ISSUE No. 2

Barbara's Bylines

With Christmas behind us and 1987 in full swing, with all the new ideas of ways to put Motley County on the map, it certainly looks to be an interesting year. It would certainly be a plus for Motley County to have a big project like the "Texas Cowboy of Fame" here. This is certainly a promising permanent project.

So lets all join together and help make 1987 a little spot of heaven for Motley County, Texas.

Roaring Springs City Council Attends To Regular Business

The Roaring Springs City Council met Jan. 6, 1987 with Mayor Eugene Watson presiding. Present were Councilmen Jean Adams, Gene Brannon, Ronnie Thacker and Roy Hernandez. Absent: Vincente Saenz.

Past minutes were read and approved.

Vicky Pierce met with the city council on the behalf of the Roaring Springs 4-H Club. Pierce reported that she and a city official inspected the old R.S. High School and found structural problems with the roof and was meeting with the council to determine if they were willing to make repairs prior to the 4-H Club assuming responsibility in renovating the building. The councilmen discussed getting N-Systems of Spur to estimate the cost of repairing the damage and was receptive to making the repairs needed. The Council also made a commitment to establish a lease agreement between the Council and the 4-H Club for the use of the High School Building.

Councilman Adams brought up the question of a previously tapped injection-mold plastics company in Colorado who the city had contacted in effort to get them to locate a branch of their company in Roaring Springs. Councilman Thacker responded that she had contacted the company but had not ever received a subsequent reply. Thacker agreed to re-contact the company for a concrete answer. Thacker went over a Flood Control Report that is required by the Texas Water Commission in order to receive assistance with flooding in the city. Brannon and Adams agreed to fill out this report.

Thacker explained a notice from SPAG describing financing via South Plains Housing Finance Corporation for multi-family housing projects. This is specifically aimed at speculative building by contractors, according Thacker.

The Bureau of Census has asked the city to appoint a Program Liaison between the city and the Bureau of Census to facilitate an accurate 1990 census. Adams nominated Charlie Long to serve as Program Liaison and Hernandez seconded it, contingent to Long's acceptance. Thacker agreed to do part of the Texas Municipal League Survey.

Councilmen instructed secretary Mullins to ask Charlie Long to complete W-4 forms for the city.

The city had $3458.76 worth of bills in December. The city had $3563.53 deposited. The General Account has $878.

Motley County Declared Eligible for Disaster

The Motley County ASCS Office has been notified that Motley County has been approved for FmHA Emergency Loans for losses caused by drought, excessive heat, floods, hail, or excessive moisture. Since Motley County has been approved for FmHA Emergency Loans, this also makes Motley County Eligible for the Disaster Payment Program.

Eligibility for this program applies to any program crops of cotton, sorghum, corn, and wheat that is participating in the program and for which your 1986 actual yield is less than 50% of your ASC program yield, then you are eligible. Peanuts are eligible if you produced less than 50% of your farm yield. Non-Program crops will be eligible if the producer suffers more than a 50% loss of production and the income received does not exceed the normal income based on 50% of production sold at the established payment rate for the crop. Program crops qualify on a per farm basis and nonprogram crops qualify on a per county basis. Producers who feel that they are eligible for the 1986 Disaster Payment Program need to come to this office and file an application for disaster payment, bring in production for the affected crop, file a certification of 1986 crop insurance, and file an application for disaster payment as quickly as possible. We will begin taking applications for Disaster Payments on January 12, 1987, through January 30, 1987. All operators must make application for the disaster program between these dates. Each person sharing in the payments on a farm must sign the application for disaster payment and return it to this office by no later than Jan. 30, 1987, or that producer will be ineligible for any disaster benefits. If you do not have an ASCS Power of Attorney for your owners, we highly recommend that you come in the week of January 12, 1987, so that you can mail the application for signatures or take and get it signed. Remember that January 30, 1987, is the last day to make application!!

The Matador Lions met in the United Methodist Fellowship Hall for a delicious lunch prepared by Lion Walter Jones, Jan. 6. Attending were five guests: Tex Selwidge, Oran Hamilton, Randall Eddleman, Don Ewing, Barbara Jameson with 22 Lions.

A report was made on the new Bulletin Board sign to be placed in front of the Bandstand on the Courthouse lawn. This sign will be for the benefit of the whole community and will be a community project. This sign will be of much better quality and easier to change the letters than the old one. The price for the new sign will be $2000. The Lions plan projects to raise the additional money needed by having a Lions Show, and a Pancake Supper in the future.

