Ray's 'Ritin'

By RAY MARTIN

The Pioneers (Capital letters) came to town this past week — in droves. The people turned out to see the pioneers and the Pioneers saw the people.

It was a grand and glorious Fourth, starting last Saturday a week ago. Nobody knows how many people turned out for the shindig at Benny Douglass stadium Thursday night, and nobody knows how many lined Main street for the downtown events earlier in the week. Set your own figures. Needless to say, more people were on Main Street Wednesday night alone than ever swarmed that business area before.

Pioneer celebrations are always a lot of fun. And the biggest thrill of the entire Golden Jubilee celebration, I think, was to the Pioneers themselves who turned out for their own part of the program. They yelled and screamed at one another, swapped tales and had one whale of a good time over at the C&H showrooms where they were the center of the spotlight.

One old-timer put it like this: "Best time I ever had in my life. I used to go to picnics and old-timers' reunions back when I was a kid, and I used to wonder why the old-timers got such a kick out of getting together and recalling old times. Well, now I know."

And another said: "I hadn't seen old Bill... since we punched cattle on the YL Ranch back 40 years ago. Sure was good to see him. Of course he had aged a lot — lots more than I have, in fact, but it was good to see him just the same."

And the man who had lived in this territory the longest — 62 years — said "there ought to be more get-togethers like that so we old-timers could get together and swap yarns."

And that's the way it went all through the entire celebration.

The kids especially got a big kick out of Wednesday night's "fast draw" demonstrations where "dead" men fell all over Main street just like "Gunslinger," and their enthusiasm was so great the officers had difficulty in keeping the children (and some adults) back far enough to give them a stage for their act.

Compliments should go to many persons and organizations, and I wouldn't attempt to list all the persons who had a hand in making the entire celebration such a success.

In fact, even listing the organizations would be difficult since it was a county-wide observance with everybody and every organization working together.

Right off, however, I can think of the Chamber of Commerce, the Jaycees, the ESA and Los Planos, the Muleshoe Study Club, the Historical Survey Society, and the merchants of Muleshoe. Such events are never a success unless the town pulls together as a team. Such team-work was in evidence throughout the Golden Jubilee event. The window displays of the relics was sensationally good, and literally hundreds of persons stopped by those showwindows to (See RAY'S, Page 6)

Thousands on Hand as Golden Jubilee Celebration Closes

Muleshoe's Golden Anniversary closed in a blaze of glory — literally — Thursday when Muleshoe fire department put a climax to the five days of celebration with the most elaborate fireworks display ever presented in Muleshoe.

On hand to see the closing activities, including the third annual talent contest, were thousands of persons who filled every available inch of Benny Douglas stadium. They even sat through more than an hour of sprinkling rain to see the contests and the fireworks display.

Final night's events included recognition of old-timers (who had their day on Wednesday), a beard-growing contest climax, the talent show and the fireworks display. Many persons who had gone to the park as early as 5 o'clock to spread basket suppers, stayed on until the final fireworks display, the American flag, had died away at 11 o'clock.

In the professional division,

Western Aces, a local band, took first place and George Bell, a "sing 'n pick" artist, won second. The Aces got $30 and Bell $35 in that division of the talent contest.

Big money for the amateur division — $150 — went to a young school teacher from Fairbanks, Alaska, Gary Krise, a trumpet player who is in Muleshoe to visit his sister, Mrs. Bill Bickel and her family.

A 12-member chorus, the Plainview Barber Shop Chorus from Plainview, took second money, and the Daegoes, a band from the southern part of the county, finished third. A song and instrumental duo, Dennis and Dean Dodson, Amarillo, finished in fourth spot. The Hilltop Gospel Singers, an all Negro group, got fifth money, and David Gupton, Pianist, finished in sixth place.

Two-score persons took part in the talent contest which had former Chamber Manager Carol Pouncey as emcee. Pouncey now is in Muleshoe.

Correction

A story "From Cob Park to Douglass Stadium" tracing football history in Muleshoe which appeared in the Anniversary edition of The Journal, Section G, Page 1, should have read as follows:

"At the homecoming game of the 1952 season, the Muleshoe stadium was officially designated Benny Douglass Stadium in memory of an outstanding Muleshoe athlete whose career was ended by an automobile accident, (not Eugene (Peanut) Hawkins). He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Douglass."

