsided.

"It is essential to realize that influenza, no matter how mild the attack, calls for a period of convalescence, because serious complications can occur if this important fact is ignored," Dr. Cox said. "Influenza is not most contagious. However, those persons who maintain the highest possible health level at all times, increasing their resistance to communicable disease germs, will have a protective advantage over those more careless persons who continually abuse their health."

The State Health Officer declared that living by the laws of nature, getting plenty of sleep, daily exercise in the open, nourishing foods and good personal hygiene offers the best known bulwark against all respiratory diseases and added that avoiding habits of any and all kinds detrimental to maximum well being is a wise course to take in the pursuit of good health.

A MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF WAR

How you can help YOUR ARMY DO ITS PART FOR PEACE

With the President's proposal for the discontinuance of Selective Service on March 21, America will rely on voluntary enlistments for the maintenance of the Regular Army at authorized strength.

In view of world conditions today, this is a step of the greatest importance to every American citizen. Never before in history has any nation raised and maintained a million-man army by the volunteer system alone. Our ideals, our belief in individual freedom, our safety and our duty to promote world peace—all are bound up in this decision.

This is your Army, and voluntary enlistment is your choice. It must not fail. With your help it will not fail. The Army must continue to provide adequate occupation for our young men, to supply those forces, and to help in keeping America strong and secure.

Your help and understanding can do much to encourage a steady flow of 3-year voluntary enlistments, necessary to sound training and the efficient performance of the Army's task.

When you discuss this subject with your sons, brothers, husbands or friends who may be considering an Army career, bear in mind the advantages offered by a 3-year enlistment. Among them are the choice of branch of service and of overseas theater where openings exist, and the opportunity for thorough training in valuable skills.

A job in the new Regular Army compares favorably with the average in industry, and has more opportunities for promotion than most.

You can help by giving your respect and support to the man who enlists voluntarily—to do his part in carrying out your country's world-wide obligations to build a peace that will endure.

OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED IN COMMERCIAL WORK

Opportunities in commercial work for young women who have home economics training are becoming greater than ever, according to Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of Home Economics at Texas Technological College.

Home economists are in increasing demand for work with public service companies, large milk concerns, frozen locker companies, and countless food dealers, Dean Weeks said, pointing out that young women are wanted to prepare advertisements, pamphlets and other literature, as well as to demonstrate food preparation and home appliances.

Representatives of various industries have been visiting Tech regularly this year, interviewing members of the graduating home economics class with an eye to employing them. Miss Virginia Hughes, home economist with the Rural Electrification Administration, who interviewed seniors last week, stated that the REA alone has openings for 75 home economists in Texas now.

The group meeting is called by Mr. G. G. Wheeler, District Supervisor.

BOYCE HOUSE IS SUBJECT OF LIFE REPORT LAST WEEK

Life's Reports, a feature each week of Life Magazine, is devoted to Boyce House of Fort Worth, in the March 17 issue.

After reporting a couple of his "tall tales" the article says, "with whoppers of this kind, all of them lauding the products of Texas from hogs to scenic grandeur, a gangling, wide-mouthed man named Boyce House (pronounced Hayous in Texas, of course) maintains his reputation as the state's No. 1 booster."

The article continues, "This is no mean distinction in a state where everybody is either a booster or a social outcast."

After listing the books House has written, which have sold more than 250,000 copies; his two weekly radio programs, the two weekly newspaper columns he writes and the 1,000 speeches he has made in the past six years, the article states that for the 50-year-old House, "this is an impressive record for a man who was born in Arkansas, raised in Tennessee and has spent a mere 26 years in Texas."

The article, written by Don Morris, concludes with a remark House made to a stranger, "I heard you asking a man just now what state he was from. If a man is from Texas he will tell you. If he's not, there's no use embarrassing him."

