"No life is complete without a hobby," Ramey told his young listeners, as he warmed to his favorite subject of Canadian wild geese. He explained in detail the unusual behavior of the goose, the most loyal creature on earth.

"They select a mate for life," Ramey said, "and never change." He had previously aroused the interest of his audience with a series of interesting facts regarding the 12 bills in U. S. currency, starting with $1 and ranging as high as $100,000.

Ramey said he had spent a great amount of money on his study of geese but that it was well worth all the costs. As a k with unusual clearness word of advice, the speaker told n I am ready to make a his audience: "Never accept de-
