MEET YOUR NEIGHBOR

NANCY LONG

Nancy Long of Roaring Springs works part-time at the Roaring Springs Ranch Club. She and her husband, Charlie, have three children and seven grandchildren.

In her spare time, Nancy enjoys handwork, crafts, painting, and yard work.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Giving: The best thing to give to -
Your enemy is forgiveness;
An opponent, tolerance;
A friend, your heard;
Your child, a good example;
Yourself, respect;
All men, charity.

—F.M. Balfour

Around Town

Roaring Springs First Baptist Church To Hold Summer Revival

The First Baptist Church in Roaring Springs is having a Summer Revival June 9-14. The Texas Team

Ministry will bring three college ministers for adults, teens and children's ministry.

It will be a very exciting time with God pouring out his spirit to revive all of us to worship him.

Everyone is welcome. For more information please call Rev. Don Jones 348-7978.

Local 4-H's Top Winners In District Roundup

Almost 200 4-H members attended the Rolling Plains 4-H District Roundup to compete for top honors in various 4-H contests. The contests were held Saturday, May 11, in Vernon. Motley County 4-H members participating at District Roundup were Aleda Ross, Darryn Perryman, Kasey Parks, and Rebecca Long.

Aleda Ross placed second in the Share-The-Fun Vocal/Musical contest in the Jr. Division.

Rebecca Long competed in the 4-H Fashion Show, and won second place.

The Motley County team of Darryn Perryman and Kasey Parks competed and placed first in the Beef Cattle Junior Symposium with "The Beef of the Dollar" in the Senior Division. Only first and second place teams or individuals qualify for the State event. Juniors, under the age of 14, don't compete beyond District level.

Winners Saturday were honored at an Award assembly at Wilbarger Memorial Auditorium which concluded a morning competition. Awards were sponsored by the West Texas Utilities Company.

Darryn and Kasey qualified for State and will represent the District when they attend Texas 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M in College Station, on June 3-7, to compete for top honors in the State.

FACTS ON DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

Domestic violence, now generating much attention in the United States, is a tragedy viewed from any perspective. The statistics are alarming but informative.

— About 6 percent of violence victims who reported to the National Crime Survey in 1990 were attacked by members of their own family — somewhat less than two-thirds were simple assaults.

— Women are the most frequent victims of simple assaults, with divorced, separated and cohabiting women at greatest risk.

— Intra-family violence accounted for at least 18 percent of all homicides in 1990.

— Twenty-nine percent of the women murdered in the United States in 1992 were killed by a husband, ex-husband or suitor. The type of person who is a batterer tends to become a stalker after the breakup of the relationship, a situation in which the woman frequently concludes that her situation can become dangerous if she tries to leave. Economic dependence desire to preserve the home, and concern about separation from the children may also add to the reasons for a woman's unwillingness to leave or to press charges.

— Eighty percent of batterers were the sons of batterers who observed their fathers abusing their mothers.

— Almost four million American women were physically abused by their husbands or boyfriends in the last year alone.

— Forty-two percent of murdered women are killed by their intimate male partners.

— The U.S. Department of Justice estimates that 95 percent of assaults on spouses or ex-spouses are committed by men against women.

— Domestic violence is repetitive in nature; about one in five women victimized by her spouse or ex-spouse reported that she had been a victim of a series of at least three assaults in the past six months.

— Close to half of all incidents of domestic violence against women discovered in the National Crime Survey - 48 percent - were not reported to police.

— Ninety-two percent of women who were physically abused by their partners did not discuss these incidents with their physicians; 57 percent did not discuss the incidents with anyone.

— In a study of a major metropolitan hospital emergency department that had a protocol for domestic violence, the emergency department physician failed to obtain a psychosocial history, ask about abuse, or address the woman's safety in 92 percent of the domestic violence cases.

— One study showed that 30 percent of women presented with injuries in a hospital emergency department were identified as having injuries caused by battering.

— Interventions in the form of incarceration of the offender in early stages, protective restraining orders and family counseling seem to be helpful in many cases.

