TACKLES A NEW SCHOOL

RUBE LINSTON LYNCH

DEAF LAD KNOWS WHY WATCH TICKS

Seven-year-old Rube Linston Lynch can't talk and can't hear the ticking of a watch but he knows how to take the watch apart and put it back together. The child, totally deaf since he was 11 months old as a result of whooping cough, recently entered the Texas School for the Deaf in Austin.

He is the son of Arthur Lynch of Whiteflat, and since the death last year of their mother he and his sister, Martha, 11, had been making their home with an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin F. Fisher, 1401 Johnson, in Amarillo. In September they took Rube to Austin and for the first time in his life he is going to school with other children like himself in the only school for the deaf maintained by the state of Texas.

Although Rube's life is one of silence, Mrs. Fisher said the youngster is very artistically inclined. He can draw most any... (continued on back page)

County Iron Lung Is Credited With Saving Girl's Life

Motley county's iron lung which was purchased several years ago by public contributions through sponsorship of the Matador Lions club, is credited with aiding in saving a Childress girl's life.

The following letter of appreciation was received last week by the Tribune:

"We take this means to express our deepest appreciation to County Judge C. W. Giesecke, County Clerk Pat Sheridan and County Attorney Howard Trawweek, and to the people of Motley county for the act of kindness and mercy in furnishing and delivering the iron lung to the Childress Hospital for the use of our 15-year-old daughter, Willie Ann, after our local Red Cross representative called Judge Giesecke last Friday and explained the need and urgency for the iron lung.

"It was delivered by Mr. Sheridan and Mr. Trawweek and was in operation in a matter of less than two hours from the time of the call to Judge Giesecke. The urgency with which your officials acted is responsible to an immeasurable degree in saving the life of our daughter who responded immediately to the lung and is now recovering. Again we say thank's from the bottom of our hearts.

A. V. King and family, Childress, Texas."

Gins Pushing Crop Through

Weary, dust and lint covered, men are keeping Matador's three gin plants running on a near 24-hour basis in an effort to keep the 1951 crop moving during the excellent weather following the "gold spell".

Fields are darkening rapidly but some believe 40% to 50% of the crop still remains in the fields. Some observers believe 75% of the crop may be gathered.

A survey made Tuesday by County Agent Rufus Emmons showed a total of 12,957 bales ginned in the county. Matador had 5,377, Flomot 4,076 and Roaring Springs 3,513.

District Governor Boyd Meador Seeks To Improve Clubs

"We should seek to build stronger clubs instead of trying too hard to enlarge memberships", District Lion Governor Boyd Meador of McLean, said here Tuesday evening. The District 271 leader addressed a zone meeting and banquet held in the basement of the Methodist church.

Representatives from four of the six clubs in the zone attended, including Boss Lions and secretaries from Lockney, Turkey, Roaring Springs and Matador. Approximately 50 members of the local club attended.

Meador who is one of the most outstanding Lions in Northwest Texas, outlined projects of Texas Lions clubs and stressed the scheduled Lions convention, including the Mexico City meeting of Lions International. "Good service clubs are needed in every community", Governor Meador declared, "and while we should seek at all times to enlarge memberships, I feel that stronger clubs and stronger Lions are more important than greater numbers. Each Lion should feel a personal obligation to his own club and each community should be made feel its obligation to the Lions club which sponsors its progress and welfare."

Thanksgiving Program

Lion Rev. Clifford Potts delivered the Thanksgiving program address in which he said: "The privilege of Thanksgiving is an American heritage and Thanksgiving programs usher in a season of prayer when we thank God for the people who established America and our way of life... we can't express our thanks with our lips alone but must make our lives a living prayer... leaders throughout the nation have cited the need for spiritual awakening... a return to God... we must take advantage of our freedoms."

In keeping with the harvest season motif the banquet table was decorated with miniature shocks of grain, autumn leaves and fruits. The menu, prepared and served by the Toreador Home Demonstration club, included baked chicken and dressing, green peas, giblet gravy, salad and home-made cake.

