MATADOR CITY COUNCIL MEETS

The Matador City Council met June 11, 7:30 a.m. in the City Hall with Mayor Gary Lancaster; Councilmen, Travis Jameson, Doyle Rose, John Briscoe, L.B. Campbell, Joe P. Smith; Water Superintendent Bill Jameson; and City Secretary Nell Berryman, present.

The Mayor asked for the reading of the minutes.

The Mayor reported the Ditch Digger had been purchased from Les Jameson.

The City had not received the information from Tom Hamilton for the Stanley Hospital transaction, except by telephone, he informed the Mayor that the building could not be sold, but could be leased for $1.00 a year for 20 or more years. Hamilton is sending a proposal for the City and Hospital Board to sign.

The City Secretary had an estimate on having the City Hall, upstairs and downstairs, treated for pests and mice from Stephens Pest Control.

Earlyne Jameson, representing the Motley County Library Board, gave the council a report on the remodeling of the new library building and how much they appreciated Bill Jameson and Travis Jameson's work in installing the water and sewer lines.

Bill Jameson reported on the replacement of the water lines in the northeast part of the City. He stated that "they would be through when they got a fire hydrant installed." He said they had found one problem, "the old school building still had the water on and all the pipes had frozen and burst and the building had a lot of water damage."

BARBARA'S BYLINES

I know everyone has probably had a 'skunk' story to tell and now I have one.

Sunday afternoon my neighbor, Pennie Keltz was trying to get her dogs to get away from a stack of wood in my back yard and realized they were after a skunk. We finally got the dogs to leave it alone but knew there was still a skunk in the neighborhood.

As I came in from church and turned in my drive, "Mr. Skunk" came around the house and up on the front porch. I parked and ran to get Kelly Keltz with his gun to come and kill it. By this time my other neighbor, Frank Price said the skunk crossed the street and checked out his garage and then proceeded south into the pasture.

In talking to other Matador citizens, it seems there are quite a few skunks around town. I guess Matador needs a "skunk catcher".

I remember my Dad and Mom telling of deodorizing two baby skunks and how much fun they were to watch. It's hard to believe something so cute can smell so bad.

We really do need to get rid of the little pest, they are very dangerous since they carry rabies.

"Son Beams"

By June Keltz

To read the Bible with our intellect only is like listening to a sermon spoken in French when we understand English only. The Bible is the word of God; a universal word (Logos) inspired by God and written by man. "But know this first of all, that no prophecy of scripture is a matter of one's own interpretation, for no prophecy was ever made by an act of human will, but men moved by the Holy Spirit spoke from God." 2 Pet. 1:20, 21. To study this Book with an unregenerated spirit is to read a book of history, poetry, drama, biography, prophecy, philosophy and science. Intellectual comprehension alone brings about mental assent, but lacks power to change our lives.

On the other hand when Jesus becomes our Lord and takes His abode in our heart, everything changes. The word of God becomes a living, active word, delighting the heart, producing faith, illuminating, healing and setting us free. It becomes RHEMA to the born again; it is God speaking to us individually. His word is His way of revealing to man the riches of His glory which is Christ in us - our hope of glory. (Col. 1:27)

When our three sons were young, their behavioral pattern was normal - fussing, fighting and wrestling. My verbal attempts to patrol the 24 hour battleground were consistent but in vain. My words were going forth but they were LOGOS. (Universal) When Dad came home, he spoke only a few words with an authoritative tone and they suddenly became RHEMA. His words were personalized for them and they received them.

The Father, Son and Holy Spirit and all of their promises are meant for whosoever will believe and accept them. To allow the written word (LOGOS) of God to become the word spoken to us individually (RHEMA) brings honor and glory to the three in one and conforms us to His image.

ON THE ROAD TO WEIGHT LOSS

Diets can be compared to taking a long trip by car. Your destination or goal is weight loss. And your eating plan is like a road map used to get to your destination of a desirable weight.

In both cases, you're in the driver's seat. And just as there's no one best route for all drivers, there's no one best guide for a reducing diet. Your route to a lower weight should take into account your lifestyle, schedule, budget and safeguards for your health.

Most people first think of calories as being all-important in a weight reduction program. But good is more than calories. It furnishes all of the essential nutrients we need for good health. A reducing diet should supply the proper balance of nutrients through a wide variety of wholesome foods at a controlled level of calorie intake.

