Old Age Grants For Texas Climb To $30

AUSTIN, Sept. 29 — Average old age grants for October in Texas will reach the long-heralded political objective of $30 a month, a statement of authorizations by the State Department of Public Welfare revealed today.

The October payment to old persons also will set a new record in total amount—$5,945,953. The higher payments are to be made in the face of increased recipients.

The old age rolls show a net gain of 795 for the month to total 197,924. Average checks will be $30.04, compared with $29.98 for September.

Distribution to needy blind persons will average $33.48 for October, which is a 10 per cent increase over September grants. Blind rolls also increased for the month, going from 5,428 to 5,461 persons. Total distribution will be $182,830 for the blind.

The children's aid program will increase also, though the average grant will be less than in September.

The families added make a total greater distribution. The October grants will go to 15,443 needy families representing 38,970 needy dependent children.

The grants will average $40.47, compared with an average of $40.58 in September, and will total $624,997. Grants for dependent children are being reduced three percent under certified need due to insufficient money in the fund for payment, Director John H. Winters announced.

BACHELOR OFFERS $1,000 FOR PET MOUSER'S RETURN

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 27 — The 165,000 residents of this furniture-making city were thoroughly cat-conscious today, and Harry Allen, 80-year-old bachelor, was the cause.

Irish Linen Hankies Make Frilly Neckwear

A WHITE Irish linen handkerchief easily folds into this frilly vestee to be worn with suits and dresses. This is in keeping with emphasis being placed on all that is truly feminine this season. Another must in fall accessories are strands of small beads combined with pearls as shown here.

Allen was somewhat bleary-eyed from loss of sleep since he offered a $1,000 reward for the return of his lost pet mouser, Terry, which is only an alley cat.

Terry, marked by black stripes on his paws, strayed to the city market a year ago, and Allen, a fruit warehouse employee, adopted him. The cat disappeared three weeks ago and small rewards failed to produce results.

Allen boosted the ante to $1,000, saying he would "rather spend it on the cat than on a woman—most women, that is."

The hunt was spurred. Allen was deluged with telephone calls and he spent last night in taxicabs chasing down leads. He warned finders that he would not pay the reward unless Terry was alive and well.

The Texas Butane Dealers Association Urges You—

"For WINTER Insurance— BUY BUTANE OR PROPANE Now!"

The Texas Butane Dealers Association urges every domestic user of butane and propane to take stock of the capacity of your tank. If it cannot serve you through four winter months without refilling, you may find yourself without gas in the coldest season of the year.

During the war many new industries were developed. These industries—plastics, synthetic rubber, chemicals, etc.—use tremendous amounts of butane or propane the year round. On the other hand, domestic users burn four to seven times more gas in winter than in summer—but your dealer will be able to furnish you very little more in winter than in other seasons. On a year-round basis, there's enough butane or propane for everyone. But to lighten this winter overload, the Texas Butane Dealers Association urges users to tank ahead with a four-month's winter supply while delivery is certain.

Just as farmers store their summer grain, or housewives can their summer fruit, heating gas users are asked to stock up when the supply is plentiful. It's "Winter-Insurance" for you: your cold-weather supply will be in your tank when you need it most. And by taking less time for your dealer's services, he can supply you and your neighbors more efficiently and economically during those critical months when roads are worst for delivery.

If you are not sure, The Texas Butane Dealers Association urges you to drop in and see your local gas dealer as soon as possible. He is your friend. He knows butane-propane, and he will do everything possible to help you get ready for winter now. Before you buy any system, see your gas dealer first!

School To Observe National Fire Prevention Week

Beginning Monday, Oct. 6, is National Fire Prevention week, and Matador public schools will be affected to some extent. According to Miss June Coleman, MHS English teacher, members of the sophomore and senior classes will be responsible for six page themes on the subject of fire prevention or some phase of safety precautions. The freshmen and junior classes will be asked to present posters pertaining to the same subject, she said.

Starting next week, the grade school will have two fire drills monthly, while the high school will have one a month. These drills have been designed for the purpose of teaching students how to leave a building calmly and without injury in case of fire.

Puppet Show Is Presented Here

JIMMIE GRAHAM, above, and his little people of the Marionettes presented an interesting program at the Matador high school auditorium Tuesday morning. The puppet show, "Something New In Marionettes" was the first of a series of six Southern Assembly programs. Puppeteer Graham and his cast of wooden characters provided a highly interesting program which received much applause, especially from the more youthful members of the audience.

