James Taylor and Bennie Keltz

The first bale of cotton ginned in Motley County this year was brought on Oct. 28 to West Texas Gin by James Taylor, announced West Texas Gin manager, Bennie Keltz. The cotton was grown east of Matador on the J.E. (Doc) Taylor farm. The bale was from three acres of a dry land farm. The seed was Lankart 571 planted May 20, 1986. The bale weighed 510 lbs. and 990 lbs. seed was weighed out. The cotton was ginned free, and a bonus was given for the seed.

Diversification Key to Survival

by Don Kendall
Plainview Daily Herald

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the most respected bastions of modern agriculture, the specialized farm operation, is being questioned by a government economist who says that maybe the old ways weren't so bad after all.

Michael Salassi of the Agriculture Department's Economic Research Service says it may be time for some farmers to "turn back the clock and reconsider the advantages of diversification" in their production.

"Producing three or four commodities in place of one or two will not guarantee a profit, but it is one method of reducing price risk in an uncertain economic environment," Salassi said in the agency's Farline magazine.

For many years, particularly during the expansion boom of the 1950s and 1960s, farmers were advised to "get bigger or get out" and to consider specialized production - a larger hog farrowing operation, for example, instead of a few soys, cows and chickens.

But today, following the financial crunch of the early '80s,

PARENTS NIGHT

All Football Players Parents are to be honored before the Nov. 7 (this Friday night) Football game. Please all parents be there by 7:15.

***** many farmers are turning to varied means of survival. A recent study by the Council of State Policy and Planning Agencies says there is a new entrepreneurial spirit entering American agriculture.

The study cited examples of farmers turning to direct selling of farm produce at roadside markets, pick-your-own operations and other ways of earning money. At least 20 states have initiated some sort of program involving direct marketing, agricultural promotion or market development, the study found.

Mixed-enterprise agriculture once was the norm for the traditional American family farm. But since World War II, the typical unit has been gradually transformed into specialized production, with most farm families buying eggs, milk and other groceries at supermarkets. Salassi said the relative security of rising government price supports helped turn the diversified Mid-western farms of the 1940s and '50s into the highly specialized corn-soybean operations of the 1970s and '80s.

Although many of these operations continue to thrive, others have found that specialized agriculture and today's economic uncertainties don't mix, he said. The increased variability in domestic and world prices, along with current policies to gradually reduce federal price supports, can expose producers to great financial risk.

"If properly planned, diversification can help stabilize farm income and reduce the danger that a period of low prices for one commodity will threaten the survival of the entire farm business," Salassi said.

In developing a diversification strategy, some common sense guidelines were recommended:

—Commodities having different price patterns should be selected. Two crops may be no better than one if prices of both plunge together.

—To the extent possible, new enterprises should complement existing farm enterprises. For example, select a new crop that can be produced with existing, easily borrowed, or inexpensively leased equipment

—Before abandoning commodities already produced locally, check the marketing outlets available and your own marketing skills.

Library Volunteers Needed

Have you been to the Library lately and found it closed? Annoying isn't it? The librarian is allowed only 20 hours per week that she gets paid for (although she frequently takes enough work home to equal that which she isn't paid for). Recently, the library has lost its Green Thumb Worker to retirement and is looking for applicants to fill that position. This paid position requires a person over 55 years of age and within a limited income bracket and willing to work 21 or more hours per week.

A volunteer program is being set up in an effort to keep the library open without any additional expense to the county. Two co-ordinators have been appointed for this effort: Joan Patton will coordinate for Matador volunteers and Frances Finch will serve as coordinator for Roaring Springs volunteers. Volunteers will work 3 hours every third week if enough volunteers are found to work. So if the four walls seem to close in on you at home, consider volunteering a little time at the library. The help is desperately needed.

TRIVIA

The state bird of Texas is the Mockingbird. A former Texas governor loved the pecan tree so much that he directed one to be planted by his grave and the nuts to be given to those who visited his grave so they could be planted throughout the state.

During the Parade of Tall Ships from around the world during Liberty Weekend, Texas was the only state with a Tall Ship. She was the "Elissa" from Galveston.

