TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

The condition of affluence may be a state of mind in some isolated instances. A story from the depression days relates the dependency of a group of local men on the verge of bankruptcy who had learned they might be able to borrow some money from a Ft. Worth bank. They decided to apply in person and en route stopped in Wichita Falls where they bought a bottle of whiskey. As they drove east their financial problems seemed less acute, and before reaching their destination, decided to deposit funds instead of applying for loans.

The bright warm world is never free from the specter of tragedy. Pain is where there is life, as the instance on highway paving where two doves remained until the close approach of a car. Only one flew away and circled back to remain beside a wounded mate. Devotion is that sublime element in creation that transcends the patronage of courage and duty.

The healing salve of time works slowly in a magic therapy beneath the bandages of memories.

Many mistakes are attributed to the inability of people to communicate correctly with each other. It is also probable that much friction in society is avoided by not understanding clearly what is meant.

The piled up wrecks of automobiles and marriages have in no way affected their popularity.

When an oil company revokes a customer's credit card it probably does not have an improvement of his health in mind, by forcing him to walk.

Schools have come a long way in improving education, but the facts of life I learned in Pullman smoking rooms apparently are about the same. I was grown before being able to listen to the lectures without blushing.

When we ignore a mistake, we plant the seed of making it again.

Merchant Gets Golden Hammer

Pioneer merchant Melton S. Thacker of Thacker Supply Co., Roaring Springs, has recently received a gold-plated hammer from Eswing Manufacturing Company, Rockford, Ill.

The manufacturing firm presents the trophy to a hardware merchant who has been in business for 50 years. Thacker Supply Co. recently celebrated its 50th anniversary.

The attractive full-size hammer, with wrapped leather handle, is stamped in gold "M. S. Thacker." It is mounted on a wooden plaque.

Mr. Thacker has declined several requests to borrow his trophy for routine carpenter work.

A concession stand will be provided each night.

BRIDGE TO ETERNITY—West Tee Pee Creek bridge and wreckage of International pickup in which prominent rancher, J. C. Clary of Paducah lost his life early Sunday morning. The vehicle struck guard rails and climbed to the banister where it skidded several feet, then toppled into the creek. Mr. Clary's body was removed from the above crumpled door a few minutes before this photograph was made.

Joe Smith Rites Held At Flomot

Joe Smith couldn't have heard the beautiful music or the comforting words of the message at the memorial services Sunday, had he been alive. But he would have understood and known that they were good.

Both deaf and mute, he had nevertheless been a full life. Mrs. Joe Bennett of Lubbock interpreted the messages and songs for approximately 30 deaf mutes who were present. Mrs. Bennett, whose parents were thus handicapped, performs this service in the Trinity Baptist Church in Lubbock.

Services for Joseph Franklin Smith, 60, were held at 3 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church at Flomot. Rev. Leo Cole, pastor and Rev. Carl Oglesby, pastor of the Flomot Methodist Church, officiated.

Burial was in East Mound Cemetery Matador, by Seigler Funeral Home.

Mr. Smith passed away at 11:45 a.m. Saturday, April 4, in Lockney General Hospital after a long illness. He had been a resident of Motley County about 30 years and farmed five miles southeast of Flomot. He was married to Miss Ruth Whitaker, October 14, 1941, at Whiteflat, also deaf and mute. Despite their handicaps, they lived normal lives and communicated without difficulty with their four children (none of them handicapped).

Mr. Smith was born December 28, 1909 at Lawton, Oklahoma. He is survived by his wife, Ruth; two sons, Bobby Joe Smith of Flomot and Jim Tom, of the home; two daughters, Mrs. Mel-

Several Residents Are Hospitalized

J. E. (Jake) Edwards, Matador Grade School Principal is a patient in St. Mary's Hospital, Lubbock, where he had further surgery on his right leg, Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Edwards was the victim of a hit and run driver on a Texas Tech parking lot last August, and has undergone several operations for injuries which he received in the accident.

Also a patient in St. Mary's Hospital is Mrs. L. J. Barkley, who fell several steps down her basement, Saturday morning and sustained arm and back injuries. She was accompanied to Lubbock by her sister, Mrs. J. D. Craven and daughter, Mrs. Pat Green.

Mrs. W. W. Clements, while visiting in Carlsbad, N. M., with her daughter, Mrs. Jack Smith and family, underwent surgery Friday in the Downtown Branch of St. Francis Hospital. She is reported in good condition and is recuperating at her daughter's home. They expect to accompany her home Saturday.