The Christmas lighting contest winners were announced for the business were 1st place: Matador V & S Variety, 2nd Stanley Pharmacy, 3rd Pennie's Country Bouquet. House winners were 1st: Raymond Taylor, 2nd Donnie Jackson, 3rd Etoile Stanley.

Lion Larry Hoyle introduced the program which was the Head Basketball Coach for the boys, Randall Eddleman, and Head Basketball Coach for the girls, Don Ewing. They gave a report on the beginning of this season. Coach Eddleman reported his boys were off to a good start with 16 games with 11-5 and looked like a good season ahead even though Motley County is in a new district this year with only Paducah, Patton Springs, and Guthrie in it. Coach Ewing said his lady Mats had a excellent chance of winning District this year, even though this was a rebuilding year. These girls had a good attitude, and were aggressive and dedicated.

Coach Eddleman stated how proud the staff and the players are of the beautiful new gym and thanked the School Board as well as the community for the good job done in the building of the new school.

Limousin Breed Establishes International Committee For The Promotion of Lean Beef

In Limoges, France, at the 100th year celebration of Limousin Herd Book Registrations, International President Louis de Neuville appointed a committee for the promotion of Lean Beef around the world. Their primary goal is to promote good health through lean beef consumption.

The following members will be serving and compiling data to be presented at the next international congress in Australia in 1988.

INTERNATIONAL CHAIRMAN - Jan Hamilton, Clinical Dietitian, Plainview, Texas.

VICE-CHAIRMAN - Dr. John Stubee, Cardiologist, Australia. CO-CHAIRMAN IN RESEARCH Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Cliff, Breeders, England.

Roger and Jo James, Breeders, Past Int'l President & Secretary, New Zealand.

James Maxwell, New International Limousin President, Australia.

Michael White, New International Secretary, Australia, Promoter.

Luiz Menghel Neto, Breeder, Brazil.

Dr. Gabor Keleremo, Veterinarian, Hungary.

Helen Rasmussen, Commercial Cattle, Denmark.

Oliver W. Campbell, Secretary Limousin Association, Northern Ireland.

Jean-Paul Laudie, Restaurant Owner, Canada.

Dr. C.M. Steenber, Physician, South Africa.

Dr. Luis F. de Santa Coloma, Director of Limousin Breed for South America, Argentina, Professor.

The first event will be in Denver, January 16, 1987 at 7:30 a.m. at the National Western Livestock Show. A panel of breeders, doctors, dietitians and packers will present a discussion "Lean Beef in the Market Place and Its Effect on the Health of Consumers". A Lean Beef Promotion giving Denver office workers tastes of Lean Beef will be conducted in the down town area during the National Western Stock Show, along with informative brochures of the calorie and cholesterol content of lean beef.

In recent years, America's "King of Meats" has been taking a beating. For reasons not understood by cattlemen, beef has become the whipping boy for food faddists, diet book authors, and even some scientists and nutritionists. Lean beef consumption per capita has dropped 40% to 60% in both Australia and the U.S.A. since the early 70's. The Meat Board in Chicago facts support that 3 oz. of cooked lean beef contains 73 milligrams of cholesterol. By comparison, the same amount of roast chicken contains 76 mg., fried chicken 74 mg., pork 77 mg., shrimp 130 mg. The human body needs cholesterol -- some 1,000 milligrams a day -- and the body will normally manufacture the difference between the amount consumed and the amount it requires. The standard 3 ounce serving of beef provides only about 8% of the cholesterol the body needs.

Beef is not high in calories. A three ounce serving of lean beef contains 169 calories. Three ounces of baked chicken without skin contains 174 calories, while the same amount of fried chicken contains 209 calories. Actually, beef is ideal for modern, low-calorie diets because today's leaner cattle provide beef that is on the average 10% lower in calories than it was in years past. The American Heart Association is recommending lean beef on its healthy heart diet. Consumers who want to cut down on calories, and fat, and cholesterol can do so without cutting down on the amount of beef they consume.

Mrs. Hamilton, newly elected chairman of the International Lean Beef Promotion Committee invites all interested individuals and organizations to join forces in providing consumers with the facts about lean beef. She may be reached by writing:

Jan Hamilton, Clinical Dietitian, Medical Center Clinic, 2222 24th Street, Plainview, Texas 79072, Phone (806) 293-5167.

The Red Meat story needs to be told. Beef is the king of meats and we accept the challenge to return it to the throne.

IT'S A SMALL WORLD.....AFTER ALL!!

When one lives in a small community, it is easy to think it is a "small world". We can feel isolated and a long way off from everyone and everything.