Following the banquet-meeting officers and directors of the various clubs met to discuss zone problems and future schedules.

Boss Lion J. E. Edwards called for reports from chairmen of various committees in the Matador club at the beginning of the program since the zone meeting was held in lieu of the regular meeting.

MATADOR TROUCE QUITAQUE PANTHERS

The Matador Matadors defeated the Quitaque Panthers 26-20 in the closing game of the season, which was played on Burdette Field, Friday night, November 8th. The kick-off was at 7:30 p. m. The Panthers won the toss and their Co-Captains, Monte Wise and Jimmy Davidson chose to receive. Matadors Co-Captains, Kenneth Dunning and Jerry Edwards decided to defend the South goal.

On the first play from scrimmage, the Panther's quarterback Eddleman, faded back for a pass but Wayne Cartwright, Matador's right end, spilled him for a 10-yard loss. Because of this, Eddleman dropped back in the end zone to kick. The ball went out of bounds on the Panthers 35-yard line.

Dewayne Martin took the ball on the Matador's first play from scrimmage, but stopped with no gain. Harold Martin took the ball on the following play and plowed through the Panther's defense for an 8-yard gain. On third down, Neal Pipkin attempted a pass aimed at Harold Martin but was not complete. This brought up fourth down with the Matadors needing two yards for a first. This time, quarterback Pipkin handed off to Dewayne Martin, who powered his way for the two yards. This gave the Matadors the ball on the Panther's 25-yard line. There, Kenneth Dunning rammed his way for 6 yards. The Panthers ran one play then lost the ball to the Matadors, who ran it back to the twenty-five yard line in the Panther's end of the field, before the half ended.

The third quarter started off with a bang when Monte Wise kicked off to Matador. Harold Martin took the ball on Matador's 25-yard line and ran 75 yards for a touchdown with the help of beautiful blocking Dewayne Martin then rammed his way over for the extra point.

The Panthers made 50 yards in two plays which carried down to the Matadors 20-yard line. Here Eddleman passed to Wise for the touchdown. The extra point attempt was no good and the game ended right after the kick-off with the score Matador 26, Quitaque 20.

New Notes in Cooking

Know how to avoid one form of frying pan frustration? Notch the strips of bacon with a knife or scissors before cooking to keep the strips from curling or "buckling."

Smothered chicken, in Dutch oven or casserole, is something to rave about when the smothering is done with diluted condensed cream of mushroom soup. Brown the floured chicken pieces first; sprinkle on Accent (pure monosodium glutamate) salt and pepper; transfer to baking dish; pour in soup; cover tightly and bake slowly.

When making rolled sandwiches, it's a good idea to steam the slices of bread in a colander over boiling water for a minute or two. The slightly damp bread will roll easily without cracking.

Rice, cooked in broth in place of water, is preferred to taste with Accent and "pinked" prettily with sweet paprika, is "Rosy Rice"—that's for sure.

Have you as much as a half-cup of thick smooth sour cream? Lock it with you if you're having soup for supper, hot or cold... float a spoonful of sour cream on each serving and dust lightly with paprika or chopped chives, according to the soup.

Smallwood-Reese Rites Performed

In a ceremony performed at Spur, Texas, on October 31 at 10 a. m. Miss Joyce Evelyn Smallwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Smallwood of Afton, became the bride of Collin Ray Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Reese of Spur.

The bride was attended by Miss Joyce Allison of Matador, and attending the groom as best man was Travis Clifton, also of Matador. For her wedding the bride wore an orchid gaberdine suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Miss Allison wore a gray suit with brown accessories, and a white carnation corsage.

After a wedding trip to Lubbock, the couple returned to Matador, where they are at home in the Cammack apartment. Mrs. Reese was reared at Afton and attended Patton Springs school. For the past several months she has been employed as bookkeeper at First State Bank of Matador. Mr. Reese was reared at Spur and graduated from High school there. He is employed at Spur.

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn is the subject of a full-length article in the November 24th issue of The Saturday Evening Post. The story says this Texas veteran is the country's pre-eminent expert on how to pass laws and placate politicians.

