and your husband will eat almost anything. Don't despair when your pudding dessert sticks in your favorite orange juice glass and you break the glass while trying to unstuck it. Throw it away, but make it again. Serve it from a greased cake pan. If it sticks to ribs as it does to everything else, it must be good.

Some of those days your family won't eat anything, not even to be nice or save money. Final Cue: combine the entire menu, pour into one long casserole dish, wrap in aluminum foil, heat, and send it to your neighbor. He won't eat it either, but you won't have to worry about it.

CULLIN CASTLE
By Charlotte Cullin

Cullin Castle Culinary Cues are for people who continually have "one of those days". Those days are the ones when you forget to put coffee in your electric percolator, although you remembered to plug the thing in and even remembered to fill it with water. Your cue: instant coffee.

On those days, if you are a morning milk man, you will drop your last half gallon of milk on the kitchen floor just as you are about to sit down to a meal of raisin brand because you forgot to buy eggs.

First, the Castle Citchen Crew recommends some kitchen musts: a rag drawer filled with rags secured from husband's underwear drawer such as shorts, T-shirts, and socks with holes in toes and heels. (Some people mend holey socks, but when heel and toe are gone it is a sign that the husband needs a size larger sock because his foot is growing.)

Also to the list add paper sacks for economical wastebaskets, a metal tea canister for storing matches, and a box for trading stamp books, buttons, and broken things.

Chief Cue for "those days" is to eat out. Not out in the backyard, but clear out. Go to town. Eat someone else's mess. But if you feel like facing your kitchen further, face. When the devil's food cake looks like the devil, serve it. When it has a crack through the middle, call it something original like Cullin's Cavern and feed it to your children. If you don't have children you are probably still a newlywed

Uterine cancer is the second most common form of cancer in women. But the site is accessible for early detection and treatment, according to the American Cancer Society. A periodic pelvic checkup including a simple cell examination, guarantees a high rate of cure.

More than 40,000,000 Americans now living will develop cancer if present rates continue. The American Cancer Society says a regular health checkup offers the best protection against the disease today.

LUNG CANCER RISING
The shocking increase in lung cancer continues. The American Cancer Society states that 35,000 Americans will die of lung cancer this year and 30,000 of them will be men. The Society urges a yearly chest x-ray for all adults.

Church and Society

El Progreso Study Club Entertains For Husbands; Rev. Hawkins is Speaker

Members of El Progreso Study Club forgot about business and put "the man in my life" in the spotlight, Thursday night, Feb. 26. Occasion was "Husband's Night" which is an annual affair.

Club members and their husbands, and other guests gathered in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church where they were welcomed by the club president, Mrs. W. F. Jacobs. Rev. L. W. Tucker pronounced the invocation, after which all retired to the basement. There the women, remembering the old adage of "the best way to a man's heart," served a bountiful covered dish dinner, complete with all the trimmings. Second helpings were quite evident.

With Mrs. John Stevens as accompanist, Mrs. Lalar Wilkerson, chairman of the Music Committee, led a snappy sing-song which included patriotic numbers, old favorites, and one special parody entitled, "My hubby," as a compliment to the husbands.

Dale Dixon of Whiteflat, a student in Matador High School, gave two vocal solos, "I Believe" and "He" which were especially enjoyed. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wilkerson.

Messrs. W. F. McCaghen and Forrest Campbell, in proper attire and with instruments, in perfect harmony amused the crowd with their pantomime of a popular duo's rendition of "Mother." (Perhaps other pressing engagements prevent their giving an encore in response to the crowd's repeated cheers.)

Family Relations is Subject
Rev. Gene Hawkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church, demonstrated his ability as an after dinner speaker, beginning with anecdotes, small talk, and a few amusing personal references. On the serious side he spoke on "What makes a family tick."

HOME ECONOMIST SPEAKS TO STUDENTS OF M.H.S.

Miss Eudora Hawkins, Home Economist of West Texas Utilities from Abilene, gave a talk on Housepower for the high school student body, February 23.

Miss Hawkins gave advice on purchasing and using appliances, and she told how electricity has improved America's standard of living and what people should expect in the future for better living with electricity in their homes.

In concluding she showed slides on "Over the Horizon with Electricity" and a film on "Light." The film emphasized the importance of proper lighting for reading and working. This program was a public service offered by West Texas Utilities to schools and clubs.

JUNIOR NEWS

by Kay Raitan

The juniors have ordered information for their term themes, which will be on some type of occupation.

Everybody really had a good time during "Twirp Week." Thanks to Mike Groves for being host to so many nice parties!

The juniors have quite a few cowboys and cowgirls in the class, or at least it appeared that way on Western Day!

The juniors were well-represented at the Amateur Hour try-outs last week. Good luck to these talent numbers.

Everyone is looking forward to the junior play, and especially the Junior-Senior Banquet!

SOPHOMORE NEWS

by Gwen Killingsworth

We sophs are having a time in English with transitive verbs in the active and passive voices, intransitive linking and complete verbs, and the conjugation of verbs. Maybe we'll learn someday!

The teachers really seem to be loading the lessons on us since it's "Twirp Week." They say we're just imagining things! We're studying slopes in algebra and I think it's coming through a little bit clearer.

In history we're just studying history! I'd better sign off for now since I'm writing this in English and I hope I'll have more to say next week!

CAMPUS CUES

by Carolyn Pohl

Congratulations to the students from high school and grade school who made the finals for the Amateur Hour. The Amateur Hour is going to be a good one. It will be presented tonight at eight o'clock, in the high school auditorium.