Texas was the only state to enter the union from a sovereign status.

Because the Alamo cannot be divided, Texas has never invoked her right to divide into 5 states.

Can you name the six flags that have flown over Texas and what years they flew? I can name the flags but not the years. Spain 1510-1821; France 1685-1690; Mexico 1821-1836; The Republic of Texas 1836-1845; The Confederacy 1861-1865 and the American Flag from 1865 until the present.

Then another bit of trivia that has nothing to do with Texas at all...in 1899 the eighth anniversary of the patent for the zipper was celebrated. So how come dresses still had plackets with snaps and men's pants still had buttons when I married in 1940????

"Son Beams"

By June Keltz

God certainly knew how to adorn our world when He created the butterfly, which is symbolic of new life. The Monarch butterfly is a thing of beauty with its orange-brown wings and black veins. We were blessed three weeks ago as these migratory insects made a rest stop on our yard on the way to their winter resort in Old Mexico. After a brief moment of "R & R", they rose up into the air and disappeared from sight.

As in life, some did not make their destination. Our grass was dotted with those who obviously became weary, gave up and chose death rather than continuing their struggle for life. How easy it would be to give up our new life in Christ and go back to the way of spiritual death, but what does it offer? Misery, heartache, bondage and destruction. No - we have begun a journey and we will finish it, so that when we stand before our Heavenly Father to give an account of our lives (and all will) He will say "Well done, thy good and faithful servant." (Matt. 25:21)

But what about the criticism and persecution that comes from man? What about the attacks from Satan himself? The writer of Hebrews gives us sound instructions in this area. "Fixing our eyes on Jesus, the author and perfecter of faith, who for the joy set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame, and has sat down at the right hand of the throne of God. For consider Him who has endured such hostility by sinners against Himself, so that you may not grow weary and lose heart." (Heb. 12: 2,3) James, also, addresses our problems when he says in James 1:12, "Blessed is a man who perseveres under trial; for once he has been approved, he will receive the crown of life, which the Lord has promised to those who love Him."

It doesn't take as much strength to stand when we lean on Jesus.

Social Security Tips

by Terry J. Clements

A firm calling itself "Social Security Monitoring Service", is advertising throughout the country offering to perform a service for a fee that Social Security provides at no cost whatsoever.

The advertising takes the form of card-inserts in magazines, inserts in bills or bank statements, cable television advertisements, and other forms of direct mail advertising.

The firm says that, for a fee of $5 a year, it will provide people with information from their Social Security earnings record.

People can get an earnings statement free of charge if they ask at any Social Security office for a "Request for Statement of Earnings" (Form SSA-7004PC), fill it out, and mail it. In a few weeks they will get a copy of their earnings recorded by Social Security. This firm can do no more.

The firm's advertising infers that Social Security keeps a record of the Social Security taxes paid. This is not so. The only record Social Security has is of earnings covered under Social Security that have been reported by employers and self-employed people.

The ad also indicates that only the person involved can correct any errors in his or her Social Security record. The person can, of course, take action to correct any error in his or her record. But, in addition, Social Security will correct the errors whenever they are brought to its attention.

Social Security does encourage people to check their records every 3 years or more often if they change jobs frequently. This way, any errors that occur can be corrected in a timely fashion.

People who would like to check their Social Security record or who have any questions about Social Security should contact any Social Security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest Social Security office can be found in the telephone directory.

"NATURAL" FOODS A MATTER OF DEFINITION

Consumer surveys show that people are attracted to -- and buy -- food products that are supposed to be "natural."

But the term "natural" on a food label can mean almost anything, because its use is not regulated by the Food and Drug Administration.

Here's an example of a food labeling term that is regulated. "Pasteurized" is the term which refers to the heat treatment that kills bacteria in foods. It's most often used for raw milk.

Because the Food and Drug Administration regulates the use of the term, consumers can be assured that all foods labeled "pasteurized" have gone through the same type of process.

By contrast, terms like "natural," along with "organic" and "health," also appear on food labels. But these terms are being used to promote the food rather than to describe its scientific properties.

Because these terms aren't regulated by the FDA, consumers have no way of knowing whether they accurately describe the product or not.