Prominent Rancher Victim in Accident

A PROMINENT West Texas rancher, J. C. Clary, 68, was killed instantly early Sunday morning when his pickup truck struck a guardrail on West Tee Pee Creek bridge, skidded on the concrete banister and toppled into the creek bed below.

He was alone at the time, en route home from Matador, to the Clary Ranch on the Motley-Cottle Counties line. He was the son of a pioneer ranching family and had spent his life in the ranching business.

The accident, about nine miles east of Matador on U. S. Highway 70, was discovered by a passing motorist, who notified local officers and the Texas Highway Patrol. Front wheels of the pickup remained on the bridge when the vehicle bearing the victim, fell below. Justice of the Peace W. W. Clements pronounced Mr. Clary dead at the scene.

Patrolmen Ira Kuhlman and Paul Hoff, both of Matador, said the pickup traveled 171 feet after first hitting the guardrail, before striking the bridge and over turning 1 1/2 times before coming to rest beneath the bridge.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the First Methodist Church in Paducah, with the Rev. Charles Gates, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Robert Beck, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Burial was in the Paducah Garden of Memories Cemetery, under the direction of Norris Funeral Home.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Carlene Westbrook, a son, John Lee Clary, and a sister, Gladys Clary, all of Paducah; and one grandchild.

Mr. Clary was well known here by ranchers, cowboys and most business men. He was well-liked by all who knew him, and this community was shocked at the news of his tragic death.

Dissenters Scored At Senior Banquet

THE DISSENTERS, those who follow the lines of least resistance, the Hippies and dropouts, are the minority who want change from the world's many wonderful achievements, according to Berl Huffman, Texas Tech public relations department, who made the principal address Monday night at the Annual Senior Banquet at the American Legion building.

"Those who would change things have no plan, no politics, no program. They harp against the establishment which is the decent world, the lawful world, your parents, teachers and others who have wrought some of the wonderful things for you today.

"We meet them in small cells everywhere, but they have no place or influence in the world they want to tear down. We have at Tech thousands of decent, clean, ambitious boys and girls who have dedicated their lives to improving the world. We've got to make progress; we can't stand still or we slip back.

"You boys and girls from the three county schools have a great opportunity. Remember the principles taught you by your parents and teachers. You have stayed on the track. A lot of people don't graduate. Remember the four cardinal rules: Constitution of the United States, Bill of Rights, the Golden Rule and the Ten Commandments."

LIGHT VOTE IN COUNTY

Several factors contributed to the light vote registered Saturday in Motley County. The cold, disagreeable weather kept many from the polls.

The absence of any issue in the three district school trustee elections, the hospital board and the two municipal elections, contributed to the general apathy of voters. Many attending the stock show forgot about voting.

In the trustee voting at Roaring Springs (to elect 3): C. W. Palmer 67, Joe M. Thacker 64, and Carlie Long 64. At Flomot (to elect 2): E. L. Shorter 38, Ronald Clay 37 and Sid McFall 31. In Matador (and Northfield to elect 3): Billy Wason 118 N. L. Cook 124 and James Taylor 131. One county school board, Pct. 4, H. C. Smith 68 and Pct. 3, Delmont Hays 14.

County wide hospital board directors (to elect 3): H. R. Jameson 242, John V. Stevens 202 and J. C. Franks 235.

Kirby Campbell was elected Mayor here with 77 votes in the city election. Pat Seigler received 103 votes and Pete Williams 99 votes for the two places on the council. Luther Green received 20 write-in votes for the mayor place.

In Roaring Springs city election (to elect 3 councilmen) Avery Payne received 59, J. D. Palmer 52, I. W. Lefevre 56, J. N. Fletcher 42 and Dick Carpenter 22.

Letters, prepared by the pastor, Rev. Larry Heard, have been mailed to the church membership, urging prayer, visitation, participation, and especially attendance in all services.

"Two factors combine to bring about a revival," the pastor pointed out. "The will of the people and the will of the Holy Spirit. Our will must be for true revival, then the Holy Spirit will move among us."

graduate of Carlsbad, N. M. High School and attended Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. Before moving to Spur he had pastored churches in San Angelo, Millersview, Wall and Roby.