But it isn't a so "small world...after all!!" I spent the Christmas holidays in Andrews. While there I discovered my daughter's neighbor is the son of an acquaintance from Coleman where I used to live.

While in Andrews, Melissa and Stanley Martin, formerly of Matador and now living in Andrews, called my daughter to say "Merry Christmas".

Another neighbor of my daughter is the son of a former Baptist pastor in Matador.

We spent the day in Odessa on Friday after Christmas. While eating at BURGER KING Laurie Hoyle walked in with her aunt and uncle. Donna and Tonya were shopping. Larry had already started back to Matador.

On the way home Saturday we stopped at TARGET in Lubbock. While waiting in the check-out line, I talked to a young mother of twins who told me she was related to Sam Ross.

At Sunday School Gertrude Smith told me she had been in Odessa the same Friday I was there.

I read in the Lubbock paper about the death of a man in Snyder. Seems he was the brother of a good friend I had while living in Denton many years ago.

Even if your world seems small,
It is not that way at all.
No matter where you roam
You will meet some one from home.
It's not a small world...after all!!
It's limited only By Building A Wall!!!

Holiday Coffee's

LaVoe's Coffee

Saturday, December 13, the Thackers -- Lillian, daughter Joyce Smith and daughter-in-law, LaVoe had their annual Christmas coffee at LaVoe's home in Roaring Springs.

(Many years ago this affair started with Lillian Thacker having coffee in early December in her home, really for the golfers. Gradually the group was extended and others were included -- and it grew to such a crowd that all the Thackers helped host the affair and at LaVoe's each year).

Huge, gilded tumbleweeds, flanked by wooden deer, were in the corner of the front porch. This "touch of Texas" decor complemented the Texas Sesquicentennial theme this year.

The hostesses, attired in denim skirts and dresses, with red bandana Christmas corsages, greeted the guests as they arrived.

The refreshment table was covered with a red bandana cloth and centered with an early day kerosene lamp surrounded by greenery. The table was laden with appetizers, hors d'oeuvres, tid-bits and a vast assortment of cakes, cookies and candies. A serving table held urns of coffee and punch. All most tempting and tasty.

Hazel's Coffee

Continuing a tradition of a number of years, Hazel entertained with a morning coffee Tuesday, December 23, for golfers and friends.

Coffee and hot punch were served with an array of tasty holiday fare -- canapes, dips, hors d'oeuvres, cakes and other delicacies, at the dining table, which was centered with an arrangement of candles and greenery.

As in former years, the Christmas tree drew admiration from the guests, with many new decorations added to the older ones, including those from Peggy McCallie Dietz over the years. This year it was the babe in the manger, part of a nativity scene, which she designed and created. A tiny train running continuously on track was also a new ornament, as was a Hallmark ballerina. Topping the tree was the white angel which has held this position for over 40 years. A collection of angel figurines on the mantel and across the bookcase was another attraction. Fashioned of ceramic, and glass, and in various sizes, many of the angels were gifts from friends.

(Hazel's coffee reported by Lila).

"Son Beams"

By June Keltz

"The Kingdom of God is not meat or drink, but righteousness, peace and joy in the Holy Spirit" (Rom. 14:17) We have strange ideas about who is qualified for His Kingdom. Some say we must be educated to belong; that God can use only those whose grammar is perfect and whose speech is articulate. Moses used that excuse when God called him but God sent Aaron to speak for him. The educated Scribes and Pharisees couldn't understand the wisdom of the Disciples who hadn't attended college. They had only been taught by Jesus who had only been taught by the Holy spirit. Jesus in an impromptu prayer found in Matt. 11:25, 26 declared, "I praise Thee, (O Father, Lord of Heaven and earth, that Thou didst hide these things from the wise and intelligent and didst reveal them to babes. Yes, Father, for thus it was well-pleasing in thy sight."

Some believe we must dress well and smell good to be a member, but Jesus was first clothed in swaddling clothes. John the Baptist wore camel's hair and ate locusts which could not have given off a Giorgio fragrance. David raised the eyebrows of Saul's daughter when he stripped down to his ephod and danced before the Lord with all his might.

The self righteous believe God's Kingdom is composed of only the holy and sanctified like themselves. The Pharisee fasted twice a week and paid his tithes. He thanked God that he was not like other people who were swindlers, unjust, adulterers or like. The tax-gatherers with whom he was praying. The tax-gatherer called himself a sinner and asked for mercy. Jesus said the tax-gatherer went home justified rather than the other; "for everyone who exalts himself shall be humbled, but he who humbles himself shall be exalted. (Luke 8:11-14).