— Data indicate that the batterers in upper income and educational groups respond to punishment after the first police call, and that psychiatric counseling is valuable to many at this early stage.

Educational programs of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, disability, religion, age, or national origin.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Men want to improve only the world; but mothers want to improve their whole family - that is a much harder task.

Time Was.....

With apologies to Mrs. J.E. (Marge) Edwards for omitting her part on the program for the seniors and their mothers that was sponsored by the El Progreso Study Club a month ago we now present it:

"School reunions can be a competitive sport. At early reunions classmates compete with each other about jobs and incomes. At the 25th, it is spouses and children. At the 50th reunion they brag about travels, grandchildren, and vacation homes. While at the 60th, they are regarding with envy or glee, classmates' waistlines, hairlines and wrinkle lines! Just let me tell you how we were in the thirties.

We were before television, before penicillin, the pill, polio shots, antibiotics and Frisbees. We were before radar, fluorescent lights, credit cards and ballpoint pens. For us timesharing meant togetherness, not computers or condominiums; a chip meant a piece of wood; hardware meant hardware and software wasn't even a word. A virus meant a disease of some kind, not a computer breakdown. In those days bunnies were small rabbits and rabbits were not Volkswagens. Space travel was the distance between two towns on the map.

We were before Batman, Rudolph the Rednosed Reindeer and Snoopy, before DDT and vitamin pills, disposable diapers, jeeps and the Jefferson nickel. Before Scotch tape, M&M's, the automatic shift and Concourse d'elegance, Achieva, Beretta, and Geo Prism, cellular telephones and internet.

When we were in college, pizzas, Cherrios, frozen orange juice, instant coffee and McDonalds were unheard of. We thought Fast Food was what you ate during Lent. We were before FM radios, tape recorders, electronic music, and disco dancing. Dirty dancing is what the preacher said in his sermon on Sunday we had been doing on Saturday night at the Fire Hall. We were before pantyhose and drip-dry clothes. Before icemakers and dishwashers, clothes dryers, freezers and microwaves and electric blankets. Before men wore long hair and women wore tuxedos. We got married first and then lived together. How quaint can you be?? In the thirties, the A.B.C.'s meant the alphabet. Now the letters may mean a million different things: VCR, DEA, ASC, SCS, MHR, SLT, BMW, XLT24K, XE 4x4 and lest we forget DOA! In a recent survey of Jr. High students, results showed that they could name and spell more alcoholic beverages than they could name presidents of the United States. The only beverages that we knew were home brew and bathtub gin but we could name the presidents of the U.S. In our day, cigarette smoking was fashionable, grass was mowed, Coke was something you drank and pot was something you cooked in. In the 30's "made in Japan" meant junk and the term "making out" referred to how you did on an exam. We were before coin vending machines, jet airplanes, helicopters and interstate highways. In our time, there were five and ten cent stores where you could buy things for five and ten cents. For just one nickel, you could ride the street car, make a phone call, buy a coke or buy enough stamps to mail one letter and two postcards. You could buy a Chevy coupe for $600.00 but who could afford it in the 30's? Nobody!! A pity, too, because gas was 11¢ a gallon. Our parents put the kids to sleep at night with bedtime stories, now the kids come in and tell you stories that keep you awake all night! You would never be caught dead in blue jeans that come from the store, nowadays you want yours to look like ours did when they were ready for the ragbag. We were before deodorants; so, we knew the real aroma of honest sweat. Incidentally, I noticed in the paper this week that Arrid has announced a new scent called Sport Scent. I wonder if it is dirty socks or dirty gym shoes!

We were not before the difference between the sexes was discovered, but we were before sex changes. We just made do with what we had! We thought AIDS was assistance to a friend in need.

And so it was in the 30's. This is the way we were and we loved it! However, we do not want to go back to the good old days. Alexander Graham Bell once said, "When one door closes, another opens, but we often look so long and so regretfully upon the closed door that we do not see the opened one for us." Now, as the door closes on your high school graduation, keep your eyes looking for the opened door for you, and may your high school memories be as much fun as our memories have been."