But many consumers believe that "natural" foods have more vitamins and minerals and less sodium, cholesterol, fat, white sugar and chemical additives than ordinary products.

That may or may not be true. And in some cases, the differences between "natural" and regular products may not be significant.

With some products, such as unsalted potato chips, there is an obvious difference between the food labeled natural and the regular product. And while the reduction in sodium is a plus, the natural potato chips have just as much fat and calories as standard chips.

But the difference between a preservative-free "natural" cookie, made with honey and conventional cookies made with white sugar is probably insignificant. Both the honey and sugar provide calories without nutrients, and there is not scientifically established benefit to preservative-free foods.

Before you select a product because it's advertised as "natural," compare the list of ingredients on the label to the list on a similar "regular" product. Then decide whether any differences are significant in terms of your overall diet.

November Is National Diabetes Month

In 1985, some 1,911 of the 426,000 Texans known to have diabetes died from the disease or its complications. To help prevent more deaths from diabetes this year, the Texas Department of Health (TDH) has urged the public to become more aware of the importance of proper health care for diabetics. The President has proclaimed November National Diabetes Month.

Although diabetes has no cure and is the third leading cause of death from chronic disease in the U.S. (after heart disease and cancer), the disease usually can be controlled. Diabetes is a group of disorders characterized by unusually high levels of sugar in the blood. Some diabetics require insulin injections to control their blood sugar levels, while others need oral medications. All diabetics must adhere to strict dietary and exercise routines.

Failure to properly manage the prescribed routine can lead to kidney failure, blindness, heart disease, amputations, other complications - even death.

Statistics show that, for reasons not fully understood, Mexican-Americans are more likely than any others in the U.S. to develop diabetes. Studies in Starr County, Laredo, and San Antonio indicate the occurrence of diabetes among Mexican-Americans 35 and older may be more than five times as likely as among the general population.

The average annual death rate in Texas from diabetes is 12.4 per 110,000 population, but among those deaths are: 17.6 per 100,000 Blacks, 12.6 per 100,000 Spanish surnamed, and 11.3 per 100,000 non-Spanish surnamed. Researchers are exploring differences in ethnic diets to find links to why some groups suffer higher mortality rates. It is established that persons with family histories of diabetes are "at risk" of developing the disease.

Mortality rates from diabetes in all ethnic groups increase dramatically among those 45 and older. But health officials are quick to state that diabetes is by no means a disease restricted to adults. Diabetes is second only to cancer among leading chronic illnesses of children under 16.

Dr. Robert Bernstein, Texas Commissioner of Health, said, "The cost of having diabetes is high. An insulin-dependent diabetic may incur medical expenses as high as $1,200 annually. If complications arise, the costs are much higher." Diabetics spend more than $200 million each year for medical care in Texas.

"Perhaps as important as the monetary cost to patients is the emotional toll the disease takes. The public needs to understand that under the best conditions, a diabetic patient is in some ways restricted to certain disciplines. The consequences of straying from those disciplines of diet, exercise, and medication are too great to risk. The patient's family and friends play an important role in providing support," Dr. Bernstein said.

"REASONS"

by Garry A. Martin

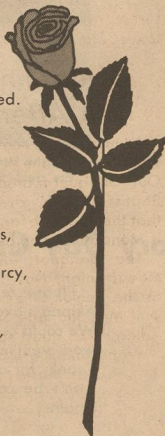

There's a reason for the SUNSHINE, and how it came to be.
There's a reason for the RAINBOW, that glows inside of me.
There's a reason for the MOONBEAMS, that shine from up above.
There's a reason for the BLESSINGS, that God gave us with Love.

God gave us the SUNSHINE, to grow the things we need.
It turns the darkness into light, and makes flowers from the seed.

He gave us a RAINBOW, with colors rich and pure.
To remind us of his power, and his word we can be sure.

His MOONBEAMS shine upon us, in a very special way.
They're reflections of God's mercy, as we kneel down to pray.

All these things are BLESSINGS, because he loves us so.
We only need believe in him, and be sure we let him know.

Harold Campbell provided many rides to visitors in his smooth riding buggy.