If it isn't meat, drink, intelligence, dress or man's righteousness, how then do we enter into His Kingdom? (John 3:3) "Jesus answered and said to him, "Truely, truely, I say to you, unless one is born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God." In Matt. 19:14 Jesus said, "Let the children alone and do not hinder them from coming to me; for the Kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these." John the Baptist said, "Repent, for the Kingdom of heaven is at hand."

So, the Kingdom of God belongs to those who repent, come as a little child and ask Jesus to be Lord of their lives. Only His blood and His righteousness qualifies us for His kingdom.

East Mound Cemetery Association Announces New Slate of Officers

Announcement of a new slate of officers for East Mound Cemetery Association is released, naming Johnny Jackson, president and Howard Trawek, vice president. Hazel Donovan was named secretary-treasurer.

The action was taken at a called meeting held at 4 p.m. Oct. 7, in the Commissioners Courtroom, with Sybil Barton presiding as chairman. Others present were Josephine Hamilton, Bill Whitaker and Gertrude Smith.

Evelyn and Johnny Jackson have been caretakers of East Mound Cemetery for a number of years and have kept the grounds in excellent condition, local residents have noted. Out of town visitors and former residents who have visited the cemetery have expressed appreciation for their efforts and have declared this cemetery above average in appearance when compared with others of similar size.

During a discussion regarding the use of remaining new land for graves, it was voted not to allow any monuments, shrubbery or curbs, but rather to keep the grounds as a perpetual care area with only ground markers at grave sites, making it more attractive and easier to maintain.

"The cemetery is maintained by donations from individuals, and all contributions are certainly appreciated," the officers declared.

Storage Building Donated To East Mound Cemetery

New at East Mound Cemetery is a storage building to house mowing equipment and tools, used in maintenance of the grounds.

Through Sybil and Wilson Barton, Eugenia and France Barton learned of the need for a storage building, and donated a small building for this purpose, which has been placed in the northeast corner of the old section of the cemetery.

Grant Carlson donated equipment and labor in placing the building on a concrete slab, with Wilson Barton's assistance. "The building is surely appreciated and was definitely needed," according to the cemetery association officers. "Thanks to the Bartons for donating it, and to all others who helped in any way to install it on the grounds."

Mrs. James Stephens
(nee Ruth Ellen Taylor)

Miss Ruthie Taylor and James Hollie Stephens were united in marriage Saturday, December 20th, 1986 in the First Baptist church of Canyon with Rev. Jim Hancock officiating the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A.F. Taylor of Canyon and Mr. and Mrs. H.A. Stephens of Matador.

Vows were exchanged before candlebras covered with greenery, holding ivory candles and accented with red bows. Red bows made from the material of the attendants dresses were used to mark the family pews.

Escorted down the aisle by her father the bride wore a formal length white taffeta and venise lace gown, with a high wedding band neckline trimmed with shiffle embroidery. The sleeves were of Victorian lace with long shirred cuffs of Venise Medallian lace. The fitted body of ruffled victorian lace had a dropped shoulder yoke of sheer English net with shiffle embroidery. The bodice had a basque waist line from which her full skirt of rows and rows of wedgewood lace ruffles cascaded into a cathedral train.

Held in place with a wide bandeau covered with victorian lace, her shirred veil fell to her fingertips. She carried a cascade of red roses interspersed with baby's breath. For something old, the bride carried a handkerchief belonging to the groom's great grandmother. Something new was her gown and accessories. Something borrowed was a diamond solitaire belonging to one of her bridesmaids. Something blue was her garter.

Matron of honor for the ceremony was Jeanette Dorman, sister of the bride. Brides matron was Jan Perrin, friend of the bride, and bridesmaid was Rhonda Stephens, sister of the groom. They wore teal length red taffeta dresses. They carried red silk roses and red silk roses adorned their hair.

Chad Stephens, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were David Moore, cousin of the groom, and Mike Rice. Craig Clifton and Allen Taylor, brother of the bride, served as candlelighters and ushers. They wore gray tuxedos with red accessories.

Guests were registered by Monica Hendrix.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Dartha Hargrow of Dumas and her son Allen Hargrow of Lubbock.

Grandparents attending were Mr. and Mrs. Foy Moore of Matador.

A reception was held immediately following in the fellowship hall of the church.

A white lace cloth covered the bride's table, with her bouquet as the centerpiece. A three tier wedding cake decorated with greenery and red roses, and topped with the traditional miniature bride and groom. Crystal appointments were used by Lauri Schwertner to serve guests and punch was poured by Jeanie Moore.

