Fall Festival This Saturday

The Fall Festival time is now here! The Festival will be held in the old gym (across from the school) beginning with the Queen and Princess crowning at 6:30.

Notice: There will not be a Spook Parade this year! After the Queen and Princess contest we will then draw the door prize. The carnival booths will begin at 7:00 and will last until 9:00 p.m. Anyone having a booth needs to set up on Saturday, Nov. 2 between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. The gym will be open and someone will be there at all times. You will also need to stay to clean up afterwards.

The Queen and Princess candidates and their escorts need to be at the gym no later than 6:00 for rehearsal.

Some of the booths this year include: Basketball and Football throw, Keychains, Cake Ring Toss, Concession Stand, and much, much more!

There will also be a Silent Auction this year, so please come, there will be fun for everyone!

Early Voting Ends November 1st

Early voting for the November 5th General Election will end Friday, November 1, instead of Monday, October 28, as printed in last week's paper.

Voters are reminded to have their voter's registration card with them when they come to the polls.

Voting places are as following:
Precinct 1: American Legion building, Matador.

Precinct 2: Community Center, Flomot.

Precinct 3: Northfield Church, Northfield.

Precinct 4: Depot, Roaring Springs.

Precinct 5: 4-H building, Matador.

Precinct 6: Motley County Courthouse, Matador.

Motley County School Board Meeting Report

The Motley County ISD Board of Trustees met October 14 at 7:30 p.m. Roll was called. Items for board action included:

* Approved minutes of the previous meeting.

* Approved the list of expenditures and reviewed financial statements.

* Approved Rick Copp as Motley County I.S.D. Representative to the Education Service Center Board.

* Approved advertising for bids on a 68-passenger bus.

* Approved advertising for bids on employee health insurance.

* Approved a Pregnancy Related Services policy which deals with students.

* Approved TASB Update 52 which deals with administration appraisals and new graduation requirements which will take place this year.

Meeting adjourned.

Gerry Jones, Advanced Registered Nurse Practitioner, and Clinic Manager of the Motley County Clinic, was honored by her peers, at the Tenth Annual Texas Nurse Practitioner conference in Lubbock. She was given a plaque and flowers in appreciation for six years service on the Texas Nurse Practitioners' Executive Board. Ms. Jones has seen many changes in the N.P. role during these years. She states that probably the chief advancement was when the Texas State legislative authorized certified N.P.'s to write prescriptions in their own name. Previously prescriptions had to be co-signed by a doctor. Gerry was also a featured speaker at the conference which included approximately 400 N.P.'s from across Texas, New Mexico, New York, and other states.

A look at the Promise Keepers

by Rev. Felton Gilmore

On any Wednesday night from 9 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. there will be noticed a number of cars and trucks parked downtown. Not only parked downtown but in front of one business. No, it's not a board meeting or an after hours sale, nor is it a cult or even a storefront church as some have suggested. Rather, it is a group of men meeting for fellowship, Bible study, and prayer. They are the local extension of a nationwide men's movement known as Promise Keepers. They are men who have gathered to seek to become men of promise, keepers of their word to their wives, children, and most of all their God. They have committed themselves to being men of integrity and accountability, dedicated to spiritual renewal among men and reconciliation between races and between denominations.

Why is it a movement of men? Is it aimed at putting women down or discriminating against the "weaker sex"?

The answer to the last question is a resounding no! Instead, it is a movement aimed at men for the very reason that for so long the men in our churches have been so out of touch with God that there had to be something to wake them up. There needed to be a revival of an enormous magnitude take place. It was recognized that family was created at the beginning of time and set up for the father and husband to take the initiative in nurturing, loving, and developing relationships, a responsibility that so many men had abdicated to either their wives or institutions. In the home and in the churches it has been the women that have held things together. The world has labeled this by some as an anti-feminist movement, yet they fail to recognize that it is probably the strongest organization in the world that lifts women to the high place where they should be, while at the same time calling men to the responsibilities that God originally intended for them.