This was a most worthy talk by a teacher respected by parents and students alike and requests for it have been many. Apologies again, Marge, for omitting this from the original story.

Religious Poems Sought In Free Contest

A $1,000 grand prize is being offered in a free poetry contest, open to everyone in the Matador area. There are over $3,000 in prizes, and the deadline for entering is July 12, 1996. Winners will be announced on or before October 1, and a winner's list sent to all entrants.

"Poems must be written on a religious theme such as love," says Daisy Rudge, Contest Director of the famed

New York Poetry Alliance. "Poets are the brief chroniclers of our time. In a world so full of hate, we'd like to see what poets say on a spiritual level. We feel this contest will produce exciting results and, as such, reserve the right to publish the winning poems. Beginners are welcome!"

To enter, send one poem 21 lines or less to: Poetry Contest, Box 1588, New York, NY 10116-1588.

Green-Thumb Tips For Wildflowers

(NU) - Is your enthusiasm for wildflowers dampened by planting challenges? If so, here are some sure steps to success:

• Decide why you want wildflowers. A showy display of color is usually the primary goal.
• Wildflowers need adequate water. In climates with less than 30 inches of annual rainfall, supply a half-inch of water per week.

• Get the right seed mix for your climate.
• Pick the right time of year to plant — fall or early spring is best.
• Maintain properly — weed regularly and irrigate when dry.

For more advice and a list of seed suppliers, contact The Wildflower Group, American Seed Trade Association, 601 13th St., N.W., Suite 570 South, Washington, DC 20005.

Pet Peeves

by Mary Meason

Some time ago there were several of us elderly (old) ladies visiting and somehow the conversation turned to a discussion of our pet peeves. And I was surprised to find that nearly all of us had an aversion to the same things.

I was glad to let someone else speak first for fear that the other ladies would think I was just foolish and some kind of odd ball. But surprisingly was agreed on nearly everything that we expressed as a pet peeve.

The number one pet peeve that everyone expressed was the junk that is covering up the town. We all agreed that anyone entering Matador from the East would form a very poor opinion of our town. The amount of junk, weeds, old cars and vacant unused buildings certainly doesn't speak very well of our city.

All but two agreed that one thing was certainly another pet peeve. It was the person who thinks they know everything about all things, and everyone else is wrong and dumb!

All but one considered another thing as a pet peeve, and that was people who call on the phone and talk and talk with no consideration for what the other person is doing! That is really unpleasant for people who don't especially like to talk on the phone!

One pet peeve goes back to my golf playing days at the old golf course at the airport at Roaring Springs.

There was one lady whom I played with a number of times and she knew just exactly how to put a hex on me.

Going to one green we had to play around we had to play around the edges of a field and if we hit out ball into the field it was out of bounds and cost two strokes on the score. Everytime that I played with that lady when I'd get up to tee off for that green she would say, "Now don't get in the field." I got in that field everytime I played with her!

I found out I wasn't the only golfer who was hexed by that bit of advice.

Everyone agreed on one pet peeve. That pet peeve was the people who monopolize the conversation in a crowd, in a loud voice in such a way that a soft spoken person doesn't have a chance of getting a word in edge ways. My father use to say that people like that "love the sound of their own voice." Somewhere I read recently that these people were addicted to hearing their own voice.

Everyone agreed the "gloomy Gus" is an annoying person. Don't you know a person or persons who see the dark side of everything! Everything, in their estimation, is everybody else's fault. Nothing is going right, someone else is to blame for everything that goes wrong, no matter what it may be. There is never a note of joy or pleasure in their conversation. Everything is gloom and doom.

Oh, well who knows. We may all be someone's pet peeve!

"Dead to Sin"

The Bible tells us that Christians are to consider themselves dead! Dead to sin, that is. But alive to Christ. This concept of which the apostle Paul writes in Ephesians 2 is not difficult to grasp. The idea is that Christian people are to be unresponsive to the enticement of sin. The Christian is not to be stimulated or drawn to wickedness.

