German Armor Pulled From Dwindling Normandy Front

Nazi Resistance Crumbles Into Suicide Stands

SUPREME HEADQUAR-TERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 16 (AP)-Field Marshal Guenther von Kluge has pulled most of his armor from the dwindling Normandy front, field dispatches declared today, and stepped up the tempo of his rush under a gantlet of fire through his Falaise escape gap, narrowed to eight miles.

(The German high command communique declared Americans had struck eastward within some 40 miles of Paris, advancing 60 miles from the Alencon area to the Chartres-Dreux sector. It reported bitter fighting along the 20-mile stretch between those two

A British staff officer in the field acknowledged that Von Kluge had extricated most of his armor from the Normandy pocket. But hundreds of vehicles darting eastward were under heavy air and artillery bombardment. Resistance inside the pocket was crumbling into suicide stands.

The approaching cleanup here gave the Allies a firm hold on the western half of the Seine-Loire quadrangle which extends inland to Paris.

Allied ground troops hammering all around the perimeter of the German Seventh army's salient have halved the size of the area in the past 24 hours and narrowed the escape gap to eight miles or less. Allied planes wrecked hundreds of German vehicles in the nazis' swift but generally orderly retreat to the east.

It was not known how many. Germans were still in the trap. The latest estimate, and it was many hours old, was 50,000. The salient itself, excluding minor ir-regularities along the edges, was approximately 20 miles long and no more than eight miles deep. One explanation contained in a front dispatch for the failure of the Allies to close the Falaise-Argentan escape gap was that the two armies driving toward each other had to exercise extreme care to avoid coming under each other's artillery fire.

British and Canadian troops on the north side of the pocket reached Falaise and launched an assault on that city and captured Vassy, 20 miles to the west. American and British troops together sliced off a large section of the western end of the pocket. The Americans scored gains of up to three miles and took Tinchebray, a road junction nine miles southcast of Vire.

Putanges, a major crossing of the Orne river 10 miles west of Argentan was captured widening the southern jaw of the escape

Airborne Troops Obstruct Enemy Reinforcements

ROME, Aug. 16 (AP) - Allied invasion troops have struck eight miles inland at some points in southern France after taking all initial objectives and establishing themselves firmly, headouarters announced tonight.

British and American airborne troops vaulting behind the lines were credited officially with blocking enemy reinforcements. Great fleets of U.S. troop carriers winged supplies and reinforcements by glider and parachute into the airborne bridgehead today.

German resistance generally continued relatively weak. Assault forces fought on Throkh the night after overrunning the first beach obstacles.

At one point, however, heavy German opposition prevented landing craft from beach, it was learned.

American and French forces are still swarming ashore on the beachheads between Toulon and Cannes.

Landings May Give Rise Fresh To Hitler Overthrow Attempts To

President Roosevelt on the U. S.

IRUN, Spain, Aug. 16 (49-The new Allied landings in southern France may give rise to a fresh attempt by German military leaders to overthrow Adolf Hitler with the hope of negotiating peace before Allied troops smash into Germany, a well-informed traveler from France asserted today.

This informant, well versed in conditions within Germany and who long enjoyed German confidence, said the military clique was determined to upset the Nazi regime at any cost and preserve for future generations the fiction that the German army had not been defeated in like the first World warthrough an internal collapse. German professional officers everywhere, both in Germany and the occupied countries, he said, agree almost unanimously that the army's only hope for holding the future confidence of the German people lies in maintaining its prestige by forcing such a collapse. The traveler said a German general had told him frankly:

"Sooner or later, perhaps 20 or perhaps 50 years from now, the fatherland may again be ready to follow a leader to regain Germany's proper position in the world. When that time comes, whether the leader is a soldier like Frederick the Great, an emperor like Kaiser Wilhelm a fanatic politician like Hitler, the glorious tradition of the German army must remain un-broken so the German people will retain their military vir-onor - if not by force of arms then by overthrowing the civilian regime and so bringing defeat by what Hitler called treason rather than betray the German people's faith in the army."