The groom's table was decorated with a white cloth, and a red candle surrounded by holly and with a red bow, as the centerpiece. A german chocolate cake was served at the table. The cake was topped with a judge and fisherman, and James' and Ruthie's name. Coffee was poured from a silver service by Kimberly Moore and cake was cut by Jeanette Clemons.

The couple is at home in Levelland. The groom is a Math Instructor at South Plains College. The bride is a student at Texas Tech.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Campbell

Harold was uneasy when he went to see Mr. Keltz. He was an amiable, jovial man but Harold had heard that he could be austere too. Mr. Ben was in the blacksmith shop with the forge going and pounding iron on the anvil, not the most inspirational setting, but Harold had to ask for Grace's hand in marriage, because Mr. Keltz would have to sign his permission at the County Clerk's office or no marriage license would be issued.

When Harold asked him what he thought about their getting married, he downed his head and started chewing his tobacco and spitting. Harold thought he was about to drown in tobacco juice. He finally looked at Harold with his big brown eyes brimming with tears and gave his permission. He hoped that was the right decision for Grace

General Telephone News Release

General Telephone customers with questions about charges shown on the AT&T-Communications portion of their General Telephone monthly statements will call a new toll-free number effective with their January bills.

Jerry West, Memphis operations manager for General Telephone, said the new AT&T number will be shown beginning in January at the top of the pages listing AT&T long-distance calls and services billed by General Telephone.

He added that customers with questions about calls or services shown on the General Telephone portion of their bills will continue to call the General Telephone number shown on the statement.

"The only change for customers will be that they call the AT&T number when they have questions concerning AT&T services," West said.

GTE personnel will be available to answer customer questions about non-AT&T long-distance charges appearing on the GTE bill.

General Telephone will continue to provide customer billing and collection services for AT&T's customers under a recently announced five-year agreement between GTE telephone operating company and AT&T. The only change will be that AT&T will answer customer questions about AT&T long-distance calls and services.

IT'S A FACT!

Doctors are no longer scratching their heads over what can be done about that age old problem—dandruff. Since most people suffer from it at one time or another, here's some good news that could help clear the air, or at least your shoulders.

How do you get dandruff? Is it contagious, or due to poor personal hygiene, or bad eating habits? The answer to all the above is no! But what does cause dandruff? Well, doctors aren't sure yet. Luckily for those who suffer from dandruff, however, doctors have learned how to control it.

Physicians and pharmacists most frequently recommend washing the hair once or twice a week with a product containing selenium sulfide, such as Selsun® Blue's new Extra Medicated Formula. Menthol, which is an extra ingredient in this shampoo, helps to relieve the annoying itching that often accompanies severe cases of dandruff.

The business of life is to go forward.

Many Factors Affect Early Cotton Growth

Proper early season development of the cotton seedling is crucial to a high yielding cotton crop.

Dr. James Supak, cotton agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of Lubbock, says it is difficult to identify the sole factor responsible for slow development but he suggests several to consider.

"Slow development of a cotton plant's root system can relate to weather patterns, disease development, soil compaction and seedling vigor."

Because of the short growing season in the Texas High Plains, growers have to plant relatively early.

"This often means growers have to plant in cool, damp soil," Dr. Supak explains. "Cool soil temperatures increase the chances of seedling disease as well as nematode problems. These problems develop in the seedling growth stage but their detrimental effects on crop development can last the entire growing season. While growers have no control over soil temperature and moisture, Dr. Supak says there are preventive measures available to growers.

"Growers can help enhance early root and seedling growth by selecting vigorous planting seed and properly treating it; using adequate fertilization; placing nitrogen fertilizer to avoid contact with the seed; controlling soil erosion; planting at a proper depth and choosing the best herbicide for individual needs," Dr. Supak advises.

Cotton varieties should be chosen on the basis of their potential yields, fiber quality characteristics, early maturity, and disease tolerances. Test and select the most vigorous planting seed for use in early plantings. Sufficient supplies of soil nutrients can also be very influential in early growth, notes Dr. Supak. "Low levels of fertilizer nutrients, especially phosphorous, can stunt root development and thus plant growth."

High wind velocity and blowing sand is a big problem for most High Plains growers. Where practical, Dr. Supak suggests offsetting the resulting soil erosion by rotating with high residue crops and maintaining the residues on the soil surface.

To ensure crop safety, Dr. Supak says herbicides should be applied at the recommended rate and incorporated properly.

Dr. Supak explains that farmers who see stunted growth during early development stages often blame it on herbicide use.

