BARBARA'S BYLINES

Oops! Seems I goofed again. It has been reported to the Tribune office that the picture of the 'Flomot' School, was not the Flomot School. This picture was in the Tribune files and Flomot School was written on the back of the picture. Sorry for the mistake. We do appreciate the sponsors sponsoring the half page "Welcome Exes" ad. Also if anyone knows where the extra copies of the Tribune are we would like to have them back. We keep them in our files.

I also regret that this will be the last month we can run the church registry ad without a full slate of sponsors. Some families have mentioned they might sponsor a space. The space is $20.00 a month.

Now for some good news, next week is vacation time and Jason and I are looking forward to going to California to visit our cousins.

This past week we have had Ashley Arnold from California visiting us. It is definitely a new experience having a teenage girl around, but nice. My kitchen has certainly stayed cleaner. There isn't as much to do here but she said, "I like it because it is quieter and slower paced." So I'm glad and hope she has a good time, because we are enjoying having her.

Don't forget Friday noon is news deadline for next weeks paper.

The office will be closed all next week except Wednesday afternoon during mail out.

Here's hoping everyone has a good summer.

Some of you may have noticed the young man taking pictures at the Little League finals last Thursday night. He was also giving instructions to the Tribune staff in picture taking.

Kevin Hurt of St. Louis, MO was in Matador on Thursday as a professional photographer and came by the Tribune as we were getting instructions in photograph developing. I told him we had the baseball pictures to take that night so he volunteered to stay over and help us.

The daylight pictures are real good and the night pictures are really not, the bright field lights are hard to adjust to.

We thank Kevin for all his time and film and instructions very much. I know we are going to have much better pictures in the future.

Kayla Johnson Named Flomot Homecoming Queen

Moments to remember offered some treasured memories to former students, teachers and residents who returned for the 1987 Flomot Homecoming and program held at 7:00 p.m., Saturday, July 4 at the Community Center.

In a pageant of royalty, Miss Kayla Johnson, Homecoming Queen, was escorted to the dias by her father, Arnold Johnson. Mrs. George (Lessie) Pope, 1984 Homecoming Queen, placed the crown on the newly elected queen. In a moving tribute, she told that Kayla was her last and only pupil in the second grade when the Flomot Schools consolidated with the Matley County ISD in 1972. She felt it was a privilege to have been her teacher. Miss Johnson was presented a beautiful bouquet of silk roses and a gold necklace.

A painting of a longhorn by talented artist, Mrs. Arnold (Carolyn) Johnson, encompassed the back-drop of the stage with colorful streamers and Welcome Home Exes and Friends to 1987 Homecoming completing the stage decorations. Class pictures made by xerox from 1927 to 1972 by Mrs. Johnson were viewed with pleasure.

Wilburn Martin opened the program with everyone singing, "America The Beautiful" accompanied at piano by Mrs. Joe Ike Clay. Donnie Turner, president, gave the welcome. Mrs. Clayton Bond presented the Memorial Tribute and read a list of the deceased during the past three years.

"The Way We Were" was the theme as Alvin Gates of Oklahoma City, Rudolph Pyron of Orange, Barbara Moseley Holland of Plainview, Floye Adams Hrcir of Amarillo, Nola Moseley Anderson of Tulia, D.M. Gilbert and Wilburn Martin shared memories of school and community events from the 1920's through the 1970's.

Other ex-residents recognized were Beryl Blackshear of Forresterville, California and Odell Washington of Lakeland, Florida who traveled the farthest to attend Homecoming; Mrs. S.W. Skinner of Quitaque, who attended Flomot School at earliest date (1905) and oldest ex-resident attending the reunion.

In the business session, D.M. "Ikie" Gilbert, chairman of the nominating committee, named the new slate of officers for 1990. Seab Washington will serve as president, Johnny Turner, vice president and Mrs. Coy Franks, secretary. Donnie Turner expressed his appreciation for the donations, the committees and to everyone who helped in anyway with the homecoming arrangements. Mr. Martin expressed his appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lee for printing the programs and the business people who provided the full page advertisement in the advertisement in the Matley County Tribune.

Closing the program, Mrs. Don Ewing, Mrs. Clois Shorter and Mrs. Joe Ike Clay, accompanied on guitars by Wayne Hunter, Bennie Brown and Billy Roys, sang "Father Along" and "To Know Him Is To Love Him". Billy Roys sang, "Because He Lives". The Caprock Country Band played for the Homecoming dance following the program.

Wilburn Martin was in charge of the Community Church Services held Sunday at 11:00 a.m. in the Community Center. Herb Martin gave the Invocation and the Rev. Byron Hardgrove, pastor of the Flomot Baptist Church, delivered the sermon. A delicious lunch, provided by Bigham's Smokehouse in Plainview, served by members of the Homecoming Assn., concluded the two days of activities.