1986 History Day Crew Lauded With Thanks

A spirit of sharing and camaraderie combined with a touch of nostalgia from visitors and volunteers alike pervaded the 1986 version of History Day at the Ranch.

Coming from as far away as Idaho, California, Illinois, and Oregon (and one exchange student from Ecuador) well over 700 ranch guests praised the on-site history program which began as a sesquicentennial project for the General James Smith Chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas but became the baby of some eighty area contributors eager to share their knowledge, traditions, and heritage.

"I've been every year, but it just keeps getting better," a Motley County resident shared about the activities divulging the colorful history of the pioneers, Indians, Comancheros, and cavalry that once trod the foothills near Mott Line Camp.

A new group, Mackenzie's 4th Cavalry Memorial Regiment, joined their polished counterparts and, though finding some on-the-job training necessary, added color and excitement to the existing program. The history re-enactment regiment is recruiting members, offering an excellent opportunity for some of our local history enthusiasts and horsemen to share their sought-after knowledge and expertise. (For more details, write Larry Goldston, Box 64394, Lubbock, 79464.)

Clad in her prairie dress and bonnet, little Anna Oler who had lived and breathed the adventures of Little House on the Prairie since last year's visit to History Day, summed up the feelings of many. As darkness enveloped the chuckwagon where tired workers were enjoying a moment of rest and a bite to eat, the six-year-old peered from behind her mother's skirts with tears in her eyes, and said, "I don't want the day to end."

Please relay our thanks to all the "crew" who helped make our day a very memorable experience. We could certainly see that a tremendous amount of work went into making everything run very smoothly. Thanks for a very wonderful time. I am sorry that it won't be continued as I would return again and again.

Charlotte Thurman, Plainview Herald

The Ranch Tour last Saturday was a memorable occasion for our family. Thank you for allowing your land to be open to the public for such an interesting and educational program.

Billie Jordan, Floydada

We thoroughly enjoyed the entire day and I think it is extremely commendable that you and all the many other people who were involved were willing to the time and go to the trouble to make this so interesting, enjoyable, and memorable for the visitors.

Buddy Davidson, Midland

Just had to drop you a note and let you know how very much Raworth and I enjoyed History Day at the Ranch, even if we were late and missed the first part.

Barbara Tilson, Lubbock

We really enjoyed our day at the ranch. You must be especially glad to have so many people willing to help make such a happening. Thank you.

Harry and Velma Reeves, Tulia

I did have a lollapaloozy of an asthma attack from the weeds, which hit at 2 a.m. Sunday morning, but I enjoyed the quilting, the day and the people so very much that you can expect me next year if you have it!

Mary Nell Foster, Hart
General James Smith Chapter, DRT

This past Saturday, October 25th, my ten year old granddaughter and I attended History Day at Mott Camp. It was one of the best events we have ever attended and my granddaughter said it was as much fun as playing with her very best friend, Mandy!

With my late husband, Marshall Formby, I have attended many places of interest all over the world. Without reservation, I think you planned and executed History Day as well as anything I have ever attended. You covered all the bases, knew your history, and then made it so interesting and all the people participating knew what they were doing.

Please convey my best wishes to Mrs. Mollie Burleson and Mrs. S.C. Burleson and all the other ladies and gentlemen that helped make this History Day a great success.

Mrs. Marshall Formby, Plainview

MICROWAVE BASICS

Pass The Dessert

Americans today seem to be watching their waistslines. But glance in any supermarket grocery cart and you'll find cheesecakes, brownies and pies right next to the calorie controlled frozen meals. Pies are high on that list of dessert favorites and especially those that can be purchased ready-to-bake.

The Banquet Foods Test Kitchens have developed a microwave sauce recipe to top off a frozen prepared pumpkin or mincemeat pie. This creamy sauce with a hint of spice can be prepared in minutes while the pie is baking! Or bake the pie ahead of time and warm the pie and sauce in the microwave oven at serving time. Counting calories today doesn't mean passing on dessert.

