TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Short grass grows on rocky hills where the improvised Mexico ranch family once grazed thin-flanked cattle. Secured from the old adobe mill which used to bring abundance of cool water to the iron trough that over-looked into an earth tank. The piping vane follows the wind's changing moods but the well has long been motionless of the trough is empty. Tall, thin cat-tails choke the earth. The unpainted ranch house hides from its loneliness the grove of cottonwoods. Massive steel derricks dot the hills where hungry cattle are maddened from the blizzards and merciless wind cut through shivering hides. Far away are a mighty house with palm trees that look out over palms in blue sea. Sleek, purring automobiles crunch gravel in drive. Water is poured off a pipe that fills a silver pitcher. An old windmill in New Mexico moves at the command of a spring breath of wind.

Perhaps I shall be forced to my cauldron of failure in a year beneath the gilded banner which echoes with the laughter of my more prudent contemporaries, yet I will remain stubbornly loyal to my conviction that wealth beyond reasonable security is sinful; that we keep only that which we give away.

Time's heavy freights have piled their long trains of care in the front of the meek man's morrows. His eyes are dead like dry flower petals pressed in a book and his thin lips tremble in terror of a ghastly fear. Some of the tender of his blithe youth remains in the gay coloring of his dress, the stylish cut of his pants and the jaunty angle of his soft hats. There is a clean, pleasant fragrance that follows the fragrance of soap, wholesome tobacco and cleanliness. But the old enchantment this eyes is gone. For years he has gazed candles to the altar of chance and left flowers with the one by whom he hoped to be remembered. Finally, in desperation, he breathed upon the torch of love and the fire died while he looked at many concealed scars on his heart and the memory of his lips in his station in the vestibule of uncertainty, postponement of the inevitable.

When we look through the shadows of yesterday it reveals the fortune to accept the certainty that tomorrow's vista will not be improved unless we are willing to work on the land.

Many gates are left open in the fences of modern society or present generation was born with the temperament of rough cattle that defies yokes and bits.

Only wholesome thoughts deserve the garments of speech. Only clean hearts can justify the music of laughter.

Matadors Win First Game by 31-0 Score

AFTER two week's coaching "Red" Amonett's Matador Matadors charged into the season to win a 31-0 victory over Quitaque Panthers on Burleson Field grid Friday night in their first try this year. Local fans were enthusiastic in their commendation of Amonett's coaching.

Receiving the kick-off the Matadors returned the ball to the 50-yard line on the first play, and continued to hit the line with quick-opening plays until they reached the 20-yard marker where quarterback R. L. Giesecke called a right-end play that took left-half Bonner Nelson to pay dirt. The conversion was futile.

HIGHWAY 62 ROUTE CHANGE GETS NOD FROM DEPARTMENT

Traffic over highway 62 from Matador to Lubbock has long used the shorter route via Floydada to Ralls instead of the eight-mile-longer route to Dickens and Crosbyton. Now the designation is official from the Texas Highway Department and maps in the future will show Highway 62 entering Texas from Oklahoma in Childress county, extending southerly and westerly across Texas and New Mexico to El Paso through the cities of Childress, Paducah, Matador, Floydada, Ralls, Lubbock, Brownfield, Seagraves, Seminole, Hobbs, Carlsbad to El Paso.

Notice of re-routing of the highway was received recently by County Judge Wm. R. Cramm in a letter from the highway department.

The official route is now via U. S. Highway 70 and State Highway 207, through Floydada and Ralls. Saving in distance is eight miles.

Other change in the route is from Brownfield via Seminole to Hobbs, instead of the old route from Brownfield to Plains, Tatum, and Hobbs. Saving in distance through this change is 37 miles.

The changes were made official in Minute No. 23629, approved by the highway department August 1. The department measures the distance between Matador and Ralls via Floydada as 53 miles.

LUBBOCK FAIR TO DESIGNATE "MATADOR DAY"

In accordance with the usual custom, Panhandle South Plains Fair at Lubbock, September 29 thru October 4th, has designated the last day of the celebration, Saturday, October 4th as "Matador Day", according to a letter from A. B. Davis, manager.

Since Matador does not have a band it is possible that little distinction can be accorded the city, as plans of the designation are designed for area cities that bring their bands. Free admission tickets are provided visiting band members, the letter declared.