Diets can be standardized, but people can't. Choose a guide you can live with and change it to fit your needs. Your diet, just like your trip, may require a few stops or detours along the way.

Nutritionists advise against reducing calories below 1,600 a day for men and 1,200 calories a day for women. Most people can lose 1 to 2 pounds a week at that level.

It isn't necessary to limit yourself to two or three special foods. A variety of foods is much wiser, no matter what's on your eating guide. A trip with several changes of scenery seems shorter and more pleasant. Likewise, you'll find a variety of foods will make it easier and more enjoyable to stick with the diet.

Most weight loss plans also recommend physical activity or exercise to burn extra calories. You may want to join a structured fitness program or increase activity in small ways during your daily routine.

Before setting out on your trip - especially if it involves a vigorous exercise program, or if you have a special physical condition - get a check up and discuss your diet plans with your doctor.

Senior Citizens Report

by Iris Blevins

Our president, Nora Belle Dunning opened the doors to our building Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock for our regular second Tuesday of the month luncheon. The cool misty weather was perfect for our indoor get together and we had more good food. We had 21 guests to register.

We had our business meeting and we were glad that Ruby is able to be back with us after a bout with a virus.

Happy Birthday was sang to Iris. Katherine gave thanks for the noon meal. Then everyone filled their plates of the most delicious food and silence fell over the auditorium until plates were empty.

The remaining food was covered, dirty dishes went to the dishwasher, then some went home while others settled down for the evening of games of 84, 42 and dominoes. We missed Wiley and Dorothy Lee. We hope you were not ill.

Others missing were Duke and Vena; J.W. and Lucille; Cecil and Grace.

Our thanks to Marie Linson for coming to the center and doing our blood pressure check. We welcome Barbara and Jason to come eat with us any time you can come.

Maybe the weather is going to settle down for a while and we will be thinking about our picnic in a park and do a little fishing.

It sounds like fun to me.

Jo Ann's Jots & Jingles

By Jo Ann Dickson

Sunday is Father's Day. No matter our age, we think about our fathers.

Some of us have wonderful memories. Some of us have harsh thoughts. Some of us find that the older we get the more we realize how we might have misjudged our fathers. Some of us wish we still had our fathers - "oh, my papa, to me he was so wonderful."

But I think in our day and age Father's Day has a new connotation. It should be a day for fathers to cogitate on themselves. I heard it said the other day that "as goes the Daddy, so goes the nation." I believe fathers need to take leadership in the home. The Bible says man is the head of the home. But, fathers, you can't expect obedience and honor from your children unless you are IN THE LORD. Children are to honor their fathers. But a father can't expect this "place in the sun" unless he deserves it.

Let all disobedience be blamed on the child, read Colossians 3:21, "Fathers provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged." To respect a father's honor, a child must realize they can attach weight and principle to that honor.

I believe Fathers Day in our day and age is meant mutually for father and child.

The Lord is my strength and my shield; my heart trusted in him, and I am helped: therefore my heart greatly rejoiceth; and with my song will I praise him.

Psalm 28:7

Library Notes

BY JIMMIE HUNTER

"Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?" and "How Much Is That Doggie In The Window?" are only two of the songs that the children sang along as Mrs. Lola Pohl entertained the with music and stories Tuesday afternoon, June 9th, when 33 young readers enrolled for the SUMMER READING CLUB. 101 books were checked out that day, and 75 the next day. Registration had reached 49 by 5:00 p.m. Monday, June 15th. With the help of Darla Gwinn, Nelda Tomison, Kimberly Moore, Winifred Lee, Melissa Gray, and Beverly Darsey, and many mothers, things went fairly smoothly for two new Librarians who had never been in charge of a Summer Reading Program before. The members of our "Animal Antics Reading Club are looking forward to doing hand work with Mrs. Winifred Lee in the morning at 10:00 a.m. (I will be in Lubbock attending a workshop sponsored by the West Texas Library System. I hope I get to see some of the children's handiwork when I return to the Library on Friday).

We are grateful for the Memorials to the Motley County Library in memory of Eliza Jones by Mrs. Mollie Burleson, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Vance Campbell, and for Mr. George Seigler by J. Don and Francis Finch, and to Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Cruise, and Mrs. Lee Peacock for their cash donation to the Library Building Fund.

