

Emergency Board Told To Study Wage Claims

Pay For Rail Workers To Be Studied

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP) — President Roosevelt has ordered the reconvening of an emergency board to consider the unsettled wage claims of the 1,100,000 non-operating railroad employees.

The board, headed by Judge Elwyn R. Shaw, of Springfield, Ill., will consider the claims for additional pay, either for or in lieu of overtime.

The non-operating employees refused to accept the president's offer to arbitrate the additional claims except on conditions to which the carriers disagreed.

The executive order, dated January 4, was made public today. A review of the case by the White House said the non-operating employees at first refused to accept the sliding scale increases as recommended by the Shaw board and approved by stabilization director Fred M. Vinson, and invoked the services of the National Mediation Board to enjoin the carriers from putting them into effect.

On December 27, however, the employees informed the president that they had abandoned their objections to the sliding scale, but made additional claim. An emergency board has awarded the operating workers a 4-cent-an-hour increase. The workers termed this an insult.

'Pravda' Attacks Willkie Because Of News Article

MOSCOW, Jan. 5 (AP)—Pravda, the official communist party newspaper, attacked Wendell Willkie today because of an article he wrote for the New York Times dealing with Russia and the status of Poland and the Baltic states.

Dmitry Zaslavsky, a Pravda writer, accused the U. S. presidential nominee of 1940 of "muddying the waters" in an effort to entice presidential support from persons who do not trust the Soviet Union as well as to win sympathy from those who do.

"Such a political gambler destroys confidence," the Pravda comment said. The newspaper added that the Baltic question was the business of the Soviet union and one in which "Mr. Willkie should not interfere."

"As to Finland and Poland, without mentioning the Balkans," Pravda said, "the Soviet union knows how to deal with them and does not need the help of Mr. Willkie."

Willkie's story, entitled "Don't Stiff Distrust of Russia," appeared in the New York Times magazine section Sunday. In part he said: "There are already forces at work in both parties preparing to take selfish political advantage of any move that Russia may make with regard to these smaller states. The theory of those in the republican party is that the republicans should sit tight and see what happens. Mr. Stalin, they believe, will make ruthless territorial demands on the smaller states and these demands will produce a violent anti-Russian reaction among Americans who emigrated, or whose forebears emigrated, from those states. They take the position that by adopting a policy of suspicion toward Russia the republican party can capture not alone these but others who, for quite different reasons, are prone to be anti-Russian. For all this anti-Russian feeling they believe will inevitably react against Mr. Roosevelt to the advantage of the republican party."

CHANCELLERY DESTROYED? — STOCKHOLM, Jan. 5 (AP) — A bomb-set fire that burned furiously for four hours after the heavy RAF raid Monday virtually gutted Hitler's sprawling chancellery, and left scarcely a room useable, a traveler said today.

Chinese Armies Map General Counter Blow — HUNGKING, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Chinese armies are preparing to launch a general counter-offensive this year. Minister of Information Liang Han-Chao told a press conference today, but he added that launching of such a drive would be contingent upon Allied operations in other theaters.

Mexican Workers Enjoy An Employment Boom — MEXICO CITY, Jan. 5 (AP)—Mexican farm workers in Texas are enjoying an "employment boom" due to war-time labor shortages. Javier Osornio Camarena, Mexican consul in Laredo, Texas, said here yesterday.

He added that the amount of Mexican exports to the U.S. is without precedent but that care is taken to prevent exportation of articles necessary for home consumption.

Since those landings, only the opposition at Cape Gloucester has been worth mentioning. There, today's advances from headquarters of General MacArthur told of Marines, attached to the Sixth Army, killing 200 enemy soldiers Monday in shattering a counter-attack made in the Borgen Bay area. Approximately 1,500 Japanese have been slain at Cape Gloucester since the invasion.

The character of the opposition on the whole reflects credit on the intelligence sections of the various services which chose the sites where the Japanese were expected to be weak.

The smoothness with which each landing was executed — they constituted almost letter perfect teamwork between the navy, army and air forces — left the definite impression how-

NAZIS ADMIT LOSS OF JUNCTION

Allied Armies Take Pair Of Strong Points

Bomber Fleets Reach Into Bulgaria And Yugoslav Areas

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Jan. 5 (AP)—Allied armies in Italy have seized two commanding positions against fierce Nazi opposition, it was announced today, and bomber fleets reaching into Bulgaria and Yugoslavia dealt three hard blows to German Balkan communications.

Fifth army troops advancing a little more than a mile west of Venafro stormed a 2,300-foot height in Sammucro Ridge two miles northeast of San Vittore, gaining complete dominance of that bastion of the German winter line on the Rome road.

Indian units of the Eighth army seized a spur on a mountain ridge in pushing forward several hundred yards against enemy machine-gun fire southwest of Tommaso near the Adriatic.

U.S. 15th Air Force Flying Fortresses meanwhile smashed railway yards and a bridge at Duganitsa, 50 miles south of Sofia, capital of war-weary Bulgaria.

American Mitchells scored five hits on railway yards and the station at Doboj, 55 miles north of Sarajevo in Yugoslavia, and destroyed barracks and troop concentrations at Travnik 30 miles northwest of Sarajevo, tinder box of the first World War.

All Allied planes returned, after bagging two enemy aircraft. In other air operations yesterday, medium bombers struck at barracks and troop concentrations at Travnik and at railway yards at Boboj, both in Yugoslavia.

Two enemy planes were destroyed. All Allied aircraft returned.

Yugoslavs Smash Nazi Offensive

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP)— Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced today that the prolonged German offensive in eastern Bosnia had been smashed and that Yugoslav forces had regained enemy-occupied important town of Vlasenica, 30 miles northeast of Sarajevo, where huge stores of war material were captured.

Tito's communique, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio, said the Partisans were also on the offensive in western Bosnia along the strategic Bosansky Nove-Prijedor-Banja Luka railway, and that Yugoslav and German troops were still locked in bitter street fighting inside the city of Banjaluka itself.

The battle for this Croatian capital, headquarters of the second German tank army defending the Adriatic sea coast against a possible Allied invasion from Italy, was now in its fifth day, with tanks and big guns being used by both sides. Tito yesterday asserted that his troops had succeeded in wresting half of the city from the defenders.

Heavy fighting was reported from all parts of the irregular front by the Yugoslav war bulletin. It revealed that the Germans were massing troops in Doboj, Dervent, Travnik, and Sarajevo.

Japs On The Defensive--and "Almost On The Run" In South Pacific

By WILLIAM F. BONI (AP) War Correspondent SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Jan. 5 — On the basis of eyewitness observation of all three amphibious landings which Sixth Army forces have made — at Arawe, New Britain, Dec. 15; Cape Gloucester, New Britain, Dec. 26, and Saldor, New Guinea, Jan. 2 — it is safe to say the Japanese are on the defensive throughout the Southwest Pacific. In fact, they're almost on the run.

With the exception of one small diversionary raid at Arawe which suffered heavy losses, all three invasions were accomplished virtually without opposition. Since those landings, only the opposition at Cape Gloucester has

Berlin Hit Again, Kiel And Muenster Smashed In Raids

Fires Burning At Naval Base

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP)—RAF Mosquito bombers hit wrecked Berlin last night and other British planes pounded targets in northern France, following up one of the greatest daylight aerial assaults of the war by some 3,000 planes including U. S. smashes at Kiel and Muenster.

Not a single plane was lost in the night raids, which included mosquito forays over western Germany and minelaying operations, the air ministry said.

The stab against Berlin was the first since a great RAF attack early Monday morning. American heavy bombers cascaded explosives by daylight yesterday on shipbuilding yards at Kiel, and railway targets at Muenster, both in northwest Germany.

A joint British-American communique said the attacks were pressed home effectively despite heavy clouds which obscured both targets and that fierce fires were left raging in Kiel, site of a great German naval base and submarine pens.

The raids were carried out by formations of flying fortresses and liberators which, with their American and British fighter escorts, constituted a fleet of some 1,500 planes that stretched out across the sky for 100 miles.