STAFF COMPLETE FOR EL MATADOR

Complete 1947-48 staff of El Matador met for the first time Monday (September 29), while editor Norman Spray outlined the duties of each member. He stressed the need for good, "newsy" copy. The staff is comprised of the following members: Editor, Norman Spray; assistant editor, Patti Pipkin; 2nd associate editor, Dorothy Traweck; society editor, Mary Helen Stephens; sports editor, W. F. McCaughren; reporters (FFA) R. L. Giesecke, (FHA) Oleta Holt. The staff resolved to produce good copy, well prepared and in advance of the deadline, and if possible, to make this the best year of El Matador ever published. Thanks were expressed to Tribune editor Douglas Meador for the space allowed for school news and features, and also for the time he has contributed in aiding El Matador editors get organized for the most efficient production of copy. —M. H. S.—

Grade School Football Team Organized

The Matador Mavericks, grade school football team, have been practicing for about three weeks under the coaching of grade school principal, Jake Edwards. All boys coming out are showing good spirit and some unusual talent for grade school students is being discovered, Mr. Edwards said. Although no game has yet been played, it is hoped that a date may be set in the near future when the Mavericks will take on Turkey's grade school team. Starting line up for the game will probably be as follows: Cecil Shelton, L. E.; James Ketchersid, L. T.; Billy Jack but all fans who saw the game said we had no cause to be embarrassed by the 38-20 score. This is true since we were outweighed by about 25 pounds, but still it is our belief that if everyone had played the ball game in the first quarter, that they played in the last, we could have won or at least tied it. Our offense was definitely better than our defense, but it was not until the last few moments of the first half that Bonner shot a long pass to Wayne Spray, our left end, who ran over for the touchdown. Sappo's kick for the extra point was good... therefore the score was 7-26 at the half. It was in the third quarter that we made our other two counters. On the first play after the half, Bonner broke over the center of the line, and ran approximately 50 yards for a touchdown. Sappo's kick was good again. Along toward the last of that period, Dutch completed a pass from Giesecke and scooted over for another tally but the conversion was no good this time. Dalhart managed to push a couple of touchdowns over in the last period and the game ended 20-38. Except for the game, however, we were treated nicely at Dalhart, a town with an estimated 10,000 population. We were served a light before-the-game meal by the home ec. club, and were furnished a big after-the-game steak supper at a down town cafe. Dalhart's Memorial stadium, sight of the game, afforded a very nice field of play, although there was not a very big crowd attending. We were all in a nervous strain all through the first half, but so was Coach. While beating a path up and down the side line and biting practically all his finger nails off, the Dalhart superintendent approached him and tried to calm him, asking him "to take it easy." The reserves were afraid of what Coach might say, but he let it go without comment. Next Friday (tomorrow Oct. 3) we have another home game with the Amarillo Yannigans, (Amarillo B string). The Yannigans have won one game and tied Memphis, so there is the promise of a good game. The game will start at 8:00 at Burlington Field.

He's gonna get caught by one of these Junior gals pret-ty soon. Wayne Spray and Melva North were seen ridin' around town Saturday nite!! A cute couple they make, too. Doris Doss was seen with Bob Jameson Thursday nite! Now what is Don Wason gonna do? It seems that Melba Jane Kimbell, Wanda Graham, Shirley Estes, and Mary Helen Stephens were really in need of aid Sunday afternoon. That road-side park is a long way to walk isn't it, kids? Some more gals were seen on bikes out there, Friday. That parkin' place is really a popular one! Uh-huh. We hear that Heavy was really thirsty Friday afternoon and kept drinking water during the before-the-game meal served the football squad by the Dalhart home ec club. Couldn't

"It's Living That Counts"

I stole the title of this column from a magazine article that said a whole lot better than I can what farm and country life can mean. We talk about farm profits, production, research, and mechanical improvements... but isn't it true, what we really value is the life country living offers us?... the chance to be close to our families and neighbors... children sharing in the chores... working with our own hands at a worthwhile job. And country pleasures are simple: good talk at day's end, and

YOU NO LONGER GET A 'LIGHT' BILL

IT'S A SERVICE BILL TODAY!

The old-fashioned "light" bill, like the surrey with the fringe on top, is a thing of the past. Electricity for lighting is only one of many items represented by your electric service bill. Today, in most homes, you're likely to find two or more electric appliances in every room—many homes have a score or more. That's why your electric service bill can no more rightly be called a "light" bill than a "refrigerator" bill.

The cost of a kilowatt hour of service to residential users has decreased one-third in the last 14 years.

ENGLISH VISITOR IS AMAZED AT ABUNDANT NATION

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The popping pair of blue eyes in all New York today belonged to a blonde, 14-year-old girl who walked into a Fifth Avenue store and bought a big box of candy—for the first time in her life.