VISITING PARENTS

A. A. Alsop arrived here last Thursday for a two weeks visit with his family Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Alsop. He will be joined later by his wife who is in Kentucky at her father's bedside. After a few days visit they will return to their home in Dallas.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of thanking kind friends and neighbors for their many thoughtful acts and words of sympathy extended us during the illness of our beloved wife and mother. May God's richest blessings rest on each of you. W. M. Barnett and family.

Harry Willett made a business trip to Dallas last week. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jacobs left Sunday for a business trip to Dallas.

CHEVROLET LEADS IN REGISTRATION

DETROIT—Continuing its war-interrupted record of annual automotive sales leadership Chevrolet in 1946 led all other makes in U. S. automotive registration, it was shown here today by the complete tabulation for the entire nation for the full year of 1946. This record, which includes both passenger car and truck registrations, gives Chevrolet an impartial rating upon which to base its claim of national passenger car sales leadership in 11 out of the past 12 production years, according to T. H. Keating, general sales manager of this largest General Motors division.

With final reports tabulated March 1, including car and truck registrations, Chevrolet totalled 501,219, a figure that is 42,928 units greater than any other make in the industry, Keating said. Passenger cars accounted for 329,601 units; trucks for 171,618.

Chevrolet's showing, Keating asserted, is especially significant in view of the fact that in the first three months of the year the division was strike-bound and non-productive.

A clean sweep was scored by Chevrolet in December, out-registering all other makes in every state, Keating said. Final accounting shows that Chevrolet led in passenger car registrations by 2,779 units, in trucks by 40,149.

Childress Farmers Favor Delinted Seed

At least 60 per cent of Childress County farmers believe it pays to plant delinted cotton seed.

County Agricultural Agent V. E. Hafner reports that the Childress County farmers are sold on planting the delinted seed because it comes up so quickly. And only five to six pounds per acre are required for planting in comparison with 16 to 30 pounds of fuzzy seed, the county agent says.

Another point in favor of the delinted seed for West Texas cotton growers is that it requires less moisture for germination, says Hafner. It can also be spaced more evenly in the drill rows, seed hoppers will hold more seed and don't have to be filled so often.

Delinting equipment installed in the Childress County Farmers Cooperative Gin furnish cotton growers of the county with the clean seed. Present capacity of the delinting plant is 400 pounds per hour, but County Agent Hafner says plans are underway to increase the plant's capacity to as much as 800 pounds an hour to meet the increasing demands for delinted seed in the county.

El Progreso Members And Husbands Hear Dr. Dunn As Guest Speaker At Banquet

One of the nation's most outstanding members of the medical profession, Dr. Sam Dunn of Lubbock, was guest speaker at a banquet given Thursday evening of last week in the basement of the Baptist Church, by El Progreso Study Club members, with their husbands as guests.

Dr. Dunn centered his address around the history and romance of medicine, tracing its progress from the beginning of time, to the present. The first operation, he pointed out, is recorded in the Book of Genesis, being the removal of Adam's rib for the creation of Eve. His interesting and informative talk unfolded, step by step, the advancements from early Roman and Greek medics, through the dark ages. Medicine, he declared, has made more progress during the past twenty-five years than ever before.

One phase of the profession however, Dr. Dunn expressed regret for, and that is the specialist who is replacing the family physician. "So many specialists are entering the field that the old family physician as we have known him, will soon cease his practice," he said.

"We will rue the day when he is gone. He was the most learned man of us all. He had to be a specialist in all lines."

During the banquet, piano

Wayland Volunteer Band In Charge Of Whiteflat Service

Wayland Volunteer Missionary Band of Plainview was in charge of joint services held in the Whiteflat Baptist church, Sunday morning and Sunday afternoon. The band was composed of students from Wayland College.

The group was seeking to gain aid for the Wayland Building Fund and pointed out the necessity of Baptists giving their share. The regular sessions began Saturday night at 7 o'clock. The next Sunday morning during the regular worship hour. Following dinner prepared by the church women and served in the church basement, the last service was held at 2 o'clock.