They were executed in conjunction with a daylong series of bombing attacks on targets in France by swarms of both American and British planes. Altogether approximately 3,000 Allied aircraft took the air—probably the greatest air armada.

Mustering-Out Pay Measure Is Drafted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—A mustering-out pay plan to guarantee discharged service men an average minimum of $85 monthly for at least 12 months after their release was whipped into legislative form today by Rep. Ploeser (R-Mo.).

Ploeser revealed details of his proposal as Chairman May (D-Ky) announced that the house military committee would meet next Tuesday to take final action on a mustering-out pay bill.

German Frontline Fighter Force Is Very Much Larger

By GLADWIN HILL LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Germans' frontline fighter force—most of it concentrated in western Europe—is 1,000 planes larger than a year ago and the Nazis still have enough bombers to give Britain some "nasty smacks," an RAF commentator said today.

This commentator, whose name cannot be used, added that the Germans are not attacking Britain in force because of their traditional policy of risking their forces only if there is possibility of substantial gain.

The Germans might attempt a raid in force for political and propaganda reasons, he said, and "we'd be lunatics to assume we are not going to get a nasty smack one of these nights."

The commentator said Allied fighters' qualitative superiority over German bombers probably was just as great as in 1940. He noted that the 1,000 increase in German fighters, while it did not sound like a great deal, was "a very remarkable achievement" considering the constant drain on the German air force and blows against its productive capacity.

The increase was achieved by a production drive and a shift in emphasis from an offensive bomber force to the more easily-made defensive fighter, he continued.

The actual state of the Luftwaffe is reflected in a plane-conversion program, as shown by refusal to oppose Allied secondary but nonetheless destructive attacks in order to build up a force against major attacks, and an invasion front.

New Red Drive Gaining Power In The Ukraine

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The German high command said today that Nazi troops had abandoned the eastern part of Berdichev, important Russian railroad junction 25 miles south of Zhitomir and former headquarters of Marshal Von Manstein.

MOSCOW, Jan. 5 (AP)—Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's long-expected drive against the Germans' central Ukraine positions gained momentum in the plains south of liberated Belaya Tserkov today while Marshal Fritz Von Manstein's troops battled desperately to hold back the Russians from seizing their badly-needed lines of communication.

The Nazis were counter-attacking, seeking to keep control of the railway running from Belaya Tserkov and Tavetokovo westward to the Odessa-Lwow line. They also were fighting hard in the Smela area to hold the railroad running south to Novo Ukrainka and westward to a junction with the Odessa road. Another communications line which the Nazis battled desperately to retain was the highway connecting Belaya Tserkov with Zvenigorodka, 80 miles to the southeast.

Through this entire network of rail and road communications in the lower middle Ukraine it became a race between Von Manstein's harassed forces to get out of untenable positions before they are completely encircled by fast-moving Russian spearheads driving in from the southwest and west.

Front dispatches reported the Russians were pushing south from captured Belaya Tserkov along a front 40 miles wide in hot pursuit of the retreating Germans.

Far to the north Gen. Ivan Bagramian kept up his incessant battering against the northern wing of the German armies guarding the Baltic front. Another 1,100 Nazis were killed north of Nevel, 100 enemy-held villages were liberated and the 40-mile Nevel-Valikla rail line cleared of Germans; the Soviet war bulletin declared. Isocha, 10 miles north of Nevel, and Pleshkova, 10 miles to the northeast, were among the strongpoints listed as overrun.

The great battle to drive the Germans from the Dnieper bend has begun. The military question for the moment is whether Von Manstein has waited too long. Already Vatutin has swung deeply beneath his positions.

Protein Feed Rules Changed

The AAA office received Tuesday a memo from the emergency feed committee from the state office advising of a change in procuring protein feed without ration certificates.

The notice advised that purchasers of protein feed can buy it ration free, with no certificate needed, from any dealer other than processors, such as oil mills.

The farmers may also purchase up to 500 pounds of feed for a 30-day period from a processor without any certificate.

Formerly, a purchaser had to have a certificate regardless of the place where he purchased his protein feed.

WAC Volunteers Are Inadequate Boasts Germans

By The Associated Press The German radio boasted today that the response to requests for volunteers in the WACs and other women's services "has been totally inadequate."

Berlin said that Time magazine had quoted Col. Oveta Culp Hobby, WAC commander, as saying that requirements can be filled only by compulsory recruiting.

Pork Holiday Plan Rejected By WFA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Despite pleas by farm state congressmen, government food officials today rejected a proposed two-week "holiday" in the rationing of pork products.

The Office of Price Administration (OPA) and the War Food Administration (WFA) declared in a joint report that a survey showed there is no country wide pork surplus, and that a temporary lifting of rationing might result in "chaotic conditions of supply and distribution."

Polish Underground To Resist Invaders

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Polish government in exile implied today that its underground would continue to resist German invaders and avoid all conflict with Soviet armies entering what it regards as Polish territory, but indicated there would be little cooperation with the Russians.

In a statement issued to all the United Nations the Polish government said on Oct. 27 it had instructed its underground to cooperate with Red army commanders in the event of a resumption of Polish-Soviet relations. It added that if an agreement had been reached between the two countries before the frontier had been crossed, the Poles would have coordinated their actions against Germany with that of the Soviet.

Visited with GLYNN JORDAN and Mrs. RIP SMITH the other evening and we spent most of the time reciting recipes to each other. Mrs. SMITH has one for cake in which you put everything but the kitchen stove. We're going to try that one sometime.

LUCILLE BURKE was out at the B & P W meeting the other night in a checked suit that had a bit of red in it that she matched with her hat. She looked awfully nice and very stylish.

Caught a glimpse of Mrs. ESCOL COMPTON en route to pick up BENNY, from kindergarten. Just seems like the other day that BENNY was too little to get out to school. Now he's kindergarten age.

JEWEL BARTON told a group of women the other day that in some of the battle zones they had to wash old bandages again and again to take care of war casualties because they didn't have enough for their needs. That makes you feel pretty little when they also tell you that the gauze is here in quantity, just waiting to be made into bandages by women in their "spare" time.

Speaking of the war, for our money, we'd like to ban anymore predictions about when the war is going to end and Germany collapse. Then when the time comes, everybody can be sure that is what happened. What a lot of hot air is being blown off on this "end" to war.

Division Developing Among Appointees Of Roosevelt To Court
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—A sharp division has developed among three Roosevelt appointees to the supreme court over interpretations of law relating to economic questions.

Brought to light in formally filed opinions which employed the bluntest of language, the rift showed Justices Hugo L. Black and Frank Murphy arrayed against positions taken by Justice Felix Frankfurter, long-time adviser to President Roosevelt.

Black and Murphy, taking issue with Frankfurter's doctrines, asserted that he proposed in one case to interpret the patent laws on the basis of his "personal views" on "morals" and "ethics" and that in another relating to the making of utility rates, he made "what is patently a wholly gratuitous assertion as to constitutional law."

Anti-Nazi Writer Is Found Slain
STOCKHOLM, Jan. 5 (AP)—Kai Munk, Danish author of many anti-Nazi books and articles, was found slain near Silkeborg in Jutland, Copenhagen dispatches to the Swedish Telegraph Agency said today.

Four men, believed Gestapo agents, went to Munk's home at Vedersoe and drove away with him.

The body was found Tuesday in woods near Silkeborg.

Sand Hills Schedule Of Production Cut
AUSTIN, Jan. 5 (AP)—The railroad commission in special orders yesterday reduced the number of producing days in January for the Sand Hills (Ordovician) field, Crane county from 23 to 17 days because of a finding of excessive water production in some wells.

Amended field rules pertaining to tolerance acreage in the Pittsburg field, Camo county,

Loss Of Destroyer Announced By Navy
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The navy has disclosed that the destroyer which blew up off Sandy Hook Monday was the 1,099-ton USS Leary.

The Turner blew up in New York harbor with such violence that men and guns were hurled into the sea. Coast guard cutters rescued 152 enlisted men and two officers. Normal complements of the ship was more than 160 men and officers, but the names of those missing have been withheld by the navy pending notification of next of kin.