A big "Thank You" to volunteers Bailey Elliot, Francis Finch and Winifred Lee for keeping the library open Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, and Joel Dean, Debbie and Brandi Spray for their work Tuesday night of last week. A special thanks to Kimberly Moore for making the posters for the Reading Club records and for dashing by to add all the late registrations.

The wonderful collection of arrow heads and Indian artifacts that Joe and Loys Campbell had on display at the Library until last week was certainly enjoyed by many people.

Our thanks to Keith Patton, Glenn Woodruff and Jess Couch for magazines they donate. Mr. Larry Crouch donated two new paper back books, Corey Lane, by Norman Zollinger and The Road To Gandolfo, by Robert Lundlum. Thank you, Mr. Crouch.

Beverly Anne Bridge Darsey presented a copy of her book, The Yeates Family And Related Lines, to the Motley County Library. We appreciate it, Beverly.

Don't forget, boys and girls, that Reading Club doesn't meet on Tuesday next week. Instead, we'll be meeting at 10:00 a.m., Saturday June 27, on the Courthouse Lawn with Pepper Nichols, Chino and Logan from Wichita Falls.

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fools despise wisdom and instruction.

Barrow Bound To Help Birds

11-year-old Hopes To Care For Injured Wildlife

Laura Barrow

by Dan Smith
San Marcos News Editor

She may be just a sixth grader, but Laura Nancy Barrow already knows a lot about birds.

"The first word she ever said when she was a baby was bird," said Laura's mother, Nancy Barrow. "From then on it was birds, birds, birds."

When Laura was 2, she stood on a chair to peek at some baby birds in a tree near her house. That curiosity continues today, so much so that "when all the other girls were experimenting with makeup (at a recent slumber party), she was studying birds," Laura's mother said.

Eventually, Laura, who turned 11 recently, hopes to be able to take care of injured birds. The Travis Elementary School student and her mother will be taking a wildlife rehabilitation course this summer in Austin. Though she must be 16 before the state will certify her to take care of birds, the course is a step closer to Laura's goal.

"I would like to study birds and take care of them," she said.

Neighbors frequently call Laura about injured birds, but state law limits the type of birds she can care for. Though unable to care for songbirds, she can work with pigeons, grackles and a few other varieties.

Baby birds can be the most trouble to care for, said Laura, who already has rescued several birds from an undesirable fate.

"You have to teach baby birds how to eat, she said. "If they're hungry, you can't just leave them alone, you have to feed them even if you're in the middle of something else."

The food would be enough to turn most people away from the field, but Laura doesn't seem to mind.

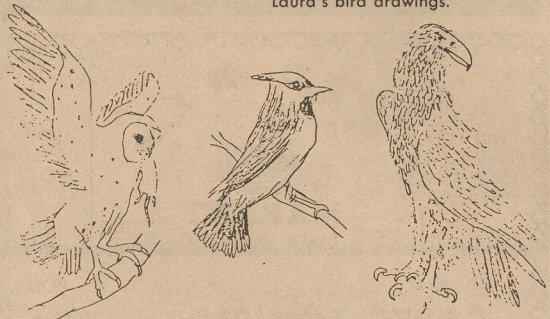

To make a batch of food, "I catch a bunch of flies and mix it all together with other insects and worms," she said.

Until she is certified to take care of a wider variety of birds, Laura contents herself by drawing the feathered creatures.

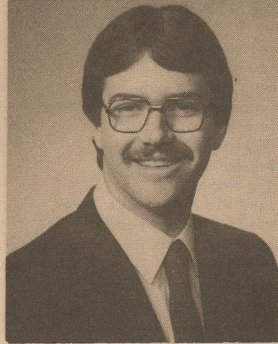

"I like drawing," she said. "I've been doing it since I was about 1 year old."

Laura is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Traweek of Matador.

These pictures are some of Laura's bird drawings.

CITY COUNCIL

Douglas Campbell wanted the council to know of the dirt problem in the alley behind his house and the school. He stated he had done a lot of work fixing his backyard with a dirt dyke to keep the water from running through his yard and into his basement. Campbell stated, "Bill Jameson had fixed the alley where the water would run down the alley north and into the street and now the school was adding dirt to the alley and he was afraid it was going to add to his water problem not solve it."