He said approximately 50% of the county's income is derived from the sale of livestock or work related with the industry, and business firms and individuals have made it possible for the annual event to continue.

J. C. Cross served as announcer, with the public address system furnished by Matador Volunteer Fire Department.

Bill Hand, Lewis Bostick and Ronald Clay were re-elected to serve as show directors for two years. Hold-over directors are Banty Brandon, L. B. Campbell and Herb Martin. Mrs. Don Finkner is Speaker at Junior Banquet Honoring Seniors

"I have a hunch, it's in the stars." This was the beginning of a talk given by Mrs. Don (Charlene) Finkner of Lubbock at the annual Junior-Senior banquet, April 3, in the Grade School gymnasium.

Mrs. Finkner spoke of the great strides man has made in his conquest of outer space. She pointed out that astrology is not "fortune telling," but a proven way of determining a person's character traits by the sign under which he was born. Mrs. Finkner gave the traits and also the color of each zodiac sign.

Mrs. Finkner, owner and operator of "Charlene's" in Lubbock, is a graduate of Wayland Baptist College in Plainview and Texas Tech University in Lubbock. As an active citizen of Lubbock, she received the Woman of the Year award in 1964, as well as numerous other citations and awards.

The gym was decorated with blue crepe paper and silver stars. A lowered ceiling was created from blue and white crepe paper streamers and from the center of the room was suspended a white, honeycomb paper ball. An archway leading into the room was covered with white paper carnations.

The programs were decorated with the sign of the zodiac, and birthday of each person, at his or her place. The tables were decorated with candles and medallion signs of the zodiac down the center.

Eddie Jameson was Master of Ceremonies. Brigid Barton gave the Welcome and Darrell Cruse gave the Response. Jan Higginbotham sang, "Everyone's Gone to the Moon," and "Big Spender," from the musical, "Sweet Charity."

Mr. Finkner, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Higginbotham and High School faculty members with their wives and husbands, were special guests.

Afterwards, sandwiches, potato chips, punch and cup cakes were served. Teachers from Paducah were Mesdames Maurice Biddy, Junior Gibbs, David Garcia, L. M. McCarroll and Linda Olivarez. EP Man Makes Guitars as Hobby, Has Collection of Instruments

An El Paso man owns a collection of musical instruments, including many guitars and other string instruments which he makes as a hobby.

He is Richard Wright, whose wife is the former Juanell Litteral, who lived here as a girl, and is the niece of Mrs. Henry Ford.

Following is an article which appeared in the Feb. 22 issue of the El Paso Times Sunday magazine section, by Larry Harmon, staff writer:

An electric banjo-sitar, a matching guitar and mandolin, and a steel guitar, are only a part of the large collection of more than 30 guitars and other string instruments designed and made from scratch by Richard Wright of El Paso.

Started 20 Years Ago

Wright, who says he builds guitars and other instruments as a hobby, built his first instruments some 20 years ago, taking clues from two uncles who also built guitars. Ten years ago he began in earnest. Housebound by the doctor, the work became excellent therapy.

He has since retired from his position as a draftsman for the engineering department of El Paso Electric Co., and devotes most of his time to building instruments and helping out young people who have problems with theirs.

Often as not, he said, the youths will be referred to him by a music store. They may want to remodel an instrument or add an electronic pickup or perhaps add some "psychedelic" designs. Wright also repairs instruments, seldom charging rates for labor.

"I may charge for parts or shipping costs," he said, "but since building guitars is a hobby, I don't charge for labor." During the last year he gave a check to a local charity telethon with the accumulation of small payments received throughout the year.

Wright, who hails from West Texas also plays the instruments, specializing in the guitar, and once had a steel Western band. He built a steel guitar for one of the band members who could not bring her own instrument from time to time.

He made his first electric sitar ten years ago—so named because, like its namesake, it is backed by a set of harmonic echo strings which vibrate in tune with the main set—and thought of calling it a "bantar," discovering later that he had been preceded a short time before that by an instrument manufacturer who had produced such an instrument by the same name and had patented it.

Restored Old Violin

Also in his collection is an old violin with mother-of-pearl which belonged to his grandfather, which at one time had dried-out and lost its tone.

"I just poured in a mixture of glue and water," Wright said, "and poured it out. That fiddle was swollen up and almost split—then it returned to its normal size, and the tone was restored."

