What a change of weather for the Motley County Livestock Show this year, it's the first time ever 1 remember a snow storm for the Stock Show, but I do remember alot of sand stormy days and blistered noses.

One young lady said her calf had stepped on her foot that morning. How well I remember that happening to me one year, I know even with all the bruises and the mess that goes along with working the animals, it is also fun and rewarding. One mother stated she had enjoyed every minute of helping her son and had such memories. One grandmother had flown to California and nearly couldn't get a flight back in time to see her granddaughter show her granddaughters happiness made it worth it all. One young lady said her calf had

The Roaring Springs City Council met March 3 at City Hall with Mayor Eugene Watson presiding. Present were Councilmen Gene Brannon, Roy Hernandez and Jean Adams with city secretary Odessa Mullins taking minutes.

GTE representatives Joe Vandiver and Jim Boseman expressed their need to find property to relocate the GTE tower. They stated they had found suitable property near the T.V. tower that they will be looking into purchasing. Vandiver also invited comments from the council relating to telephone problems. Secretary Mullins read the past council minutes which the council made two corrections and then approved them.

Applications for the city secretary position were reviewed by the council. The council decided to call applicants in for an interview. A lease for the 4-H Club to use the High School building was presented to the council for review.

the 3/029.86 bank note had been paid off. Secretary Mullins stated that the city owed $483.43 to the law firm collecting on delinquent taxes. The council voted to pay this balance. Mention was made of a business interested in relocating in Rooring Springs and was looking at the grade school building. The council discussed a loan made to city waterman David Saenz of $725 to attend an electrical school. This loan is to be repaid at $30/month and to be withheld from his check. Saenz had asked the council to reimburse him for a $75 past due plumbing fee he had done on his own time. The council voted to pay this. Shop At Home...

SCHOOL BOARD CANDIDATES SHARE CONCERN FOR EDUCATIONAL WELFARE

Voters will be selecting two members for the Motley County Board of Trustees at the polls Saturday, April 4. Persons whose board terms expire this year are Roy G. Hobbs and Dan Brandon. These places are for three years each. Brief information about the ten candidates are being printed as follows.

ALVIN ALEXANDER, age 42, of Matador since the fall of 1986, is employed as Riffe Petroleum Company Sales Engineer. He is married to the former Seven Smith and they have two sons, David and Daniel. Alvin graduated from Benjamin High School and a University of Texas of El Paso Engineer graduate. No comment as to why he is running for school board was available.

COY FRANKS, age 38, grew up in Flomat and graduated from Flomat High School and attended Texas Tech University. He is engaged in farming in the Flomat area. He and his wife Connie have three children, Cory, Cary and Cara. A statement was unavailable.

BARBARA BIRD JAMESON, age 42, was born and raised in Matador and graduated from Matador High School in 1963. She has attended South Plains College and is the Publisher/Editor of the Motley County Tribune. She has one son, Jason Kane Jameson age 15. Mrs. Jameson comments, "I desire to see our children provided with the best advertise particular

HAL RAY MARTIN, age 32, was born and raised in Matador and graduated from Matador High School in 1973. He has been a Motley County Farmer for the past 14 years. He and his wife Kellie have one son, Ryan, age 7. Mr. Martin comments, "I feel the need to get involved in the education and welfare of our children."

JAMES PALMER, age 35, was born and raised in Roaring Springs and Motley County and graduated from Roaring Springs High School and attended Texas Tech University. He is employed as a Ranch Manager for the Matador Cattle Company. He and his wife Patricia have two children, Tricia age 16 and Joshua age 10. Mr. Palmer comments, "Interest and concern for our educational system has prompted me to run for this position. I feel we should all be more involved in the growth of our future, 'our children'."

JOHNNY O. SCOTT, age 37, was born in Lubbock and grew up in Seminole and graduated from Seminole High School. He attended South Plains Jr. College. He is a Motley County Farmer. He and his wife Debra have two sons, Jody age 10 and Scotty age 8. Mr. Scott comments, "I have decided to run for school board because I wanted to have an active part in the decision of the quality of my son's education."

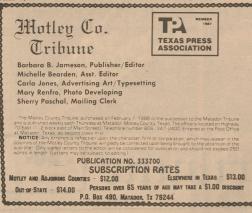

JAMES M. (CHIP) SMITH, age 39, was born in Odessa and graduated from Matador High School. He attended North Texas University with a BBA in Marketing and Computer Information. Federal officials have recommended that persons who received transfused blood in high-risk areas of the country between 1977 and early 1985 be tested for AIDS to prevent further spread of the deadly disease. According to Donno Snow, nurse epidemiologist at Methodist Haspital, the test is performed by taking a blood sample. The person's blood serum is then tested for antibodies to the HILV-III virus that causes AIDS. A positive result, she says, does not mean that a person has AIDS but has been exposed to the virus and developed antibodies to it. "No one knows yet what percentage of AIDS," she said. "We haven't been able to follow the disease long enough to know." Methodist Hospital performs AIDS testing with a physician's order. Lubbock's City Health Department also conducts the testing if a person is considered to be in a high-risk category. Test results are kept strictly confidential, and results must be obtained in person.