Ron Cummings assured them that they didn't intend to cause more problems, they were using the dirt from the playground to build up the alley and keep the water shed in line. Bill Jameson stated that when the school contractor Frank Donahue was here, that they measured by survey equipment and then fixed it the only way it could be fixed.

L.B. Campbell stated in lieu of the watershed in the southwest part of town, any land filling needed to be measured first and also to be checked out with Bill Jameson, before it was done.

Cummings asked Bill if he would come survey it again so they could get it fixed right. All parties agreed with this.

The outstanding bills were read and approved to be paid for $2,438.12. The City had received a letter from other surrounding cities to join with them in asking the West Texas Utilities to forgo the price raise for 90 days, the council decided they would have to confer with Tom Hamilton first.

Bill Jameson was asked when he could knock down the old city Bakery Building. Bill replied, "not until I am able to haul it off, too." The council commented at the danger of it like it is and that the children should stay out of it.

Citizens Asked To Help Protect Post Office

Texas and Oklahoma continue to be the target of post office burglars, according to Postal Inspector in Charge D.C. Strader, Fort Worth. Strader, whose area of responsibility includes the northern half of Texas (north of Austin) and all of Oklahoma, said that over 50 burglaries will occur within the boundaries of the Fort Worth Division this year if the current trend continues.

Most of the burglaries have occurred at post offices that are located in rural communities that have limited or no local law enforcement available for routine patrols at night.

"A majority of the burglaries do not involve the loss of postal funds, because very little money is kept overnight in post offices and postal stations. Safes and security containers are used to secure the money and blank money orders which are kept overnight," stated Strader. "In addition to burglary-resistant security containers, we are continually adding and updating existing alarm systems where appropriate. However, we need for the residents of each city, town, and community to help us protect their post offices and stations from burglaries and vandalism."

Local postmaster, Nell Clem, emphasized the need for citizen involvement. "Even though postal funds are secured in a safe, burglars who are unsuccessful in attempting to break into a safe will sometimes steal mail left in customers' post office boxes. Even when they don't steal mail, they sometimes just cause malicious vandalism. In either event, it does cost the Postal Service money to repair the damage incurred and for the Postal Inspectors to conduct an investigation. Our local tax money is also spent by our local law enforcement officers who incur expenses, because they are usually the first agency to respond, and they also provide valuable assistance in the investigations to the Postal Inspectors.

"But the most important reason for citizen involvement is because it causes a hardship to those whose mail is stolen or destroyed as the result of a burglary or a senseless act of vandalism," said Postmaster Clem.

Residents can help reduce burglaries and vandalism by reporting suspicious activity at or around the postal facilities which occurs after business hours. This activity would include such things as automobiles or trucks with license plates from outside the local area, unfamiliar people asking suspicious questions about the post office or amount of law enforcement patrol at night, or loitering in the post office box lobby or around the post office by groups of young people at night and on weekends when the post office is closed. This information should be reported to the local law enforcement agencies and to the postmaster or station manager.

Post office burglary is a Federal crime which carries a penalty of up to a $1,000 fine or up to five years in prison, or both. The Postal Service offers a standing reward of up to $5,000 for information and services leading to the arrest and conviction of any person responsible for the burglary of a post office. Any information about a post office burglary, or any crime committed against the Postal Service or its employees, should be reported to the local postmaster or the Postal Inspector in Charge in Fort Worth. The 24-hour number for the Postal Inspector in Charge at Fort Worth is 817/885-1111. Postal Inspectors are also located at Dallas and Lubbock in Texas, and at Oklahoma City and Tulsa in Oklahoma.

"It's your community, your post office, and your mail," said Clem, "and we need the help of all our citizens in helping to reduce crimes against the Postal Services in our area."

Letter To The Editor

Dear Barbara,

God's blessing come every day. He has blessed me in so many ways you don't have room to print them. The greatest one was sending His son Jesus to die on the cross for my sins.

My first blessing came in 1933 when I was born a healthy baby, the next came early in 1934 when He guided Lee and Hattie Marshall to an orphans home in Dallas, into a room full of babies and they picked me, brought me to Motley County and gave me a Christian home.

My mother knows I love her dearly, but today is Father's day and I am thinking about Daddy.