"Herbicide use is the common thread through all of the development factors so it often is unjustly blamed for stunted early season development."

When problems begin to appear, Dr. Supak concludes that growers need to evaluate an array of factors that influence early season plant growth and development.

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge; but fools despise wisdom and instruction.

Free Trees Given By Foundation

The National Arbor Day Foundation is giving ten free trees to people who become Foundation members during January, 1987.

The free trees are part of the Foundation's effort to promote tree planting throughout America.

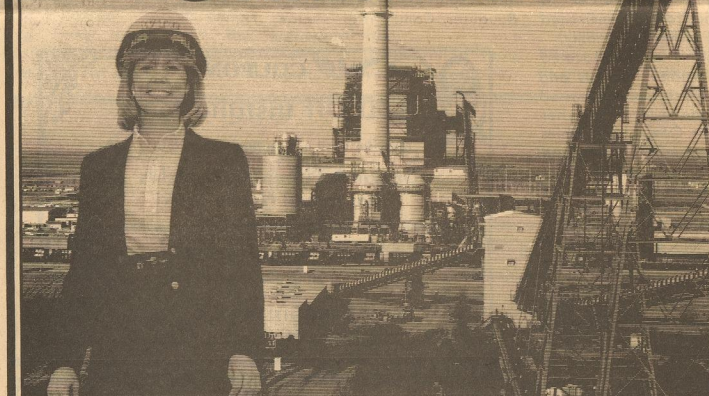

A Sugar Maple, White Flowering Dogwood, Pin Oak, White Pine, Red Maple, Birch, American Redbud, Silver Maple, Red Oak, and Colorado Blue Spruce tree will be given to members joining during January.

These trees were selected to provide benefits every season of the year: lovely spring flowers, cool summer shade, spectacular autumn colors, and winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds, according to the Foundation. The six to twelve inch trees will be shipped postage paid with enclosed planting instructions at the right time for planting this Spring. The Foundation makes its spring shipments between February 1 and May 31, depending on the local climate and this year's weather.

The National Arbor Day Foundation, a nonprofit organization, is working to improve the quality of life throughout the country by encouraging tree planting. The Foundation will give the ten free trees to members contributing $10 during January.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, a $10 membership contribution should be sent to TEN TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by January 31, 1987.

Our Declaration Of Independence

WTU's new Oklaunion Power Station is a coal-burner and it's our "Declaration of Independence!" We're no longer dependent on just one source of fuel for our power plants. Natural gas has always been our main boiler fuel, and right now it is plentiful and fairly priced again. But recent history has revealed uncertainties about the future supply and cost of natural gas.

Our new "fuel mix" of coal and natural gas means cheaper energy for all our customers in the long run. In the short run, more stable fuel costs will help offset higher base rates necessary to pay for the new power plant.

Coal Delivery at Oklaunion

We're happy the Oklaunion Power Station is coming on line! It will be good for our Company and good for our customers!

Social Security Tips

by Terry J. Clements

People planning to retire next year or in the near future should not wait until the last minute to get answers to the questions they may have about Social Security. This may lead to a delay in benefits or medicare coverage, or even the loss of benefits in some cases.

The people at any social security office can answer a person's questions about retirement benefits. In addition, a special leaflet entitled "Thinking about retiring?" is available for the person contemplating retirement. The leaflet gives answers to questions most frequently asked by people planning to retire.

Many people retire at the beginning of the year because it permits them to wrap up their affairs more conveniently. However, you may retire at any time during the year without affecting your right to benefits or the benefit amount.

Social Security generally suggests that people apply 2 or 3 months before the month they wish their social security checks to begin. This gives the office time to process the claim and take care of any problems that may crop up. You may apply by mail, by telephone, or in person. Once a person is interviewed by phone, the rest may be handled by mail. The best times to call the office to assure prompt service is during the latter part of the month, on Thursday or Friday, and in the afternoon.

A person applying for retirement benefits should have his or her social security card or a record of the number; an official record of birth or baptism recorded early in life or other evidence of birth; a copy of his or her W-2 form for the last year; or if self-employed, a copy of the self-employment tax return for the last year; or if self-employed, a copy of the self-employment tax return for the last year since recent reports may not yet be in the records.

If spouses and children are also eligible, evidence may also include a marriage license for a spouse and birth certificates of spouse and children.

If you have any questions you may contact us at 1401-B West 5th or call us at 293-9623. Appointments can also be arranged if desired.

FATE

Part I
There was a time in West Texas when emigrant roads were just about the scarcest article to be found in a day's travel, sometimes many days travel lay between them. Homes or ranch houses were just about as few and didn't necessarily exist along the overland route, followed by the few transient movers into or across the country.