Wright explained how he goes about building a guitar, often without the use of inside braces. He shapes the wetted flexible run against the backs and tightens and glues them together with a clamp. Sometimes he uses a ready-made neck, but usually makes his own from bowling alley flooring.

The frets are driven into specially measured positions chosen by converting a tone frequency chart into thousands of an inch. Then electronic pickups may be added.

One of his larger guitars has a countersunk joint between the rim and back; another twelve-stringer has pairs of strings that harmonize with each other, which confounds many musicians who pick it up to play it, and one instrument, a homemade violin, has an electric pickup built into the frame.

Wright uses few tools—mainly a power-driven saw, a rasp and drawknife, glue, sandpaper and a clamp. He has no workshop set aside, but during the summer months works out in the yard. This summer he plans to build a classical guitar.

Inspired By Uncle

Wright attributes part of his interest in his hobby to one of his uncles, the late Tilden Roark, who once lived in Sierra Blanca. Roark, who was nominated to the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City, built instruments for himself including a violin mounted on a two-by-four, just for fun. Roark was decorated with the Silver Star for Bravery for his service with the 45th Infantry Division in World War II.

Wright, who is an Army Air Corps veteran of the same war, resides with his wife, Juanell, at 6133 Tesuque.

He said that he is impressed with the youth of today. They are very honest, he said, and always return to pay for parts that he may have to buy for repairs.

"They don't play the same kind of music I do," he said, "but they listen to me and seem to enjoy it, and want to learn to play."

As he spoke he sat down and played his guitar version of "Boogie"—first forwards, then backwards.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

A pasture rotation system benefits both the livestock and the range land. It is especially helpful to range grasses during the critical periods of low food reserves during the early growth and at seed set.

The pasture rotation system, commonly known as the Merrill System, was developed in the late 1940's at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Sonora. In experiments during the drought of the fifties, there was an actual increase in the stocking rate of 1/3. During the same time, while others were losing animals from bitterweed poisoning, there were no losses on the rotation pastures.

The system consists of four pastures and three herds of livestock, with one pasture always being rested for a four month period. At the end of a four month period, one herd is moved to the rested pasture.

Under this system, each pasture is grazed for 12 months and then rested for four months, thereby allowing each pasture to have one rest period in each season when the cycle is completed in four years. This benefits all desirable grasses regardless of when their critical growth period occurs.

This system would require additional fencing for most operators, but for ranchers who are not realizing the returns they would like from their present grazing system it is worth looking into. Stop by the office for additional information, for few ranchers can afford to do without the additional returns that are possible through the Merrill System.

The preparation of the seedbed and proper growing practices can make the difference between success and failure in the home garden. Diseases are a special problem, and many of them can be prevented by adequate planning prior to and during the growing season.

The garden site should be well drained to prevent water saturation of the soil. Surface water should not be allowed to flow across the garden because it can recontaminate areas that have been treated and increases the chances of fallar and stem diseases.

Well decayed organic matter is essential to maintaining productive soil, but serious problems can arise from the presence of partially destroyed material. This unsuitable matter can serve as a medium for Southern Blight, a fungal disease. This disease can be reduced by putting organic matter deeper than the expected root zone of next year's crop.

Impala
'400'
Sale.

You save when you buy it. You save when you drive it.

When you buy any Impala V8 model during our "400" Sale, here's how you can get two popular extras at no extra charge.

You order your Impala equipped with a Turbo Hydra-matic transmission, radio, Comfortilt steering wheel, front and rear bumper guards and white stripe tires. Items you'd probably order anyway.

Then we add our big 400-cubic-inch V8 at 265 hp that runs on regular gas, along with dual exhausts—both at no charge. (The manufacturer's suggested retail price including Federal excise tax for the regular fuel 400 V8 and dual exhausts is $93.75.)

But that's only the beginning. Because your Chevrolet dealer is really anxious to deal these days.

And the Impala you're buying, of course, got to be America's No. 1 car, because of all the value features built right in. Features like flush-and-dry rocker panels that fight rust. Inner fenders to protect the outer fenders. Long lasting bias belted ply tires, steel guard beams in every door for added protection, an acrylic lacquer finish over its solid Body by Fisher. All of which contributes to Impala's traditionally high resale value, too.

You're getting America's No. 1 car on sale. The car more people buy—year after year after year.

How can you beat that?

Junior Thespians Receive Acclaim

A new group of Thespians made their debut Tuesday night on the stage of the Matador High School auditorium, and received the unreserved acclaim of the audience.