Flu Epidemic Fairly General, Says Report
AUSTIN, Jan. 5 (AP)—The influenza epidemic in Texas is now "fairly general," the state health department said in reporting 13,330 new cases.

While the infection is described as being mild in form, a spokesman said incidence was not leveling off nor had its peak yet been reached. Seven-year median for the week was 1,254 cases.

The new figure includes all cases reported for the week ending Jan. 1, is considerably larger than the 9,397 cases reported for the week before.

At least 16 counties reported 200 or more cases each.

Poor Anita, She Did Die In Vain
DETROIT, Jan. 5 (AP)—Yes, Anita did die in vain, if you have to look at it that way.

A mound of earth over 20-by-15 foot grave hid Anita's 12,000-pound carcass today, and none of her 4,000 pounds of fat had found its way into the war effort.

Anita — she was the Detroit zoo's favorite elephant — had to be buried because a fat rendering plant couldn't get a crew to the zoo in time. Zoo keeper John T. Millen said the condition of the carcass would not permit further delay.

The elephant's fat was to have been used for explosives. Anita, injured last Thursday in a fall into the elephant house moat, had to be destroyed.

Southwest Post-War Organization Seen
TEXARKANA, Jan. 5 (AP)—An organization will be formed soon, says Rep. Wright Patman (D-Texas) to lay plans for a post-war industrial complex in the southwest. The nucleus would be industrial plants created for war production.

He told the Rotary club here yesterday that industrialists and legislators from Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and New Mexico would meet to map the project. Ten U. S. senators, 85 members of the house of representatives and governors of five states, he said, will take part.

Bombers Active In Thailand Theatre
CHUNGKING, Jan. 5 (AP)—Liberator bombers of the U. S. 14th air force, accompanied by fighter escorts, thrust deep into Thailand Monday to unload 10 tons of bombs on the Japanese base at Lamphang. Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

Men Direct P-T. A. Program At Local High School As They Believe Women Do

Men turned the tables on their wives Tuesday evening, took things into their own hands, and decided to hold a Parent-Teacher's meeting as they thought best. The take-off program for 1944 was held at the Big Spring high school and Capt. Richard T. Allen (acting as Mrs. Allen) presided over the meeting and called on J. A. Coffey for a program chairman's report. Coffey in turn asked A. A. Porter for a report on the P-T-A. minutes. Boone Horne gave a treasurer's report, and the shoulder courage and costume jewelry, gave a report on war activities from a woman's viewpoint.

The Rev. Dick O'Brien, guest speaker of the evening, imitated the president of the National P-T-A., and gave a detailed report on "My Trip South." He wore a woman's hat, carried a hand bag, and stopped now and then to pat his hair and powder his nose.

A social hour was held after the business session with A. A. Porter, R. E. Blount and Boone Horne as hostesses. They wore corsages in their hair and frilly aprons.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. O. T. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Porter, the Rev. and Mrs. Dick O'Brien, Capt. Richard T. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Coffey, Mr. and Mrs. Boone Horne, the Rev. H. Clyde Smith, Mrs.

Madam, does an old TABOO prevent your knowing this help?
It's not taboo today to discuss plain facts. Thousands of women praise CARDUI's 2-way help. Taken as a tonic, it usually peps up appetite, stimulates flow of gastric juices, thus aiding digestion and helping resistance. Started 3 days before the time, and taken as directed, it should help relieve much purely functional periodic pain. A 62-year record says it may help. (adv.)

Phillies' Prexy Thinks Majors Might Go North

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5 (AP)—Northward into Canada, not westward by the National League for major league baseball to expand, contends Bob Carpenter, Jr., youthful president of the National League Phillies.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have headaches? YES NO
Do you lack pep or vim?
Do you get irritable easily?
Do you feel depressed—nervous?

Everybody knows that poorly digested food often causes a headache, sluggish condition.

But you may not know that Nature must produce each day about two pints of the vital digestive juices—liver bile—to help digest your food.

If Nature fails—food doesn't digest properly—you may get irregular. And the amount of this vital digestive juice may be still further reduced. Thus, digestive upset and sluggishness can follow each other in a vicious circle that keeps you feeling rotten.

Therefore, take Carter's Little Liver Pills because they start bile flowing quickly—often within thirty minutes. When bile flow increases—you may help your digestion. You're on your way to feeling grand all over again. Remember—you can't get these same results from laxatives that fail to stimulate the flow of bile.

If you feel headache, listless, irritable or depressed, get a 50¢ package of Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drugstore today. Take as directed. Tomorrow see how fit and alive you'll feel!

The youngest major league president in the game turned thumbs down on the proposed westward expansion of big league baseball yesterday when he said: "The expansion program of the majors westward to the Pacific coast is at least 15 years off because it will take that long to perfect safety in air travel."

By that Carpenter said he meant westward expansion would be sidetracked until air travel is made as safe as "sitting in your office." "In the meantime," he said, "why not give Canada a chance to get big league baseball?"

Montreal and Toronto are both "good baseball towns," the Phillies president said. "It would further our good neighbor policy by inviting two Canadian cities into membership of the American and National leagues—if and when such franchises are available."

Ready For The Day

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—If the United Nations defeat Germany during 1944, Hartford will have a victory celebration and the aldermen will appropriate money for it "under suspension of the rules."

That was the answer the amusements committee chairman, submitting a budget for the year, gave the Finance Commissioner Raymond Dunn when the latter remarked that "if General Eisenhower says the war is going to end this year, I think you ought to have in there some provision for a celebration."

Baseball Men To Press On In '44

(This is another in a series, written expressly for the Associated Press by sports leaders, in which prospects for 1944 are discussed.)

By FORD C. FRICK

President Of The National Baseball League

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—No one knows how the developments of 1944 will shape the programs of baseball.

We faced 1943 with the determination to carry through a pennant race as near like peacetime as could be done while giving full cooperation to the high command in war economies, transportation emergencies, drives for war funds and war bonds, and the various other contingencies as they came up.

The testimony from all fronts was that baseball fans now in the army and navy found the news from the baseball leagues as popular, a topic of interest and argument as in their civilian days.

We played our schedule last year with teams composed mainly of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers, some 4-F's, some plus-38's, some 19's. We face a season coming

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—If Sgt. Joe Louis and his traveling soldier-boxers want a real fight instead of exhibitions, Sgt. Allen La Combe is ready to give it to them. . . . Not that Sgt. La Combe will do the fighting—he's the kid who used to promote the "Turkey Bowl" football game in New Orleans and he's issuing this challenge on behalf of his boxing team that recently won the Persian Gulf Service Command and the Middle East titles. . . . What they really want is for Sgt. Joe, Ray Robinson, Jackie Wilson, etc., to visit them in Iran, but La Combe promises that heavyweight Ralph Ivins, former Newark, N. J., pro; lightweight Woodrow "Rock" Campbell of Meridian, Miss.; welterweight Tony "Smookey" Williams of Hollister, Calif., and middleweight Harold Augusta of St. Louis, will give the big boys a real tussle.

Drawing de fine line—

During the recent fuss between Ray Dumont's National Baseball Congress and the National Amateur Baseball Federation about who should govern amateur baseball, umpire asked Prexy Dumont the definition of a "semi pro" club. . . . "You tell me the difference between an amateur and a professional," continued the "semi pro." . . . Traditionally, an amateur is a guy who won't accept a check—which makes a semi-pro a guy who'll take what he can get but prefers cash because it never bounces.

Cleaning the cuff—

One reason why Ken McAuley, the Rangers' goalie, let those 13 shots go by the other night was that he had just received word he'd have to resign as probation officer in Edmonton, Alta., because he hadn't held it long enough to qualify for the leave of absence he thought had been granted. . . . When he spends most of his spare time here studying the methods of local officers. . . . Archie Hahn, veteran track and boxing coach at Virginia, became a grandfather twice during the holidays.

