TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Ignorance has always been one of the most expensive luxuries that a man can employ; the installments are never completed.

Some people seem to have a talent for exciting the hate buds in the hearts of others.

Great destiny is an eggshell that must be handled with care and with proper respect for momentum. It can roll too fast in any of many directions, to sudden destruction.

We are advised to keep both feet on the ground, which is good, unless you plan to go somewhere.

As a boy I had no chance to be concerned about the generation gap because there was no time or money with which to become involved. Also I was under the impressive influence resulting from a razor strap, bridle reins or a calf rope.

Honest work may regain its former dignity but it will have little opportunity to become popular again, especially if it is the result of necessity.

If modesty is an achievement of society gained slowly through the years, it looks as if we are about to lose a few eons. We may find it better to start back at the beginning and try to keep the ribbon straight.

Little fears are like quiet sheep dogs that keep us on course merely by their presence.

New Ford Car Is Shown Here

Maverick, newest breed from the Ford corral, goes on sale in America's Ford dealerships today (April 17). Seating a family of four and offering economy of purchase and operation, it is aimed at boosting Ford sales in the booming small car market and serving the needs of buyers who formerly went to imports.

Glenn Woodruff, manager of the Ford-Mercury agency here received one of the new cars last week. He said the car is sold, but will be on display today.

BANK HOLIDAY

First State Bank will be closed Monday, April 21 in observance of San Jacinto Day, officials announced.

Ranchers Seek New Mesquite Controls

Texas landowners, in their constant battle against range-choking brush, are getting new support with the establishment of the Brush Control and Range Improvement Association.

The BCRIA was organized last November by a group of prominent Texas ranchers to provide funds for more basic research and education on brush control and range improvement.

John Matthews, Abilene area rancher and association chairman, said the immediate goal is to obtain 1 cent per acre from each cooperating landowner each year for five years.

Other BCRIA officials are Bill Donnell of Marathon, vice chairman, and Robb Brown of Throckmorton, secretary.

"Brush control is a complex problem," Matthews said. Surveys show that nearly 82 per cent of Texas rangelands have been invaded by brush, reducing the animal carrying capacity by 50 per cent or more. Our universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture have done much, but it's clear that greater financial support is needed for a crash research program if we are to solve the problem."

Hinders Prosperity

He emphasized that brush also hinders the prosperity of many Texas communities that depend on agricultural income, as well as adversely affecting water supplies from brush invasion.

Matthews added that more and more ranchers are aware that they must help solve the brush problem, and that the association offers a way to get at the problem.

He described the BCRIA as a non-profit organization not associated with any university, company or agency. A board of directors with 18 members, representing different areas of the state, will direct activities and approve research and education projects for funding.

Directors will lead the drive in their districts. A leader in every county will be responsible for conducting the drive and collecting funds.

To Support Research

Money collected will support research and educational projects on brush control and range improvement. Matthews explained. Grants will be made to universities and other agencies for this work. Some of the funds may be used to match legislative appropriations or industry grants for an overall campaign against brush.

The chairman pointed to the successful screwworm campaign as an example of what joint effort can do.

Support from every Texas rancher or landowner and other interested individuals or groups is vital to success of the BCRIA program, Matthews said. All funds collected will be strictly accounted for, he said. Information from research sponsored by the Association will be available to each landowner.

Contributions (income tax deductible) can be made to county chairmen or directly to Matthews, P. O. Box 176, Abilene, Texas 79664. Checks should be payable to the BCRIA.

COME TO CHURCH SUNDAY

Ralls Youth Makes Inspiring Address

IF THE WORLD is to recover from its present sickness the cure is in the strong and willing hands of today's youth. The refreshing view of the future was brought to the Matador Lions Club Tuesday by Jim Cox, a Ralls High School senior, who made the principal address at the service club's regular luncheon meeting in the First Methodist Church basement.

Cox is, without question, one of the most outstanding young men in West Texas, who has spent ten years of his young life in Boy Scout work. He represented the region nine consisting of five states at the National World Jamboree.

