Riley Miller To Add Historical Note To Parade

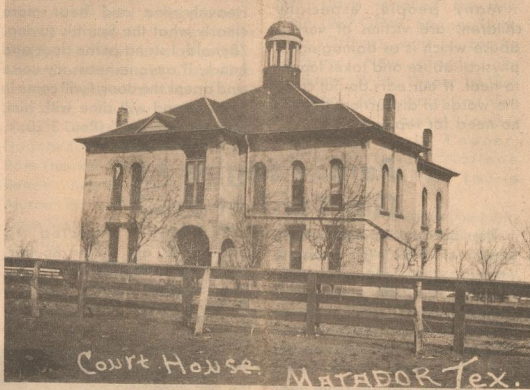

Riley Miller and Indian Character

With the flair of a showman and the penchant of a collector, Riley Miller of Justiceburg will lead a historical review through the streets of Matador during the Folklife Festival parade on May 26. Scheduled to fall in at the Church of Christ location so his slow-paced oxen and walking pioneers will not tire before reaching their courthouse destination, Riley's group promises to entertain while stirring the imagination of history buffs.

Vignets of Motley history will be provided by costumed characters. Representing Quannah Parker of the Comanches will be a full-blooded Souix wearing an authentic eagle headdress. The Comanchero-Pastore era will be depicted by a couple of Mexican sheepherders. Oxen will be pulling the Buffalo Hunters wagon filled with actual buffalo hides. The era of Scottish involvement in ranching will be relived by kilned gentlemen playing the bagpipes. Cowboys and settlers will be represented by local or former citizens of the county.

Miller who organized a similar historical review for Midland and once herded buffalo down the crowded streets of Gail, Texas, is widely known as a serious collector of western memorabilia. He and his wife have been collecting for about ten years and enjoy sharing their love of history in this manner. At their Justiceburg home near Post the Millers sponsor a wild-west type rodeo and their daughter operates Fort Justice, a western-style restaurant and gift shop.

Second Motley County Courthouse--built in 1914.

Tragic Courthouse Anniversary Remembered

Exactly 40 years after this Courthouse was dedicated, it was gutted by a fire which apparently had started in county attorney, C.W. Norrid's office, or perhaps in the attic above it. The raging fire was discovered at approximately 7:10 a.m. by R.L. Brandon of the City Bakery, west of the Courthouse. Due to a fault in the fire truck, force pump, fireman could only utilize 90 pounds of pressure. Valiant attempts by the Roaring Springs and Paducah Fire Departments was to no avail. When all was said and done, only gaunt walls remained.

The cornerstone, located in the northeast corner of the building, was engraved with the names of the following: "Sept.

27, A.D., J.A. White, Architect and builder; T.T. Bouldin, County Judge; M.L. Patton, Commissioner of Precinct 1; W.R. Tilson, Commissioner of Precinct 2; J.R. Williams, Commissioner of Precinct 3; C.D. Bird, Commissioner of Precinct 4 and W.A. Walton, County Clerk." The building cost $25,000 and was built almost entirely of native materials, bricks for the inner walls being burned on Tee Pee Creek." Sandstone used in building came from Ring Cove Canyon near Quitaque.

Motley County had voted in 1938 to build a new court house and had already accumulated $80,000 to build. However, World War II intervened, absorbing needed labor and materials.

New Bandstand

by Lila Meador

A new structure was completed this week on the southwest corner of the courthouse lawn at the location of a band stand which stood there from the early 1920's until the late 1940's.

The new bandstand was completed this week in time for use in the county's Sesquicentennial Folk Festival Sunday and Monday.

There is no record (that could be found) of when the band stand was torn down. The Commissioner's Court, in its December session in 1948 contained this information: "On motion made by Commissioner J.N. Fletcher and seconded by Commissioner M.H. Leary and which carried by vote of the court, it is ordered that the band stand on the courthouse square be advertised for sale at public auction, to be sold to the highest bidder for cash, said auction sale to be held at the courthouse at 2:00 o'clock p.m. on Saturday, the 15th day of January, 1949. It is further ordered by the court that John Stotts, Sheriff, be appointed Commissioner to hold said public auction sale of band stand."