Polish Partisans Concerned By Red Crossing Of Border

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP)—As the Red army advanced into old Poland, the Polish government newspaper published in London asserted that the Russian thrust was "the most serious political and moral crisis" of the war and the Polish cabinet, after a meeting here yesterday, announced that the government's attitude would be made public soon.

The newspaper said that Allied opinion "senses the danger which threatens. The man in the street in London or New York is asking himself whether the Russians are coming as liberators or invaders."

up in which the outlook is for fewer of the family men in our lineups, more of the other groups.

President Roosevelt wrote to Judge Landis Jan. 15, 1942, a month after Pearl Harbor: "I honestly feel that it would be best for the country to keep baseball going."

The National league's aim for 1944 is to carry through on the commander-in-chief's assignment.

Little is known of the potentialities of the San Angelo lads, coached by Capt. Tracy Arthur, director of physical training at Goodfellow. The Big Spring Brown Bombers blossomed with a rugged offensive in the last half against the San Angelo Blackshear team last week in the mud. On a dry field, they have several boys who ought to be able to run over 'em if not around.

Steers Book Pair Of Games Friday

A pair of games for Friday evening with the Colorado City Wolves have been booked by the Big Spring high school football team. Coach John Dibrrell announced Wednesday.

A game between the second teams of the two schools will start the evening's activities at 7:30 p. m. while the feature clash between the first strings will get underway possibly less than an hour later.

The games, of course, will be played in the high school gymnasium and will be the first for the Steers this season.

Stagg Discerns Back To Gridiron Move By Schools

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg, the "young" man who went west and found a new coaching career at 71, believes that some colleges which abandoned football last year will resume it next fall.

Voted coach of the year by the National Association of Football Writers, Stagg was back here today receiving plaudits from old friends of his University of Chicago days.

"The grand old man of the midway," coach of the Maroons for 41 years before he took over the football situation at Little College of the Pacific 10 years ago, turned out one of the nation's strongest teams last fall.

At 81 he retains the enthusiasm and vigor of a man half his age. He sees the game as a splendid physical and mental conditioner, believes it should not be abandoned because of the war.

"We coaches who decided to carry on in 1943 made no mistake," he said. "The educators who discontinued the sport are the ones who made a mistake."

"However, some of the schools discontinued athletics last year apparently are ready to resume next fall," Stagg said. "Stanford will be one and several up north also are ready to return."

Anti Leader Eyes Prohibition Tilt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Anti-Saloon League of America, representing the organized forces against liquor, kept on the sidelines today in a congressional fight over prohibition.

Dr. George W. Crabbe, general superintendent of the league, said he believed the objectives of legislation introduced by Representative Bryson (D-SC) could be accomplished by a presidential order.

A house judiciary subcommittee will start hearings next week on the Bryson bill, which would outlaw for the war's duration all beverages containing more than one-half of one per cent alcohol by volume.

Interviewed in his old-fashioned second-floor office sandwiched in between several top-rooms within a stone's throw of the capitol, Crabbe said his forces would continue to importune the President to order national prohibition as a war measure.

"At any time the President finds that drinking is interfering with the war effort, he may put an end to it by decree," he declared. "He has told us to take the ruffles off our pants and he has said how much coffee and sugar we can use."

Crabbe added that in his opinion there is no doubt that drinking is having an adverse effect on war production through absenteeism and other forms of Monday-morning lassitude.

Man Is Killed While Attempting Escape

BEAUMONT, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sheriff Sam Scherer of Anahuac said James O. Pearson, 34, was shot to death yesterday at Conroe after he had disarmed an officer and attempted to escape.

Scherer said that Pearson grabbed Thornton's pistol from the scabbard while Thornton was returning from a men's lounge to the car with Pearson and one of the other prisoners. The sheriff added that Thornton obtained another pistol from the glove compartment of the car and fired one shot.

Family Crisis

OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP)—The initials "J.S." were clearly outlined in raised letters on the outer shell of an egg boiling on the stove at the C. C. Smith home.

Mrs. Smith wishes now that she hadn't said anything to the children about it. Each of the four youngsters promptly laid claim to the egg as their very own. All have the same initials—Jane, James, Joan and Jean.

SUCCESS

SANTA FE, N. Mex. (AP)—New Mexico school bus drivers will be taught the fine points of their jobs—by a woman.

Mrs. E. L. Martin of Silver City took over as instructor for the state school bus division when her husband resigned. She made such a success of her first course for drivers that others have been scheduled.

Where you find democracy, you find the feeling of friendliness, of give-and-take—the spirit of neighborliness. "Song of Bernadette"

Twentieth presents an inspirational drama, with Jennifer Jones, Charles Bickford, Vincent Price and Gladys Cooper.

Jennifer has seen a vision, but no one believes her, especially the Dean of Lourdes where she attends school. She is told to must her vision perform a miracle. Everyone hears of this and goes to this grotto. The miracle is performed curing many of the sick.

The skeptics wouldn't believe the girl. Proof comes that the Emperor's son has recovered from the spring sprouted near the grotto.

Bernadette goes to a convent, takes the veil and becomes sick. She remembers the vision saying she wouldn't be happy in this earth.

Meet the Stars With Luis Rosado

Because of a few sudden marriages which finally hit the divorce courts in Hollywood, people who look up to Hollywood are of the belief that every star practices this method. It has been a common thought to judge a town by a few couples—but that's wrong. Anent to the marriage question in Hollywood, here's a good example and there are many more like it. Constance Moore and Johnny Maschie is the couple in question. They have been married for four years and they are still on their honeymoon.

"Certainly we are still on our honeymoon," Connie said while we were having lunch at RKO where she is making "Show Business." "People don't seem to realize and sometimes they are awed when they see we still have that sweetheart thought between us. But the results have been extremely successful. Why shouldn't a married couple still keep that sweetheart quality which first brought them together? If it's lasting love you want this is the best course to take. Johnny and I have been very happy and we shall continue being that way."

So, there you have it. The fact is that when Connie and Johnny got married they were in love. It wasn't a matter of one of those rush affairs. They laid their plans carefully, not wanting to make a mistake. Their sound way of thinking is responsible for the happiness they both share. But, as in every case in Hollywood, many malignant people tried desperately to break up their marriage—by gossip and by insinuations. The couple laughed at all the rumors. They were both in show business and they also realized that they couldn't escape idle gossip.

Connie was a very unhappy girl once, though. A Broadway producer saw her doing an act during the second Hollywood Victory Caravan and moved all obstacles to get her to play in his production of "By Jupiter." Connie argued with him that she wasn't experienced enough to tackle the job—she was thinking of that and also of Johnny and their baby. It was a great opportunity for her—she knew it, her husband knew it too. The producer was so eager to get her for the role that he bought her contract from Paramount and Connie went to Broadway. It was during that period that the gossip mongers went to work. Connie took the baby with her to New York. Johnny would fly to see them as often as his agency business would permit him to do so, and he made the trips quite frequently. For a year they kept the spark, despite the rumors.

That was quite a break for Connie. She had been in pictures for quite a while, but her roles instead of getting stronger in importance, became of lesser value. Broadway hailed her. Hollywood began to think. Offers came right and left—good offers, but she wouldn't accept any of them. She was determined to stick to the show as long as it ran. It meant keeping away from Johnny, but his trips to New York were something she always looked forward to. It was that "sweetheart interest."

Now she is back in Hollywood. She has signed with RKO and her first role is with Eddie Cantor and George Murphy in "Show Business." But when she got back she found that the housing situation was very bad. They managed to get a house in which Connie found herself as maid, cook and nurse. Johnny was the gardener and interest each one took in their chores brought them closer together. If that's possible. So, you see, there are happy married people in Hollywood—and Connie and Johnny lead the parade. The next time you read about a Hollywood divorce, don't judge everyone by the same token.

Sparking of Glamour

By Frances Scafly

GROCERS AIDE

When the Food Service Emergency Corps started recruiting Grocers' Aides, the Hollywood stars, in their usual fashion, quickly enlisted their services. Carole Landis, Jinx Falkenburg, Kim Hunter, Ruth Hussey, Julie Bishop and Fay Holden were among the first to join and now they are enthusiastically encouraging others to follow suit. It offers a job for women with a few hours to spare each week, and who want to help the war effort. They work for their own neighborhood grocer doing odd jobs that keep him away from his essential work. Edith Head, Paramount gown designer, has even designed a light blue butcher linen smock as a uniform that can be easily copied. If you are interested just ask your grocer about this special work.