Miss Evelyn Fulkerson of Sanatorium, Texas, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fulkerson.

Hungry Lions Applaud Meal By Home Ec

A full Lion is a happy Lion. Mrs. Loyd Lattimer's home ec. class produced an ideal condition of contentment for approximately 50 Lions and visitors Tuesday by preparing and serving the club's luncheon for the regular meeting at the Matador grade school cafeteria room.

Unusual attendance was attributed to the natural Lion instinct to gravitate to the vicinity of good food. Following regular business of the club addresses were made by Superintendent Bert Ezzell, Jake Edwards and Vance Gilbreath. Superintendent Ezzell said total enrollment in high school is 103 as against 165 ten years ago. The school officials said the first two weeks of the season promises the year to be very successful.

Visitors who joined the Lions in the luncheon and program included: George D. Stapleton, District Judge Alton B. Chapman of Floydada, District Attorney John Stapleton of Floydada, Mrs. L. D. Wilkinson, music teacher, and Mrs. G. E. Hamilton. Mrs. Wilkinson, at the request of Boss Lion C. W. Giesecke, played a number of piano selections for the group during the luncheon.

Coach Amonett in a brief address, expressed his appreciation to the Lions for their support of athletics and especially for paying the cost of insurance on the grid team for the season. He also expressed enthusiasm over plans for the Lions basketball tournament scheduled to open the 2nd week in December.

Cotton bur ashes now have a market. H. C. Duncan, manager of the Farmers Coop Gin said yesterday that he had contracted to sell the ashes from the cotton bur incinerator to a Lubbock firm for $10 per ton. Formerly bur ashes were considered valueless and gins paid to have them hauled away.

The gin recently installed electric power and burs will no longer be burned under the boiler as is the practice of steam-powered gins. Mr. Duncan said he did not know to what the bur ashes were utilized for fertilizer. The ashes are to be collected at regular intervals.

County Has Need For 1200 Cotton Pullers

Prolonged dry, hot weather has created one of the most critical labor shortages in Motley county's history according to county agent J. R. Emmons. Cotton growers are in immediate need of 1,200 pullers to relieve the stress of fields white for harvest, he declared yesterday. A survey of the three largest communities in the county indicates that 450 pullers are needed at Matador, 450 at Flomot and 300 at Roaring Springs. Flomot community has received approximately 100 pullers this week. Current price for pulling here is $2 per 100 pounds.

Despite the shortage of pullers, all of the county's seven gins are humming. A total of 125 bales had been ginned in the county at noon yesterday. Because of the unusual dry weather Emmons said pulling is about 30 days in advance of last year.

Emmons said reports from state and district labor offices indicated adequate help would not arrive from the south section of the state until about the first of October.

Motley county has 50,000 acres of cotton, 12,000 acres above average and more than double the acreage in cotton last year. Estimates are from 1/6 to 1/3 bale per acre, with a county average of about 1/4 bale. Average annual production according to the Texas Almanac is 8,000 bales.

Grid Game Admission Advanced

Meeting at Floydada Thursday afternoon, Sept. 11, the executive committee of football district 4A set the admission prices for all football games to be played in the district at 75¢ for adults and 30¢ for students. This raise in price of adult tickets is in line with the price charged by all neighboring districts last year, the committee declared.

In case of tie games, the school winning on penetrations, first-downs and yardage will be declared the winner. If a game is rained out on Friday it must be played on Saturday, unless both teams have an open date in the future. In case of a 2-way tie for district honors, the team winning the regular game will be given the district championship. In case of a 3-way tie the winner will be drawn from a hat.

Matador representatives, Gilbreath, Ezzell and Amonett said that all schools were represented and that Supt I. T. Graves of Floydada was elected president for the second successive year. Immediately after the business session, the home ec. class of Floydada high school served all visitors with a chicken dinner.