Speaker Sam Rayburn Has More Proposals Than Any Other Bachelor In Washington

The office of Speaker of the House has grown in prestige during Sam Rayburn's tenure, it is pointed out in the current (November 24th) issue of The Saturday Evening Post.

A full-length article on the venerable Texan cites the fact that Congress has raised the Speaker's salary and changed the presidential succession law so that he would become Chief Executive in the event of the death of both the President and the Vice-President.

In "They're Just Crazy About Sam", author Paul F. Healy finds that Rayburn himself has added to this prestige by becoming a strong Speaker and he has held the post over nine years, longer than anyone else in U. S. history.

Few men have dealt so closely with such a cross section of human nature in the raw, Healy says. He has managed to move adroitly through a series of national crises with two Presidents of contrasting temperament and background, and simultaneously ride herd on 434 usually hot and bothered colleagues, each from a different part of the country and each a full-blown personality in his or her own right.

The story says one of the secrets of his success is that he goes beyond his duties as presiding officer of the House, leader of his party in the House and highest adviser to the President on legislative matters to function as a combination father-confessor, counselor and Dutch uncle to members on both sides of the aisle.

Rayburn likes Congressmen. He figures he has served with nearly 3,000 of them during his 39 years in Washington and has tried to know intimately as many as possible. Evidence that they also like him is reflected in the statement of Representative Abraham Multer, a New York Democrat, that to the new members of Congress Rayburn has been more than a leader, "he has been our guardian angel."

Both Republican and Democratic members are said to seek him out continually for advice on their personal problems. Even wives of congressmen have gone to the 69-year-old Speaker, who is a bachelor, for tips on how to handle their prima-donna husbands.

At the same time, Rayburn is reported to receive more proposals of marriage by mail than any other bachelor in Washington.

Healy also says that this holder of the second most powerful political post in the Government is the country's pre-eminent expert on how to pass laws and placate politicians.

How to make old roads seem NEW

PICK a road that you know by heart. Not too good a road. One that has some bumps—some unbanked turns—a tough hill or two.

Then get in touch with us, and let us put you behind the wheel of a Buick, with Dynaflo Drive.*

Now you're all set for a new experience. You'll find out this:

Those bumps seem to lose their bobble. You just take them with a smooth and level stride.

Those unbanked turns don't seem so sharp, and those hills seem almost to flatten out.

How come? Well, a lot of things are different when you travel in a Buick.

You're riding on big, soft coil springs that let every wheel dance beneath you, without passing on the jolts to you in the car.

You're driving a car that's plenty inches broader than it is high—a sure-footed road-hugger if there ever was one.

And you're riding behind a Fireball Engine—Buick's time-tested version of a high-compression valve-in-head—engine that packs more power than most people ever need to use.

With this power—and Dynaflo Drive*—you don't have to "rush" a hill at the bottom to soar serenely over the top. You just feed the power as you need it—climb with a sure, steady swoop without buck or bobble all the way up.

There's a lot more that we could tell you about a Buick. But such things as room, and comfort, the confident way it steers, and the way it shortens the miles are things you can best discover from personal experience.

So why not follow the routine already suggested? You supply the road—we'll supply the car—and let it speak for itself.

Symbols of Thanksgiving

THESE are the symbols of Thanksgiving. These are the symbols of America on her mighty, ceaseless quest for greatness and for freedom. These symbols, the Bible, the Turkey, the ax and gun were well known to the Pilgrim Fathers. The Bible led them to this strange and lonely land . . . during the days of peril and hardship it was the hope and inspiration that went into the foundation upon which rests the world's greatest nation.

The wild turkey symbolizes the abundance of the land, the ax was to challenge the great forests the land that beckoned the brave and laughed at the weak. And always with the American went the gun. For as the silent wilderness had concealed the threat of savage and serpent, so the uncovering of wealth bred new dangers and the need for defense against them; the tyrant in a hundred guises who sought to make the rewards of other men, labor his own. And so the right to keep and bear arms became fundamental to the American. These are the symbols of the day we celebrate; of the peculiarly American holiday we call Thanksgiving.