When the heart is cleansed by the blood of Jesus it is no longer ruled by Satan and his influence. Sin no longer reigns in our mortal bodies. Rather than being instruments of sin we are to be the instruments of God fitted for righteousness. What provides our direction? Our drive? God is our motivator and the Love of Christ constraineth us.

Alive! It is the anti-thesis of Death! Alive denotes movement, function and existence. Our God has made us alive even though we were dead in sin. "If then you have been raised up with the Christ, keep seeking the things above, where Christ is, seated at the right hand of God. Set your mind on the things above, not on the things that are on the earth. For you have died and your life is hidden with Christ in God." (Col. 3: 1-3)

Accent on Health

Tanya Barkley Named To US Achievement Academy

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Tanya Barkley has been named a United States National Award winner in Foreign Language.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Tanya, who attends Motley County ISD was nominated for this national award by Mrs. Kay Bingham, the Spanish teacher at the school.

Tanya will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Tanya is the daughter of L.J. and Eva Barkley and the granddaughter of Edith Gebauer of Vienna, Austria.

DPS Urges Driving Caution Now That School Is Out

With the final bell ringing the end of another school year, comes increased levels of excitement for area children and youth. These young people will be at parks, swimming pools, movies and many near and in streets.

Trooper L.B. Snider of the Texas Department of Public Safety calls on area motorists to pay extra attention to these areas as the school year ends. "Give extra attention to those playing on or near streets. Remember, in the excitement of play, kids will often do things they shouldn't, such as running, skating or biking into traffic areas. One sudden lunge by a child and an inattentive moment of a motorist can result in that child's frightened eyes looking at us through our windshield," Trooper Snider cautions.

Trooper Snider says, "Numerous youngsters will be on skates and bicycles on sidewalks, into driveways and streets. Many of these young people have limited traffic skills and motorists should be mindful of this fact. Parents need to help these children to develop these skills. Snider encourages bicyclists to use approved helmets, avoid frayed pant cuffs and shoe strings. Elbow and knee pads can also help minimize injuries.

Trooper Snider advises that whether on foot, bicycle, skateboard, etc. for young people to wear good visibility clothing to aid motorists' ability to see them in time to avoid a disaster. "By taking a little daily to see that our young people are properly dressed and geared for outdoor activities and well coached on safety skills, this can be the exciting and enjoyable time that the end of the school year should be," concludes Snider.

KNOW WHAT TO DO BEFORE EMS ARRIVES

Even if you don't have medical training, what you do before emergency medical technicians or paramedics arrive could prevent a death or disability. As part of National and Texas EMS Week, May 19-25, Texans are being urged to learn that minutes count in medical emergencies -- and Texans can make a difference.

* Have the person sit or recline, and make him or her as comfortable as possible by loosening clothing at neck, chest and waist. Keep the person warm but not hot.

* If the victim suddenly collapses and loses consciousness, try to wake the person. If you can't locate a breath or pulse, begin CPR if you're trained.

"What you do before emergency medical help arrives could mean the difference between life and death for someone you love," said Smith. "And now is the best time to learn what to do in an emergency. You may be the only person available to perform CPR on someone or to stop serious bleeding."

To receive a copy of TDH's brochure "When Minutes Count: A Citizen's Guide to Medical Emergencies," call the Bureau of Emergency Management at 512-834-6700 or write TDH Bureau of Emergency Management at 1100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas 78756.

"Some of the most critical moments in a medical emergency are right after the problem has occurred, whether it's a car wreck or a heart attack," says Texas Commissioner of Health, David R. Smith, M.D. "If you think it's an emergency, call EMS. Then take steps to help the victim until EMS arrives."

Smith added, "Calling EMS in nonemergencies can unnecessarily tie up the response system and make it harder for EMS personnel to do their job -- which is responding to emergencies. But if you think it's an emergency, don't hesitate. Call EMS."