MASTER THOUGHT DEAD IN WAR FOUND BY DOG

SACRAMENTO, July, a 12-year-old Pomeranian dog, was wandering around downtown Sacramento recently when a stranger called her. There was something familiar about the stranger. Judy seemed to recognize the man. The man seemed very glad to see Judy and when she started trotting down the sidewalk, he followed her. Judy led him to her mistress who probably has never been so surprised in her life, for the stranger turned out to be her husband Sydney E. Lyons, 58, of Rapid City, South Dakota who was reported dead by the War department in May, 1943. Lyons embraced his wife, Mayre in the midst of the city's crowd of shoppers. Mayre, 46, of Utica, N. Y., had married again after being notified her husband was dead. But, earlier this year, she had obtained a divorce.

Tilson Reunion Is Held At Broadview Ranch In Virginia

Broadview Ranch, Lexington, Virginia, home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Tilson, was the scene during the last week of August, of the first Tilson family reunion held in 14 years. Warren Tilson, former Washington and Lee university football coach, is now engaged in business. Relatives attending the reunion included Mrs. W. R. Tilson, Mrs. Ophelia Davis, Mrs. Ruth Jackson of Denton, Texas; Tom Tilson, Matador, and his son, Rayworth, of Fitzgerald, Georgia; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tilson of Meadow, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Tilson and two daughters of Blackburg, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tilson and two children of Pulaski, Virginia; Dan Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Williams and daughter of Alexandria, Virginia, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Tilson and daughter of Lexington.

During the week the entire group visited the old Tilson home in the Blue Ridge mountains, which has belonged to the family since before the Revolution. It is now owned by Dewey Tilson. It was from this farm in 1882 that the late W. R. (Bill) Tilson came to West Texas.

Spacious Broadview ranch is modern, and the house is a replica of the Tilson home at his hands and fists; that on or about August 6, 1946, defendant caught plaintiff by the arm and jerked her out of bed violently, causing her hip to strike the floor and inflicting a severe bruise on her body; that such threats and acts of personal violence by defendant's extreme jealousy and by his fits of temper, kept plaintiff so intimidated and worried that it affected her health so that to have any peace of mind and comfort, plaintiff was forced to separate from him; that no children were born of said marriage, and no community property exists.

If this Citation is not served within 90 days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.
 Issued this 30th day of August A. D. 1947.
 Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Matador, Texas, this 30th day of August A. D. 1947.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Yes, I'm Guilty!
 Folks sometimes criticize us small-town editors for the way we often play up "little things" ahead of big... human, local news in place of world events.
 I can't deny it. Read the Clarion and you'll learn about the Martins' golden wedding anniversary... about the community sing down by the river... the husking bee at Sober Hoskins', where neighbors helped husk the corn, and later drank sparkling beer together.
 "Little things?" Maybe. But from where I sit, they add up to the bigger things we call America: The friendliness of small towns... the helping hand... the respect for one another's rights. And above all the love of fellowship and freedom—whether it's freedom to speak one's mind or choose between a glass of beer or buttermilk.
 I figure that if everybody looks after the "little things," maybe the bigger things will take care of themselves.

Pyorrhea Declared Curable By Early, Proper Treatment

Contrary to the popular belief that pyorrhea is incurable, this is only true in the most advanced cases. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises those persons who even suspect the presence of pyorrhea to seek an early diagnosis from their dentist so that proper treatment can be instituted while the disease is still curable.

"Early detection and proper treatment of pyorrhea represent the formula for a successful cure. This means that the dentist must have an opportunity to discover the presence of the disease at the earliest possible moment since the symptoms are often so vague that patient is unaware of its existence," Dr. Cox said. "Regular visits to the family dentist are therefore extremely important."

The treatment of pyorrhea is not an involved procedure. In the average early case one of the main therapeutic features is the proper hygienic care of teeth and gums as outlined by any reputable dentist. Carelessness regarding mouth hygiene is usually the basic cause for the condition.

The family dentist can usually remove the cause of the trouble, Dr. Cox said, and when this has been done, intelligent routine home-care of the patient will effect a cure in the majority of early cases.

Bits About Beans

Today's fast-paced world of beans is heartening to know some are stable. For instance, take the universal favorite, a crock of baked beans. Since time began, man has been a fan of beans. Once a year, beans were grown everywhere on tangled vines and man munched them as they grew. When he returned to his cave and started to cook, man included beans in his very first crops.