Transposition of paragraph of the 1957-59 season is the apparent reason for this error. The Journal is happy to make this correction.

Unfortunately, I was out of pocket. (See CRUME, Page 6)

Weather Boosts Crops; Moisture Called Adequate

Except that dryland areas could use a good shower, crops in general in Bailey county were in good shape as the week ended, a check revealed.

Moisture is adequate for the most parts, "but dryland areas could use a shower," is the way J. K. Adams, county agent, summed up the situation.

Wheat harvest was continuing without interruption during the past week on Bailey county's 12,000 to 15,000 acres. The harvest now is around 90 to 95 percent complete, experts say.

Corn, too, is doing unusually well; it's shoulder high or higher, Adams says, and grain sorghum promises to make more total crop than usual. Irrigation of grain sorghum and corn was at full tilt during the week.

Another bright spot in the crop picture is alfalfa. The bailing of excellent quality alfalfa hay continued, and the dehydration plant here was running around the clock, taking care of the excellent crop which Bailey county farmers are producing this year.

Adams said Irish potato harvest is getting under way with average to better yields "in spite of the weather bombardment in the recent weeks." He said 800 acres are now growing in this summer crop, and should add considerably to the area's economy as prices are holding steady between $2.75 and $3 per hundredweight.

Also in the vegetable line, several hundred acres of tomatoes have been thinned to the proper stand for the most part, "and the plants are being irrigated with a fairly heavy set of blooms in evidence," Adams summed up.

Lots of soybeans have replaced cotton which didn't make the grade, the county agent says. "It is estimated that up to 10,000 acres in Bailey county could have been planted to soybeans by the end of last week."

He explained, however, that "due to the low total income from soybeans, a fast-maturing grain sorghum would have been preferred by many farmers." He said the fact "that many farmers had entered into a contact with the government to plant a specified number of acres in grain sorghum, prevented a switch to this crop (soybeans) by a lot of farmers."

Cotton, the county's big money crop, promises "to do fairly well on dryland with normal rainfall throughout the remainder of the season," Adams concluded. The irrigated cotton, which was hampered by a lack of rain, (See WEATHER, Page 6)

Pioneers Form Club; 213 At Reception

Bailey county pioneers have formed their own organization as a result of a highly successful reunion here last Wednesday when 213 men and women, some of whom had lived in this area for more than half a century, were on hand. The event was sponsored by the Bailey County Historical Survey committee.

The group named Vera Engeling, as president; Walter Witte, vice-president, and Pat Bobo, secretary and treasurer. All are from Muleshoe.

To Bud Trout, 80, Amherst, went the honor of having lived longest in this area; he came here in 1901 and worked for Press Abbott as YL ranch wagon cook. (See picture, this page.)

Mrs. Birdie Paul was named as the oldest woman attending the reception, and Joe Jarman was the oldest man attending the celebration. To Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sone, Corpus Christi, went the prize for having traveled the farthest to attend the reunion. Mrs. Major Wood, Muleshoe, was honored as having been the first baby born here. Mrs. Leota Wilterding received a gift for being the first Bailey County school teacher.

Mrs. Engeling, who was chairman of the reception, expressed thanks Friday to the persons who helped make the event such a great success.

Those to whom she extended thanks "in behalf of the Bailey County Historical Research and Survey committee" were: Mr. and Mrs. Gil Lamb, K.MUL;

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hall, Muleshoe Journal; C&H Chevrolet and personnel; Ray Martin, Bill Moore, St. Clair's Department Store, Cobb's Department Store, Red's Food Market; Beaver's Flowerland, the REA, The Muleshoe Study Club, The Los Planos Club, The First National Bank, the Muleshoe State Bank, Roy Davis of the Chamber of Commerce, and Cashway Grocery.

Among the old-timers who registered were these:

Ona Tiffie, manager of Elite Hotel, Muleshoe, came here 57 years ago with her father who lived here three years. (They left but returned in 1923); Mrs. A. J. Hicks, Route 2, who came to the area (Parmer county) with her family in 1907;

Those living in Bailey county for 55 years include: Mrs. Frank Snyder, Mrs. Mary Snyder Wood, Mrs. E. H. Buhman, Miss Dottie Wilterding, Mildred Wilterding Head, Russell Buhman, Mrs. Leota Wilterding, A. C. Gaede. (See RECEPTION, Page 6)

Band Rehearsals Start Tomorrow

Kathy Phillips, director of the Muleshoe High School band, again Saturday urged all prospective 1963-64 band members to attend this week's pre-school band rehearsals.