The band stand was used often during the '20's when Matador had an active band. One of the latest accounts of its being used appears in the November 14, 1946 issue of the Matador Tribune: "In Armistice Day observance on Monday, Nov. 11, the Ralls High School Band marched in a parade and presented a program in the band stand. They marched from Bob's Oil Well to the Baptist Church where Col. Meade F. Griffin of Lubbock spoke. 220 veterans were in the parade."

Wagon Train Snakes Through The Rolling Plains

By Marisue Potts

Excitement ripples through the crowds waiting on the side of the road. "Can you see it yet? Have they topped the hill? Oh, I can hardly wait!" exclaims a usually sophisticated friend of mine as we impatiently wait for the first canvas to appear on the rise. Her excitement for the Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train is infectious, and soon I too am jumping up and down straining to see some sign of their impending arrival. "Here they come!"

The lead patrol car with its blinking red light creeps along the usually deserted road at four miles an hour. The rolling hills of caprock country are the ideal setting for the odd assortment of antique wagons, comfortable and practical homemade wagons, and brand new slick ones. The variety of "horsepower" is just as noticeable. Magnificent draft horses, matched pintos, and long flopped mules, four up, proudly march by. The slick commercial wagons are followed by what our ancestors might have driven, converted grain wagons or freighters or a Conestoga pulled by unmatched or a mismatched pair or by sturdy though small Spanish mules. A lone horse prances by pulling a buggy, the rider obviously enjoying the cushiony spring seat.

Motley County Jail--built in 1891.

By Gerry Burton

Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Staff

Nobody knows exactly why Digger Danby was to hang in the new Motley County jail.

But most everybody who will be around to see the historic jail turn into a museum during the May 25-26 folklife festival will know why he didn't.

Others escaped the gallows built into the old rock jail in 1891, the year the county was organized, but Digger just faded away one day.

It seems Danby, with a nickname to match his well-digging talents, was too valuable an asset to keep locked up pending his date with the Motley noose. So, to get wells put in for pioneers, the county let him out every day to go dig for water. One day, he just didn't return.

County records don't include the story of Digger Danby, but the lore of Motley County does.

The first county sheriff, the story goes, also cheated the gallows when accused of murdering a Matador Ranch wagon boss. He escaped before trial in Seymour on a change of venue and was killed by Texas Rangers in Oklahoma.

Jo Ann's Jots & Jingles

At long last, the Sesquicentennial Celebration weekend is almost here! Many have worked long and tirelessly. A debt of gratitude is due all the committees and clubs and churches and groups and especially individuals. No one would be foolish enough to name all for fear of excluding some. But you know who you are and you are thanked.

Now it behooves the rest of us to support your every endeavor. You will want to attend the community church service. You will want to either participate in or be a spectator to the parade. You will want to cheer the Wagon Train as it proceeds through out county. You will want to congratulate the winners in the various contests that will be held throughout the celebration.

The members of the El Progresso Club especially want you to visit the old jail. A committee from this club has worked tirelessly cleaning, hauling, hoeing, painting in order to establish a museum worthy of our town. It is hoped that this will become a permanent museum. Time will tell. They want you to visit during this celebration. Opportunity will be given to contribute to the museum by honoring some one special or by a memorial.

The gazebo on the square is a beautiful addition to our downtown. Not only will it serve well for this weekend's celebration but it will be used in days to come for many purposes.

I really do think that Motley County has "pulled together" and that all expectations for this Sesquicentennial Celebration will ripen into fruition this weekend.

A great big THANK YOU to all in Motley County who have made all this possible!

"Son Beams"

By June Keltz

Have you ever imagined what it would be like to be locked in to a world of silence? Hearing loss is a growing problem today due to loud noises, allergies and nerve damage. Suffice it to say, this is a handicap but lets look at the positive side. When the ugly sounds of gossip and slander are being tossed out into the air, our ears do not catch the garbage which leaves us free to continue to hold those under attack in high esteem.

Many people, especially children, are victims of verbal abuse which is as damaging as physical abuse and takes longer to heal. If our ears do not catch the words of destruction, there is no need for repair.

What a blessing it is to miss hearing our Lord and Saviour's name being used in vain by those whom He died for. Contrary to popular belief, God's last name is not "Damn". It is difficult if not impossible, to hear the voice of God speaking of our inner man when there are many other voices drowning Him out. His voice is still, small and gentle. He is a gentleman, never interrupting or intruding. Those with hearing loss, then, can tune in to the Heavenly line and hear more clearly what the Spirit is saying. "Behold, I stand at the door and knock; if anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will come in to him, and will dine with him, and he with me." (Rev. 3:20).