He was one of thirteen boys who reported to world leaders, including then President Lyndon Johnson and England's Prime Minister Harold Wilson. The boys met with 200 members of Congress in Washington in February 1963.

An Explorer Scout, Cox said, "Scouting can help any boy." He was introduced by Bill Mayes, Ralls businessman, who had been introduced by Lion Glen Brotherton, program sponsor.

The young man is perhaps the only person Johnson was ever forced to look up to, since his height is six feet, nine inches. After the Reader's Digest sponsored Jamboree, Cox was the delegate of the YMCA at the World Youth Conference held in Rio de Janeiro, visited colleges in Lima, Peru and helped with work in the slums of Quito, Ecuador.

Short-Haired Majority

"I represent the short-haired majority," Cox said, "and we have found that we can make friends with other young people of the world... youth is, of course, restless but we are willing to prepare ourselves for the roles of activity in the future... we know this is an age of science but it is also an age of great social change."

"At the World Jamboree there were boys from 100 nations and speaking 60 languages, but we managed to understand each other and meet on the basis of mutual friendship... despite the drastic contrasts of many customs from many lands, we met as friends... even in Lima where we were first met at the college by protestors, we found them in the minority and that most of the students were friendly and pro-American."

To Set Ladies Night

Boss Lion Ronnie Christian said the club would hold a Ladies Night meeting in May, probably the week of the 15th. He said at that time the new club officers would be installed.

He announced that the TB X-Ray unit would be here May 15. He said the club would place a plaque in the high school in connection with the installation of a new public address system in the auditorium.

AUSTIN, Tex. — Budget battle lines are being drawn in the Legislature. But redistricting lines aren't. And Speaker Gus Mutscher is getting lined up for a summer marriage to a former Miss America.

While appropriations and redistricting don't look too cheerful, the prospect of putting a bride in the Speaker's Apartment in the Capitol has added a bright note to deliberations.

Early in the summer, Mutscher will marry Donna Axum, Miss America of 1964. Miss Axum, an Arkansas beauty, is a speech teacher at Texas Tech in Lubbock. As for redistricting, a US

Supreme Court ruling has wiped out the Legislature's optimistic feeling that it could avoid any sort of redistricting this year. High Court ruled that congressional districts must be precisely the same size, and legislatures "must justify each variance no matter how small."

Texas' congressional districts are clearly outside the Court's decision, so they will have to be redrawn. Since that involves a lot of work, the possibility of a special sessions looms.

In other action, the House Appropriations Committee approved its version of the budget bill for the next two fiscal years. A Senate-passed bill would spend $5,775,900,000, but the House version has only $5,724,500,000. Major difference is in raises for state employees.

While the Senate bill would involve a sizeable tax bill, the House version could get by on existing revenue. Neither bill includes pay raises for teachers.

Final bill will be drawn up by a House-Senate conference committee, which is expected to get pretty steamy in its deliberations.

WORK LOAD EASED — Easter holidays limited action on major legislation but Committees continued to churn out bills.

House tentatively approved annual legislative sessions, but fell one vote short of final passage of the constitutional amendment proposition.

Senators passed a minimum wage bill in their first Friday work of the 1969 session. Earlier they engrossed a proposed constitutional amendment to repeal the annual voter registration requirement, substituting a limit on the registration period of four years maximum.

Senate took two hours to engross legislation making Texas government units liable to damage suits for negligent acts of their personnel. An amendment attached by Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris exempted school districts, to the consternation of sponsors.

House passed 32 bills on local and consent calendars, then passed three more on the general calendar.

Approved by House committee and ready for early action are proposed constitutional amendments (already cleared by Senate) to legalize the sale of liquor by the drink on a local option basis, and abolish the welfare spending ceiling. Sponsors of both claim they need 100 votes for submission to voters at statewide elections.

OBSCENITY EYED — Liberties taken by motion pictures the past few years and the increase in the availability of smutty literature has resulted in a flood of bills aimed at tightening up the laws against obscenity.