The series to be started at 7:30 p. m. Monday, will continue through Friday to "start preparing for the start of the football season."

Muleshoe Quiet Over the Fourth, Blotter Shows Only One Arrest

Despite the fact that more people were in Muleshoe over the July 4th holiday and the days before than in many years, police and county officers report crime "was at a minimum."

Only one person was lodged in the county jail as a result of illegal holiday activities; one drunk was arrested and may be charged in justice court with disturbance.

"Everything was orderly throughout — in fact, it was just about the quietest fourth of July I can recall," says Justice of the Peace Joe Vaughn. No cases were filed in county court.

Muleshoe people observed the firecracker ban, and not a single arrest was made for violating the City's ordinance prohibiting the shooting of fireworks within the city limits. Not even a speeding charge was filed. Officers said.

The Golden Jubilee series brought thousands of people to town during the week, officers said, "but everybody behaved, and we had no complaints at any of the gatherings."

BEARD-GROWERS — While members of the ESA sorority served as judges, Muleshoe's beard-growing men paraded across the platform last Wednesday night for the judging procedure. Here are some 30 of the men who participated in the beard contest. Winners, although picked at this "lineup", were not announced by the sorority until the following night. (Journal Photos and Engravings)

WINNERS — These are the people who won in last Thursday night's talent contest at Benny Douglas stadium in both the amateur and professional divisions. Larger groups here are represented by only one member who came onto the stage at the close of the program to receive group's check. Nearly two-score acts were presented in the contest, third of its kind to be staged here.

Benedicts Home From Florida Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Vic Benedict have returned from Miami, Fla., where they attended Southern Life Insurance convention.

The Benedicts report a wonderful vacation and enjoyed their stay in the fabulous resort hotel, The Fontainebleau, which curves majestically above the ocean and bay on Miami Beach. The hotel is called a masterpiece of design and is furnished with French provincial furniture with most of the interior done in antique white spiced with beautiful colors in other decor. The lobby floor is of marble and would just about cover a city block, Benedict said. There is nine dining-dancing rooms in the building, each featuring a famous named orchestra each night. Among them, the Benedicts favorite was the Herb Shriner orchestra.

Business sessions were conducted each morning, and free time in the afternoons with guided tours and other things of interest planned for the guests.