Parade Begins At Gin Yard At 5:30

The parade is expected to begin at 5:30. In order to welcome the Sesquicentennial Wagon Train, the assembly of participants will take place on the Gin Yard north of town near the Wagon Train campsite. The Plainview Drill Team will meet the Wagon Train near the Pease River, leading them in The girls will then perform their horseback routine as Wagonmaster Gary France circles the wagons in the pasture.

The marching bands will fall in at Ben Grundy's drive way and Miller & Company will join at the Church of Christ. Besides local horseback riders, buggies, and wagons, among those expected for the parade will be riding clubs from Brownfield and Vernon, the Khiva Clowns and Go-karts from Lubbock bands from Paducah and Floydada, a country-western/blue grass band, locally decorated floats with costumed children, and antique cars.

Politicians expected to participate are Beau Boulter, U.S. Representative, 13th Dist.; Ray Farabee, State Senator; Foster Whaley, State Representative.

Children who will be riding the float in the parade should be at the Gin yard at 5 p.m.

The Folklife Committee will be working on posters and floats at the Ag Barn Thursday at 7 p.m. Anyone interested in donating a little time is welcome.

Sesquicentennial pins will be on sale at the Outsiders Football Game.

Folklife Festival Food Booths will be open at 12:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

Pickups and trailers hauling horses to ride in the parade are to pull behind the gin. Surrey's, wagons and old cars are to pull in front of Gin. The Judge and Sheriff will meet Wagon Train at the county line with the Plainview Girls Drill Team.

Wagon Train Stops In Matador For Birth

by Michelle Bearden

Early Autumn weather in West Texas frequently sunny to bright clear days with a sky so blue it takes your breath away. There is an air of complacency and winding down as a rule. Just on such a day on October 1, 1916, a wagon train rolled into Matador and had to make an unplanned layover.

The wagon train was journeying westward and a family by the name of Kilgore joined it in Paducah. Robert Lee Kilgore, a native Alabaman, was bringing his very expectant wife and their four children to a new home in New Mexico. They had lived in Paducah for three years but had decided opportunities lay further west.

Matilda Kilgore had endured labor pains on the rough wagon trail from Paducah much of the day. She knew this baby would be coming into this world soon.

Twelve year old Thelma helped her mother as best she could. The three younger children were excited about a new baby coming into the family.

As the wagons approached this growing town of Matador, Robert Kilgore prodded the horses, Button and Vinagaron, in line to circle the wagons on the outskirts of town.

A kind lady in Matador, upon hearing that this young mother was in labor, opened her lovely home to the Kilgores.

Before long, Robert Kilgore came flailing his tiny fists into this world.

Given a brief respite from the arduous journey, Matilda regained a little of her strength and on the family went to meet new challenges. Due to the brevity of the family's stay, the hastily penned birth certificate noted only that infant Kilgore was born October 1, 1916.

Every evening the ladies of the wagon train hurried over to the Kilgore wagon to admire the beautiful baby boy curled up in his mother's arms. There is nothing like a baby to delight flagging spirits.

Heading to the government claim, Kilgore had filed in New Mexico, this baby boy inadvertently initiated another halt in the wagon train's progress. Along the rough trails, an especially jarring bump bounced one of the girl's shoes and the swaddled baby on to the ground. In all the noise of the creaking wagon and boisterous children, no one noticed the exit. However, a little further down the road, the sister missed her shoe and it was noted both baby and shoe were definitely absent. Backtracking a ways, the family retrieved both baby and shoe on continued westward.

Matilda had given some thought to her children's Christmas prior to leaving the home in Paducah. Gathering up a handful of peppermint sticks which she secreted away in a coffee can, she ensured her children of a least one surprise on Christmas Day, wherever the family might be.

Ultimately R.L. Kilgore found it necessary to leave his station master position in Shoemaker, N.M. to head for California on yet another wagon train. From California, the family went by train to Florida for yet another dash for prosperity.

Robert Kilgore

In Florida, young Robert grew to manhood and became a Presbyterian minister. The intervening years have been spent in delivering God's word throughout the southern United States.

On a recent trip from his home in Norco, Louisiana, he made a pilgrimage journey to the place of his birth, Matador, Texas, to see what the town was like now. Mr. Kilgore stated he was glad to see that there still was a town here after all those years.