Spiced Cream Cheese Sauce

- 1 package (8 oz.) soft cream cheese with pineapple
- 2 teaspoons honey
- 1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
- Dash nutmeg
- Dash ginger
- 1 package (20 oz.) Banquet Pumpkin or Mincemeat Pie, baked

In small microwave-safe bowl, combine cream cheese, honey, cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger. Heat, covered, on HIGH 1 to 1-1/2 minutes or until warm, stirring once. Serve sauce over warm pie. Makes 3/4 cup sauce.

Letter To The Editor

To the editor:

As a mother, I would like to express appreciation to some "unsung heroes" in Matador - all those families who so willingly open their homes to trick-or-treaters.

While some adults may enjoy preparing for these yearly visitors, most probably view the night as an obligation to stock up on "goodies" and brace themselves for the onslaught! Nevertheless, the children are always made to feel welcome.

In recent years most trick-or-treaters have learned to go only to houses with porch lights on. On any Halloween, children might find only dark houses. However, many families always turn on their lights and welcome these visitors.

I don't care for the "tricks" - ghosts, witches, pranksters, and dark origins - of Halloween, but the "treats" have been numerous for my girls for the past several years. For it is not the candy "treats" that really please them so much as the "treat" of knowing they are expected, prepared for, graciously welcomed, and made to feel special by so many good people on this fun night each year.

To all these people, I say, "Thank you!"

Recollections

by Duff Green

beyond question.

Don't jump to conclusions and think George hi-jacked anyone at the point of a gun. Rumor has it that his technique was far smoother, more diplomatic than such crude stuff. He was also a man clothed with finesse. Dressed not in cowboy garb, but neatly and nicely, he walked into the wholesale house and introduced himself as a future merchant in the market to select goods for his business.

In later years, I was riding and talking to my old boss-man Gene Mayfield, and happened to think and asked about George Mulkey. He told me he never knew where he went beyond St. Louis, where he met and touched some wholesale Dry Goods people, for enough money to disappear on, and that is what seems to have happened. He just disappeared, as though the earth had swallowed him up.

You may surmise all you wish, it can never prove anything. He was a real star among cowhands, though a rover and a drifter. That is the way he came in and the way he went out, leaving an indelible stamp and impression of George Mulkey and his ability.

I speak of him as George Mulkey, though his real name might have been anything under the sun. He might have been raised anywhere and under dissimilar environments. To watch him work, no one could doubt he had spent the greater part of his life among horses and cattle. Where he went, whether to South America, Mexico, Montana, or Canada is of little interest to the reader. One thing certain wherever he was, if they had horses and cattle to handle, he felt perfectly at home, and could make them a top hand

They were shown, selections made and ear-marked for shipment until late in the afternoon, and still the selecting went on apace, when he decided to finish his order the next morning. The banks had closed for the day when George casually looked at his watch and remarked he had meant to secure a little extra money with which to see the sights in the city that night.

The Wholesale Huse, having found him affable, congenial, and a future customer, willingly obliged and offered to advance such funds as his needs demanded. George thanked them and said he thought he could make it on a hundred dollars or so. Which was tendered and they parted, and it proved to be final.

Just vamoosed! That was the end.

Pointers For Parents

Parents Share Recipes With Kids

One way for busy parents to spend extra time with their children is to share an experience in the kitchen. Cooking is an activity kids really enjoy and it also provides many inherent learning opportunities, such as:

- developing organizational skills and following directions
- learning basic math and vocabulary
- distinguishing colors, shapes, textures and tastes
- developing coordination and small motor skills
- understanding basic nutrition

Here's a nutritious recipe the kids can help prepare (or make themselves), made delicious with new, naturally thick Golden Griddle syrup.

- Maple-Orange French Toast
- 3 eggs
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/4 cup Golden Griddle syrup
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 10 bread slices

In pie plate, beat eggs slightly, beat in milk, syrup, orange rind and cinnamon. Dip bread into egg mixture, coating both sides well. Grill on lightly greased pre-heated griddle until underside is golden brown; turn and brown other side. Serve with Golden Griddle syrup. Makes 5 servings.

Praise the Lord; for the Lord is good; sing praises unto his name; for it is pleasant.