Members of the band were: James Dean, W. L. Findley, D. J. Stafford, Fred Sain, Jack Albright, Sid Davis, Bill Ware, Sue North, Jean Brian, Opal Schneider, and Lillian Doughty.

Sue North is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. North of Whiteflat. Opal Schneider will be remembered here as a leader in the Baptist Vacation Bible school and study course - last summer.

CHOCOLATE MAKES AN EASTER NEST

Most people like chocolate any way it is prepared. This delicious product combines with other ingredients to make delicious cakes, cookies, puddings and candies. But do you know anything about what happens to chocolate before it appears on the grocery shelves? Did you ever watch cocoa beans through the complicated processes to become finally your favorite chocolate nut bar?

The pods which contain the cocoa beans resemble an acorn squash, but are known as fruit rather than vegetable. Several steps lead to the preparation of the cocoa beans before they are shipped from the country where they are grown. First the beans or seeds are removed from the pods, fermented to remove the enveloping pulp, then sun-dried. When cocoa beans arrive at

Dips and Peaks

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

PRACTICAL economists view the business outlook in terms of peaks and valleys. They have come to accept the interpretation of the charts as interpretation of the myriad factors indicative of trends that may take place in our changing, dynamic economy. But the query is put: How can we avoid depressions? Must we take these periodic back-sets for granted? Is there not danger for America in depressions?

These questions are sometimes honestly asked by critics of what they call "boom and bust" capitalism. Yes, there is danger in depressions. They're full of dynamite. We might wish to avoid the effects of every kind of business recession, but to say that we desire to give up freedom of individual opportunity for a regimentation so thorough that we can avoid depressions would be to swap temporary set-back for permanent disaster.

Level AMERICA'S economy is Road? a changing economy. It is dynamic. And its direction, always, has been upward toward the mountain peaks of a higher and higher standard of living for all her citizens. It is just possible that we could stay in the valley, finding a level road that would be smooth and easy. Some folks mistakenly call this "security." But if we would have the mountain peaks of higher and higher standards of living, then we must be prepared for the brief plateaus, or even the dips, of readjustment for the climb ahead.

This need be no bitter revelation. The price of no depression would mean accepting a static economy. We can have "no progress" along with "no depression."

A static America, however, would not be a progressive, inventive, virile America.

Upward THERE ARE freedoms Still which thrive in the dynamic economy, and not the least of them is freedom of opportunity. Almost within our own generation the working man has had his hours cut nearly one-third. Real wages of the undiscovered common man have tripled in many industries. Secondary school enrollments have increased ten times, and college education is available to everyone. The physical comforts and the luxury goods consumed by America's common man are the envy of the whole world. All this has taken place, despite depressions.

This is not to say that America should accept serious business recessions without making any effort to cushion their effect. A wealth of experience from the uncertain Thirties should enable Congress to meet future emergencies with more success. We shall be able to avoid the mistake of blaming overproduction, for we now know that to admit overproduction is to admit that we can offer a higher standard of living than our people can accept.

America can keep going ahead on the climb upward toward heights now undreamed of, if we rededicate ourselves to honest effort in understanding and using the system that has brought us so much. Recognizing the laurels that belong already to the American way, we may scale heights that yet have never been surveyed. Let us not just take depressions for granted; let's take them in stride.

the factory of the chocolate manufacturer, they are first cleaned to remove dust, twigs, leaves and other foreign matter then they are roasted to facilitate the removal of the outer shell, and to bring out the flavor.

The roasted beans are then cracked between rollers, the broken pieces passing over sieves of different meshes which sift out the pieces of husk and the chaff. The inside portions of the bean are known as "nibs" and these are the basis of all chocolate products.

The "nibs" are pressed between revolving stones which reduces them to a paste, the process continuing until the paste is smooth. Then it is blended with sugar, cocoa butter, milk solids and flavoring, according to various formulas to become chocolate bars or bits. This is the chocolate that you buy as a confection, or for many cookery uses.