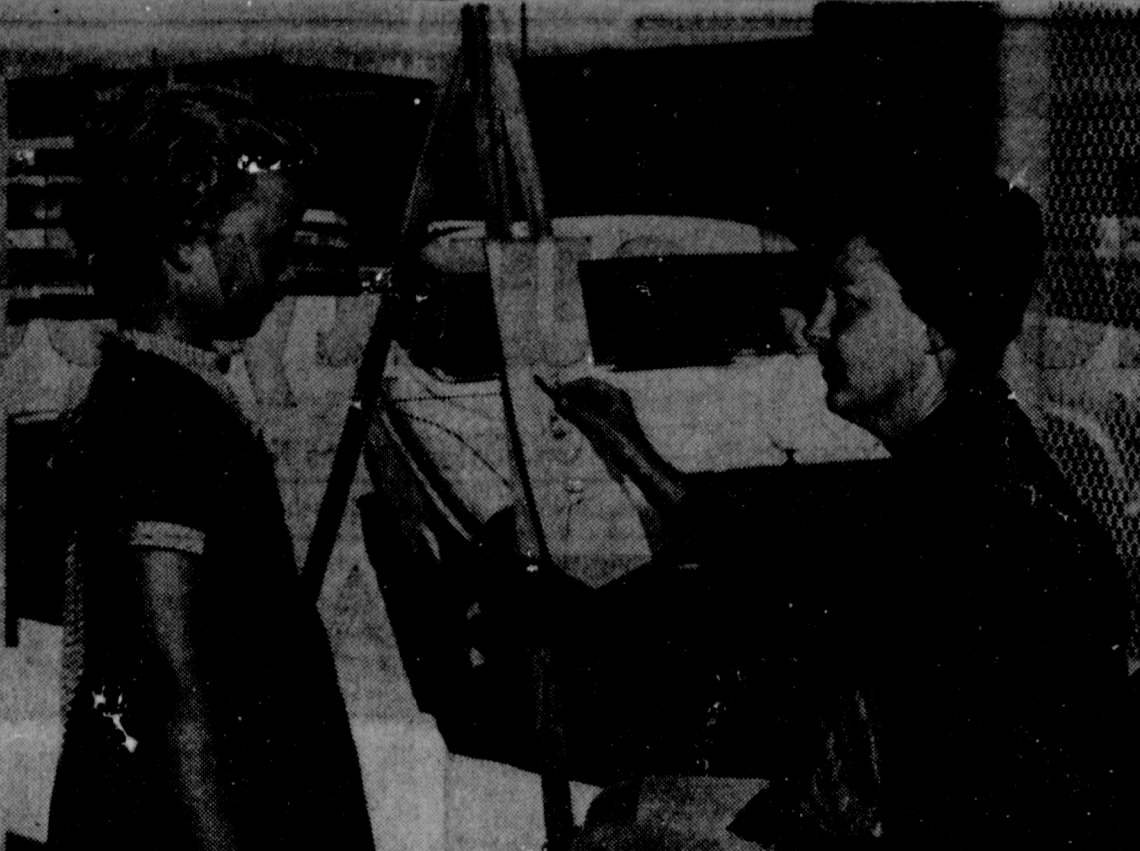

They saw the aquarium, Coral Gables, made side trips through Miami to historical points and amusement centers and visited Lincoln Mall; 12 city blocks housing exclusive stores, mostly imports.

Benedict said "they enjoyed the aquarium perhaps more than anything else on the tours. There, they saw trained porpus leaping as high as 17 feet out of the water, some were trained to play baseball while others used the bowling ball well. The whales, sharks, turtles, sea lions and the parrot fish were some of the other sea life they found interesting. The parrot fish is one of the most beautiful. Diver went into the water and fed the savage moray eels," he said.

They made the trip by airplane to and from Lubbock. They were aboard one of the latest jets on the flight from Miami to New Orleans which took far less time than driving home from Lubbock.

SIDEWALK ARTISTS — Among the many other attractions along the streets of Muleshoe during the past few days of celebrations were the sidewalk artists. People who cared to stop and with the artists closely studying their features would sketch their faces, spray the charcoal sketch with a fixative and hand them to their subject as a souvenir of the Golden Anniversary of this city. Artist Stresses Individuality In Each Creation

Mrs. Jack Lenderson was guest speaker at the Progress Home Demonstration Club when they met Tuesday, July 2 in the home of Dolores Gaddy. Mrs. Lenderson stressed the importance of art as an individual creation and to make it outstanding is to put your thought or imaginations into the picture you are painting.

The opening program on the history of the American flag was presented by Mrs. Albert Davis, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance.

Roll call was answered with an interesting subject: "What I do when I can do as I please." The club voted to help sponsor a girl at Girlstown.

Present for the meeting were Veta Self, Lena Kelsco, Phobe Gray, Maire Maltby, Fren Davis, Myrtle Wells, Lela Mardis, Lauretta Baker, Gretie Meyers and a new member, Letha Wheeler, and a visitor, Mrs. Hill.

4-H Club Plans Dress Revue Here

An organizational meeting for the 4-H Club was held Monday, July 1, in the home of Mrs. Joe Wheeler. Jean Martin, Bailey County Home Demonstration agent was in charge.

Plans were made for the annual 4-H dress revue to be held soon. Mrs. Martin gave the girls tips on the revue and the making of the garments they will wear. She also pointed out facts concerning styles and materials for the dresses.

The following leaders were elected: Jane Wedel, Kay Floyd and Lenda Gross, junior leaders; Mrs. Harold Mardis, Mrs. Joe Wheeler, Mrs. James Wedel and Mrs. Loyde Haire as senior leaders. Attending were: Barbara Wilhite, Babs Haire, Vicki Stallings, Charlotte Wedel and Gerldine Gray and junior and senior leaders named above.

Off The Runways

By DORIS KINSER

Dow Chemical Company executives were flown to Old Mexico in a convoy of light planes leaving from Fort Stockton last week.

Among the planes and pilots was the Muleshoe Flying Service Comanche piloted by Morgan Locker.

The flight was an unusual one for Locker in as much as their destination was the fluor spar mines owned by the company located deep in the Aquachile Mountains.