Beginning May 1, 1988, the fine will be from $250 to $2,000 per illegal alien for a first violation, $2,000 to $5,000 for second offenses, and $3,000 to $10,000 per unauthorized alien for subsequent violations.

An employer who is deemed to have engaged in a pattern or practice of violations will be fined up to $3,000 per alien and jailed for not more than six months. INS can seek an injunction against employers if a pattern of employment, recruitment or referral of illegals is proved, and the employer would be found in contempt of court for future violations.

Specific documents are required by the act as proof of each worker's legality. The attorney general will supply a form, to be signed by employer and employee, attesting that employees are not illegal. This form, together with copies of required documents, must be kept available for INS inspection for three years.

Failure to maintain the form and documents leaves the employer subject to a $100 to $1,000 civil penalty per worker.

A U.S. passport, naturalization certificate or resident alien card with photograph are the only single documents acceptable as proof of status. Otherwise both a Social Security card or birth certificate and a driver's license with photograph are required.

Border Patrol officers and Department of Labor represen-

The Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 makes every U.S. employer, including cotton producers, ginners and others in agriculture, an involuntary, unpaid and in most cases unwilling agent of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS).

Beginning December 1, the legal status of every person employed in the U.S. will have to be established, not by INS, but by the employer on pain of severe fines and possible jail terms. Passage of the 1986 act marks the first time in history that employer sanctions have been imposed for the hiring of illegal aliens.

"It's a sad state of affairs," comments Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, "but for the time being at least it's something we have to live with and we'd best be aware of the law's provisions."

Fortunately, Johnson says, there is a grace period before full enforcement. For the first six months the Border Patrol arm of INS will suspend enforcement while forms, information and final regulations on the act's provisions are disseminated. During the next year, citations will be issued but no penalties imposed.

Booster Club News

by Noilene Bowden

Friday night Jan and I got into the car for a long ride to Chillicothe, we were talking about how much the fellows have done to become a football team. We both can see such growth. We arrived at the football field just in time to see our first touchdown. The ball was carried back and forth in the center of the field. You guys never giving up, just kept pushing them back the eagles lost yardage after yardage with penalties. They thought it was going to be easy, but you showed them!

In the 2nd quarter we knew something different was going to happen as the players lined up. Joe Bowden was placed at the end position, the whistle blew, the quarterback slipped back and pitched the ball. Everyone moved to a standing position, slowly the ball reached its height and began to descend. Joe, running down the field, arms out, hands open to receive the ball. Slowly the ball falls into his hands safe and sound as a baby in it's father arms. Joe was double-teamed by two Eagles, who pulled him down on our 6 yard line. What team work! What excitement! THAT'S THE WAY TO PLAY BALL. We all felt we had been to a football game. Play the same way this week against Paducah and we have a good chance to win.

Lets watch for some outstanding plays from David Trevino, Tim Kendall, Shane Pritchett, and Herbert Sims.

Jenifer Davis finished 2nd out of 7 runners in the District 4A Cross Country Meet. She will represent Motley County High School in Region 1 meet to be held in Lubbock on Nov. 8. We are all behind you Jenifer, keep up the good work.

The Motley County Athletic Booster Club met October 21,

Offensive Player Of the Week

RODNEY DORAN

Lead team in rushing, scored 2 touchdowns, threw 2 point PAT pass, kicked 1 point PAT

Defensive Player Of the Week

JEFFREY BURKES

12 Primary Tackles, 8 assists, 4 touchdown saving tackles.

The Motley County Matadors gave the Pep Club, Cheerleaders, and loyal fans, plenty to cheer about Friday night before losing to Chillicothe 30-15. The Motley County offense responded to an early Chillicothe score by marching down the field behind the strong running of Rodney Doran, Jeffrey Burkes, and Brandon Eddleman. The offensive live continued to show improvement as they blew huge holes in the Eagle defense all night long. The big play in the drive was a first down halfback option pass from Jeffrey Burkes to David Trevino for 30 yards. Rodney Doran capped the drive with a 2 yard plunge off right tackle. On the extra point, the Matadors appeared to be lined up to kick the tying 1 point conversion. However, the Motley County offense pulled off a slick fake extra point pass by having Gilbert Guerrero snap the football to the kicker, Rodney Doran, who then threw a pass to a wide open Brandon Eddleman in the end zone for an 8-7 lead.