BEAUTY HINT

Diana Lynn, soon to be seen in Paramount's "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek," always rubs oil or cream well into her hands when she is going to work in her victory garden. This prevents dirt from getting into the pores of her hands and at the same time softens the cuticle.

DIRTY SANTA

I just can't resist passing this story along to you, even though it has absolutely nothing to do with glamour, but Andy Devine told it to me and I know you'll enjoy it.

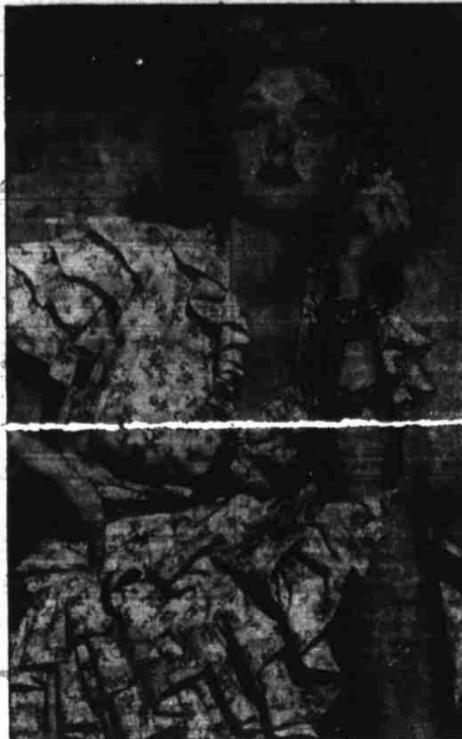

It seems that Andy who is working in Universal's "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves" came home one evening from the studio complete with studio makeup which included a scrubby beard. His four-year-old hopeful, Dennis met him and cracked "I wish you'd shave Daddy. You look just like a dirty Santa Claus."

SPOTTING STARS

I dropped out to Universal Studios this week to see a preview of the new Donald O'Connor-Peggy Ryan picture "Top Man," and had luncheon with Peggy afterward in the Universal Cafe and what a field day it would have been for tourists. Practically all their big stars were there, and many of them in the garb they wear in their new pictures. Maria Montez in an elaborate gypsy costume she wears in "Gypsy Wildcat" and John Hall her leading man also in costume. . . . Jean Gabin dressed as a soldier of the Free French. . . . Gloria Jean in a lavish black net evening gown with all over trimmings of gold sequin stars was lunching with Donald O'Connor, complete in dinner jacket and black tie. Vera Zorina in tailored gray gabardine slacks suit with tweed topcoat and Deanna Durbin's new fall tailored suit was a stunning combination of olive green with red accents. Deanna's hat was an olive green fur felt casual sport type with red grosgrain ribbon and completing her outfit Deanna wore a green wool scarf sprinkled with red sequins.

Anne Gywnne smiles pleasantly at the way her career at Universal is coming along.

"Riding High"

Dorothy Lamour, the Queen of the Strongs, discards that revealing gown to become an ex-burlesque queen in Paramount's "Riding High." The change is good—and no matter what Dottie wears she is always easy on the eyes. In this eye-filling Technicolor production, she has been transplanted from the jungle to the Wild West. It gives her a chance to sing and to wear a feathery outfit which must have given her some headaches during the production, because the head-piece looks huge.

But there are more people in the cast—good sound performers who give Dottie excellent support. Dick Powell is her new heart interest. He is a mining engineer. They meet on a train that's chugging through Arizona. Dottie has discarded her burlesque attitude because she is on her way to join her father who is supposed to be a rich silver mine owner. On the train also is Victor Moore, who spends money rather freely. At a jerkwater station the train is met by Gil Lamb, the Sheriff of the town and Cass Daley who owns the hotel. Dottie is shocked to learn that the mine is a fiasco and that Dick has some interest in it. She thinks that Dick has persuaded her father in buying a mine which does not exist. Dottie goes to work at the hotel as a singer. Meanwhile Gil suspects that Moore is a counterfeiter when he shows so much money around and which has intrigued his girl-friend Cass to no end. With such an outlook, Gil does get his man, Dottie gets hers, when she finds out that Dick had been working in good faith, and Cass returns to her first love.

Dottie gets a chance to sing some swell numbers among them "Whistling in the Light," "Indian Girl, Heap Hep," "You're the Rainbow," and some others. She puts them over in her own style, which is quite the thing. Dick Powell besides responding excellently to his comedy situations sings a couple of ditties pleasantly. Cass Daley and Gil Lamb supply plenty of laughs. Cass sings a number which will tickle every rib of your anatomy, "He Loved Her Till the Blackout Was Over."

Others in the cast that come in for a bow are Jim Burke, Bill Goodwin, Rod Cameron and Glen Langan. All in all it's a happy mele of songs, romance and laughter—all accomplished to the "nth degree."

Warners have a rip-snorting good melodrama in "Northern Pursuit," which serves as an Errol Flynn vehicle. It is full of thrills and adventure which will supply a good evening's entertainment. Things begin to happen immediately when a Nazi submarine disembarks a raiding party in Canada. Flynn gets involved with the party, although he is a member of the Royal Canadian Police. His convictions about the whole matter puts him in a bad spotlight with the higher ups, but eventually he proves his point and things arrive at a happy ending.

Errol Flynn gives a commendable performance. His heart interest is Julie Bishop, quite a good-looker and a girl who bears watching. Helmut Dantine once more portrays a Nazi officer. Some day he will be given a chance at other roles and the screen will have another outstanding personality. He deserves other characterizations. John Ridgley gives another swell performance, thus boosting his stock for more important things.

On the Sets

With Irwin Allen

Hollywood's most temperamental star is the camel. This uncouth beast of burden who left the desert behind to seek the neon blaze of the western oasis has hit the high water mark in lowly conduct. The mishapena monstrosity from the land of the Nile either has a very poor opinion of our Bagdad - on - the-Pacific or just doesn't give a hoot as to which side his hoo is buttered on. His manners are such as to raise a hue and cry throughout the land. His noises could hardly be called gentlemanly and spitting in the leading lady's eye would win no nod of proper protocol from Emily Post. "Lifebuoy" is strictly a foreign tongue in this double-jointed geranium and the resultant fragrance has sent storm warnings flying up and down the coast.

Nine of these dried up refugees from the land of sand are, at the moment, under contract to R.K.O. The legal language calls for performances in "International Zone" now in production with George Sanders, Virginia Bruce, Gene Lockhart, Lenore Aubert and Robert Armstrong. The story is set in Damascus. And what, pray, is a story set in Damascus without camels? The story drips with international intrigue, slinking spys and our ever-lovin' camel.

Sanders plays the role of a foreign correspondent who, in search of his friend's murderer, uncovers a huge Nazi plot. Virginia Bruce is the luscious daughter of Gene Lockhart, playing a rotter at heart. Lenore Aubert is an Arab Chief's daughter and Robert Armstrong is an FBI agent. The nine camels play the roles of nine camels. Next piece of casting,

The Hollywood Chamber of Commerce is giving serious consideration to making a direct appeal to either the FBI or the Department of Immigration. It seems that the camels have raised no small problem. People are beginning to talk. And the actors are momentarily expected to ask for both special insurance and stunt wages if they keep on working with the camels. RKO will soon be finished with the temperamental foreigners. After that, it's anybody's guess as to what will happen. Maybe fumigation, maybe deportation or maybe a sudden and violent end to the meat shortage in this part of the country.