The traveler said he believed that at least 90 per cent of the professional German army officers now believe the war is lost.

SEATTLE, Aug. 16 UP-MIIItary authorities today pushed an from trampling by stock going to investigation of a negro soldiers' rock-wielding raid on an Italian service unit's barracks at Fort Lawton and the discovery shortly afterward of an Italian hanged in a nearby tree. The riotous outbreak was reported in an official statement from the Seattle port of embarkation command, listing 24 Italians and a lesser number of the attackers as injured.

The Monday midnight fracas was believed to be the first case of mob violence against former axis soldiers brought to the United States as prisoners of war. Army officers said they were at a loss to explain the attack on the sleeping workers. The statement carefully refrained from placing responsibility for the hanging.

The Italians, whom the army authorities describe as being carefully chosen, have been engaged in work for the armed forces.

The victim was identified as Gughielmo Olivanta. The army statement said "a phase of the investigation will be to determine whether this could have been

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion? Do you get sour or upset easily? Do you feel tired-listless?

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature falls, your food may remain undigested leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pilla increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pilla aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pilla and directed. Get tham at any drugstore. Only 10¢ and 25¢.

The Big Spring Bombardier The coach is to meet with offi-School all-star softballers and the cers at the officers club at Big Group II Officers were enroute to Houston today to participate in the state softball tournament.

The all-stars were to square off at 10:15 p. m. Thursday against the crack Randolph Field team. The Officers drew Lindale Park at 9 p. m. in the first round. In a practice game, the all-stars defeated the Officers 8-6 under the lights at the city park last Group II took at three-run lead in the second inning attack that was sparked by a homer by Lt. Kenneth Nelson, catcher. The allstars had a 5-run scoring spree in the fifth with consecutive hits by Barbour, Mailho, Durham, and

Joe Smelstor, whose single accounted for two runs. However, Group II tied the score in its half of the sixth, but the all-stars sewed it up in their half of the inning when First Baseman Ed Guner drove a single to score John Harrell and Leon Bredemeyer. Haider started for the all-stars but was tagged for four runs be fore Bredemeyer relieved him in the fourth. Lt. Dick Bradbeer started for Group II but gave way to Lt. Dave Lillard.

LONDON, Aug. 16 UP -- Gault MacGowan, veteran New York Sun correspondent, was reported by the Germans today to have been captured near Chartres on the road to Paris. Apparently he ventured beyond the Allied lines once too often. The Germans said they took MacGowan to Paris after a shooting scrape in which a companion was wounded. Correspondents usually travel in pairs on the U.S. First army front and it is quite possible that his companion was

Pollyanna On The Debt

Our misgivings over the potential size of the public debt, plus our ability to retire same, seem to have been dispelled by the cheery computations of Mr. Ralph Robey, writing in the Aug. 4 issue of

In the first place, he contends, the estimate of a 200 billion debt is too high. Right now the gross debt is only $210,000,000,000 he says and less eash on hand and credits in banks, it is around $190,000,000,000, Assets of government corporations and agencies are pegged at 30 billions. Of the 75 billions in war plants some 15 billions may be recovered. Summarizing, Mr. Robey says the net debt is only a mere $165,000,000,000 and at the four billion a month rate of increasing the deficit would mean a net debt of $210,000,000,000 if the war continues until July 1945.

Income from all sources to the federal governnent now is 45 billions per annum, he continues. By holding other expenditures to 20 billions, the debt could be quickly whittled away. But to be more conservative, he says tax revenue might be held to 25 billions, which would leave five billions per year to apply on debt retirement, which would permit complete amortization in 40 years.

All this is based on the assumption that there will be a slightly higher price level at the end of the war and that the productive rate is maintained at a tempo which will permit the maintenance of a high rate of national income. Thus, there is practically nothing to it provided everything goes well,

This is refreshing deduction and it may be entirely true. For the sake of all of us, we hope so. But even one billion dollars is such a lot of money, and his line of logic is such a smooth discourse that we can't help believe that he once sold automobiles and vacuum cleaners on the installment plan.