"You mean," she said, "I can't go in and buy it? It isn't rationed?"

"You can buy it if you have the money," we assured her. "Ooooh," she said, "if mummy were only here!"

Mummy was back in London. Her eyes would have popped, too, if she could have seen daughter Jacqueline wolf a hot dog, wash it down with a chocolate soda, and then make a frontal assault on the candy counter as her introduction to America.

Jackie, who came from England with this writer and his wife for a year's schooling, was six when the war broke out. She can't remember a time when she could buy more than a pound of candy a month or get rich, sweet ice cream.

Or bananas—all she could eat. She stopped in front of a fruit stand on Lexington Ave. Her pigtail twitched with excitement.

"Bananas..." she breathed. "Oh, Ed, could I...?"

"You're going to be sick, but it's probably worth it. Go ahead."

"No," she decided, "I think I'll wait and have one of those things you told me about—banana splits, are they?"

She gave the banana split the highest praise in the English school-girl vocabulary: "It's absolutely SUPER!" Then she drew a picture of it and sent it to her mother.

New York wasn't all whipped cream. Jackie shied away from the racing taxis, shuddered at the blind beggars on Broadway winced when people jostled her without the murmured "sorry" that is universal in England.

"You needn't expect me to become American," she assured us with as much dignity as her chewing gum allowed.

Then she spotted some school-girl fashions in a show window. Her eyes widened again to the size of half dollars.

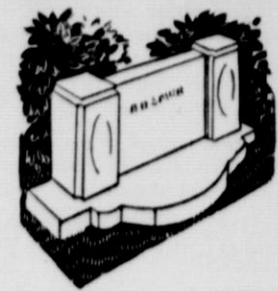

"Ooooh," she whispered, "do you suppose it would be all right with mummy if I had some saddle shoes?"

Syndicate To Seek Millions In Hulk Of Lost Clipper

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 25. A Sydney syndicate will seek the fabulous gold of the Yankee clipper General Grant.

The destruction of the ship in a cave-like cleft of the Auckland Islands 81 years ago left stories to rival Robinson Crusoe or the heroes of Joseph Conrad. The syndicate is sparked by J. E. Johnstone, famed marine salvage diver who recovered $7,612,000 from the steamer Niagara off the New Zealand coast in 1941. Another $640,000 in gold will be sought in the hulk of the Niagara in October before the expedition heads for the lonely Aucklands, about 280 miles south of New Zealand.

The value of the gold that went down with the American-built, 1,200-ton General Grant may be as high as $10,000,000. Four times previously the gold has eluded searchers, the last time in 1904, when an American deep-sea diver named Captain Sorenson employed the latest equipment then available.

Only a handful of the 82 people aboard the General Grant survived its destruction after living like Robinson Crusoe for nearly two years on a small island.

Expedition Fails
One survivor, a sailor named William Singully, was the guide of an early salvage expedition which failed when the New Zealand government refused permission for a search before the turn of the century.

The General Grant was designed for the run from Australia to England via Cape Horn. She was on her maiden voyage out of San Francisco under the command of a Captain Loughlin. She left Melbourne on May 4, 1886, with a cargo of gold, wool and hides. About 30 of her passengers were gold miners from the Victoria workings in Australia, then in their heyday, en route to spend their diggings in the fleshpots of Europe. Each was supposed to have lined his waistcoats with gold. The manifest showed 2,576 ounces of gold, but the cargo included several tons of spelter or zinc, believed to have contained gold in an effort to escape an export tax.

On the night of May 13, 1886, the captain sighted, but apparently did not recognize, Disappointment Island in the Auckland group, which would have told him he was south of his course. In inky blackness, the windjammer crashed head-on into towering cliffs. The ship drifted into a huge cave in the cliff face.

Small Boats Escape
Two small ship's boats just barely escaped from the cave. The water in the cave, what with the ship's singing and rise of the tide, washed over main decks. A few passengers jumped overboard, swam thru the cavern mouth, and were picked up by the small boats outside. A lang boat and a small skiff were frantically cut loose from the ship. The skiff got thru with five aboard.

The long boat with some 40 aboard, was swamped at the entrance and only three of its passengers were picked up. The captain refused to leave his ship was trapped in the great maw in the cliff and drowned as the tide rose to the cavern roof.

The 15 survivors were 10 crew-men and five passengers,

Tribune, Matador, Motley County, Texas, Thursday, October 2, 1940

including Mrs. Mary Ann Jewell the stewardess. Chief Officer Bartholomew Brown, three days after the wreck, led the survivors after some harrowing exploits to a bay on Disappointment Island.