Bill Hargas, owner of the Fort Stockton airport has been making this flight for the company for some time and called Locker to assist with the large group going in. Locker flew to Fort Stockton where the men landed in a Gulf Stream Turbo Jet to board the smaller crafts.

Leaving there with three aboard in each plane, they flew over the Big Bend Country and crossed the border. On approaching the Aquachile range, the planes circled to allow Locker to get his bearing and see what the situation was before going in for landing on an 1,500 foot runway nestled at the base of the mountains. Locker readily admitted that he felt that he really had the "devil by the tail" that time. From the air the short strip looked very much like a toy and not anything intended for use of a loaded plane.

As they circled, the company vice-president pointed out a mushroom formation to Locker, in the center of a narrow canyon where men were working and ask Locker to fly down through the canyon so they might see work being done from the air.

Locker lowered altitude, swooped down over the crest of the mountain and through the canyon right over the operation and made the exit through a gap in the range on the southern end.

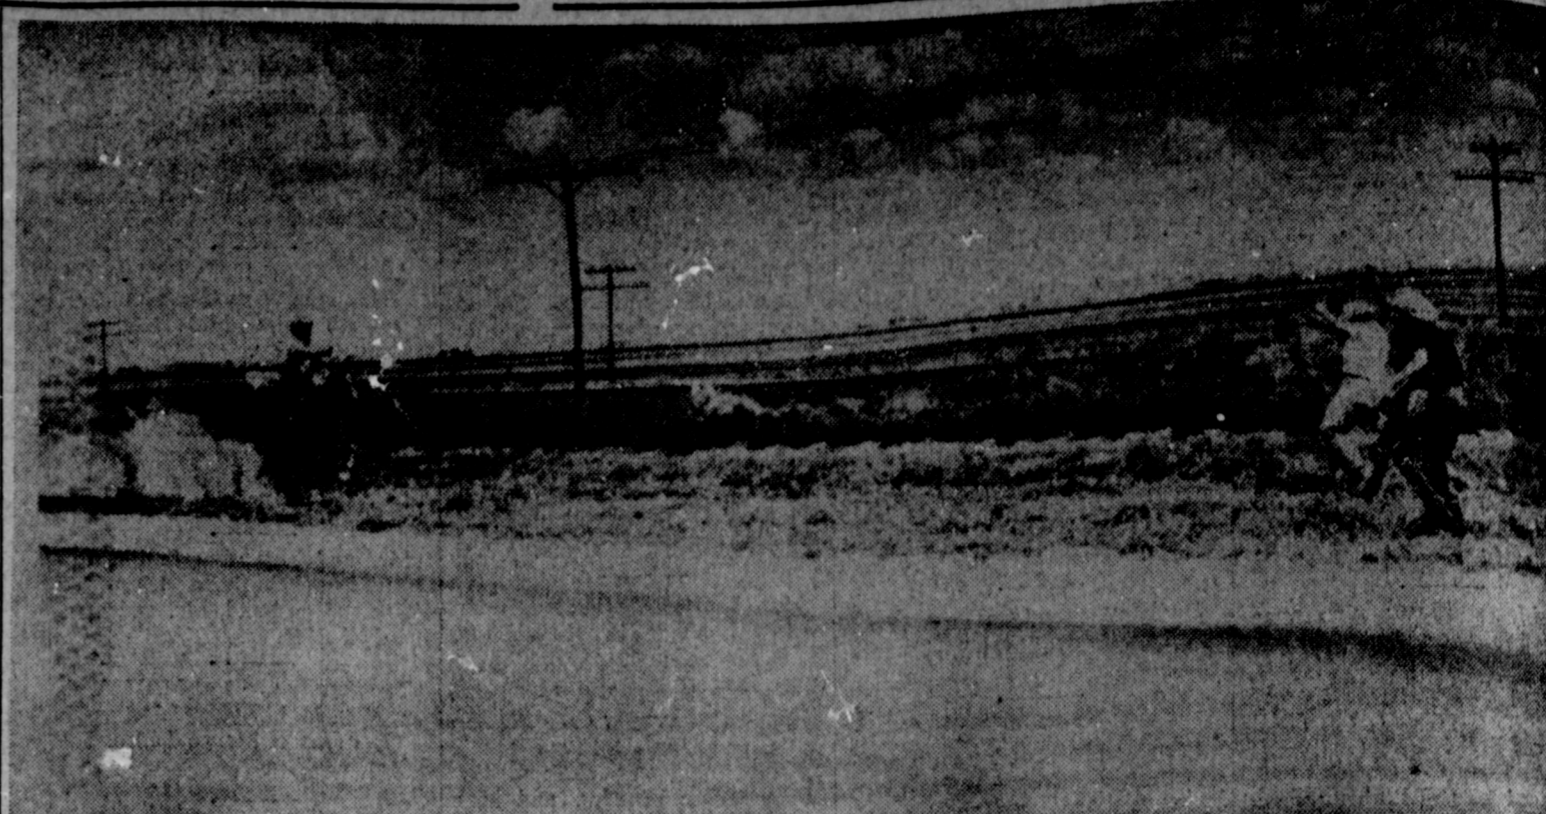

While the other planes landed Locker circled nearby to watch their approach and landings. Being the only pilot in the group who had not made the flight before, he was told in a briefing before leaving that one pass at the runway was all of it, as there was not room to pull out and try again — but Locker found out that could be done also. His first try at the runway was too high and giving the Comanche the "works" he made the recovery climb-out, circled and his second try was a good one. The approach to the strip had to be made by "rolling around the side of the mountain and settling in as near to the base as possible," Locker said.

On a tour of the mines with the Dow men, he found that the fluor spar deposit there was the largest in the world. The deposit is 600 feet deep, 400 feet across and is testing 90 percent pure. It is sold for $75 per ton in rock form and is a heavy substance. The mine is being run at full capacity and turning out around 90 tons per day.

There, they saw how the fluor spar was extracted and conveyed to a series of crushers. From the crushers, the finer ground product is loaded into large six-wheeled tank truck and hauled to the refinery some 25 miles away near Heath's Crossing.

Mexican labor is used in the mines and they are paid 3 pesos and 50 centavos per week and room and board. Their camp is of modern construction, built of adobe and plaster and are cool.