Some kind of bean has appeared in every agriculture since then, though it was not always used as food. Somehow, perhaps because of its medicinal properties, beans got mixed up with mythology and legend. The Pharaohs of Egypt were buried with a bowl of beans at their feet. For the Romans, the beans were an important part of a holiday to secure special blessings in the home. On this day, in the morning, the head of the household washed his hands five times in a silver ewer of beans from a golden vessel. At noon, he ate a bean. With these beans I redeem myself and my household.

After several centuries of glory, beans went back to the kitchen as a medicinal tonic. Broad beans appeared in every garden, and black beans soup formed the day-in, day-out diet of serfs on the feudal estate. Nothing new happened to beans until the white man came to America. Here he found the Indian enjoying a new kind, the pea bean that we use today. And these beans were cooked differently than they had ever been before. The Indian dug a hole in the ground, dropped in baked onions, placed a crock of beans on the glowing rocks, and covered the hole with leaves and brush until the beans were done. Adapting the Indian's dish, the Pilgrim mothers added a slathering of salt pork and onions and spices. And they baked theirs for long hours in a fireplace oven until each bean was meaty, tender, and a warm nut brown.

Soon the potful of oven-baked beans was a favorite national food. It sailed the world on clipper ships; it went west in packhorse trains, ox carts, and covered wagons. The miner, the lumberjack, the cow-puncher, the explorer, all relied on beans. They became part of American table folklore, and our menfolk still have a hankering for them today. But today's housewife is spared all the time- and - trouble - taxing chore of overnight soaking and day long baking. Our beans now come in cans, but, true to tradition, they are still blessed with a savory, spiced sauce and baked in a hot dry oven.

But their virtues do not stop right here. For these same beans, a feast in themselves as they come from the can, are also the makings of many and varied fine dishes. As proof of this we suggest you try the recipes below—a salad dressing that saves oil, a cheesy bean rarsbit, dairy-style soup, and a meal-making wieny bean sandwich. Here's how:

Tomato Bean Dressing
Mash—
1 17½-oz. jar oven-baked beans in tomato sauce.
Combine with—
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
¼ cup finely chopped celery
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion.
Serve on lettuce wedges. Yields 2 cups.
Note: For added zest add ¼ teaspoon dehydrated horse-radish.

Cheesy Bean Rarsbit
Heat in saucepan—
1 17½-oz. jar oven-baked beans in tomato sauce.
Grate—
¼ lb. English cheese (makes 1 cup).
In top of double boiler heat until cheese is melted—
2 Grated cheese
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon pepper sauce.

Place beans on—
4 slices toast.
Top with cheese sauce. Serves 4.

Dairy Style Bean Soup
In—
1 cup water
cook until tender—
1 cup julienned celery.
Add—
½ cup sour cream
1 17½-oz. jar oven-baked beans in tomato sauce.
Salt and pepper to taste.
Heat thoroughly. Serves 3 to 4.

Wieny Beany Sandwich
Mash—
1 cup oven-baked beans in tomato sauce.
Combine with—
2 cups shredded cabbage
4 frankfurters, sliced thin
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
¼ pepper to taste.
¼wich spread. Serves 3.

GAS EXHAUSTION IS PREDICTED IN MAGAZINE

At the present rate of consumption Texas' supplies of natural gas will be exhausted within 15 years, W. H. Kittrell, Jr., former secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee, declares in the October issue of Scene Magazine, published in Dallas. The October number, first to be published under the editorship of Stanley Walker, famed former city editor of the New York Herald Tribune, contains 72 pages of Southwestern features and photographs.

Kittrell proposes the formation of a Texas Conservation Association to work for the adoption of policies that will avert this exhaustion.

Pointing out that consumption of Texas gas has tripled in 10 years, with current consumption of gas produced in Texas amounting to more than three trillion cubic feet annually, he says:

"If, as the American Gas Association calculated, we had 82 trillion cubic feet of gas at the beginning of the current year, we will have 79 trillion left at its close, and if the use of gas continues to increase at 15 per cent per year, we will use nearly three and one-half trillion feet in 1948; four trillions in 1949, and four and three-fourths trillions in 1950, leaving us that year. If the consumption increases till it levels off at six trillion feet by 1953 or '54, our supply will last till about 1962."