TDH's Bureau of Emergency Management offers these tips for what to do before EMS arrives:

Bleeding - Call EMS immediately for serious or spurting bleeding:

* Have the person lie down and apply firm, direct pressure over the wound to stop the bleeding. Maintain pressure until EMS arrives.

* Elevate the injured limb, but do not raise the person's feet higher than the head.

* Do not use tourniquets.

Broken Bones - Keep the injured limb or area from moving and do not move the person unless he or she is in immediate danger.

* Apply ice pack to minimize swelling.

* If a broken bone protrudes through the skin, cover with a dry dressing but do not try to push it back in. If excessive bleeding occurs, use direct pressure over the area to stop the bleeding.

Seizures - Protect the person from further injury by removing obstacles:

* Turn the person onto one side.

* If a person has fallen or shows signs of head injury, do not move the person until EMS arrives.

* Do not force anything into the person's mouth.

* Do not try to restrain the person's movements during the seizure.

Head, neck and back injuries - Do not move the person until EMS arrives unless absolutely necessary to save his other life:

* Cover severe, deep cuts on the head with a clean cloth but do not try to clean. Do not apply heavy pressure to bleeding areas as this could cause brain injuries.

* Do not prop up the person's head if you suspect neck or back injuries. This could cause further damage to the spinal cord.

Heart attack - A heart attack victim may feel pain or heavy pressure in the chest area or jaw, shoulder and arms:

* Do not wait to see if the pain or discomfort goes away. Call EMS.

Shriners' Creed

Shriners believe in God and that He created man to serve His purposes, among which is service to others in His name.

We believe that care for the less fortunate, especially children who suffer from burns and crippling diseases, is our institutional calling.

We are patriots, each willing to serve his country with fidelity and courage. We cherish independence under law and freedom with responsibility.

We honor family. We respect our parents, wives and children. We should instill in our children the tenets of this creed and the heritage from which it emanates.

As individuals we pledge ourselves to integrity, virtue and nobility of character. Our intentions will be honorable, our relations will be trustworthy and our spirits forging of each other.

As brothers we offer each other fraternal affection and respect. Together we will support each other in adherence to this creed, so that we and our communities will be the better because of our fraternity and its principles.

As Shriners we look beyond ourselves to serve the needs of others, especially children who cannot help themselves. We believe Shriners Hospitals to be the world's greatest philanthropy, and we covenant with each other to support its "temples of mercy" with spirit, time, talent and means.

The local Lodge thanks everyone for the cans given for the burned and crippled children.

After Summer Camp, Watch for Head Lice

Head (NU) - Children love to go to camp, but they can bring home an unwelcome visitor - head lice.

Lice are difficult to see. But their eggs are glued to the hair and are easier to see.

The tiny eggs are usually clustered along the centerline from the front to back of the head, just above the ears and nape of the neck. When you find lice eggs, called nits, don't panic.

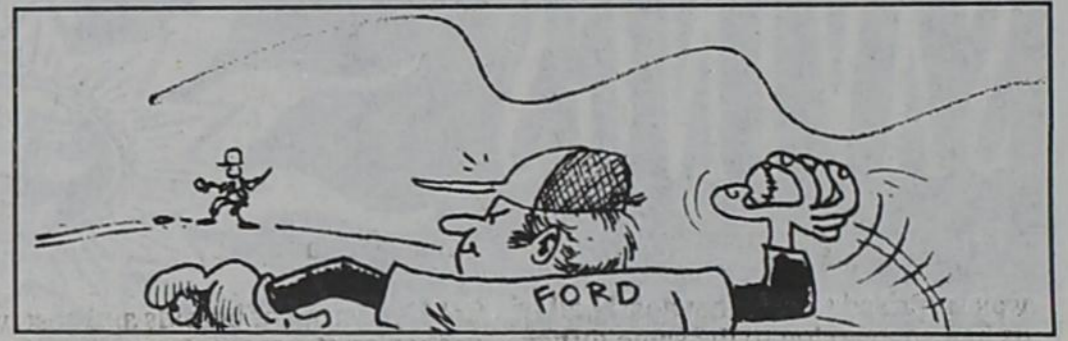

Care Technologies, Inc. has a guide that details the three steps you will need to follow: Kill the lice, remove the nits and stay lice-free.