After some two hours they took off, flying to the refinery at Heath's Crossing. The take off was another maneuver — the planes were taxied to the extreme end of the runway at the base of the mountain and made their take-off run toward the lower range to allow more time to pull out. They landed on the Texas side of the border and crossed over on a swinging foot bridge to

THE GREAT MAIL ROBBERY — Well, almost anyway. When Littlefield's pony express rider came through Muleshoe last week as that town celebrated its golden anniversary, Muleshoe Jaycees staged a little "holdup". But the rider, mounted on a fresh steed, purred on the spurs and outran the would-be mail robbers. He's shooting at the would-be robbers with his six-shooter (cap) gun. (Journal Photo & Engraving) the refinery.

Here they saw how the fluor spar was pulverized, washed and dried and finally loaded into railroad cars to be sent to aluminum plants, the makers of toothpaste, Freon and other product manufacturers.

Some years ago, Locker was told, soon after the discovery of the deposit in Mexico, a number of executives were aboard a DC-3 when it crashed while landing on the short strip and all were killed. Since that time the company has had a rule that not more than 3 officials could go in the same craft and the use of the large craft was abandoned for this particular flight. The convoy method was then established with Bill Hargas in charge of finding pilots of long experiences, especially in the crop dusting field, to fly the planes.

GLIDER FLYING

Henry Collins, Lubbock, had good luck finding thermals for glider flying here last Thursday. Collins had been unfortunate in finding the lifts during his past experiences, but hit the big one Thursday and soared to a height around 10,000 feet.

GOLFERS

Bill Jim St. Clair flew golfers Sam Damron, Herb Griffiths and Myron Pool to Midland where the four of them played in a tournament last week. Later, St. Clair flew to Odessa taking Ray Hardy and Russell Haberer to play in qualifying rounds for a tournament there.

A flight was made Saturday to Weatherford in the Aztec taking Jake Diehl, Warren Lawson and Mark Grimsley from Diehl paving contractors and Ted Harrison and Herb Ramage, Ready Mix Concrete company. The business men attended a sale of heavy equipment. Morgan Locker was pilot.

PASSENGERS

Brenda and Kay Tiller, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Godron Tiller, and their cousins, David and Danny Tiller, Amarillo, were passengers on a local flight recently. It was the first ride for David and Danny who enjoyed their flight, they said.

Dr. Ray Santos obtained his private license Sunday after taking his flight test in Lubbock. Santos had spent 4 consecutive days flying under Jim Hays instructions as a brush-up course. Santos has been flying in his spare time for several months.