For Easter favors for the children, melted chocolate is combined with crisp cereal and formed into the shape of nests. Bright colored candy eggs are piled into the nests to complete the picture. Even the Easter bunny will approve. Here is the recipe:

Easter Nest Favors
14 oz. semi-sweet chocolate bits (2 7-oz. packages), 4 cups whole wheat flakes or shreds, colored almonds or jelly beans. Melt chocolate over hot but not boiling water, stir in cereal mixing until well-coated. Place table-spoonfuls of the mixture on wax paper and form into

Advice Is Given By Health Officer To Prevent Colds

What causes colds? Colds are caused by germs too small to be seen under a powerful microscope, they are known as "Filterable Virus." They are present in discharges from nose and throat. They are spread from person to person by sneezing, coughing, spitting, or on any freshly contaminated article as a drinking glass, which will pass on the infected saliva. A cold is not likely to be passed on during the first 24 hours.

If we could each live like a hermit, apart from others, we would probably never "catch cold." People living in Greenland and Labrador, we are told do not have colds in the winter even when exposed to the most severe weather. The busy person in everyday life cannot avoid exposure to colds. We expect to be sprayed by careless coughers and sneezers. Young children, elderly people and invalids who suffer most from the effects of a cold should certainly be protected from those who have colds. Children with colds should be kept home from schools, and if rest and light food do not help the cold to disappear shortly, then the family physician should be called. This may not be a cold but even more serious, as most of the communicable diseases start with some of the symptoms of a cold.

What can we do to avoid colds that cause more loss of time from industry and schools than all the other diseases combined? Have your own cup and glass at home and elsewhere; dress for the weather; eat a balanced diet; get plenty of rest; keep away from persons with colds.

Colds are costly. Prevent them if possible.

National farm income for January and February of this year will be about one third higher than for those two months in 1946, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Texas grapefruit production for this season is now estimated at 25,000,000 boxes, one million boxes more than the 1945-46 production.

SAN ANTONIO BEGINS PLANS FOR ANNUAL SAN JACINTO FIESTA

SAN ANTONIO — Colorful and gay national holidays will be depicted in the lavish spectacle marking the coronation of the queen of the Fiesta de San Jacinto in San Antonio on April 24, one of the most spectacular events in the week-long fiesta program.

"The Court of Holidays" will be the theme of this year's coronation. An in-town court of 12 duchesses, made up of local debutantes, will symbolize the most colorful of American holidays and an out-of-town court, composed of duchesses from other Texas cities, will portray outstanding foreign holidays.

The name of the fiesta queen is a carefully guarded secret until the night of the coronation.

The queen and her court portray leading roles in the famed Battle of Flowers parade, which takes place on Friday, the day after the coronation.

Also kept secret is the identity of the fiesta king, selected by the Texas Cavaliers. The king makes his entry the opening night of the fiesta, April 21, in a brilliant festival on the San Antonio river. Vast throngs will line the river banks to hail "His Majesty" and will receive the key to the city in a ceremony at the river-bank theatre from Mayor Gus B. Mauerman.

Buffalo Bill Was Never Like This

RAWLINS, Wyo. — One interested but cautious archer sent the following to the Rawlins Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring a one-arrow buffalo hunt:

"I would like some reliable opinion as to what reaction one could expect from a wounded buffalo."

"While I have hunted other wild game, I've never seen a wounded buffalo. How closely may they be approached on foot? Will they charge? How far will they carry their charge?"

The answer, roughly, was "Be careful."

crimson fleece; the froth of a silent sea, soft and troubled. More mountains and valleys of fragile splendor. Here is a visual sermon. Here were the prayers of the world and the music of golden harps. The shadow of our mighty plane was crawling on the side of a great cloud embankment like a tiny bug crawling on a mountain of frost. Stars and the white moon were overhead and the plane was motionless, but time and the world were behind. Soon the steward announced that we were nearing Merida, Mexico. An extravagant giant had scattered jewels below and the tireless motors reluctantly slowed the pace. Lights flashed above the cabin door and the mighty metal bird circled.