They were members of the high school junior class play cast presenting "The Skeleton Walks" by Felicia Metcalf. The three-act play was replete with surprises with the plot centering about a hidden treasure in a "haunted house."

The cast included Lee Hurt as Dr. Harold Fersig (sinister and mysterious); Jeannette Day as Elaine Blair (charming and attractive); her mother Mrs. Madge Embrey, played by Arleta Meyer; Bobby Embrey, 14, played by Larry Jameson and Kathleen Embrey (his sister of 12) played by Debra Garrison; Bill Clayton, (Elaine's fiancé) was Randy Welch, and her cousin, Anne Rowell was Debbie Smallwood.

Mrs. Eliza Hubbard (Dr. Fersig's housekeeper) played by Clarence Wootley and "her" son, Ollie Hubbard (a deaf mute) played by Brigid Barton, were really a married detective couple who turned the tables on the villain (Dr. Fersig). Mrs. Lilla Donahue (a neighbor) was played by Cindy Marshall.

Stage hands were James Thompson, Stanley Smith and Tutt Garnett; Sound effects credited to Erma Lee and Sammie Thompson; Hand properties: Ponita Hand and Ann Brandon; and lighting, Eddie Jameson.

Mrs. J. E. Edwards, class sponsor directed the production, assisted by Melissa Bailey, student director.

ATTENDS FUNERAL

Mrs. J. N. Parks attended funeral services for a longtime friend, Mrs. Henry Patterson, Tuesday morning in Petersburg.

Mrs. Lyles was accompanied by Mrs. D. C. Powell of Turkey. Mrs. Belle Hinson of Afton was welcomed as a new member, and others present were Mesdames Glenn Woodruff, Pat Green, Hugh Luckett, Edgar Lee, John Russell, Keith Patton, Robert Darsey, Clarence Jinkins, Audrey Price, R. A. Day, J. D. Craven and Ward Rattan; Mrs. Bill Ligon Roaring Springs, Mrs. Bill Morris, Dumont, Mrs. Leon Cloyd, Flomot and Mrs. C. E. Goodwin, Afton.

Next meeting will be held Monday, May 4 for painting and sketching on the Ward Rattan ranch, with a covered dish luncheon at their cabin.

Former Resident Claimed by Death

Mrs. W. A. Campbell, 78, former longtime resident of the Roaring Springs and Whiteflat communities, died about 11:15 p.m. Wednesday, April 1, in the Heritage Home in Plainview.

Services were held at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in the Floydada United Methodist Church with the Rev. C. B. Milton, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Floydada Cemetery, directed by Moore-Rose Funeral Home.

MAVERICK. $1995*...it's a little gas.

*Ford's suggested retail price for the base Maverick model. White sidewall tires are not included, they are $30 extra. Since dealer preparation charges (if any), transportation charges and state and local taxes vary, they are not included, nor is extra equipment that is specially required by state laws.

Our little Maverick is America's best selling small car. The reason is simple—solid value. Maverick is simple to drive. Turn on the engine and you turn loose the power of 105 horses. Yet Maverick rivals the economy imports in gas mileage. Simple to park. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle than the leading import. Simple to service. Maverick requires fewer oil changes, fewer chassis lubrications. You save time and money. Simple to repair. The Maverick Owner's Manual has 24 pages of instruction for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself. Simple to own. Save right from the start—the Simple Machine is your Ford Dealer's lowest priced car.

For a little more...it's a GRABBER!

The new Maverick Grabber has all the same features as our Simple Machine but we've added an extra sporty flare to it. Here's what Grabber gives you: 1 Racy bodyside tape stripes, choice of five hot Grabber colors, 14-in. whitewall tires and wheel trim rings. High excitement, yes. High price, no. 2 200 CID Six and 3-speed fully synchronized manual transmission. Lots of pep, but not hard to tune. Grabber adds to your fun, not your mechanical problems. 3 Dual racing mirrors. But no high "muscle car" insurance rates. 4 Three-spoke woodgrained steering wheel just like the racing cars. But no hard, stiff ride. Grabber's sprung for comfort, not for the track. 5 Black-painted hood and grille. Grabber puts on a great front, but maintenance costs are low. Service is fast and simple. With lots you can do yourself. 6 Rear deck-lid spoiler. Even an economy car can dream, can't it?