We are grateful for the many blessings of this great and free land and pause at the height of harvest to give thanks.

Study of Mind, Body Changes

Many mental "breakdowns" are strictly mental, that is without any physical changes anywhere in the body. But there are other mental disorders which stem actually from physical changes that are reflected in the capacity of the mind to maintain the power level of thought processes.

Some mental disorders result from faulty formation of the brain structure, some result from improper function of other parts of the body which in turn affect the function of the brain.

Mental deficients are those born without the proper "ingredients" for the full development of the mind. These persons, also called feeble-minded, remain in "childish" all their lives, never achieving independence. There are three degrees of feeble-mindedness: idiocy, imbecility, and morosity. The idiot, often speechless and helpless, unable to guard himself against common physical dangers, remains an infant, capable of accomplishing only such things as a three-year-old child might achieve. The imbecile may grow mentally only as far as the pre-school child, from 3 to 7 years of age, usually learning to talk and to perform very simple tasks such as the normal child of this age group can do. The moron, while still a "child" may be taught many of the things that a 7 to 12 year old child learns but fails to apply his learning in an intelligent way.

Tribune, Matador, Motley County, Texas, Thursday, November 22, 1951

Mind Stops Developing
With mentally deficient individuals the mind just stops developing at the age levels mentioned above. Like children, they remain always in a "self-world", never replacing or adjusting that "self" in association with others or with life situations. When people and problems come in contact with them, they become confused and react in a number of different ways, nearly always extravagantly.

This can best be explained by the examples of emotions or general changes which affect the whole mind, in both normal and abnormal people. Excitement depression apathy, sleep walking, loss of memory, hallucinations, delusions of grandeur or persecution, obsessions of fear and suspicions are all "feelings" which affect all parts of the mind. In mental deficients or persons with mental disorders of many types these "feelings" are greatly exaggerated, wild, abandoned excitement; with depression becoming an extreme of misery; with apathy becoming a complete blankness of feeling without any excitement or depression, etc.

Any one or all of these feelings may be the predominant characteristic of a mental deficient; he may swing from one to the other extreme but it will be an extreme of each feeling. The mental deficient has the instincts of the normal person but none of the restraints of mature mental attitudes.

Senile Dementia
Dementia is the name applied to those mental changes or deteriorations that occur during life. The best example, perhaps, is senile dementia, in which the structure of the brain undergoes changes that replace the world of other people and the world of situations with only that one world of self.

It is interesting to note that sometimes the aged person who actually shows the most extreme changes in the physical structure of the brain maintains the reality of the other worlds and his relation to them. On the other hand, some aged persons who show slight deterioration of the physical structure of the brain will retire completely into that "one world", the self world of "childishness".

So obviously, once the mind has achieved mature development, it takes more than physical changes of the brain to cause deterioration. Each person's adjustment to the world during his active life has a definite bearing upon his capacity to remain mentally healthy when the aging process changes the structure of the brain.

The mental changes associated with old age may be a reflection of physical changes in the body other than in the brain which in turn affects the mind. Improper function of parts of the body may, at any time of life, create changes in the mental processes, just as injuries and illnesses may cause brain changes.

Your doctor is aware of the many illnesses and injuries which have a direct bearing upon mental processes. The nervous system itself, carrying messages to and from the brain, is intricately involved in mental health and the neurologist is the medical doctor who is versed in the study of the nervous system; frequently your doctor will call in a specialist in neurology or psychiatry to help trace the origin of some mental disorder.

Check Physical First
The first search in medical treatment of mental ill health of any kind is to see if there is some physical stumbling block which may be the cause, or a contributing factor to a lack of mental coordination. If a physical cause can be located, and can be diagnosed as the first source of the difficulty then that original cause must be treated as well as retraining the other functions of the body which were diverted from their proper function by the first stumbling block. And it stands to reason that the earlier the physical defect sign of physical involvement. Here is found and retrained undertaken, the more hopeful is the outlook.