Story of the Week—When George Murphy made an accidental movie test in New York in 1926, he didn't know it was going to make him a movie star. All he knew was that an actress friend had the chance to make a test, needed an actor as foil. So he foiled. When it was all over, the Broadway musical comedy favorite broke into a tap dance to mark his relief at the ending of the ordeal. But the cameraman liked that dance, recorded it, and when Eddie Cantor saw the test in Hollywood he was so impressed that he drafted Murphy for "Kid Millions." Now 15 years later, Cantor is producing "Show Business" for RKO. The musical is a dramatization of Eddie's career. He and Murphy star as a dancing team. But Eddie never really danced in all his years in show business. He has faked it. This time, though, he spent intensive weeks with a dance director, learned to dance. So his turnabout Cantor made Murphy a movie personality, now Murphy makes Cantor a dancer. For, Eddie declared he wouldn't try to fake any dancing with George, but would learn if it killed him. "That Murphy," he said, "won't make a sucker out of me."

Q: Dat Smith, Anderson, South Carolina—would you please give me a short biography of Richard Quine and where I can get in touch with him while he is in the Coast Guard?

A: Richard Quine was born in Detroit. After high school he decided to try his luck in New York. Lana Turner away from the "Marriage Is a Private Affair" set, bathes in the warm Southern California sun.

The a.b.c. of the h.c.l.

This is about the High Cost of Living.

It is also about you.

It tells you why prices go up, why this hurts you and your country, and what you can do to keep prices down.

We think you'll be glad you read it.

This is money

If you live on a desert island with a million bucks, it wouldn't do you a darn bit of good. Money is only good for what it buys.

This is goods

It's food, clothes, shelter. You get them with money. The more each dollar buys, the better for you. The less, the worse. So far, so good.

This is war

When war comes the demands for the materials of war are so great that everybody has to go to work. This means more jobs to do at home; more people working and working harder and longer than ever before. This puts more money into the pockets of lots of people.

That's good, but! (Read on)

This is a war plant

It used to make autos for people to ride in. Now it makes tanks for soldiers to fight in. This means you can't buy a car with all that extra money.

You can't buy other things, either. Because like the auto company, other factories that used to make radios, ice boxes and so forth, are now making things for the Army and Navy.

So there are less goods for civilians.

This is a pretty kettle of fish

Well, here we are. Money to burn. 142 BILLION dollars in American pockets this year. But only 90.6 billion dollars' worth of goods to buy. Even after allowing 16 billion dollars for Federal, State and local personal taxes, that leaves more than 35 billion EXTRA dollars with no place to go. If we take this 35 billion and chase around to buy things with it, what'll happen? Just this: We'll start bidding against each other. And the price of things will go up and up. A $25 suit might cost $32. A $5 pair of shoes might cost $8. Or $9. Or more.

This does not make sense.

This is Uncle Sam

Being wise, we don't want to see prices go up.

So we go to work. First, we ration all scarce goods so that everybody can get his fair share. Then we put a lid on the price of certain goods, and say they must go no higher. Then we put a lid on wages and rents. And the taxes we are asked to pay, and the War Bonds we are asked to buy drain off some of the dangerous dollars that might cause prices to rise.

BUT the U. S. needs more help than that.

The Nation needs YOUR help.

This is you

You are the average, loyal, hard-working American who always comes through in the pinch. This is the pinch. If you come through, prices will stay down. If you don't, they won't.

We know you'll come through. We know you'll do YOUR part—starting now!

- Buy only what you absolutely need. And this means absolutely. If you're tempted, think what a front-line soldier finds he can get along without.
 - Don't pay a cent above ceiling prices. Give ration stamps for all rationed goods.
 - Take a grin-and-bear-it attitude on taxes. Giving up tax money is a lot easier than giving up your life.
 - Pay off your debts. Don't make new ones. Getting yourself in the clear helps keep your Country in the clear.
 - Don't ask more money for goods you have to sell or work you do. It'll take backbone, but that's just what's needed today.
 - Start a savings account. Buy and keep up adequate life insurance. This puts your dollars where they'll do you good . . . instead of hurting you by pushing up prices.
 - Buy more War Bonds. Not just a "percent" that lets you feel patriotic, but enough so it really pinches your pocketbook.
- What do you say!

☆ Use it up...Wear it out...Make it do...Or do without

Another Reason To Carry On

Our memories need be searched no further than yesterday to quicken our hearts and renew our minds concerning the things for which we continue our fight into another year.

The tribute paid to three fine Howard county men, two of whom paid with their lives and the other of whom offered his in a moment of supreme danger, was full of dignity and sincerity as the Army knows how to make it. Somehow, when Col. R. W. Warren, commanding officer, planned on the awards earned by S/Sgt. Edmund H. Smith, now a prisoner of war, Cpl. Herman Appleton and S/Sgt. Edward G. Christensen, there was a feeling that the gratitude of a grateful nation went with those awards.

There have been no more thrilling and inspiring stories of heroism in this war than those contained in the citations for the awards earned by these three men. No real American can read them without a quickening of the pulse... and a lump in his throat when he stops to consider the utter unselfishness displayed in the face of death.

Here is the picture of one youth sticking calmly to his job when every second might well have been his last. Here is the picture of another throwing himself over a wounded comrade to take bursting shell fragments in his own body. Here is the picture of still another flying undaunted into the face of death over Europe to maintain a ring of protective fire for his mates.

Weary of war? Not when we reflect on the deeds of these heroes. How can we grow weary when the task they so nobly started still remains undone? And now that their great example is before us, could we refuse to do our best if all other reasons were gone other than to keep alive the spirit which they exemplified?

God bless the one who lives and cherish the souls of those who died. They did it for us; the least we can do is to do our best for them.

Stinnett's Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON — This column may be a few weeks or months previous, but within that time you are going to hear it over and over again: the labor manpower problem is practically solved.

Principal factors in the solution are: (1) discharges from the military services; (2) curtailment of production in those wartime industries which already are over-produced or are no longer important to the type of warfare we now are involved in.

Starting with No. 2, it's no longer any secret that we have more munitions than we know what to do with. Powder and shell-loading plants are being cut back. So are tank factories. So are several other wartime industries, but these are unmentionable. They might give the enemy some clue as to what direction we are taking.

Out of these folding plants, labor is being released at the rate of thousands a week to fill in where employment is short. Statistical information on this is unobtainable; but there is no great mystery about what is happening in cutbacks from the armed forces.

Discharges from the military have now reached something like 100,000 a month. In one recent month, the discharges hit 112,000. About 29,000 of these got CDD (complete disability discharge) rating. But on the average, approximately 85,000 men a month are being released who are capable of taking over civilian jobs. Some have only one leg, one arm or one eye, but they are finding that the door of industry is wide open.

As guards, filling clerks and all the way up the line to executives, they are reestablishing themselves. Business, big and small, is tickled pink with them, according to reports being made to Selective Service and the War Manpower Commission.

These 85,000 or so available a month, however, wouldn't be enough, if it weren't for the fact that wartime industries also are cutting back.

In a number of cases, War and Navy Department plants are shutting down. In some instances,

Chapter 14

Bert took Ann to a new restaurant, quieter and more secluded than the last one they visited. Here, at a small table to themselves, he wanted to hear about the Masons.

"They're my charity case," she said, borrowing Sarah's words and sure that Bert would recognize the reference. "The one you turned down."

"I turned down?"

"Yes. The one Sarah called you about yesterday noon. The workman's wife with the flu. When you refused to go I believe she went so far as to suggest she knew in advance you wouldn't take the case."

His face clouded. "Either you're making it up or I was unconscious. Sarah didn't call me about any charity case."

"She didn't?" Ann was puzzled. "Then she talked on the phone to herself."

Ann had decided to deny it. She didn't know which but she was inclined to believe Sarah faked the conversation, not wanting Bert exposed to anything in which Ann was interested.

"We managed without you," she said and let the smile in her voice relieve the sharpness of the rebuke.

"You'll have to start at the beginning."

He listened attentively while she outlined the plight of the little trailer family.

"It's pitiful, Bert. Four persons crowded into a space no larger than the corner of this room."

"Well, if the man's making money his family doesn't have to live that way."

"Oh, but they do! There's not a vacant house in Radville and there must be forty families in the camp."

"We've had lots of building since the defense plant opened."