One such road came out of the settlements via Jayton and extended to the northwest onto the Plains around Hale Center and Plainview and even more distant points. The distance from Jayton to Hale Center is something better than one hundred miles. Many years ago in all that extended distance, there was only one home that was adjacent or immediately on the roadside and no camps or ranch houses at all. If one knew the country by heart as the cowman knew it, stopping places were fairly well located for the convenience of travel.

In the late fall or early winter of 1891, a young fellow that had drifted onto the plains somewhere near Tulia, Texas, saddled his horse and headed down that lonely emigrant route for the home he had left somewhere in the breaks country. Shortly before he reached the breaks country, he was overtaken by a dreadful blizzard and snowstorm. The ground soon became covered with snow and the bitter gale whipped it into huge drifts that became almost impassable and all but blotted the road from view, still, that fellow rode on with the gale. There seemed nothing else to do, as no houses were along his way. He succeeded in reaching the Caprock before nightfall overtook him and then he became surrounded with the gloom of desolation and lost his way. It mattered little so far as he was concerned.

In time his horse became fagged and exhausted and finding a sort of sheltered place, the rider staked his horse with his rope and drifted on afoot with the gale to his back, not with any real hope of finding shelter, but walked in an effort to keep from freezing. He had reached the fenced, but otherwise almost illimitable Spur range, where seldom a settler could find for himself a place to call home. Whether destiny directed his footsteps, I cannot say, but after walking ten or twelve miles in that feathery fleece of snow in the wee hours of the night, he did walk upon one of the few dug-out homes to be found in that region.

The family named Wilson gave shelter to the poor guy and did what they could to ease and give comfort. A doctor was secured as quickly as the weather conditions would permit, but what was done (and everything possible was done) seemed of little avail. Sure his life was saved, though his feet and hands were so badly frozen they had to be amputated as quickly as he could be carried a hundred miles to a hospital in Abilene, Texas.

Whatever may have become of the unfortunate creature, I never could learn. After the storm blew itself out and the snow banks were melted away, the fellow's horse was found frozen to death and only three or four miles of the Spur Ranch headquarters, with all of their hospitality, warmth and comforts. Destiny does seem sort of freakish at times!

Part II to be continued next week.

Remember When

by Annie B. Cloyd

Box 22
Flomot, TX 79234

Hello Neighbors, and Happy New Year. I thought that this next writing was a good thing to remember all through the New Year. I have a friend who said she found this among some of her Uncle's papers. He was a Newspaper man years ago and wrote this for his readers. I saved it for a long time and now I think it will help us all to remember this.

"Find a man who hates everybody and harbors malice and is always looking for an opportunity to get revenge, and I will show you a man who is always sick and whose victuals won't digest and who gets absolutely no happiness out of life.

Love and happiness go together hand in hand. Hate and Misery are inseparable. To love thy neighbor as thy self is better medicine than any doctor can give."

I got a letter the other day from a Mrs. Billie R. Lowder Voris from Redwood City, CA. She told me that she reads my "Remember When" and likes to hear about old times here in Motley County. She used to live in Whiteflat. Lived there from 1928 to 1942, went to school in the old brick school when it still had twelve grades, and loved it very much.

She said they came back for a visit in 1950 and was shocked to see how the old place had "gone down" then. They came again in 1975 and she said when she walked in the old school building and saw how it was falling in, she just cried thinking about the old days when they went there to school.

She sent me some old time remedies that I will get in the next "Remember When".

Mrs. Voris asked me to say "Hello" to friends that might remember her. Also she remembers when Mattie Pool made the best chocolate pie in Whiteflat and that Bill and Georgia Smith made the best peach ice cream too.

We'll visit again soon and "Remember When" about old times and some of the things we did way back then.

Mother Gave Special Gift for Christmas

As a young child, I never tried to find my toys before Christmas. In fact, in retrospect, I know that I put forth a real effort to avoid finding them. So I was stunned the evening I saw my Mother open a tissue filled box. She had apparently pulled it from under her bed and was carefully checking its contents.

At the time, I didn't know I was receiving two special gifts. I instantly recognized one of them. The realization of the other came after many years.

Mother was always in a hurry, because she did many, many things besides making every stitch of clothing that we three girls wore. (Barbara, June and Peggy). At this Christmas time of 1940, she was especially busy, for she was in charge of the community Christmas tree program at our little town of Whiteflat. (Whiteflat is located between Turkey and Matador).