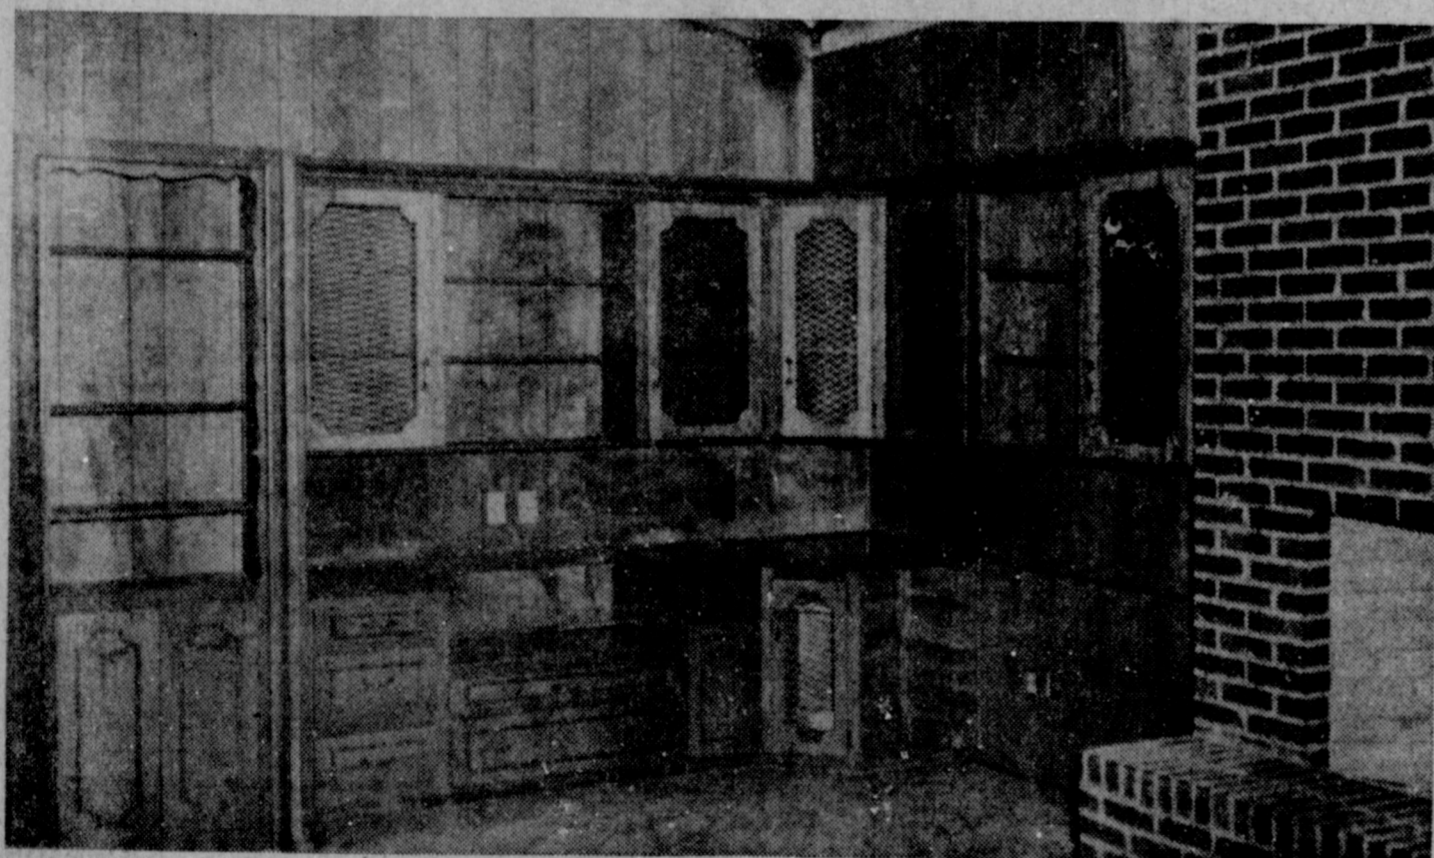

The XIT ranch hands had to know how to sit a horse and take care of it, to work from a horse to live with a horse, and even talk back to a horse.