A FAVORITE MEMORY

Everyone has a favorite memory, Mine is about my Daddy and me. Lying out in the back yard on a warm summer night, Looking up into the sky at the beautiful site. Daddy would turn to me and say, Look there son above the milky-way. Look at those stars, there, shaped like a car, Right there son, under that big bright star. Then he'd see some that looked like a man on a horse, I'd hug his neck, and see the same thing, of course. Then he'd see some that spelled my name, Though I couldn't read, I'd see the same. Then some that looked like a bird in a tree, Then he'd say; son see what you can see. I'd find the big dipper, right below the ear, He'd say, follow the handle, there's the North Star. Then he'd explain to me how on the darkest night, You'd always be looking north, when you'd see this star so bright. Then he'd tell how the sailors could chart their course, When they would look up and find this God given source, Then he'd start a story, that rambled on and on, About his boyhood times on an east Texas farm. He'd tell about him and his dad under this same star, And about the time he saw his first real car. He'd tell about a pack of dogs their neighbor would keep, And name them all by name before I fell asleep. Then I'd feel my eyes trying to close, He'd say a little prayer and let me doze. Now the stars are still there but Daddy and those days are gone, And each night I see them I remember Daddy, his stories and home.

Dear Editor:

The following is a newspaper clipping from the "Ann Landers" column regarding child support. I thought it may be helpful to some of your readers.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a problem that I share with approximately nine million women in the United States. My ex-husband is behind in his child support checks. There are now about 4 1/2 million women in our great country who receive some child support, but many wives receive only a fraction of what they should get and some fathers send a mere pittance when they feel like it.

In 1982, the tab for those forgotten kids was $4 billion. (Yes, that's a "b"). Sad to say, the problem has not gotten better. Only 20 percent of dads who are ordered to pay child support do so regularly. Fifty-two percent make sporadic payments, and 28 percent never pay a dime. In Ohio alone, 600,000 children are living in poverty because their fathers' refuse to support them.

The children of divorce are not making outrageous demands on the absent father. The average support payment is only 13 percent of his total income.

Here is the good news for wives who have been carrying the burden alone. An organization called ACES (The Association for Children for Enforcement of Support) has been extremely successful. ACES, founded by Geraldine Jensen in Toledo, Ohio, in 1984, knows how to help people win what is their rightful due in court. Seventy percent of our 10,000 members in 22 states are now receiving their support payments regularly. The national office address is 1018 Jefferson Ave., Suite 204, Toledo, Ohio, 43624.

You, Ann Landers, could help us to help the children by referring people to the organization for help.

I hope that this letter of information will help some of the mothers in our area who are not receiving child support.

Thank you, A concerned reader

SCHOOL BOARD

decision and wait for the grant monies.

The bills were read and approved to be paid.

The Board was pleased with the bus that was returned recently from Huntsville Prison System. The Prison System had done repairs and the economical price for a complete overhaul, inside and out was so good, they decided to send another small bus that needs work.

Randy Barton had a set of plans for a large playground assembly that could be purchased for $3,300 or half that if they wanted to assemble it themselves. The playground plans were discussed at length. The board still felt that the fence needs to be built first and then the smaller equipment next, then the larger assembly last, all on the north playground only. The board is especially concerned about the safety of all the equipment.

The board gave Cummings permission to get bids on the fence material and get it here and installed before they go any farther with the playground equipment. They will need to see how much money is left after the fence is installed.

After a discussion about the water sprinkler system around the school, the board gave Barton and Cummings permission to check out more prices and then get it installed before the fence is installed.

Campbell asked about the progress of spending the grant money and how long they had to spend it, before they would know if they could get the second half of the grant. Cummings informed him and the board that they had one year and 90 days, and the housing money was included in the second part of her grant.

The board read letters of resignation from Ronald and Alyson Richards. They had accepted teaching positions at Wimberley, Texas. The board voted to accept these resignations.

Cummings reported that the Roaring Springs house repairs were nearly completed, by Jones Construction.

Cummings reminded the board that some new helmets for football would have to be purchased this year, with the new regulations they had to be certified.

The board went into executive session.

Praise the Lord; for the Lord is good; sing praises unto his name; for it is pleasant.

STAMPEDE Part I

It has been my good fortune never to be mixed up in any very serious stampedes. Sure, I have seen stampedes and they were all more or less dangerous. What I mean is, I was never in one when the cattle became absolutely crazed and uncontrollable.