Four hundred and five persons registered for the Homecoming, but the number does not represent the total attendance as many local and family member guests who attended were not registered.

"Son Beams"

By June Keltz

We are a needy people even though most of the time we act independently, convincing ourselves that we are capable of handling every situation. We even hesitate to believe God for anything more than forgiveness of our sins, for fear that what we are believing Him for, will not come to pass and will cause us to look like a fool. This surely must grieve the heart of God who sacrificed His only son and it must grieve His Son who bore untold suffering so that man could be whole in spirit, soul (mind, will, and emotion) and body.

A woman in a near-by town found that her husband had terminal cancer. Being strong in faith, she believed with all her heart that he would be healed. When his body took on the look of death, her faith did not lessen. "Job's messengers of doom" did not deter her tenacious belief. One day last month her husband went to be with the Lord and her friends dreaded to see her, fearing that she would be angry with or disappointed in God. This was her comment as peace covered her face: "For whatever is born of God overcomes the world, and this is the victory that has overcome the world - OUR FAITH." (1 Jh. 5:4) Her victory was never losing faith in Jesus and His word that said "By His stripes we are healed" (Isa. 53:5) and "for by His wounds you were healed." (1 Pet. 2:24) Whether or not her husband was healed, it is faith, not healing, that overcomes the world. To be righteous before our Father is to believe and keep on believing though we may never see our hopes fulfilled in the natural. If we believe in Jesus, we must also believe His word since they are one. "Without faith it is impossible to please God." (Heb. 11:6)

Our unbelief in God's miracles comes through not being able to understand with our human, rational, practical intellect. He doesn't ask us to understand, but He does expect us to believe. "Those who come to God must believe that He is and that He is the rewarder of those who diligently seek Him." (Heb. 11:6) The devil's job is to either block or destroy God's blessings toward His children, but this does not destroy the validity of the unchangeable word of God.

THE EAST TEXAS CROW

Part I

I was reared in a land that was the home of what is commonly called the "East Texas Crow". They were quite plentiful and were a curse in more ways than one. A destroyer of much grain, and especially of young corn. Many farmers had their young corn thinned to a scant stand by the hordes of crows that inhabited the timber and bottom lands of central Texas.

The crow was also a great thief, for they robbed the eggs of most all the feathered tribe that were not able to whip and herd them away. Turkeys, both wild and tame, knew enough to thoroughly cover their eggs with leaves and grass on leaving them. Else the robber crow made a feast of them.

The crow is a noisy bird, jet black in color and looks very much like the Raven, only he is a little smaller. They have a keen shrill voice that carries to great distances, while the raven has a dull croak that isn't heard very far.

I never saw ravens until I reached the prairie country in West Texas. When did I see them? I mistook them for crows that had a bad cold and were hoarse.

I assume both the crow and raven are kindred birds of similar species. They have many traits in common, yet they are vastly different in many respects.

There are lots of ravens in the West. They abound from the Escarpment of the Llano Estacado eastward to the cross-timbers and nest and raise their young fairly well distributed, but seem migrate southward in the winter time.

I had been in the West forty-eight years before I ever saw a crow in that part of the world.

South of my home a half a mile, there is an elevated ridge. In 1937 and during the winter season, I was sitting by a south window and glanced out just in time to see the land birds in the largest flock I had ever seen in all my lifetime. I thought they were ravens. The air was black with them from my house to the ridge mentioned above. None looked to be more than a couple of hundred feet high, and the drove looked to be a mile in length. All leisurely flying West and I estimated them to be five thousand ravens, only they turned out to be East Texas Crows. Most of them settled on an eleven acre field and the ground looked as black as tar.

How poor a "crow-guesser" I was can be seen later, still no one will ever know how many crows were in that bunch. They stayed in this section until sometime in May, had a central roosting ground and scattered out every morning, north and south or parallel to the Caprock and covered a good fifty miles each way daily as they visited the farmer's feed lots for grain. Everyone in the country killed numbers of them. At my place, we killed a hundred and put them on maize stacks. That was the only way they could be kept off without spending all of one's time there.

In time a Government man came in and the roosts were bombed at night. It was said that five thousand dead crows were gathered and counted. Maimed and crippled crows could be seen everywhere, and still they stayed and one could hardly miss them. Stayed until they were ready to leave, and when that time came, there were no more crows. I saw their arrival, but not their departure.

Where they came from or where they went can only be conjecture. They arrived following the great flood in the Ohio River Basin, and it could be that their feeding grounds had been flooded, and they were forced out in search of food.