There they lived mainly on seals caught on neighboring Enderby Island and wild goats and birds' eggs. They used a hut abandoned by whalers.

On Jan. 2, 1867, six months after the sinking, Brown and three seamen set out for New Zealand in the small pinnace without charts or instruments. They vanished.

Twice, ten and eleven months after the tragedy, ships passed heart-breakingly close without seeing distress signals.

The brig Amherst finally rescued the survivors and took them to New Zealand.

Johnson Grass Now Eradicated By Electric Process

A demonstration of Johnson grass eradication by use of electricity is to be given at Lubbock according to a news article in the Sunday Avalanche. The announcement was thru the office of Lubbock County Agent D. W. Sherill following a Friday meeting of the county control committee.

The demonstration is to feature the Electroator, a unitized piece of equipment invented by Gilbert M. Baker of Mendota, Calif., and now in production by the Apco Corp., at Los Angeles.

The electrovation method of control or eradication of noxious grass or weed growth was explained at the meeting by Jack E. Swanson of Austin, state representative of the manufacturing concern.

Swanson said one of the machines, en route from the factory to South Texas, will be stopped here for the demonstration, but he did not yet know definite date of its arrival. Members of the committee and Sherill are to select what they consider a typical field of Johnson grass for the test and date is to be announced when plans are completed.

The electroator, mounted on a carriage for which towing power must be supplied, is a complete electric generation unit. Current is transmitted to vegetation through rake-like tools of which there are two that handle an eight-foot swath. The machine can cover 10 to 15 acres of weed-infested land a day, the meeting was told.

The Malays value the tears drops of the dugong, or sea cow, as love potions. They believe that a man carrying a vial of dugong tears can win the love of any beautiful woman.

INSTALL A PRESSURE PUMP ...

SAME SERVICE AS CITY WATER SYSTEM

FIRE PROTECTION

LESS EXPENSIVE THAN A WINDMILL!

CONVENIENT... DEPENDABLE...

For The Farm Home or Ranch

YOU can not afford to install a windmill and water-tower tank system on your farm or ranch, because a modern pressure system is less expensive.

You can have constant, clean, pure, fresh water under pressure at all times with a modern automatic pressure system. You can have the same service as that afforded by a city water system at less cost than the installation of a windmill and tank system. Let us show you the modern, improved pressure pump system, proved successful by thousands of satisfied customers.

AUSTIN—Colored movies and a collection of charts and maps will tell the story of Texas roads at the State Fair of Texas at Dallas. Col. Ike Ashburn, executive vice president of the Texas Good Roads Association, announced recently that the organization would sponsor an exhibit in the fair's Agriculture Building. "Most engineers say that 3,000 vehicles per day is the maximum efficient volume for a two-lane highway," Ashburn declared. He added: "Texas now has 400 miles of two-lane highways carrying more than 4,000 vehicles per day. If current trends continue, 1,050 miles of Texas roads will be overcrowded by 1955." Increased road use will demand continuous expansion in all classes of roads, Ashburn stated. "Texas people must prepare to meet this problem courageously," he said. "The continuation of a balanced road program to develop all classes of highways must be assured for the future of Texas. The Texas Good Roads Association is unequivocally committed to such a program."

Attention Essential For Beauty of 'Mums

Attention and knowledge of care is essential for the successful growth of chrysanthemums according to County Home Demonstration Agent Mary K. Rattan, who gives the following advice for best results. Leave chrysanthemum buds alone if your plants are the new hardy garden varieties.

The beauty of the new varieties lies in the profusion of blossoms rather than in the size of each individual flower. The custom of trimming back the tops of chrysanthemums to produce sturdy low-growing plants should be stopped at least 10 or 12 weeks before flowers are expected, though the time varies with the variety.

V. F. W., Morley County Memorial Post No. 6286, meets 1st and 3rd Tuesdays, 8 p.m. at the court room, Matador, Texas. All eligible ex-service men are invited to attend.

The plants should be watered during dry weather, and if they look weak and have light green leaves, they are likely in need of help. It is recommended that a liquid manure or a feeding solution made of a heaping tablespoonful of a complete fertilizer such as 5-10-5 to a gallon of water. It is more important to have a weak fertilizer applied at frequent intervals than a heavy one infrequently.

Apologies To Brother Dick, The Butcher

By Frederick C. Othman
 WASHINGTON, Sept. 27— I must extend my sympathy and my apologies today to Dick Rickert, the honest butcher of Shamokin, Pa.