Senator John Tower (R) of Texas huddles with Senator Clifford Case (R) of New Jersey (left) and Senator Gordon Allott (R) of Colorado (center), following the President's Civil Rights message to Congress. Tower said he could not support the President's proposals, "several provisions of which I feel are unsound for reasons apart from the race question." He was particularly critical of proposals calling for compulsory integration of private business establishments. Tower said a better approach to the Civil Rights issue would be passage of his own bill, which would render null and void exclusive contracts with labor unions that practice discrimination with regard to race, color, creed, or national origin.

PIONEERS FROM EVERYWHERE — Many of the people who attended last Wednesday's reunion came from considerable distance to the event. This is another group of pioneers who were here for the reunion. (Journal Photo & Engraving)

EARLY PICNICKERS — Many people came early to the 4th of July celebration at Benny Douglass stadium to spread their suppers on the grass. Here are a few of the family-group picnics in progress. (Journal Photo & Engraving)

SINGER — George Bell, a "sing 'n pick" artist appeared a number of times at the downtown celebration. Here he's shown in action.

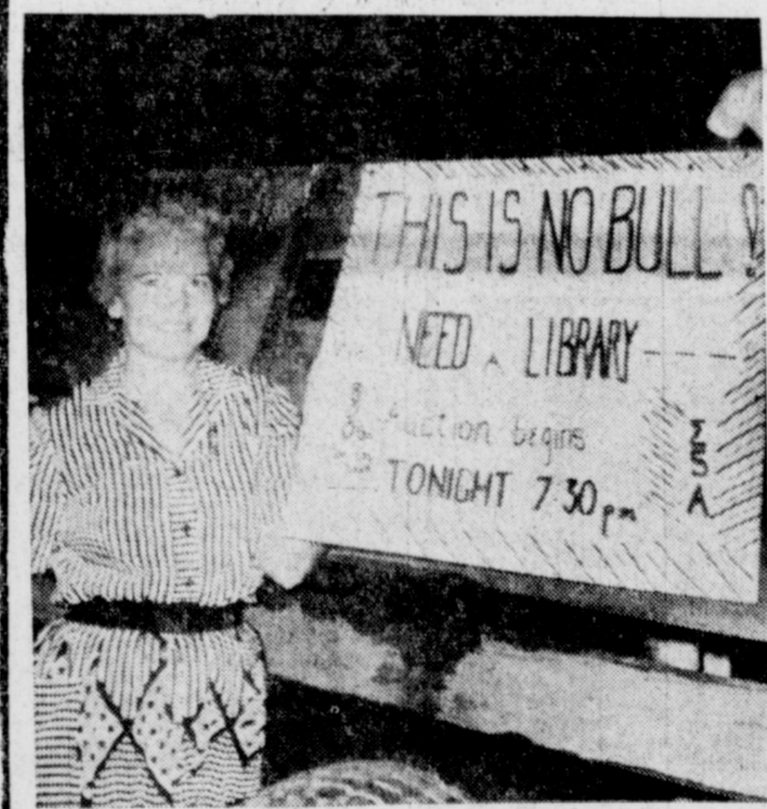

INTERVIEW — C-C manager Roy Davis conducted several interviews from the downtown speakers platform. Here he interviews Pat Glover of the Jaycees.

PIONEERS ALL — Most of the Bailey county pioneers who showed up for the first reunion spent the time comparing notes on early days. Here are several comparing notes. (Journal Photo & Engraving)

You're invited! Come to our 10th Birthday Party!

Take home the Presents: Biggest Savings! Highest Quality! Always at Piggly Wiggly!

PLUS LOW, LOW, LOWEST PRICES

In ten short years, Shop Rite Foods, Inc., has grown from one to 75 Piggly Wiggly Stores in 31 towns and three states. By July, 1955, Shop Rite was operating 7 stores in Albuquerque and Santa Fe, N.M.... Already an indication that the company's growth was to be steady and continuous. To maintain that steady progress, many extra services and the highest quality at the lowest prices had to be prevalent at all times. This policy still continues, ten years later as Shop Rite continues to keep you, the customer, foremost in mind.

Won't you help us celebrate our 10th Anniversary by enjoying the low, low prices, and registering for these valuable prizes? Drawings will be held July 31, 1963. You need not be present to win. Only residents of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, 18 years or older are eligible. Employees of Shop Rite Foods, Inc., its subsidiaries, and their immediate families are not eligible to win.