I was with George Martin's herd, west of Guthrie, Texas. George Gilkerson was the trail boss. Martin had a fenced section about a day's travel north of his main pasture. There we spent the first night. In the corner of that section was a corral in which we penned a lot of weaner yearlings. The herd was turned loose in a small well-fenced trap containing possibly a hundred acres and a big tank of water extended up into that small pasture. The wagon was camped just over the fence, but near the corral and the tank.

No guard was being stood, but the boys had their horses saddled nearby. Those yearling weaners were milling and bawling. Most of the boys had gone to bed and were possibly asleep, myself included, a few still sat by the fire spinning windies, as all cow camps do, when the main herd across the tank from the wagon stampeded, ran around the tank and came charging down toward the wagon. Those boys around the fire heard the run and had time to get on their horses before the cattle reached the fence near the camp.

Being asleep, by the time I came to life, the air was filled with dust; I could hear the cattle, hear the boys that were on their horses singing to them as they tried to turn them away from the fence and camp. I couldn't see a thing for the dust; couldn't even be sure which way the wagon stood from my bed, but I made a run for it and came very near killing myself when I ran into it about the time I hit the wagon, the boys succeeded in turning the lead cattle and they burst that tank of water, swam it and went back where they came from and became quiet again.

Next morning, we found a few cattle that had been ditched and couldn't get up without help, even to four year old steers. Those that never went through such experience can't realize how scared and excited a fellow can become, aroused from his slumber, knowing the danger of his surroundings, yet not able to see a thing for the dust. A fellow that can be calm under such conditions; well, he has me skinned a city block.

In most stampedes, all cattle run. Still, there are exceptions even to that general rule. Once upon a time the Spur started twenty-five hundred heifer yearlings north. They spent the night in a few miles of my camp. For the sake of company and a square meal, I rode out to their wagon for supper. They were a little short handed, so I told them if they had a good night horse to let me ride, I would help out on guard. The horse was furnished and John O. Wilkinson, the boss, took me on first guard with himself.

We rode separately passing each other as we went around. The heifers were quiet and giving no trouble. The bed ground was in a little scattering shiner with more or less sage bunch-grass that made the footing a little rough and uneven, causing the horse that I rode to tip his toe occasionally.

In time, he came near falling down and popped his front feet on the ground as he recovered, making an awful racket and away the cattle went.

Ran, of course, away from the noise, so out by John O. Wilkinson. I dashed around and we got them stopped in two or three hundred yards and decided it would be best to bed them down there and not try to move them back where they had become startled. We both just assumed we had the whole herd, so when we went off-guard, the second guard was told that they had stampeded and where they could be found. Later, they heard cattle bawl back on the first bed ground. There they found four or five hundred heifers that had never run, just lying there on the bed ground. That, I think, was rare and especially for young heifers. Old cows that were experienced in the ways of life might have lain still, while the balance buzzed away.

Part II next week

Remember When

By Annie B. Cloyd
Box 22
Flomot, TX 79234

Hello nice folks...isn't the weather great? The farmers can get their seed planted while the sun shines and then we will all be hoping for a rain along about August. It happens that way most of the time. How many times have we seen the crops needing rain in the hot month of August and we didn't get any? But - somehow, with the help of the good Lord, we got by and hoped for "next year". We had lots of trouble but I wouldn't take anything for those years. They tested our faith and we kept our trust that the Lord would help us if we tried to help ourselves. And it works...makes me think of a sign that I saw in front of a church that said, "When you pray - don't start giving orders - just report for duty."

Something else that tries your faith is when all these new-fangled appliances that we have now start going haywire. It's bad to go to take your clothes out of the washer and put them in the dryer and find that the spin-cycle isn't working and the washer is still filled with water and you have to wring out all those clothes "by hand" like we used to do. Isn't that something? Mine did it today.

Remember how we had to fire up the old iron wash-pot and keep a good fire going so we could boil the clothes? The sheets were sure hard to wring out but we made it somehow. That good old lye-soap got things nice and clean, the white clothes were really "white". Didn't they smell good after hanging in the sunshine all day! We sure have gotten "soft" these days now that we have all these nice appliances to help us. Wouldn't think of rubbing on a rub-board!

Back then not any of that wash water was wasted - the soapy water was used to scrub the floor and the first rinse water was used to rinse the floor. Now that last rinse water was used for taking baths...if you left it out in the summer sun - then it was plenty warm enough to bathe in. I remember doing that lots of times.