Colored lights swept past my window like torches held by excited demons and the ship shuddered as its massive wheels rolled on the runway. Stepping from the plane, men instinctively removed their coats. The cold, wet rain of New Orleans was a memory. The heat of the tropics was thick and pungent with strange odors; the spell of adventure. Flag of the Republic of Mexico waved listlessly in the special light projected to top of the tall staff. Grim men in khaki uniforms looked at the passengers without interest. Without Mexico visas we were allowed only a portion of the station. The tall, tanned young man sat on a stone step and looked at the silver Clipper being serviced, then he spoke. He suggested it might be cooler inside the ship and we climbed the high stairs. The hostess looked at us in amazement and explained the plane would remain an hour instead of 15 minutes, and with the judgment known only to air hostesses told of a bar above the station, which would be open to us. A friendship was born as we juggled the ice in tall inviting glasses and listened to plaintive music hidden by a screen in the beautiful and friendly room. We both jumped from the red-leather cushioned chairs when our names came out of the loud-speaker we had not noticed. Passengers looked at us as we hurried down the aisle to our seats and the hostess smiled. A door closed and the motors began to roar. Guatemala City was less than two hours away. My companion would not stop. He was leaving the states, a wealthy family and a good position. He had spent four years in the air forces and was on his way to South America to accept a place as an engineer. He was tired of paying too much of his earnings to the government. Time fed its richness into the propellers. Ropes of diamonds glittered on the bosom of a mountain below our window, then the city of Guatemala lay below; serene and lovely as if all the stars of the sky had been gathered and placed on a high, sloping plateau. We circled the enchanted island of splendor for half an hour like an estraying soul uncertain of the portal after finding paradise.

FOUR EVENTS ADDED TO LEVELLAND RODEO SCHEDULED MARCH 23

Four more events have been lined up to supplement the matched roping contest between Toots Mansfield and Troy Fort to be held in the Levelland Rodeo Arena on March 23, according to W. J. Robertson, president of the Levelland Rodeo Association.

Besides the championship match between Mansfield and Fort, there will be bare back bronc riding, wild brahma steer riding, big steer roping and bull dogging.

Also slated for the March 23 show is a second matched roping, the principals of which have not been announced.

About 30 cowpokes are expected to enter the jackpot roping event, according to Robertson.

Many of the nation's leading rodeo performers will be on hand for the Levelland show, Robertson said, because they will be en route from the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show to the stock show which opens in El Paso on March 25.

The match between Fort and Mansfield will be a 12-brama-calf affair, with both contestants roping, tripping and tying. Mansfield has held the world's champion calf roping crown for five out of the past nine years, and Fort is champion of West Texas and New Mexico. The two ropers first met in Levelland in March of last year, and Mansfield emerged as the winner in their first meeting.

However, the two ropers have met in other recent shows, and Fort is one victory ahead of Mansfield.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Do Men Like Women?
Maybe you read that recent article in a national magazine, claiming that American men don't really like the company of women. They just put them up on a pedestal and leave them there.

But I wouldn't say that that was so in our town. Look at any married couple—like the Coppers. Jane wouldn't nag if Dee spent his evenings "with the boys"—but actually Dee likes nothing better than to stay home by the fire, sharing a glass of beer with Jane, playing cribbage, or just talking.

And when he does go out, for an afternoon of fishing down at Seward's Creek, or for an evening glass of beer at Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern, Jane is almost always with him (except when she's got a spot of baking in the oven).

From where I sit, respect doesn't rule out everyday companionship . . . and never should. They go together—essential parts of a successful marriage.

Joe Marsh