"For we are God's workmanship, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do."

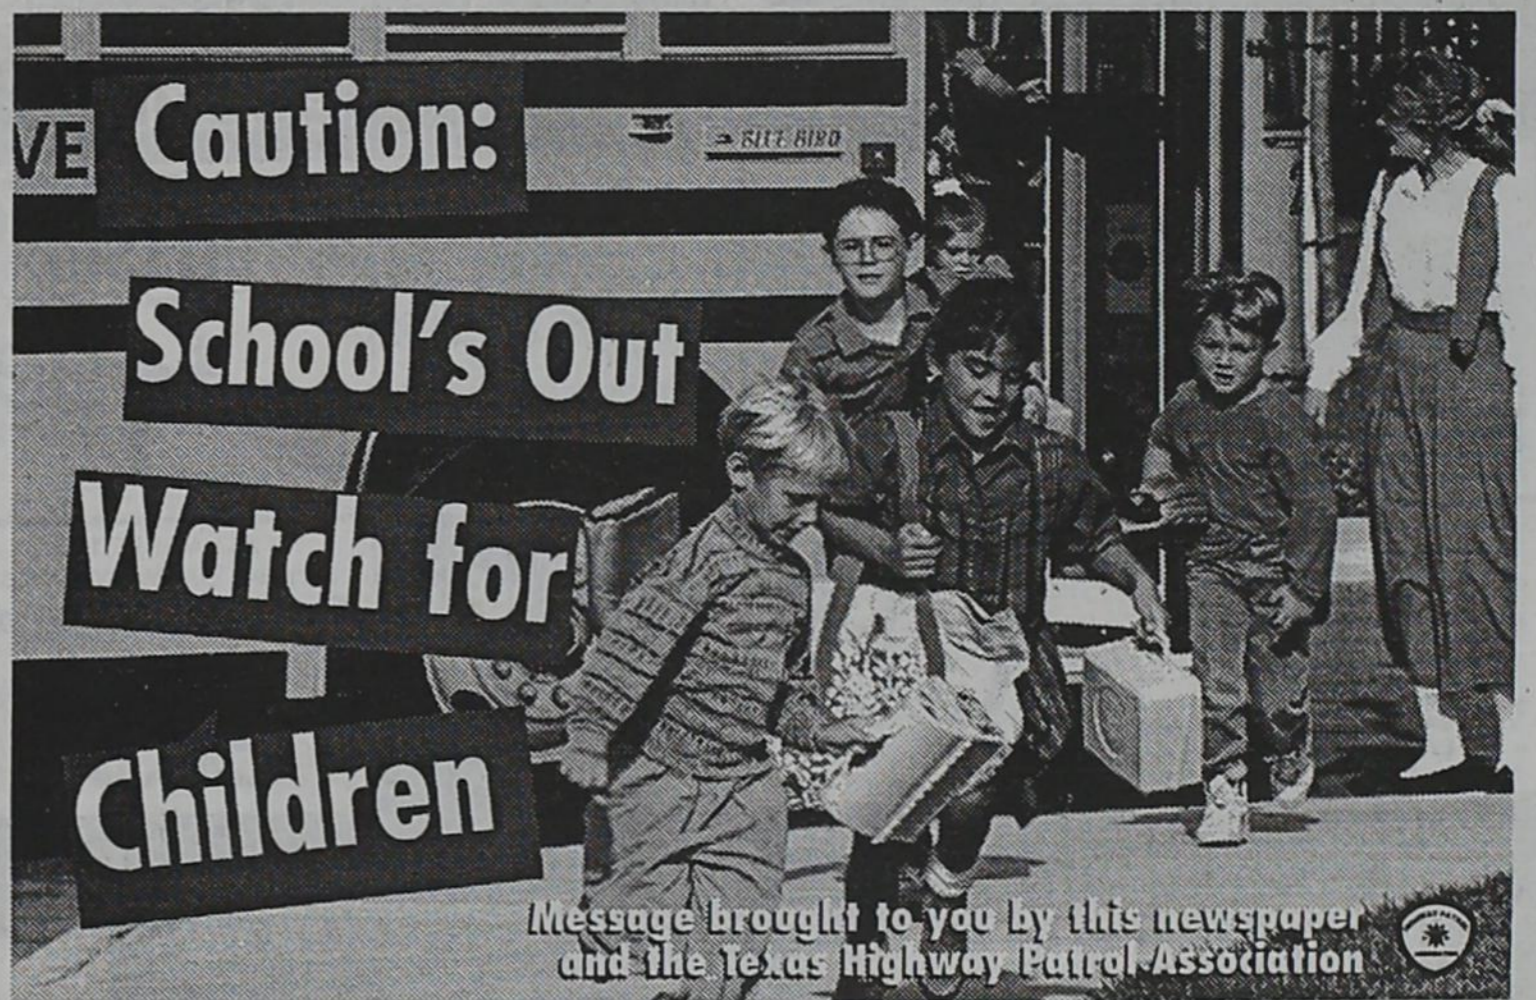

Ephesians 2:10

To receive a copy of the "Head Lice" guide, call: 1-800-783-1919.

CAPITOL COMMENT

U.S. SENATOR
KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON

Staying on Course Toward a Balanced Budget

This month Congress unveiled its budget plans for 1997, and I thought, you remember your father saying to you at some point, "It's not the money, it's the principle of the thing." It's the money and the principle of the thing that are at stake.

One guiding principle: both the House and Senate 1997 budget resolutions keep to the deficit elimination course set last year. We continue to call for balancing the budget sooner rather than later.

To achieve the goal of a balanced budget is the single most important accomplishment the 104th Congress has undertaken.

The budget Congress has just approved sticks to the priorities that are most important to Americans, including real welfare reform, tangible tax relief for the middle class and ensuring the solvency of Medicare for the next generation of retirees.

The contrast with the executive branch's budget proposal couldn't be more stark. Not only does the executive branch alternative fail to eliminate the deficit, it also fails fundamentally to reform welfare; it fails to provide tax relief; and it aims simply to maintain Medicare's solvency one year beyond its projected bankruptcy date, rather than put that program on a permanent track to fiscal health.

But Congress' budget plans address these issues head on.

- * It would eliminate the deficit by 2002.