Afternoon Folklife Entertainment Stated

The Bluegrass-Country Music group called "Big Sandy" will kick off the Monday afternoon entertainment at noon with their music. Bob Suggo, leader makes his home in Brownfield.

Another musical group headed by Sonny Grant will also play Monday afternoon. They are from Ralls.

Pepper Nichols and his dog will be performing. Many local residents know Pepper, as he is originally from Roaring Springs and we are looking forward to seeing him again.

"The Latest News Quartet" is a fun-loving entertainment barbershop quartet from Lubbock. They are members of the Prairie Winds Chapter of "Sweet Adelines, Inc." an international organization of Women Barbershop Style Singers. The "Latest News" is well known in the West Texas area.

We are also pleased to have performing for us a Scottish Country Dance Group. The dances are taken from their Scottish heritage, complete with bag pipes.

Children are certainly a big part of the entertainment as a Square dance group comprised of two families will perform and the Charles and Ellen Spoon Family and the Jim and Jan Dickens family make this group and are from Lubbock. Mrs. Ellen Spoon will be calling.

We are extremely pleased and excited about the people sharing our special day of celebration.

Mike Reisman and his students will give a karate exhibition.

Early Morning Breakfast Slated For Wagon Train

Preparations are under way to treat the Sesquicentennial Wagon Train participants to a hearty breakfast of country-fried steak, gravy, sourdough biscuits and molasses on May 27th. According to chairmen L.B. Campbell and S.C. Burleson 500 to 700 people are expected in the "open camp" (meaning no facilities available) north of Matador on Memorial Day.

Confirmation has been received from ranch coordinator Bob Kilmer that the Matador Cattle Company will supply the beef for the event, expected to be about 200 pounds of tenderized round steak. In addition, donations received toward the effort at this time include Mrs. Fred Zimmerman, Jr. of Floydada, J.R. Turner of Floydada and Dr. June Meador of Corsicana.

Eddie Fortenberry will be directing the sourdough bread making under the fly of the chuckwagon owned by several Floyd and Motley County residents. Other volunteers besides Campbell and Burleson who will be boiling the coffee and frying the steak in the wee hours of the morning are Travis Jones, Norman Muncy, Mac Smitherman, Laron Fulton, Lane Decker, J.A. Welch, Dale Goen, Craig DuBois, and Lonnie Hinsley from Floydada; Fish Wilson from Quitaque; and M.C. Jones, Mutt Berryman, Lewis Bostick, Bill Jones, and Bill and June Moss of Matador.

Due to the large number of wagon train participants expected no local guests will be invited or served. Those wishing to help defray the cost of feeding the Wagon Train may make their donations directly to Campbell or Burleson.

How It Used To Be

By Reba Burkes

When a persons hand shake or his word were worth any signed contract.

When neighbors helped each other.

When you ironed all day with sad irons that were heated on the stove.

When your day began at 4:00 o'clock and went to bed with the chickens.

When even a corn shuck mattress felt good.

When wash day was an all day job, and your back ached from bending over a tub and wash board.

When natures call was a fast trip to the old two holer out back.

When you had one good suit or dress.

When no one looked to see what you were wearing to church, because they already knew, having seen your dress so many times before.

When you were baptized in the river.

When going into church you picked up your fan at the door.

When to keep your milk and butter cool, you let it down in the cistern by rope and bucket.

When clothes were all washable except maybe winter coats. You used a brush and corn meal with lots of elbow grease to clean them.

When hoeing in the field all day, you put your water jug in the shade of a fence post. It was hot but tasted like nectar.

When (in early 40's) the doctor delivered your baby at home for $25.00 or less.

When if you didn't have a root cellar, you made a shallow dip, lined it with hay, put your potatoes, apples, turnips and sweet potatoes in and covered them with a lot of hay and dirt on top. Ditched it all around to keep the rain and snow out.

When you saved the chicken feathers and made your own pillows and feather beds.

When postage stamps were 1 1/2-2-3 cents. You could buy penny candy and gum.