Export of natural gas cannot in fairness be prohibited, Kittrell concedes, adding: "We can, however, move to prevent the dedication of our remaining reserves to the projected and prospective lines, and we can enact legislation that will reduce or Color in the home via the window is the answer of the clever homemaker who lowers her decorated window shades that match the walls, to give the effect of murals as in the room above. The use of more color in home decoration, has resulted in drastic changes in the once plain window shade. They are available in any shade to harmonize with decorative schemes. Bright and strong colors, dainty pastels, striped, plaid and even hand-painted designs in floral or scenic patterns, are used by those who want the latest in smart home decoration.

Eliminate the waste of gas in the production of oil.

Scene Magazine explains editorially that the other side of this controversial question will be presented in its November issue.

OLD WEATHERMAN KICKS THE GONG

DALHART — Old Man Weather really kicks the gong around in the Panhandle.

He had the temperature up to 102 Sept. 3 and 11 days later, the night of Sept. 14, had it down to 36.
Last Friday he had the heat down to 79. He kicked it up to 91 Saturday, and then slid it back down to 69 Sunday.

Lone Confederate Vet Celebrates 100th Birthday

BONHAM—One of Texas' 13 Confederate veterans will celebrate his 100th birthday today. The celebration of Joseph Haden "Uncle Hade" Whitsett's passing the century mark was a quiet affair, with his nieces planning an open house at his home here.

Now Fannin county's only surviving Confederate soldier, Uncle Hade served from May 6, 1864, until General Lee's surrender at Appomattox with Shelby's escort Missouri cavalry.

Texas 94 Years

Proud of his state, he has lived in Texas 94 years. Even in Civil War days, he recalls, "outsiders" would pick on Texas and Texans. He still has a scar on his lip from a wound he received in a duel he fought with a man in his cavalry unit. He heard the man cursing his native state. They fought with sabers.

Uncle Hade, formerly a farmer and merchant, doesn't get around very well now. Several years ago he broke his hip. Until that time he attended every United Confederate convention that came along.

He used to go to the Firemen's club to play checkers or dominoes, but now his friends come to his home and play. They say he isn't easy to beat, either. His eyesight may be a bit dim, but his mind is still alert and active.

DENY BOND IN ATTACK CASE

STINNETT — Bond was denied Tuesday for three teen-age boys who are charged with the rape of a 17-year-old Spearman girl Sunday night.

Charged with the crime, the second of its kind to take place in the North Plains in the past few weeks, were Clifford Wages 18, and Murl Pearson, 19, both of Newcastle and Max Smith 19, of Arkansas.

The boys are being held in the Hutchinson county jail at Stinnett.

Using the same tactics as used when a 14-year-old girl was attacked several weeks ago—the three alleged rapists were accused of accosting the 17-year-old girl in the residential district of Spearman. Another girl, who was in company of the attacked girl, fled when the girl was grabbed, and told the parents.

An immediate search was started, but was unsuccessful. The girl returned to her home several hours following the alleged attack. The boys were arrested near Gruver where they were employed as farm hands.

Two lubbock men were charged with the alleged attack of the 14-year-old Stratford girl.

High-priced Meal Cuts Go Begging In New York City

Price resistance to high-priced meat cuts caused such luxuries to go begging in New York Wednesday as retail sales fell off and dealers bought sparingly in the wholesale markets.

The developing shopper resistance caused slaughtering operations to diminish, while throughout the nation various groups were organized in other communities to fight the rising price trend.

The first Arizona group formed to buck the price spiral was organized at Phoenix under the title "Housewives for Lower Prices."

Manufacturers Scored John S. Perkins, controller and assistant secretary-treasurer of Wm. Filene's Sons Company, told a congressional subcommittee at a public price hearing that a few manufacturers have raised prices "after we have contracted to buy goods at another price."

Wholesale butter prices continued to drop for the second consecutive day in New York. Tuesday's drop of 1/4 cent a pound was increased to 1/2 cent a pound by another drop of 1/4 to 2/8 cents a pound, and consumer resistance was reported to be the cause of the decrease.

The Chicago grain market, which opened steady, hit a slump as selling pressure developed. The selling was believed caused by the possibility of an increase in margin requirements.

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade will decide Thursday on what action to take on a government request for a hike in margins on speculative transactions.