FIBERS FOR SPORTS CLOTHING

Whether your sport is tennis, jogging, bicycling or even walking, comfortable clothes are a must. When your clothes feel good, and don't bind, scratch or become soggy with perspiration you're more likely to keep up with an eventie program more likely to keep up with an exercise program. As you shop for actionwear, check the labels for the fiber used. Different fibers have qualities which make them more suitable for some activities than others. Cotton feels comfortable against the skin on hot, humid summer days but when wet, it may sag out of shape. Wool is prized for its ability to feel dry when wet, not retain body adors and adapt to a variety of weather conditions. The best wools are especially treated to be machine washable and dryable. Acrylic imitates wool in feel but does not absorb moisture. It is quick-drying and light in weight. Nylon is extremely strong and quick-drying. Thin, sleek "second kin" actionwear is usually made of yolon and spandex to give extra stretchines. Polyere is strong, durable and resilient and has properties that are similar to those of nylon. Polypropylene is soft, smooth and moisture away from the skin surface. It is quick-drying but very senative to heat - it cannot be machine dried or ironed.

machine dried or ironed. You are the only one who can choose the best fabric for your needs. If you exercise hard, especially in summer, and feel very warm while doing it, look for a thin, open-weave, lightweight fabric. If your exercise is more leisurely, takes place at dawn or dusk and you often feel fairly cool, look for thicker, spongier fabrics which add warming air spaces in your clothing.

GEORGE MILLER

Part II

For some reason, Oklahoma didn't want George Miller after all, for he was turned over to Texas, tried and convicted in Haskell County for handling a "Hot bunch of horses," but evidently convicted more on general principles than on testimony, for he was given a short sentence, served his time and came back to his old stamping-ground to live for a number of years and went by the non-de-plume of "Hooky Miller," because he had a device We for a number of years and went by the non-de-plume of "Hooky Miller," because he had a device fitted to his right wrist to hold either a case knife or a steel hook for handling things or hooking around his saddle-horn in mounting a and could harness or unharness as quickly as most any man that had two hands. He seemed a jolly fine fellow to be with or around, but in time disappeared. Years later, I asked a party that should have known, since he was distantly related by marriage, and was told he went back to Oklahoma and became a Prohibition Enforcement Officer, where he was killed making a raid on a still. Since then have seen mention of a Hooky Miller, whose end was a little more drastic and somewhat in line with his former exploits. I just don't know which version is correct. In reality, J most magnificent horse, I think I ever saw. George Miller seemed a freelance in crime. He had friends that sheltered and fed him, right under the officer's noses, but when he went out to operate, he seemed a lone wolf that made his own trail and left little scent. I think there are still a few people left in the country that George Miller dined with after he came out of the pen. I know one man that is left, that slept with George Miller one night while he was in the bush. Horses in those days were dirt

George Miller one night while he sus in the bush. Horse in those days were dirt cheap. Fifty dollars would buy the best horse in the country. The fellow that slept with George Miller tried to trade him out of that Red Sorrel willer said he had one hundred and fifty dollars that he would cheerfully pay for any horse that would match him in quality. George Miller's "Red Sorrel" horse became a sort of legionary animal, a "Trojan horse" that ato enot that saw him ever forgot. Around sunset the man rode in unsaddled his horse, turned him loose and walked into the camp and said that he was George Miller. George talked a little about nothing much in particular, then said, "Young fellow, you are welcome to stay if you care to do so, but I am expecting Norman Rogers (Kent County Sheriff) and his deputy Frank Johnson to come here tonight to arrest me, and if they come, it means trouble for someone. I just thought I would tell you, so you could go on, if you wished to avoid seeing what may take place." take place

Alto stayed, but said, "He felt rather restless over the situation, and didn't sleep very soundly." He said, "That all through the night, every once in a while, George Miller got up and went to the door and listened, and when everything seemed quiet along the 'Potomac,' he lay back down again. No one came, but Alto said, "Around daylight, that Red Sorrel horse came to camp for his breakfast of corn, and that he was unquestionably the grandest

West Texas Utilities Co. has filed request with the Public Utility ommission of Texas to lower the mount it charges its customers for relative the texas is the texas of Tuel. The petition, filed Wednesday, March 18, asks that the fixed fuel cost factors for the months of May through October be reduced by 35 percent M cost factors for the months of wdy 3 through October be reduced by 35 percent. The fixed factors are based on the expected cost of fuel as forecast at the time the factors are set, and specify the amount to be charged per kilowatt-hour for the power plant fuel and purchased energy used to supply the customer. Company officials listed three factors. One is the softer market for natural gas, which is the principal fuel at eight of WTU's generating stations. Related to this is the recent renegotiation of a contract with the Gompany's major supplier of natural gos. The third reason is the coal-fired generating unit, the Oklaunion Power Station near Venno.

Lem wasn't there to kill that and she didn't want it to get away and run loose in the house so she opened the drawer of the safe and got the ice-pick and punched it through the knot-hole – through the snake and into the wall. There the snake stayed - because she made surer the ice-pick was stuck into the wall real good. Anyway, it held till Lem got in and killed it. I didn't ask how her biscuits furned out but I think I would have moved somewhere else to finish them up wouldn't you?