- * It ends welfare as we know it with enforceable work requirements and real time limits on the length an individual can stay on welfare. And it gives the states the authority to create welfare programs to suit their individual needs, not meet some arbitrary standards set in Washington by bureaucrats with no real working knowledge of the states' unique situations.
- * It provides families with real tax relief establishing a permanent $500-a-year tax credit for every child under age 18.
- * It protects Medicare into the next decade (not just past November, 1996 as does the executive branch proposal). It does not cut Medicare, but rather slows the rate of growth from per cent a year to 7 percent.

Congress wants to balance the budget by pegging future spending on the rate at which government revenues come in -- a simple, common sense approach which every American can understand. We cannot continue to spend more than the Treasury collects.

COMMON-LAW MARRIAGE AND SOCIAL SECURITY

Today, more than three million men and women live together without the benefit of a marriage ceremony. In some cases, their co-habitation may become a common-law marriage and they could be entitled to the same Social Security benefits as couples who have had ceremonial marriages performed.

A common-law marriage is one which was not solemnized by either a religious or civil ceremony, but in certain states, may be entered into by the mutual agreement by a man and woman to be married. Other states recognize common-law marriages up to a date in the past. If a claimant can establish that a common-law marriage was entered into before that date, entitlement as a common-law spouse is permitted.

Most states - even those in which a man and woman could not enter into a valid common-law marriage - will recognize a common-law marriage validly entered into in another state.