"Certainly. But these are the overflow, and when I think of all the space to waste at Terrace House it makes me wonder if something shouldn't be done about it. Staff and all, we haven't more than 17 people in a house that would accommodate a small army."

"Sure," he chimed. "Bring them all up to the hotel and let them mix with our finicky clients."

"They're helping win the war!" she retorted and was sorry when she saw him flush. He wasn't

Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Back in 1938 a short story appeared in Story magazine and immediately swept through Hollywood. Enthusiastic admirers, when copies ran short, made mimeographed booklets for their friends. But Hollywood was afraid to make a movie of it. "Address Unknown" would have been an affront to the peaceful (after its fashion) Germany.

That it is reaching the screen at last, though Sam Wood, who bought it, has faith in its qualities as a thriller. He has turned it over to William Cameron Menzies to film, and now the art galleries of Schulz and Eisenstein (branches in San Francisco and Munich) are doing business on the Columbia lot. Paul Lukas plays Schultz, the German partner who returns to the homeland to be Nazified, and Morris Carnovsky is the ex-German Jew who wreaks subtle vengeance for a Nazi crime across the sea.

Puric is head of King Peter's

Regardless of the film's outcome, it represents a triumph, for a girl named K. T. Stevens, who is Sam Wood's daughter Gloria. It's proof that papa accepts her as an actress.

When Gloria first told her father she wanted to act, he was not encouraging. "I hadn't anything against acting for her," he says, "but I didn't want her to be just another ingenue. I knew if she got into pictures then she might last a year or two, maybe more."

So Gloria went to New York on her own to seek what she could do. She found that agents and producers were very pleasant to Sam Wood's daughter. It also seemed that, as Sam Wood's daughter, she couldn't possibly be considered for small roles, the kind that are best for beginners. But at K. T. Stevens, unknown, helping win it. Or at least he wasn't in uniform. But she understood they hadn't called him because he was one of the last two doctors in town.

He shrugged. "Let's talk about patriotism the second Tuesday of next week. Ann. I brought you here to talk about us."

"Oh."

"You see," his dark eyes studied hers with speculation, "I want to know where I stand."

"Where you stand?"

"You know what I mean. I'm in love with you."

"In love with me?" Her lips parted and surprise spread to her eyes. "But, Bert, you know how I feel."

"No I don't. That's why I'm asking you."

She pulled away her hand from the possessive grasp in which he held it. "I've had my mind on the will and all that. I... I haven't had time..."

"You had time to be with Lane."

"With Jerry? You're crazy."

"Then why did you meet him on the bridge last night? Why didn't both of you leave the hotel together? Afraid of being seen?"

So Bert knew, Jerry followed her and had mistaken her quarrel for a lover's tryst.

She wanted to laugh but her sense of humor deserted her.

"He followed me. He had no business doing it."

Bert scoffed. "I'd say he followed you, all right, but it looked as if he had both business and invitation to do it."

"I suppose you wouldn't believe the truth? That he almost scared me silly, that I stopped to speak to him only because I thought he'd tell me about finding the will?"

Bert stiffened. "Finding what will?"

"My grandmother's." She told Bert of her own part in the search and of her presence when Jerry came. "He's not man enough to admit it," she finished.

"Does he know you saw him? Are you sure of this?" He drummed his fingers in an alarming rhythm. "Are you certain it was the will?"

"Yes. I could tell by the way he acted. You'll have to help me, Bert."

He seemed preoccupied when he said, "Yes, of course."

"Why couldn't we look in his room for it?"

The Unseen Audience

So K. T. Stevens worked on the stage, and occasionally in pictures—even a small role now and then in a Sam Wood picture. She was in a Broadway play, "Nine Girls," when Columbia bought the show and signed her. After this, Sam Wood made a releasing deal with the same studio, and Menzies began to cast "Address Unknown." K. T. tested for the lead role of Griselle along with other contract players, and Menzies, knowing of the Wood family "argument," was embarrassed. Her test was the best. He called in Wood to look.

"O. K.," grinned Sam Wood. "We'll use her."

HUN HOBEL KILLED

AT THE ITALIAN - SWISS FRONTIER, Jan. 5 (AP)—German Labor Chief Hans Hobel was among the most recent victims of sporadic resistance by Italians against the Nazis and fascists in northern Italy, reports reaching the frontier said. Hobel was killed in a street in Fiume in daylight.

Doctors not only disagree with one another but often are inconsistent with themselves.

On March 9, 1821, Secretary of State John Quincy Adams wrote in his famous diary: Henry "Clay is an eloquent man, with very popular manners and great political management. He is, like almost all the eminent men of this country, only half educated. His morals, public and private, are loose."

Four years later Adams, who had been chosen President of the United States, appointed Henry Clay to succeed himself as his secretary of state.

Thirty-four years later, Abraham Lincoln, in a speech at Ottawa, Ill., referred to Henry Clay as "my beau-ideal of a statesman."

"Criss-cross" is merely a corruption of "Christ's cross."

The ancient Hebrews called the Red Sea "yam suph," "the sea of reeds," referring to the vegetation in the shallow, marshy upper reaches of the body of water.

In Georgia the probate court is called "the court of the ordinary," which is a survival of English ecclesiastical law in which an ordieither Congress, by legislative action, or the President, by executive order, is going to have to do something very soon to clarify the handling of manpower.

At the moment, it appears that Selective Service has the upper hand in control of men discharged from the services. But Paul McNutt has moved in with his U. S. Employment Service to take over. There are some 20-odd agencies connected with manpower. Some clarification has to be made as to what agency has the final say.

Patrick Henry made his famous "give me liberty, or give me death" speech in a church.

The letters "L. S." on legal documents are the abbreviation of "locus signillii," meaning "the place of the seal" in Latin. The Romans used to take off their signet or seal rings and imprint their seals on all documents, and the present legal practice is a survival of that custom.

William Backhouse Astor, son of the first John Jacob Astor, was known as the "landlord of New York" because of the great number of residential buildings in that city owned by the estate that he administered.

A scalloped or pattypan summer squash is often called a "cymling squash." This name comes from an old English word "smilin," meaning cake.

"Halitosis," which was popularized in connection with a patent medicine, signifies a "malodorous or foul-smelling breath." It was suggested by Latin "halitus," breath.

The name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania enjoys the distinction of having three widely used and generally acceptable abbreviations — Pa., Penn., and Penna.

Partisans Are Undaunted By Nazi Efforts

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Nazi defenders of Banjaluka, headquarters of the Second German tank army occupying the Yugoslavian Adriatic coast, have brought up tanks and field guns in a desperate but so far unsuccessful effort to smash Partisan forces who captured half the city in a surprise New Year's eve attack. Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) declared today.

"Bitter street battles are still raging," Tito's broadcast communique said, "but our guns are successfully counteracting the enemy's tanks and the last nests of resistance are being systematically smoked out."

That the position of the German garrison is precarious was revealed when Partisans intercepted a telegram sent to an undisciplined German base urgently appealing for assistance, the bulletin said.

Yugoslav units adept at street fighting battled the Germans from street to street and house to house. The Yugoslav communique said they stormed the town prison, the so-called "black house," killing more than 100 German soldiers, and then went on to capture the nearby town hall, where another 120 enemy troops were slain.

Connally Would Remove Postwar Campaign Issues

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the senate foreign relations committee today threw his support behind efforts to keep postwar policy issues out of the 1944 presidential campaign.

"The time has come for all responsible elements in the United States to unite in support of a thoroughly American foreign policy," Connally said in an interview.

"That policy embraces the determination to prosecute the war to complete and crushing victory over our enemies."

"It embraces the intention to establish thereafter an international organization for the stabilization of peace, and for its preservation."

"It calls for the use of that organization in the suppression of aggression, by peaceful means, if that course proves effective, and if not, then by force of arms."

Gunmen Learn Man Is Old But Agile

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (AP)—The two gunmen who entered a west side shoe store last night paid scant attention to the aged man behind the counter, proceeded about their apparent larcenous business.