Appreciation Is Due

A may not be proper to have motorcades as we once had, but we think whatever steps can be taken at this time to recognize the completion of the Howard county section of the Big Spring-Glasscock county road ought to be considered.

We have waited and worked on this project for such a long time that it is difficult to realize that this much of it is completed. Now we hope for the way to be opened for its extension to Garden City so that the dream for more than three decades can be realized.

In our appreciation for this project, we think the state highway commission, its district and local ngineers and our own local forces, including the county commissioners court and the chamber of mmerce, ought not be overlooked. Particularly should we express our gratitude to the Honorable Reuben Williams, member of the commission and West Texas member on the board.

The War Today

WASHINGTON

by Dewitt Mackenzie

When the citizens of Moscow learned of the Allied invasion of southern France the jubilant cry went up: "Victory this year."

That of course was an expression of vast satisfaction rather than a prophecy, but few will be inclined to quarrel with those who entertain the thought. Indeed the government controlled German radio last night remarked gloominly:

The supreme hour has struck. It is the hour when we must throw into battle the last little ounce of strength."

Well, boche concern certainly is warranted. The relatively bloodless invasion of southern France is "proceeding according to plan." The Marquis, the vast underground army, are surging into action throughout France-a terrible menace

The Allies continue to pommel the beaten Nozi 7th army in Normandy and are taking bloody toll from those inside the trap (just how many still are surrounded remains to be seen, but this column will count its chicks when they're hatched). And over on the heaving Russian front the Red armies are about to deliver knockout blows at East Prussia and Warsaw, heart of the great Vistula line which is the last powerful defensive position east of the reich,

So the Hitlerites are on the skids but at the same time I like the cautionary note in General Eisenhower's summation yesterday when he remarked: "It is certain that German forces congregated on our front are taking a sound beating" but we are still a long way from the Rhine. It's not that this means the war can't end this year-anything can happen at any time in a crisis like the present-but it's well to remember that Hitler still has formidable forces at his disposal."

The fuehrer's great problem now is to rescue his armies in both France and on the Russian front from impending disaster and pull them back to his inner fortress. Apparently he still has the bull-headed idea of holding his present positions so long as possible before retreating. He must change those tactics quickly or the war will explode in his face.

It may be that the Nazi chief has so delayed his wadding and dirt came showering big retreat that he no longer can snatch his armies down over us. My head rang, and from catastrophe. Also he increasingly runs the my right ear couldn't hear anyrisk of army morale collapsing or of his home-front breaking down.

Still, if he does succeed in manning his inner fortress, and his troops and civilian population stand by him, we certainly shall have a man-size job to do before we can march down Unter Den Linden. We shall be foolish if we overlook the Rhine and the Oder river now,

THE LIGHT THAT BURNED LATE

Yep . . . folks noticed the light shining inside the station 'way after closing time and they knew Mac was working late again.

Mac is like most Humble Service Station men today. He's trying to do the work of three or four men. His help has gone to war and so have most of the things he used to sell. But as long as there's essential driving to be done Mac's staying on the job to do his part.

He starts earlier and works later. He fights the "black market" and urges all his customers to stick to the rationing program in its entirety. He shows them how sensible care saves repair; and when help is short you'll see him wrestling tires himself or helping with the grease job.

His day is long and busy and he often has to stay late to finish up. So when you see the light in the Humble Station shining after hours you'll know Mac has had another busy day, working on the home front.

Tetra-ethyl lead, when added to gasoline, raises the actane number of grade fuels to limit their production of such gasoline to ane-half the smount produced during the six months prior to June 1944. This reduces

Also in the interest of conserving war-vital tetra-ethyl lead, P. A. W. has directed that less of it be used in the manufacture of all Regular gasoline. Consequently the octane number of this product him been reduced from 72 to 70.

So, if your H mble Station is temporarily out of Esso Extra, or if Humble Regular does not perform in your car like it did in the past, please remember that tetra-ethyl lead is really at war . . . just another of those small sacrificus all of us at hume are asked to make in the interest of an earlier Mictory.