For Social Security purposes, the basic requirements for a valid common-law marriage are that both parties must (1) be legally capable of marrying each other; and (2) agree to become husband and wife in a state which permits nonceremonial marriages.

Evidence to prove a common-law marriage include a statement from each and a statement from a blood relative of each. If either of the parties are dead, then a statement from two blood relatives of the decedent are needed.

The statements required by the husband, wife and relatives must be made on special forms that are available in any Social Security office. Evidence such as mortgage receipts, bank records, insurance policies, etc. may also be required to show that the couple considered themselves husband and wife.

While Social Security follows state law, couples can be considered married under the "sojourner doctrine." The sojourner doctrine stipulates that if a couple travels as husband and wife and holds themselves out as such in a state which recognizes common-law marriage, a common-law marriage may arise under the law of the state they are visiting.

Anyone who is interested in more information regarding Social Security and common-law marriages should contact their local Social Security office.

COTTON NEWS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Balancing the positive effects of recent thunderstorms criss-crossing the High Plains with the damaging effects of hail and blowing sand is going to be a difficult task for High Plains cotton producers.

According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) the much needed rainfall is expected to provide a boost to at least a third of the area's dryland cotton acreage. Unfortunately this boost also comes with the loss of a significant amount of irrigated cotton.

Current estimates from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, unofficially, indicates as much as 300,000 acres of irrigated cotton was lost because of hail during the storm and blowing sand afterwards.

A second round of storms late Wednesday and Thursday brought more rain to the area and also had the potential to drive the loss figure even higher.

"The weather events of the past week should provide many dryland areas with enough moisture to plant," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "The big question now will be how long they have to wait before getting into the field and how much of the irrigated cotton that was lost as a result of hail and high winds will be replanted to alternative crops."

There is the potential for a large number of acres throughout the area to be planted to an alternate crop such as grain sorghum adds Johnson.

Time constraints and the availability of seed for short season varieties of cotton and grain sorghum will plan a key role in how this scenario unfolds.

"The Farm Bill and Beyond: Implications for Texas Agriculture, Agribusiness and Rural Communities" is the subject for a meeting June 27-28, 1996. The two-day meeting will be held in Lubbock at the Holiday Inn - Civic Center.

Sponsors for the event are the Texas Agricultural and Natural Resources Summit Initiative, The Agriculture Program -- Texas A&M University System, V.G. Young Institute for County Governments The Texas Agricultural Forum and Texas Tech University.

Registration fees for the event are $50 per person through June 13. After June 13 the registration fee will increase to $60 per person.

A boy was asked, "What did the devil say to Adam and Eve?" "Try it, you'll like it!" he answered.

The devil didn't say, "Don't believe God. Believe me and perish." First, he questioned God by asking, "Has God said?" Second, he contradicted God by saying, "You'll not die." Third, he urged, "Eat it. You'll become like God."

This is man's worst temptation - to be his own god.

There were 22 present for the Senior Citizens lunch May 28. Some business was voted on. Happy Birthday was sung to Daisy Smith.

Nora Belle Dunning gave the blessing for our lunch.

Bill and Nora Belle were elected as the Man and Woman to present our Senior Citizens for 1996.

We were glad to have Dorothy Lee to come from Roaring Springs to help celebrate her sister's birthday.

Our dear nurse from Crosbyton to take our blood pressure and Jane DeLeon, a LVN for blood sugar tests and of course we were glad to have Julie Bell Martin with Rose Martin's help, to come to be with us.

A lady from the Government had a slip of paper for us to fill out, and several Green Thumb workers were there and some came later.

Obituaries

Bob Jameson

Graveside rites for R.L. "Bob" Jameson, Jr., 94, of Matador were held at 11 a.m. Tuesday, June 4, at East Mound Cemetery in Matador. Officiating was Rev. Ron Kelley, pastor of First United Methodist Church in Matador. Interment was under the direction of Seigler Funeral Home of Matador.