On leaving the roost in the morning around and shortly after daylight, they seemed to leave leisurely a few at a time in small bunches. At least, that is the way they came to and passed over my place. All that passed over by no means stopped with me.

Then late in the afternoon, they passed back on their way to the roosting ground. One evening shortly before sundown, I chanced to stop out in the yard in time to see what looked to be the lead of the flock passing my way. Thought I would count as many as I could. Sometimes they would come over pretty thick and wide, and the they would thin out a little, but it was a continuous flight. I counted two thousand; got tired and quit and still the crows flew by. While they were here as thick as house flies in the summertime, I had an occasion to go to Lubbock. It is fifteen miles from my house to the Cap-rock and the crows were everywhere. After going on the Plains, I saw no more crows and yet they roosted in five or six miles of the Cap-rock. Everyone on the Plains had feed stacks and lots of loose grain. That seems a little strange and unbelievable too.

Goodnight says that buffalo never went on the Plains until driven there by the buffalo hunters. The crows could have but didn't seem to care to go, nor did the prairie dog ever inhabit the Plains to any great extent.

Remember When

By Annie B. Cloyd
Box 22
Flomot, TX 79234

Well Neighbors, Homecoming is over and there was a good crowd even if it was too hot to breath very well. Everyone had a great time anyway telling long stories about what happened a long time ago when they were here in school. I heard about a lot of funny things that kids got into fifty or more years ago. And some things that took place a little later than that, that were just as funny.

One of these tales was told by Rudolph Pyron and the reason that he knew so much about it was - it happened to him. Seems that a few boys about his age decided to slip off after Church and go out to Turner's Tank and go swimming. They were having a great time when they saw a big lot of cars and people coming to the tank. Then they remembered that there was to be a baptizing that afternoon.

Someone said they had to hide somewhere and they thought of the old cottonwood tree by the tank and all of them climbed up in the tree. They waited and waited for everything to be over and one said that Rudolph should jump out of the tree just as soon as the last person got "dunked" and yell like Tarzan as he hit the water.

Now, in order to make this story a good one you have to know what these kids had on - or didn't have on Rudolph had on a worn out pair of over-alls - cut off above the knees and the seat was all gone and they had one suspender holding. Of course that was all he had on. Some of the rest might not have had that much on. You remember liking to "skinny dip"? Anyway when the last of folks were leaving the tank after the baptizing - someone gave a big push and Rudolph sure did yell as he hit the water and the main reason was that his one suspender caught on a tree limb and the overalls stayed in the tree while he fell in the tank.

There were many other stories but I thought this was the best. So I will "Remember When" again next week with another old time story.

THE KEY TO LOWER COOLING BILLS ...YOUR THERMOSTAT!

RAISE YOUR THERMOSTAT SETTING TO LOWER YOUR COOLING BILLS

You can lower your cooling bill up to 50% by raising the temperature in your home from 72° to 78°. West Texas Utilities recommends that you set your thermostat at 78° or higher for efficient summer cooling. Portable fans or ceiling fans can help the higher thermostat settings feel more comfortable.

Also, check the filter in your air conditioning system regularly. A dirty filter could keep your system from operating as efficiently as possible. Clean permanent filters according to manufacturer's instructions, and replace non-permanent filters.

For more conservation tips on summer cooling, call your local WTU office.

HELP IS NEAR

Though to your short-sighted vision No way of escape may appear, Trust, for when least you expect it, The help of your Father is near.

Anon.

That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved.

For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE REQUEST AND STATEMENT OF INTENT

Notice is hereby given that DICKENS ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC. (the "Utility") intends to change rates for electric utility service effective July 19, 1987 or as soon thereafter as may be permitted by law. Based upon a test year ending December 31, 1986 the increase requested over actual test year revenues is $1,395,775 or 13.78%.

Effective April 1, 1986 the Utility switched wholesale power suppliers from West Texas Utilities (WTU) to Brazos Electric Power Cooperative, Inc. (Brazos). Based upon a test year which is adjusted to take into account differences in the WTU and Brazos wholesale rates the increase requested is $815,703 or 7.62%. The utility believes that purchasing its wholesale power requirements from Brazos will result in lower total cost. Increases or decreases in the cost of power purchased by the Cooperative are passed on to its members.

The changes are applicable to all areas, all customer classes, and all customers served by the Utility. The Utility intends to change its service rules and regulations including rules relating to obtaining service, the provision of electric service, and discontinuance of service.

Implementation of the proposed changes is subject to approval by the appropriate regulatory authority. A statement of intent including the proposed revisions of tariff and schedules and a statement specifying in detail each proposed change is available at the general office of the Utility located at Spur, Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Campbell McGinnis
ATTORNEY FOR THE UTILITY