Drip Irrigation Is Effective And Cost Efficient

By Rodney Williams

Drip Irrigation is an excellent method of watering windbreak seedlings, lawns, gardens or other crops where precise water application is needed. Drip irrigation is a system of polyethylene tubing with outlets called emitters. The emitters are spaced along the tubing so as to deliver an exact amount of water as desired. The emitter "drips" water to the crop in small amounts, usually 1 to 2 gallons per hour until the desired amount is applied. The drip line is placed on top of the ground or can be buried to facilitate plowing or mowing. Drip irrigation is normally inexpensive to install as a typical windbreak planting of 50 trees spaced 15 feet apart can be drip irrigated for about 50 dollars in equipment costs. By applying the water at or below ground level, moisture is not lost to evaporation or high winds.

If you are interested in drip irrigation for trees, gardens or lawns please contact the Upper Pease Soil and Water Conservation District in the Courthouse. Soil Conservation Service and District personnel can assist you in designing and ordering a Drip Irrigation system.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Your front page article about Coy Franks (by Geni Certain) was the most informative and timely article on farming during this modern day crisis I've ever read. If farmers are to survive the economical hazzards, the price fluxion and countless other risks, it is farmers like Coy Franks.

I applaud his initiative, his bold approach to breaking out of set traditions that can be as binding as iron bands. No ivory tower for him. I hope he gets national recognition.

Sincerely,
Virginia Burns

Dear Manager:

I really love your paper and appreciated everyone who read about my ailment since I fell and broke three ribs and my right hip, March 26. It almost killed me and I said it should have as my sisters Lula, Lucille and Mildred and brother Joe were trying to move from Abilene and I caused the trouble.

I really thank all who wrote to me, also every card from you all and my relatives.

The Wonderful Taste of Homemade Ice Cream

In recent times Ice Cream has surfaced as the new popular dessert. However this cool and creamy dessert has been around for centuries, but it didn't always look and taste the way it does now. As long ago as the fourth century B.C., Roman nobility enjoyed a frozen dessert containing fruit juices or sweetened milk surrounded by snow. The Roman emperor Nero imported snow from the distant mountains which was flavored with fruit juices and honey. In the 13th century, Marco Polo brought recipes for the chinese water and milk ices to Europe. The Chinese had been making ice cream for 2000 years.

The Italians introduced a primitive ice cream freezer by inserting a container filled with flavored milk into a dish of snow which saltpeter had been added. This stepped up the freezing process and made the making of ice cream more practical.

Legend has it that frozen desserts were brought to France in 1533 by Catherine de Medices when she married the Duke of Orleans. At this time ice cream was reserved only for the royalty, who kept the recipe a secret from the peasants.

It is not known when ice cream first came to the United States. However in 1774 a caterer from London began advertising ice cream in New York. Both George Washington and Thomas Jefferson loved ice cream. Thomas Jefferson had his own 18-step recipe for the dessert. Dolly Madison and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton served it at many official functions.

Access To Health Care Planned By State

The State Health Plan identifies major statewide health-related concerns, recommends strategies to resolve these concerns and analyzes the need for various types of health facilities and services. The goal of the plan is to assure equitable access to needed health care services--at affordable prices--for all residents of the state. The plan is developed under guidance of the SHCC, a 21 member group of health-care providers and consumers appointed by the governor to develop health planning policies for the state. The council has identified 14 major health planning policies for the state. The council has identified 14 major health issues and proposed strategies to address these concerns at the state level. The South Plains

Association of Governments, along with Texas' other regional councils, participated in the plan development process and identified health issues of particular concern to this region.

Implementing the plan is guided by the SHCC and the TDH, with the ultimate responsibility residing with managers of the various health-related public agencies and individual providers of health care services in the private sector.

Following the 13 regional public hearings throughout the state and one statewide hearing in Austin on May 28, comments will be incorporated, as applicable, into the final version of the plan. The document will then be submitted to the governor for final approval as the official state health plan.

JAIL

Another Matador wagon boss was the victim for the first sentence to hang that made it to Motley records. The convicted killer escaped was recaptured and had his sentence changed to life imprisonment. Another escape and recapture got him a rapid trip to the state penitentiary.

The biggest excitement surrounding the jail didn't involve the gallows, however. Two brothers decided to leave the jail without permission while townfolks were at a revival meeting, prompting a cancellation of preaching in favor of an all-night search through the canyons and gullies. The culprits were discovered the next morning asleep in the gin.

The jail, which received a Texas State Historical Medallion in 1976, was built in 1891. Brown limestone was hauled in wagons from Salt Creek, five miles west of Matador.