House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee held a hearing on three of the bills—by Reps. James Nugent of Kerrville, Lamoine Holland of San Antonio and Joe Salem of Corpus Christi—and sent all three to the same subcommittee, which presumably will combine the most desirable features of all three into one bill.

Holland's bill aims at obscene literature, Salem's at dirty movies and Nugent's covers the whole field of obscenity.

Only opposition to the bills came from a spokesman for the Texas Drive-in Theater Owners Association, who said the bill would hurt the 1,000 legitimate theaters in Texas to get at the "50 or so that show skin flicks."

Also meeting favorable reception in the Legislature are bills to exempt from prosecution under the anti-obscenity laws projectionists who own no interest in theaters.

EDITORIAL

A "PLUG" for economy included by Rep. W. S. Heatly in his presentation of the House general appropriations bill should not be overlooked in the rush of talk about projected State spending.

Heatly, Chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, had comments on the matter as the "budget measure" was reported out Wednesday for floor consideration.

"In the last two years," he said, "we have raised the sales tax by two cents on the dollar. It is time to give the people of Texas a breathing spell to let the growth of the economy catch up with the growth of State government.

"Economy in the use of the taxpayers' dollar is the wise and responsible choice. This appropriations bill in the result of a great deal of research, planning and thoughtful study. In our opinion, this bill will adequately provide for the needs of our State government, yet will slow down the practice of raising taxes at every session of the Legislature."

Key facts about the bill support the Heatly thesis. At $5,724 billion for the next two years, the spending total is $51,400,000 less than is projected in the bill previously passed by the Senate. It would require no new taxes, whereas the Senate bill would, by about $63,300,000.

Of course, neither bill provides for the $220,000,000 for teacher pay increases over the next biennium expected to be approved by the Legislature. How it will be raised is a continuing topic for speculation. Also up for discussion are several "riders" in the House spending bill tabbed as "pet projects" of Representative Heatly.

These, as well as other details, will be subject to changes on the House floor as well as by the Senate-House conference committee. Heatly has followed an old custom of appropriations committee chairmen. There's still a long way to go.

In the meantime, taxpayers might be interested in Heatly's economy argument. He notes that the General Revenue Fund will have a "growth" addition of $238,600,000 during the next two years, without new taxes. His idea is that State agencies' "growth" should be tailored to this amount.

Taxpayers dismayed by rapidly increasing State, local and Federal taxes in recent years might wish somebody would pay attention.

SET FOR A CHANGE

The patio's paved, the fence installed, the rocks in place. Your setting is all set. Now you need a yearly change of scene so the setting doesn't become monotonous. Why not change the flowers?

For instance, one year you might use Wild Cherry zinnias edged with ageratum in front of the fence; plant a few Carefree geraniums between the rocks with ageratum to soften them.

The next year a change is obviously needed, so first plan an entirely new color scheme. Use the grass-like leaves of dusty miller as an edging, backing them with bright salmon geraniums.

Then, around the rocks, mass Peach Blossom petunias all by themselves for a two-toned effect of salmon-pink petals with white throats. Design a new planting each year this same way.

sects and Diseases on Fruits and Nuts. This guide not only gives the types of damage, but lists materials to use and the proper time to use them.

If weeds appear to be a problem in wheat, now is the time to control them. With ample moisture and good growing conditions, weeds will make rapid growth, especially in thin stands of wheat.

Remember this caution however. If 2,4-D is used, spray before the wheat begins to joint. Yield losses occur when 2,4-D is applied to wheat or other cereal crops during the jointing, booting and early heading stages.

If the expected yield is 20 bu. per acre, spraying will pay if there is an average of one tansy mustard weed per square foot. If you only expect 10 bu. per acre, two weeds per square foot would be the equivalent.

This information was based on wheat at $1.25 bu. and a spray cost of $1.50 per acre.