If I'd only known what would happen to Brother Dick (that's what the happy customers call him) I never would have written an item about him selling sirloin steaks for 39 cents a pound and lamb chops for 14 and a half cents.

kin News-Dispatch. If ever a paid advertisement had become a red-hot news picture, this was it.

Photographers hastened to Shamokin and forced Brother Dick, all 259 pounds of him, to pose in the act of slicing 39-cent chuck roasts. Reporters interviewed him, one after another, and Brother Dick patiently repeated the story of his pre-war price tags.

This added up to hard work on Brother Dick's part, long hours, careful buying, conservative meat cutting, and small profits. It also added up to more black headlines. And there was the point congressional price investigating committee asking whether I could put the lawmakers in touch with Brother Dick.

"We want to shake his hand," the committee said. "And find out how he does it."

So I did the necessary and Brother Dick has received an invitation—not a subpoena, mind you—asking if he possibly can find time to appear before the subcommittee of Sen. Ralph E. Flanders of Vermont, to reveal officially the secret of his 29-cent hamburger and 35-cent rib roasts.

Here he is a national figure already. If he can find a boy to tend his shop while he talks to the senators—and he kind of figures this is his duty—he'll be the best known butcher in America. Then will come the movies, radio, and I don't know what all—and poor Brother Dick! Life never will be the same again in his Little Giant Market. I'm the inadvertent villain and I apologize.

A peculiar backwash of the story is the fact that there seem to be "Brother Dicks" selling meats at reasonable prices in many a small city. Why this should be, while butchers in the big towns weigh steaks on jeweler's scales, is a mystery I hope the senators can unravel.

Publisher Phil McMullen of the Blackwell, Okla., Journal-Tribune, writes that meat prices in Blackwell are surprisingly similar to those in Shamokin. He encloses a number of ads in his paper this week offering 39-cent chuck roast, 37-cent weiners and 37-cent pork sausage.

A reader in San Antonio, Tex. forwards Grocery store advertisements, with prices only slightly higher than in Oklahoma, while a lady in Grass Valley, Cal., writes that perhaps I'd better move west and forget my troubles.

She sends ads offering 25-cent lamb roasts, 47-cent beef roasts, 35-cent hamburger and 28-cent short ribs to the fortunate residents of Grass Valley and Nevada City, Calif. A similar report, with mouth watering advertisements, is at hand from Ft. Worth, Ark.

All this may be some consolation to Brother Dick; he is not alone. He just had the bad luck of being discovered first. I can assure him only that Sen. Flanders is a nice guy and that the rest of us, all 140 million of us, will be interested in his testimony.

Women Employees Make Nelly Don Dresses

FOUR-ACRE PLANT devoted exclusively to the manufacture of women's dresses (Nelly Don), is nearing completion in Kansas City, Missouri. Headed by a woman and employing women workers almost exclusively, the plant will be the last word architecturally. Sky blue windows giving diffused working light, form the east and west walls which are two blocks long.

A private spur railroad will run to the north end of the building, delivering fabric that will be processed through the building, coming out the south end in finished dresses, to be delivered to stores in 2400 different communities through the United States.

The masculine minority of employees (there are less than a hundred) consider it highly appropriate that the new plant windows are to be sky blue, since the firm dates its first success from an sky-blue cotton dress, made in the home of Mrs. Reed, thirty-one years ago.

HERE FROM ABILENE

Mrs. Chant Lee of Abilene visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Rushing over the week end. She was accompanied here by Jerry Hays who is attending college in Abilene. Mr. Lee's small son, who has been visiting his grandparents here, accompanied them home.

News Briefs

Miss Chloey Fulfer and her brother, Elwin, of Lubbock, were week end visitors in the home of their mother, Mrs. Velma Fulfer.

Dallas Car Dealer To Stage Program

J. L. Woodruff of the Matador Auto Company has been invited to an all-day program in Dallas Monday, October 6, when Ed Maher, Dallas Ford dealer, will honor his two sons, who have recently been authorized Ford dealers.

Thomas H. Maher is president and Louis J. Maher is vice-president of Maher Brothers. Thomas H. Maher is the first graduate of a recent Ford Motor Company school for dealers' sons to get a dealership of his own. His classmates will come from all over the country to be present at the celebration in honor of him and his brother.

In addition to all Ford dealers in this territory, Ed Maher has invited Ford Factory officials, regional and branch managers to attend. Also, authorized Ford motor re-builders from all over America have been invited to come and see Maher's new motor rebuilding division.

Josh Lee, vice-chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board and nationally-known speaker, will be the principal speaker at a banquet which will climax the all-day program. Other events on the agenda include a breakfast, inspection of the Maher motor rebuilding plant, a buffet luncheon and cocktail party.