The assembly on Armed Forces presented to the high school students last Wednesday week was very enjoyable.

Congratulations to Mike Groves for being presented a certificate award in the National Merit Scholarship competition. We hope Mike wins the scholarship, too.

If a New Yorker had visited school last Friday on Western Day he would have thought the tales he had heard about Texans were true. Students were seen around MHS looking as if they had ridden horses to school and had brought their six-guns for protection.

"Twirp Week" was loads of fun. It was heard that the boys would like for it to be "Twirp Week" all the time. They did not realize what an easy life girls had until then. Several parties were given by Mike Groves during "Twirp Week" which were lots of fun. See ya next week!

FRESHMEN NEWS

by Johnny Ezzell

Six Weeks Tests are past again and all is fairly quiet on the freshmen end of the study hall. The science test Mr. Moore gave took the wind out of everyone. But then, so did every test.

Everybody is getting their information about their subject for term themes. The subject is something about science. The theme will be graded for content by Mr. Moore and for English by Mrs. Timmons.

-M. H. S. B.-

STUDENTS SPOKE TO ABOUT ARMED FORCES

Sergeant Schimmel of the U.S. Marine Corps and Sergeant Simmons of the U.S. Air Force spoke to the student body Wednesday, February 25, about the armed forces.

The terms of duty, the pay scale, the Women in the Air Force, and the advantages of the armed forces were discussed. Both Sgt. Schimmel and Sgt. Simmons implied that our freedom must be paid for by service for our country.

During the question period that followed, interested MHS students were enlightened about particulars not brought out during the talks.

-M. H. S. B.-

Basketball Team Presented Letters

Thursday, Feb. 26, Coach Bradshaw presented the lettermen of the boys' basketball team their letters.

The four year lettermen are Tommy Scaff, Gerald Pipkin, and Bobby Cross.

Those lettering three years are Lewis Fair and Billy Crenshaw. Morris Burkes is a two year letterman.

The one year lettermen are Dink Wilson, Jimmy Welling, Clarence Davis, Jimmy Don Green, and Ros Bearden. After the presentation of the letters Mr. Bradshaw congratulated the boys' team on the improvement they had made during the year.

MHS Complimented

Miss Eudora Hawkins, Home Economist of the West Texas Utilities from Abilene, who visited in our school Monday, February 23, paid our school a very nice compliment.

Miss Hawkins speaks before many high school assemblies in connection with her work, and she said that Matador had the best behaved and attentive student body that she had spoken to.

A skit about baseball by Linda Thompson and Ida Fair will be on the program.

Accompanying the girls will be Mrs. A. L. Fair, Home-making teacher.

-M. H. S. B.-

Theme Of Nine Year Old Boy

This is a school. It is where human beings go to learn things they don't know. Besides human beings, there are some girls and a teacher. The teacher is there to see that nobody does anything, and the girls are there for stool pigeons. Once in a while you get a chance to stick a pin in one, but another always sees you, so you are outnumbered. When the girls grow up they get to be teachers and have their own mob of stool pigeons.

At school you have reading, writing, arithmetic, spelling, history, and recess. Recess is so you can forget what you learned in the morning before you take up something new. Reading is looking at words instead of pictures. Arithmetic is stuff like you have 3 and give John 2 Baloney! I wouldn't! History is what happened before you got to school, which is plenty. It keeps happening all the time so the later you start to school the worse off you are.

You don't have to go to school in summer but you have to start in September unless somebody burns it down. (But nobody ever does.) They make up for not making you go to school in summer by giving homework when they get you again. Homework is what our father does until it gets too hard, then he buys you an encyclopedia so you can do it yourself. You go to school in the morning and you have to stay there until afternoon, so it spoils the best part of the day unless you play hooky. Then you have to write a note from your mother saying you were sick.

Grown up people think you give the teacher an apple every morning, but that is propaganda put out by teachers who like apples. If your mother gives you an apple for the teacher, you eat it on the way to school unless you are a girl.

Every month they give you a report card which you bring home. You get your father to sign it if it is good and your mother if it's not good, which it usually is.

When you start to school again in September they give you a brand new teacher as the last one is all worn out or got married. The new one is like the old one except she knows more.

You go to school to get an education so you can go to college, but when you get out of college you are old and have to work anyway, so, what good does it all do? — Copied

There is evidence that the pecan — Texas' state tree — grew in this region in prehistoric times.

LIVING LONGER

The defeat of many diseases has increased life expectancy 22 years. Cancer, too, will be brought under control by science, according to the American Cancer Society, which in the past 13 years has spent more than $67,000,000 seeking the answers.

Cancer doesn't play favorites. It can strike anyone, anywhere. Your best protection according to the American Cancer Society is an annual health checkup.

Chevy stops quickest... goes farthest on a gallon!

Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in a test of repeated stops at highway speeds conducted and certified by NASCAR*. Chevy also won over the other two in a NASCAR economy run—with the highest gas mileage for 6's and V8's at cruising speeds of just over 55 miles an hour.

Here's a car that knows how to get the most out of a gallon. And it's the only car in its field to bring you hydraulic valve lifters in all popular engines—6 and V8. This means smoother, quieter performance for you. There are many other advances just as fundamental as the efficiency of Chevrolet's engines and the dependability of its new brakes (with more lining area than any other low-priced car). But why not stop by your dealer's and let Chevy do its own sweet talking!