If you decide to spray, 1/2 lb. of 2,4-D ester in 5 to 10 gallons of water is used for ground application or the same amount of chemical in 2 to 5 gallons of water for aerial application.

Finally, be sure to read the label carefully, and follow instructions. Drift will cause damage to unsusceptible crops of yours and your neighbors.

Cotton planting time is not far off, and to provide for maximum returns per acre, select and plant high quality seed this spring.

Many of the seed produced last year have low germination properties. Hail damage and late maturing cotton often result in seed of low quality, therefore if seed were saved from crops of this nature, be sure to have a germination test made.

Also, factors which contribute to immature fiber (low micronaire) also are responsible for immature seed which results in decreased germination. Both high and low quality seed may be found in one location, therefore buyers should make sure they know the quality of the seed they are planting. The analysis tag will give this information if the seed are bought, but if they were caught, only a test will provide the needed information.

Don't skimp on seed quality. High quality seed can stand more adverse conditions, and less seed are required to obtain a stand. True, they cost more per 100 lbs., but in most cases they are the cheapest buy in the long run.

Beautiful house plants are easy to grow and maintain if a few basic rules are followed. A thorough application of water should be applied so that the moisture will run through the pot into a saucer below the container. This prevents the buildup of soluble salts in the potting soil and insures a good root distribution throughout the soil ball. The excess moisture should be drained from the saucer so that it cannot be absorbed by the plant.

It is best to use water that is the same temperature as the room in order to prevent chilling of the plants.

Use fertilizer very sparingly throughout the winter months unless supplemental light is provided and the plant has good growing conditions.

House plants should not be placed directly in the air stream from heating ducts. Direct exposures to this hot dry air can cause extreme damage.

The county 4-H elimination contests will be held in the Matador High School auditorium Monday night April 21st, starting at 7:30 p.m. The general public is invited to attend and witness the demonstrations, public speaking and talent.

Winners will compete for district honors at Wichita Falls on Saturday, May 3rd.

Large Bequest To Boys Ranch

Amarillo Daily News

The president of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch confirmed Thursday the ranch has been named the recipient of an approximately $4 million bequest, but cautioned that it is the daily small gifts which provide the boys' "bread and butter."

Jasper P. Baldwin, a San Francisco insurance man and investor who died February 14, 1968, named the ranch to receive the largest share of a $6.2 million estate which was reported for inheritance tax appraisal Wednesday in California.

Virgil Patterson, president of Boys Ranch, said the bequest was a memorial to Baldwin's late wife, Vivian Howell Baldwin.

The Santa Clara, Calif., County Superior Court clerk said Wednesday afternoon the bequest included 30,000 shares of stock in the Businessmen's Assurance Corp., and the residue of the estate, valued at $3,567,936.91.

"We have not been informed what the residue of the estate consists of," Patterson said. "It is my understanding there are shares of seven or eight other insurance companies involved, but we wouldn't know how much cash is involved."

Other bequests in Baldwin's will included $267,000 to the University of Oklahoma Alumni Development Fund and grants to relatives and friends. The Baldwins did not have any children.

Patterson indicated the entire bequest would be placed in the Boys Ranch Foundation, and only the dividends from the stock will be spent to "help defray the daily expenses of the boys."

The 30,000 shares of Businessmen's Assurance Corp., over-the-counter stock is currently valued at about $25 a share with the last dividend worth 35 cents per share.

The 35-cent dividend on just the 30,000 B. A. C. Shares will bring the ranch approximately $10,500 per year.

"Mr. Baldwin was a regular contributor to Boys Ranch," said Patterson. "He and Cal Farley were personally acquainted, having served together in France in 1918. When a real need existed, Cal could count on the help of J. P. Baldwin."

Patterson said the income from the invested funds would be distributed each year to Boys Ranch to help defray the daily expenses of the 348 boys currently at the ranch.

"It costs about $2,000 per year per boy," Patterson said. "I must emphasize the $1, $5, and $10 gifts are equally important. These are the daily bread and butter for the boys."