As officials in Washington prepared information on the food price situation for President Truman's study upon his arrival home this week end from his South American trip, costs of some food items in several cities made new advances.

In three of the country's major cities—New York, Chicago, and Washington—officials planned or studied proposals to inaugurate meatless days in an attempt to curb the skyrocketing prices.

Inquiry Urged In St. Louis, Mayor Kaufman said he would ask the U. S. attorney general to investigate high food prices, while the St. Louis Consumer Federation said it would ask the U. S. attorney to investigate the St. Louis dairy industry to determine if price fixing existed.

Two "chain" campaigns against the high cost of food and other items started in Cincinnati. The Greater Cincinnati Consumers Conference began telephoning housewives and asking them to refuse to buy butter, eggs and high cost meat items.

Unsigned postcards, urging "break the price trust, buy less of everything," appeared in Cincinnati mailboxes. Recipients were asked to "copy this card and mail to one to five or more different persons."

Choice to prime weighty steers hit a 1947 record of $35.75 a hundred pounds in Chicago Tuesday, above the top price in Omaha.

Pay For Prison Inmates Begins

HUNTSVILLE — A pay plan for prison labor was placed into effect today in the Texas prison system in an effort to quell unrest and reduce the number of escapes.

Upon the recommendation of Prison Board Member W. Albert Lee of Houston, the plan received the support of the board before it was put into effect by Maj. D. W. Stakes, general manager.

Lee said the plan would tend to encourage inmates to learn a trade which would be useful to them when they are released.

The initial project under the new pay plan is the rodeo stadium at Huntsville. However, it was expected that when the pay plan gets out of the experimental stage, it will be extended throughout the entire system.

Lee said the more skilled inmates working on the stadium would be paid 25 cents a day with the money coming from the education and recreation fund. Other inmates working on the project would receive 10 cents a day.

Major Stakes said he believed the incentive pay plan would serve to increase production within the prison system.

Joe Meador of Paducah visited his brother Douglas Meador here a short time Monday evening enroute home from Lubbock.

BUSSES HAVE LONG ROUTES

Matador public school busses have exceedingly long routes this year, according to Supt. Bert Ezzell, but drivers have been doing exceptionally well in getting students of the Barton Whiteflat and Fairview communities to school on time. All drivers have been instructed to report any acts of bad conduct, and by law, cannot allow children to stand in the aisles, Ezzell said. No student will be allowed to sit in the busses any time during the day except when being transported to or from the school. School is being dismissed at 3:15 this year mainly because of the long bus routes instead of for football as erroneously reported last week.

Pep Squad To Go To Turkey

The Matador pep squad will make the trip to Turkey tomorrow night, according to leaders. All members must be at the school by 6:15 and prepared to leave, they said. All pep squad girls will be required to go and come on the bus, except, perhaps in cases where families have attended the game and want their daughters to accompany them home. Supt. Ezzell said.

Annual Payments Being Taken Now

Payments on the 1948 Matador high school annual, "La Arena" are being received this week, according to Dorothy Stanfield, business manager. Also the deadline for first payment ($1.50) is not until November 1, with the second payment by March 1, she declared. Effort is being made to secure as many advance payments in full as possible.

Future Farmers To Raise Hogs

In an official Future Farmers of America meeting, Friday, Sept. 10, the Matador chapter voted to buy hogs for fattening to raise chapter funds. Plans were made to use the lunch room garbage and finish them out with grain. Chapter president Bobby Ray Thompson said money to purchase the five pigs would be borrowed from the bank, and that they would be kept in a convenient location.

Chaperon Required For School Parties

Any party held under the title of "school party" must be properly chaperoned this year and discipline must be maintained at such events, high school principal Vance Gilbreath and Supt. Bert Ezzell announced last week. All students going to parties or ball games by school-provided transportation will be expected to return in the same way they went, the officials declared. "No unruly conduct will be tolerated."

Date Set For Annual Photos

Annual pictures will be made Friday, Sept. 19, according to Gwendolyn Wilkinson, managing editor. Companies have been changed and it is hoped that the pictures will be better this year as well as the annual on the whole. The pictures will be made by H. G. Benton of Lubbock. Senior pictures have been scheduled to be made on Tuesday, Sept. 30, by the Allerson Studios of Clarendon.