The metal trap door, which put the fear of wrongdoing into early residents, was welded shut forever when state law prohibited hanging by local authorities.

"Faith of the Pioneers" Acclaimed

In a county-wide worship service on Sunday, May 25, local ministers invite all residents and visitors in the county to join together in a service reminiscent of by-gone days at the new bandstand at approximately 6 p.m., after the Fiddlers Contest. Traditional hymns such as "Amazing Grace" and "How Great Thou Art" will be sung.

Rev. Edna Dillard of the Assembly of God Church in Roaring Springs will bring the message. Bro. Donnie Howell will offer the Invocation. Kevin Creed of the Assembly of God Church of Matador will be leading the music with Kelly Keltz and Kenneth Marvel accompanying on guitars. Greer Willis will provide the Benediction.

Hints For Homemakers

Neat Cookie Tricks

When baking cookies, spray cookie sheets with no stick cooking spray. It saves greasing and speeds clean up. After removing cookies from the baking sheet, wipe it with a paper towel, and respray before baking another batch. For ease in cutting out cookies, spray cutters with no stick and, like magic, out comes the dough.

No More Sticky Fingers

Spray hands lightly with Mazola No Stick to prepare them for work ahead. Whether kneading dough, shaping popcorn balls or meatballs or pulling taffy, a quick spray on the hands works wonders.

Pictorial Cancellations Authorized To Mark Wagon Train Progress

Pictorial cancellations have been authorized to mark the progress of a vintage wagon train traveling through a number of Texas towns from May 5 through May 22. The wagon train run is one of several activities scheduled by the state of Texas to commemorate the Sesquicentennial of the Texas Republic.

The exact schedule for the wagon train is not yet known. Therefore, all mail orders for the cancellations must be received by the beginning of the run, May 4, regardless of which town's postmark is requested. Orders should be addressed: TEXAS WAGON TRAIN STATION CANCELLATION, POSTMASTER, CITY, STATE, ZIP CODE. All Zip Codes should be followed by ".9998."

Matador will have a similarly designed Pictorial Postmark to be used on May 26, 1986. The Post Office will be open all day.

Wagon Train Schedule

May 22--Clarendon
May 23--Brice (open camp)
May 24-25--Turkey
May 26--Matador
May 27--Glenn
May 28--Dickens
May 29-30--Pitchfork Ranch

WAGON TRAIN

The good natured banter goes back and forth, the slow pace providing time to get to know each other. "Hey, where are you from?" And the weary travelers, perked up by the interest, wave and shout back "Illinois" or "Virginia" or "South Dakota" or "Desota."

"Desota, Texas? I know De Sota, that's near my home," a Dallas visitor volleys. "Say, is that Jan France in the lead wagon? Where's Walt?"

All too soon the forty or so wagons roll past our vantage point with my eyes devouring each wagon and my curiosity about each traveler running rampant. As we watch the horseback riders stroll by, a commotion up front stops progress for a moment. The team having trouble is quickly pulled to the side and the line moves on without them while they make repairs.

Support vehicles trail the horses or pass on their way to the next camp ground. A nurse's station, a portable school, the essential port-a-potties, feed and water wagons, pickups and trailers, and RVs trickle by. Although a few families camp in their wagons, most want to relax in their own mobile home after a long, tiring day.

As we walk to our car I am sad it's over. Months of planning and waiting and anticipating culminate in this moment. But, wait...let's overtake them and watch it all again. Maybe this time I'll see that couple from Wisconsin.

The wagon from Wisconsin driven by an eighty-year old couple is buttoned up. A flap of canvas shades the empty driver's seat and plastic seals the back, mute reminders of the harsh sun and constant prying wind faced each day. The inhabitants are nowhere to be seen, but the mules know what to do: follow that wagon in front.

Please don't forget your name tag when you slip into that historical pioneer dress and bonnet, western wear and trim your beard!

ODEN CHEVROLET-OLDS OF FLOYDADA, would like to Compliment the young people of Motley County who had animals in your recent stock show. They have been very courteous in saying thank you to those who provided the premium money.

This reflects their good character and the influence their teachers and parents who have helped in their education.

BEST WISHES TO ALL!

J.P. Doodles

A likewise untutored team briskly trots by. The unconcerned driver stretched out in his oversized wagon seat, is snoozing away, oblivious to the banter and cheering from the roadside crowd.