The explosive running of Chillicothe's Michael McKnight soon had the Eagles back in front 14-8 before the Motley County offense went back to work. Using a strong inside running attack and another Burkes to Trevino halfback option pass, the Matadors soon tied the score on Rodney Doran's second touchdown run of the night. Rodney Doran then put the Matadors back in the lead with a successful extra point kick, 15-14. The Motley County offense almost chalked up another score before halftime when Brandon Eddleman hit Joe Bowden in a perfect 50 yard bomb that took the football down to the 3 yard line. Unfortunately, the Matadors were flagged for having an ineligible man downfield and the big play was, brought back.

In the second half, the offense continued to play ball control football and kept the football away from the explosive Chillicothe offense. The Motley County defense adjusted well after the first quarter explosion and kept McKnight from breaking another long touchdown run until the final five minutes of the game. McKnight, who is leading the state in rushing and scoring, broke off a 35 yard run for the winning touchdown with 5:33 left in the game. Motley County was still not finished, however, as the offense put in a drive of their own. Rodney Doran lead the attack, driving hard for extra yardage on each play. As the Matadors reached midfield, however, Doran was put out of action by a hit to the back of the neck. Motley County moved down to the Chillicothe 40 yard line before turning the football over to the Eagle defense.

Motley County will host Paducah in the final game of the season this Friday. Kickoff is scheduled for 7:30, with a special pre-game Parent's Recognition Ceremony set to begin at 7:15 p.m. All Motley County fans are invited to come out and support the team in their final game of the season against their old rival, the Paducah Dragons.

Jr. High Football News

By Coach Chip Hollenback

The Motley County Mavericks saw their record slip to 3-3 with a 30-8 loss to the Valley Junior High last Thursday. Several sixth graders saw their first real action of the season as several starters have been sidelined with academic ineligibility or injuries. Although the team did not play well in the first half of the game, the Mavericks returned to their old form in the second half with a grinding ball control attack. The Mavericks scored on a 1 yard run by Matt Washington on a quarterback sneak. The 2 point conversion was also scored by Matt Washington on the quarterback keep phase of the triple option.

The game went by very quickly as Valley played 6 minute quarters instead of the standard 8 minute quarters in junior high football. However, the Mavericks must learn how to win on the road as they are undefeated at home.

Defensively, the Mavericks did not play with their usual intensity and hard hitting. Matt Washington and David Alexander lead the team in tackles once again. Two sixth graders who have improved each week, Noel Guerrero and Bradley Jameson, started at the defensive end positions and played well. The experience that is being gained by all the sixth and seventh graders this year should benefit the Motley County teams of the future.

The Mavericks do have one more game this Thursday, as they host the Paducah Junior High at 6:00 p.m. Come out and support the Mavericks as they try to close out the season with an undefeated season at home.

Gerry Jones RNFP of the Motley County Clinic does 'foot care' on Wednesday afternoon, by appointment only.

"Will a man rob God? Yet you have robbed Me! But you say, 'In what way have we robbed You?' In tithes and offerings. You are cursed with a curse, For you have robbed Me, even this whole nation. Bring all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be food in My house, and prove Me now in this," Says the Lord of hosts, "I will not open for you the windows of heaven and pour out for you such blessing that there will not be room enough to receive it." Malachi 3: 8-10.

Your Success

HARD WORK?

Hoping you'll attain that elusive trait—success? Though many attributes can help make one successful, some are less obvious than the accumulation of money.

Some senior citizens are becoming more successful as a result of following the example of a man who did some amazing things after the age of 64. Colonel Sanders—Harland Sanders on his birth certificate—was the man who started Kentucky Fried Chicken. Part of his success stemmed from the fact that he wasn't afraid of hard work. Even as an octogenarian, the Colonel could put out more work and work more hours than people half his age.

Many people say they want to find the real meaning of life. Yet they may have no hobbies or particular interests. While hard work is one aspect of achieving a sense of accomplishment—some people's definition of success—there must also be some endeavor toward which you are striving.