SIDE LINE GOSSIP

We're wondering if the fans were surprised when we took Quitaque for a 31-0 beating Friday night. At any rate we were enthusiastically backed by loud cheers and honking horns as we took our stand. It appears that our last year's all-district center, R. C. Giesecke, may have had some idea of what he was talking about when he said: "Albert Marshall is the hardest guy I ever tried to tackle." Anyway Albert and Bonner both kept pulling off good runs, one right after another, all through the game, and our quarterback, Sappo Giesecke, was handling the ball something super, with Colonel hitting hard with those fullback drives. True, the backfield was clicking but the line was also opening the holes and stopping Quitaque's offense.

It was good to get into action after spending all afternoon twiddling our thumbs and feeling butterflies twit in our stomachs—before the game, nervousness had caught the entire eleven.

It was last year in the study hall that Mr. Ezzell had all departing seniors to stand, and then asked for the boys who were going to make this year's team, to do the same. It was pretty obvious, he said, that we were going to have a small team and right he was. But perhaps Friday night's episode will prove that you don't have to be big. As Coach said, "we're going to be in top shape, and one of the toughest teams in the district, regardless of what we weigh."

Friday afternoon's pep rally gave us a close-up of the pep squad in action, and we were convinced that the girls who are backing us, are pretty swell.

We'll be hitting turkey tomorrow night (Friday Sept. 19), at 8:00 at Turkey and hope to show as well against them. They suffered a 32-0 defeat at our hands last year, and we hear it's not going to be so easy this time, but for better or for worse we hope to see a large crowd of Matador fans there.

Mr. El Matador

RING PAYMENTS ARE BEING TAKEN

Senior ring payments were being taken early Monday by class secretary, Gwendolyn Wilkinson. Payments run in accord with the weight of the ring ordered, she said.

The rings will arrive soon, as the invoice was received last Saturday. "It is hoped that all payments can be collected promptly so there will be no waiting once they arrive."

CHORUS IS ORGANIZED

A girl choral class is being held each day from 11:00 to 12:00 by Mrs. L. G. Wilkerson, music teacher for Matador public schools. "I am more than delighted with the voices, and believe that something really worthwhile will come from it," Mrs. Wilkerson said.

The grade school music department has been organized and is running very smoothly, Mrs. Wilkerson reported.

Mrs. Wilkerson is a Tech student from Clarendon, Texas, and has had several years experience in teaching voice and piano.

Kampus Klatter

Hiya kids!! It's another year and more dirt!! It seems that things are getting off to a good early start on the old MHS Kampus. Football spirit is already in high swing, and classes are already having parties.

Heavy has already got into troubles, and it seems we may have good conduct this year eh, Heavy? Yes things are already buzzing and we've only 8 more months and 3 weeks of school. It seems we may get along without last year's seniors after all.

Anyone wondering why Heavy and Ann have not been seen together recently may rest assured that it is not their fault. It seems that "Hack" Harp, kind, deserving father that he is, has banned boys "as no good for Ann's studies." Maybe he has something there.

Heavy, for consolation no doubt, is said to have enjoyed himself thoroughly Saturday nite with Winona Cartwright.

Royella, who was that boy you were reported being seen with Saturday nite? "Couldn't he have roved from Roby?"

There were more Saturday nite dates. Rill Simpson is said to have been with a nice looking lad called Bee Meritt, formerly of Flomot, and now of Morton, she insists.

Ollie Sue, Leo, Annette, Bonner and James were seen eating a watermelon in th park Sunday. Wonder where they got the melon?? A $64 question no doubt.

Sappo: "Haven't we met before?"
Strange girl: "Kiss me and I'll see."

Novel Spice Ice Cream Gones Rich With Raisins

Sipping an icy sherbet, cooling the tongue with a frosted custard, has been a long-time favorite table sport of eating man. Since the first epicure spilled fruit juice on snow and savored its subtle pleasures, man has sought new ways to capture his pet flavors in icy crystals. The first frozen desserts were simple sherbets. Caesar was said to have teams of relay runners whose sole duty was to rush Alpine snow, flavored by different essences, to his town banquet table. Many a Roman gourmand cooled his hepped-up palate with soothing frosts of agurps in those days. After the fall of Rome, fine eating went into an eclipse, though in Italy good cooking never quite went out of style. While Medieval Europe was tearing bones apart with its fingers and sating its taste buds with high-spiced sauces, the Italians were still bringing sherbets to their sophisticated tables.