Many mental illnesses seem to be purely mental, however, without any the psychiatrist and the psychoanalyst are the specialists who have been trained to help you discover and overcome the first mental stumbling block that is keeping your mental processes from coordinating as they were meant to do.

Self-Employed Are Urged To Procure SS Account Number

Self-employed persons should apply now for their social security account number, urged John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock social security field office. Although self-employed persons are not required to report their earnings until they file their income tax returns early in 1952, Hutton said that every self-employed person who does not have a social security account number card should apply for one now to be certain he had the account number when the tax report is made. Applications for account numbers can be obtained from the local post office, or by contacting the Lubbock social security office, located at 1311 Texas Avenue.

Most owners or partners in a trade or business who have net earnings of $400 or more a year are required by the new social security law to pay in tax of 2 1/2% of their net earnings to the first $3,600 earned the year, at the time the combined income tax and social security tax form is filed. Coverage of the self-employed is not voluntary. Hutton said that participation is required unless net earnings are less than $400 a year, or if the income is derived from the ownership of a farm or from certain professions excluded by law, such as physicians, lawyers, dentists, professional engineers, public accountants and some others.

Castor Beans Loom As Profitable New Cash Crop Income

Castor beans have proven to be a profitable new oil crop for the Midwest. They are a welcome addition to the small list of cash crops western farmers have to choose from, points out Capper's Farmer.

Castor bean oil goes into paints, enamels and many other products in the protective coating field. The oil is used for making jet-engine lubricating oil, hydraulic fluids, plastic-coated combat wire, military fabrics and explosives. The Government contracted for the beans at a support price of 10 cents a pound and hoped for a 1951 planting of 100,000 acres, says the farm magazine.

"The beans do well in Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas, northern Texas and southeastern Kansas. They are adapted to light, well drained soils. Yields in the Midwest average 500 pounds. Under irrigation, harvest ranges from 2,500 to 3,000 pounds an acre.

"Castor beans work into rotations and require growing conditions similar to cotton, only there is less trouble from insects or disease. They are normally spring-planted and fall-harvested. However, they are being 'double cropped' in some irrigated valleys with long growing seasons. The beans are planted after spring-harvested grain and vegetables.

"Plant breeders and engineers have greatly reduced the labor and cost of castor bean production. Dwarf varieties for irrigated areas, which are easy to harvest, have been developed. A bean combine is available which can also be converted to harvest peanuts or grain. It is used for dwarf varieties and harvests one acre an hour.

"Most dry land producers in Texas and Oklahoma grow Corn, a tall bean not suited to combine harvesting. Extension and industrial engineers have developed a new 2-row tractor-mounted stripper that promises to ease the bean harvesting chore for dry land farmers.

"Plant breeders hope to develop a dwarf castor bean for the dry land area that will yield better and be easier to harvest."

OUR FARM MACHINERY SERVICE

... CAN SAVE YOU TIME AND MONEY.

Just what is service? Here's what we try to do:

Keep over Ford Tractor at every place of Dearborn Farm Equipment working at top efficiency . . . and be Johnny-on-the-spot when something goes wrong.

Some of our service is free; some costs only for the parts; some requires a reasonable labor charge. But you'll find us fair . . . we want to keep on serving you for a long time.

BRASELTON Implement Company
Roaring Springs, Texas

THE BETTER WE KNOW YOU

the Better we can serve you

No two farms are alike. That's why we are visiting the farms around here . . . trying to find out why your farm, for example, is different and has to be farmed differently than others.

When we try to help you . . . and we think we can . . . to farm with less work and make more money, we want to be sure of our ground.

It isn't just a matter of selling tractors and implements with us. We want to know your problems, so we can think about them and help if we can. And we want you to know us, and what we can do for you, so you'll know how to use us when a need arises.

We hope to visit you soon, but please don't wait. Drop in whenever you are near us. Lots of folks do. We'll be glad to see you.

We are headquarters for Ford Tractors, Dearborn Farm Equipment and genuine Ford Tractor and Dearborn Implement parts. Call on us any time for prompt, efficient tractor and implement service.