One bandit approached the clerk, John Heyduk, flourished a revolver and told him to put up his hands. Heyduk, who is 80 years old but agile, knocked the gun from the robber's hand.

When he stooped to retrieve it, Heyduk reached under the counter, grabbed a baseball bat and clubbed the bandit. The second robber helped his dazed companion from the store.

Heyduk, who had been watching the store for his son, John, was telephoning police to report the attempted holdup when his son returned.

New York May Bid For Party Parleys

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—The possibility appeared today that New York interests may bid for the republican and democratic 1944 national conventions.

Officials of several of the city's larger hotels said they would welcome the conventions and Martin Sweeney, president of the Hotel Association of New York, said that the group's convention bureau had discussed extending formal invitations.

WAR TODAY: Bombardment Of Invasion Coast To Save Lives

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Day after day the American and British air-forces, based on Britain are drenching the coast along the English channel with bombs directed at a multitude of objectives which are described mysteriously as "invasion targets," that is, targets which must be reduced before the Anglo-American land forces can be put ashore for their drive on Berlin.

Yesterday, for instance, Yankee medium bombers slashed at Nazi installations in the French coastal war zone for long hours. Authorities are silent as to the exact objectives but unofficially it's suggested that the targets are airfield emplacements for rocket-guns — Germany's new "secret" weapon. The Allies aren't taking chances on this rocket-gun, for the experts of all countries know that such weapons can be constructed to throw shells containing terrific explosive power over long distances.

The rocket-gun, however, is only one of our problems. The spade-work now being carried on by the daring and uncannily skillful Anglo-American air fleets, in the face of fierce enemy counter-blows, is a labor which will save untold thousands of our men when the day of invasion finally arrives.

We can have the satisfaction, however, of knowing that the Allied high command is doing all possible to lessen the dangers. As remarked the other day by General H. H. Arnold, chief of U. troops up to the battle line. Airfields and grounded warplanes are constant objectives for invasion will be accomplished by a titanic conflict in the air.

Heavy artillery emplacements are a particular menace. Even one battery of guns could easily destroy a warship, and could ply havoc with a great and closely packed fleet of transports carrying troops and equipment.

Tank bases also are prime targets.

One of the greatest threats our invasion forces will go up against will be mines — both of the sea and land variety — which are all the more fearful because they are hidden dangers.

Dare-devil mines — sweepers — the unsung heroes of the sea — will run their noses up into the fields of floating explosives and clean out many of the mines — in fact, these little vessels are constantly at this dangerous work.

The land mines are dealt with largely by bombing and shelling from warships in the pre-landing stage of invasion. However, most of the mines are small and easily replaceable so that the task of detonating them is never ending.

All this Allied preparation is

In token of the latter point, he will close the coffee shop daily from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. for a thorough cleaning. To promote service, he has completely reorganized the staff. Later Fox will feature Mexican foods in the evenings.

His staff includes Peggy Brownlee, assistant manager, who will book all private parties and serve as bookkeeper; Gladys Wilkerson as hostess; Helen Jones as cashier; LaVern Burnam, head waitress; and Clarence Fox, Sr., storekeeper. All have been associated for a time with Clarence Fox, Jr. in cafe operation.

Rearred in Lubbock, Fox operated the Texas Tech Lunch room there for nine years and subsequently a drive-in cafe which Mrs. Fox still operates. Adding to his 15 years of experience, he has managed the post restaurant at the Big Spring Bombardier School since it opened, and from it Fox said "I believe I have a thorough knowledge how to maintain a thoroughly clean place."

da ever thrown into action in a single day.

Total Allied air losses were listed as 25 planes—a remarkably small percentage of the great number of craft participating. At least 17—possibly more—German fighters were reported shot down in vain attempts to intercept the raiders. Of the enemy planes destroyed, the U. S. heavy bombers accounted for four and their fighter escorts for eight.

More than 3,000 tons of high explosive and incendiary bombs were unloaded on Germany and France during the day. A large proportion of the total falling on Kiel and Munster. Both cities have been raided repeatedly.

The trip to Kiel—situated near the extreme northwest corner of Germany—represented an over-all flight of more than 1,000 miles for the big American bombers and their fighter escorts, which were equipped with special auxiliary fuel tanks for the long foray.

Munster, a city with a normal population of more than 100,000, is situated about 200 miles southwest of Kiel and is a vital link in German railway communications with France and the defenses on the invasion coast.

Moisture Tests Run In County

Moisture penetration test were made this week over a large part of Howard county by the Soil Conservation staff of Big Spring.

Dudley Mann, who is in charge, said today there is good top soil moisture, but that subsoil moisture is intensely lacking. Moisture was found as deep as 30 inches in a field where a good cover of immature hogari stalks protected the ground. On the adjoining area where the hogari had been cut leaving an eight inch stubble, dry soil was found at 28 inches.

Most of the rains for the past two months have been very light and should not have produced any appreciable runoff, however, there is considerable difference in the depth of penetration of moisture on bare areas and on areas where there is good grass, according to the office.

Due to the shallow penetration of moisture, every effort should be made to hold enough moisture between now and winter time to insure subsoil moisture on fields and grass land.

Newton Case Court Dockets

AUSTIN, Jan. 5 (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today docketed for hearing the appeal of Dr. William R. Newton of Cameron from a seven-year sentence for assault to murder Dr. Roy Hunt of Littlefield on May 21, 1942.

Mrs. Newton was indicted on the same charge but has not been tried.

The attempt on the life of Dr. Hunt was the first of two in 18 months.

Dr. and Mrs. Hunt's blood-soaked bodies were found in their home by their six-year-old daughter Oct. 26, 1943. A convict has been held for questioning in the slaying of the Hunts.

In the trial of the assault to murder indictment against Dr. Newton the Littlefield physician testified that he was called to the outskirts of Littlefield at midnight by a couple whom he identified as Dr. and Mrs. Newton. A shooting followed with a man using a light-calibered pistol while a woman remained in the car, Dr. Hunt said. The wounded physician further testified he escaped into a nearby field.

David Hopper, Member Of Helena Crew, Tells How He Was 'Buried'

It was a big body, badly decomposed that washed ashore on a small Southwest Pacific island two days after the sinking of the cruiser Helena.

The small group of survivors stole out of hiding to get a glimpse of the unrecognizable remains together with another body. Even the dog tags were unreadable.

Ed Ansen, 21, Helena, Montana, cried out: "It's Hop." And so the rest of the fellows turned away while he buried his dearest friend, David Hopper.

But David Hopper, MM 3/c, former Big Spring high school athletic star who at one time was reported missing when the cruiser sank, was here Tuesday to tell all about it.

A few weeks later, after he had been moved from a base hospital for shipment back to the states, David Hopper came face to face with Ed Ansen.

"He came to a sudden stop," related Hopper. "I'll never forget the look on his face. He just stood there, his eyes bulged out. Finally he began to cry."

Hopper was picked up after the torpedoed cruiser went down but was sent to a small island hospital. In the meantime, the body washing ashore was mistaken for his and this undoubtedly resulted in the report he was missing.

He felt also that fate had dealt him a lucky hand else he would have been blown up when the cruiser was hit. His crew had been on a prolonged shift and instead of going back at its regular time, drew a short or-dog-watch later in the afternoon.

Shortly before he was to go back on duty in the fire room, one of the torpedoes hit square-ly where he would have been, as it was, Hopper was thrown against the bulkhead and stunned. A companion, who had not worn his helmet, had half his head shorn off when hurled into an angle iron.

Hopper suffered a broken ear drum from concussion and finally was turned down for further sea service. He chose limited shore duty in preference to a discharge and currently is stationed in California. He is visiting with relatives here and with Mrs. Hopper's family at Lenorah for a few days.

Every locomotive has an indispensable war job to do ... some move our armed forces ... some serve civilian travelers ... some speedily roll essential materials to the home front and to war industries ... others, food and necessary commodities to our folks in the armed services. They are fighters, proud of the job they do ... rolling over glistening rails, serving America. And they will keep on rolling until the last shot is fired and Victory is won. After that? They will be on duty ... helping to rebuild the world.