In 1533 a Good Neighbor Policy married Catherine de' Medici to Henry II of France. And Italian Catherine took along a retinue of cooks. Soon every toney table was serving sherbet, and Europe's caloused palate was being cooled, soothed, and made keen and sensitive again. Not long after, a dual chef invented ice cream; and when the French Revolution forced these kitchen artists into exile they set up ice cream parlors wherever they went.

In America, ice cream took a firm hold on the public palate. Dolly Madison introduced it to the White House. It appeared on holiday dinner tables, at state affairs, and community societies. By 1828 a New York paper reported, "I scream for Ice Cream" as a familiar cry of street vendors on a sweltering day. But it was not until the paddle-propelled freezer, patented by a woman, was put on the market, that ice cream became firmly ensconced on the family menu. By 1896 "Godley's Lady's Book" said that ice cream had become one of the necessities of life, that a party without it would be like breakfast without bread, or dinner without a roast.

With the recent development of the mechanical refrigerator, a simplified type of ice cream was made possible. And it is in this group of frozen custards that our latest find belongs. This dish begins like a plain vanilla custard, but takes on glory when nutmeg, cinnamon, and cloves are added. Just why spices are not used more often in ice cream we've always wondered. For cold gives them a kind of muted pungency, a faint perfume that refreshes, excites, and soothes in one. To this medley of fine flavors are added nut meats for texture interest. But the touch of genius lies in raisins. Those little, sun-dried purple pellets, famed for their wonderfully sweet flavor and flowerlike bouquet, give ice cream a whole new range of flavor values. You'll find this dish a rare treat, sparkling and stimulating to your taste buds, soothing to your tongue, and wonderfully pleasing to your palate.

The cotton leafworm is not known to survive the winters in the United States. New infestations are started each spring by moths that fly in from the south and lay their eggs on cotton.

FARM FUTURE PLAN PURSUED

WASHINGTON — Seven Senators set out Wednesday to find a long-range farm program that will get crops on consumers' tables without having price increases of 300 or 400 per cent. This is one of the goals fixed by Chairman George D. Aiken (Rep.) of Vermont, for a special agriculture committee investigation ordered by the Senate and financed with $15,000.

"We want adequate production without penalizing the producers," Aiken said. "In the past farm surplus brought a collapse in the market and left the farmer holding the bag." Aiken announced that the group will begin its study with public hearings here Oct. 6, 7 and 8, at which Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson and spokesman for the major farm organizations, will testify.

"Then we will move out into the field," he said. "We want to get as near the actual farm people as possible."

The field hearings will begin Oct. 20 at Springfield, Ill. Public hearings also will be held in West, South and Northeast farm areas.

Girls Town Escapee On Way Back Alone

TECUMSEH, Okla. — A 17-year-old blonde—the last of seven scantily clad girls who escaped from Girls Town here late last month—was on the way back to the correctional institution Tuesday. At least officials hoped she was.

The girl, Betty O'Dell, was recaptured Sunday at her family's home near Picher.

Undersheriff A. R. Hayes of Ottawam county notified Girls Town officials of Betty's arrest and said he would place her on a bus at Miami and send her back to Tecumseh "on her honor."

The officer quoted the attractive girl as saying she wanted to return to the institution and clear her record. She recently wrote to Chairman Russell Bergman of the State Board of Affairs, offering to return voluntarily.

Bergman accepted her offer but she failed to show up.

POSTMASTER AT PHILLIPS BILLED
A federal grand jury in Dallas returned an embezzlement indictment against Arvel O. Pickens, postmaster at Phillips, in connection with the alleged embezzlement Sept. 20, 1946, of $2,923 in government bonds, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Pickens has been free on $500 bond since the charge was filed in federal district court. Pickens became postmaster at Phillips, Oct. 1, 1935. He was replaced May 13, 1947, by Ambrose Caulfield, who is serving as acting postmaster. Pickens was a member of the Phillips School Board, serving as secretary, but tendered his resignation last May.