Well, Homecoming is almost here for Flomot and I know there is going to be a lot of "remembering when" at that time. But isn't it fun to get together and talk about old times and the things that happened way "back then." They always do a lot of singing and the songs are all the old ones that everyone liked to hear. Even if you can't sing, it's good to just sit and just visit and listen to the singing. Brings back lots of memories of old school days.

Have to stop so we'll remember when again soon.

Earlyne.....keep up the nice stories about Flomot....they are good!

Letters From Flomot Ex-Residents

5009 Arden Road
Amarillo, Texas 79110
May 26, 1987

Dear Friends of the years 1938 through 1941 and all the offsprings of the kids we mingled with almost a half-century ago---

Time rolls on and 'Old George' and Evlyne can show you a few gray hairs and several wrinkles that have come to live with us since the days Flomot competed with any and all rivals.

Thinking back before World War II- the good and stupid times we had playing the crazy game called football; the boxing tournaments which were some of the best in the state; the days spent in shop whacking lumber and a few fingers. Oh, there was the thump, thump game called basketball - both guys and gals. We won our share even though Northfield did outscore us in a tournament. There were senior trips to Galveston and sticking our toes in the Gulf and the beach sand, eating flounder and shrimp. You should see some of those pictures showing what you looked like then - now look what a mess you are in. Time and the west and north winds do leave their marks. That's ok, growing more mature together and dreaming. During those school days you had only a dime and didn't need any more. Now look at us! We spend a dollar every minute.

We are still plodding along and acting our age most of the time. Old George collects hand tools (some of you remember those nuckle busters), antique barbed wire, exotic wood samples and railroad date nails. Evlyne collects broches and old thimbles. We attend several shows each year, show our goodies and bring home the awards.

We will not make Homecoming this time -- perhaps in 1990 if you have a ramp for our wheelchairs. That doesn't sound good, but, who knows what tomorrow will bring?

Hang in there! Have faith, much patience and go to church each Sunday.

Have fun and enjoy it all. To all you pot-bellied fellows and you mature, lovely ladies we once knew: take care of your grandkids and may they and all the great-grandkids also have good days to remember and will believe the stories you tell them about Flomot's 'glory days'.

Best regards and blessings on all.

Old Coach George Caviness and his helpmate, Evlyne

P.S. Here is a check for $15.00 to buy our cake for your guys and gals to eat.

Dear Flomot Friends,

I am always so glad to be remembered when you send out the invitations to the reunions. Several times I have thought I could make it and it looks now as if I will not be present this year.

I couldn't tell you what pleasant memories I have of Flomot and the people there. When I went there to teach in 1928 I was 19 and that was my first job. Once in awhile I try to recall all my students and it is surprising how many faces come to mind. I love them all.

I keep in touch with Miss Marshall, Mrs. Spradling, who lives in Amarillo and with Miss Taylor who is in Lubbock, also with Mr. and Mrs. Howell also of Amarillo.

Most of my married life has been spent in Dallas. I have four children and lots and lots of grandchildren. I lost my husband in 1984 and have lived alone since in our home.

I send my sincerest good wishes to everyone.

Much love to you all.

Ruby Deaton Hankins
2831 Woodmere Dr.
Dallas, TX 75233

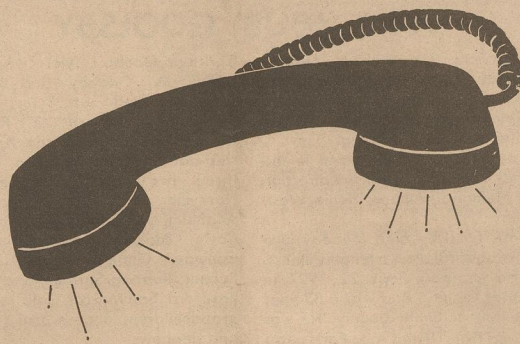

Dear Bernice;

It was good to receive your announcement of the forthcoming Homecoming. It has been a long time since I have attended one of the meetings, but I do plan to be there this year. I am enclosing ten dollars to help with some of the start-up cost.

Will you send an announcement to Elmer Amick, 905 West I Street, Ontario, California 91764.

Looking forward to seeing you and many others of years gone by.

Sincerely,
Roy W. Amick