In later years, I heard her tell of checking and double checking her list to be absolutely sure that every child attending would receive a gift. She raised money from local businessmen in order to bring this about.

Mother has always had a compassion for people - especially children, and she was aware that there were parents who brought their children to the festivities even though they could afford nothing to put under the tree, Mother was put in charge, she vowed these children would all receive gifts, and they did. That, however, is another story. The one I want to tell is of finding my gifts.

I remember especially asking for a girl doll that Christmas, and I knew just the one I wanted. As I rushed into my parents' bedroom to tell Mother a last minute something before we were to leave for the party, I stopped short. Mother hadn't

Pyramids Cheat Unwary Investors

If you are looking for either a full or part-time job, but want the independence of being your own boss, you may be searching the classifieds in the area called "business opportunities."

While there are many worthwhile businesses recruiting salespeople and investors, there are also a number of scams operating here in Texas. One of the most complicated and deceptive is called the pyramid scheme.

THE PYRAMID SCAM

In order to avoid pyramid schemes, you need to know a few facts. The pyramid scheme derives its name from the structure of the organization: there are lots of people on the bottom, paying to a smaller group above them, who, in turn, pay a percentage of their earnings to an even smaller group above them in the pyramid.

For example: You are recruited as a "sales trainee" for which you pay $1,000. Five hundred dollars of your money goes to the promoter, who is at the top of the pyramid. The other five hundred dollars goes to a "sales manager," directly above you in the pyramid. If you later recruit another "sales trainee" - which you will have to do in order to get your money back - you will get half of what he pays and the other half will go to the promoter.

The essence of the scheme is to continue to recruit more and more suckers. The people on the bottom always lose. Why? Because in any given geographic area there are only a certain number of suckers with $1,000.

IT'S ILLEGAL

The pyramid scheme is illegal under the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices/Consumer Protection Act. Specifically, the law forbids the following: "selling or offering to sell, either directly or associated with the sale of goods or services, a right of participation in a multi-level distributorship. As used herein, multi-level distributorship means a sales plan for the distribution of goods or services in which promises of rebate or payment are made to individuals, conditioned upon those individuals recommending or securing additional individuals to assume positions in the sales operation, and where the rebate or payment is not exclusively conditioned on, or in relation to, proceeds from the retail sales of goods."

In other words, it is O.K. to recruit other salespersons; it is not legal to recruit them for a rebate. You, as a salesperson must derive your income from sales of goods or services, not from recruitment.

HELP FOR DIETERS

Counting calories may not be fun, but neither is wearing the same size dress as your Aunt Lillie, the relative the family always said would be pretty if only she'd lose a few pounds.

And dieting doesn't have to be all that bad. The secret is to look for ways to substitute low-calorie ingredients and foods for high-calorie ones. For example:

- Use buttermilk rather than mayonnaise in salad dressings. A half-cup of buttermilk has 60 calories while the same amount of mayonnaise has 80.
- Substitute neufchatel cheese for cream cheese in sauces and dips. One ounce of neufchatel has 69 calories compared to 100 calories for the same amount of cream cheese.
- Look for reduced-calorie foods where many of those ingredient substitutions already are made for you.

The last tip carries with it some caveats. Be sure to read the labels carefully. Although "reduced-calorie" always means a 33 percent reduction in calories, "lite" or "light" doesn't necessarily mean the product has a lot fewer calories. It may refer to the product's light color, texture, flavor or weight.

Look for products that are virtually like the products you would eat if you weren't on a diet. Take bread, for example. Choose full-size slices rather than thin slices that are lower in calories only because they're half as thick. There's no reason to feel deprived.

Check the ingredients on products to determine how the calories were reduced. Many reduced-calorie breads cut calories by replacing some of the flour with alpha cellulose from wood pulp. Wonder® Light, a new reduced-calorie bread, uses soy fiber, an ingredient from the heart of the soybean, to replace some of the flour and reduce calories.

Whether you're preparing diet foods from scratch or using prepared foods, don't deny yourself the things you really like. For example, sandwiches can be great diet fare.

PEPPER BEEF SANDWICH

4 ounces neufchatel cheese, softened
1 teaspoon horseradish
1/4 cup chopped red onion
8 slices Wonder® Light wheat bread, toasted
2 medium green peppers, each cut into 8 rings
1/2 pound (8 oz.) roast beef*, sliced

Combine cheese, horseradish and onion; spread on bread slices. Place 4 green pepper rings on 4 slices of bread. Top with roast beef and remaining bread slices. Makes 4 servings. * Substitute ham or turkey, if desired. Nutrient analysis will change.