Trick or Treat

Landry Morren is all decked out in his Tigger costume and ready for Trick or Treating. Landry is the two year old son of Wayne and Angel Morren of Matador. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Morren of Floydada, (Freddie is better known in Matador as the Postmaster), and Mr. and Mrs. David Edwards of Tulia.

Watch for Traffic Dangers this Halloween

Trick or treat! Treat yourself and the kids who are special to you to these safety tips and there's no trick to having a Happy Halloween. Texas Department of Health statistics show that 87 people younger than 20 died in auto-pedestrian crashes in 1994. Stay safe and don't add to those numbers this year.

Safety tips for trick or treaters:

1. Look both ways before crossing the street, even a quiet, neighborhood street. Look three ways before crossing - left, then right, then left again.
2. Stand clear of stopped or parked cars so drivers can see you and you can see the street clearly.
3. Stop at the curb before crossing the street.

4. Wear Halloween makeup instead of a mask - you'll see better as you cross the street and go up and down steps and stairways.

5. Help your folks put reflective tape on your costume and on your candy bag, and carry a flashlight or a glowstick.

6. Careful with loose, billowing costumes - fabric can get caught on sharp edges or cause you to trip or fall.

Safety tips for drivers:

1. Drive slowly and carefully in residential areas - excited kids can dart away from adults and into the street.

2. Before proceeding at a stop sign, make sure kids see you. Don't drive through the intersection until the trick or treaters stop at the curb.

Gene Weatherall, chief of TDH Bureau of Emergency Management, added more safety warnings. "Adults should inspect the treats kids collect and discard anything suspicious such as unwrapped or loose candy or food or inappropriate or unsafe toys," he said. "And besides causing kids to trip or fall, those loose, flowing costumes could be a fire danger, especially around anyone who smokes."

Emergency medical technicians and paramedics across Texas respond to more than a million emergency calls every year, according to Weatherall. "We want to make sure the Halloween season is a safe and fun time for kids, and a trip with EMS to the emergency department would be no fun at all," he said. "So help us keep the little ones, and the big ones, safe."

FCC Will Receive Telecommunications Recommendation Nov. 8th

by Wayne Morren, Principal

Megabytes. High-speed digital networks. Multimedia platforms. Cyberspace. Microchips. T-1 lines. Video conferencing. Fiber optics.

Most of us shrug our shoulders and our eyes glaze over at the mere mention of high tech gobbledygook. "Why should I take the time and effort to learn about such things? We tell ourselves. "It might be necessary for some folks, but not for me."

Well, you're right! You're right if you have no interest in the skills and knowledge that result in higher paying jobs and more secure futures for our children at Motley County I.S.D.. You're right if you think information technology won't help our children perform better at school and achieve a brighter future. You're right if you think America need not better prepare itself to compete in the global marketplace. And you're right if you know your job will not be transferred or downsized by the time you retire.

But most of us want to leave an enduring legacy and are concerned with giving ourselves and our children an equal chance to succeed. We, at Motley County I.S.D., believe every generation should have better and greater opportunities that the one before.

On November 8, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) will receive a recommendation that may well determine the extent to which libraries and schools nationwide - and the children and adults who use them - have access to affordable and locally chosen telecommunications services, whether it be in the suburbs, the inner cities, remote towns or in rural areas.

Giving schools the ability to pick and choose from the broadest possible range of telecommunications services at affordable, discounted prices - E rate - gives students access to world class research and educational tools. It can connect them with universities, museums, research centers, distance-learning programs, the Library of Congress, NASA, government institutions and other countless learning opportunities.

"Sticks and stones may break my bones, but words will never hurt me." How very untrue those words are. I remember as a child, my parents telling me to say that to anyone who said something that may hurt my feelings. Even as a child, I remember thinking that words really do hurt, all the way to the bone, and especially to the heart. Do we really realize as adults how much words can hurt someone. Have you ever watched a small child, when a parent yells at them or calls them names or even makes threats to them? Jim and I experienced this recently in a store in Lubbock. I wanted to pick that child up and run, to hold and comfort that child. We both were very unnerved by the incident. The parent's words even hurt us!

When someone tells a lie about you or someone you love, it hurts. It can hurt that person's self-esteem, but more importantly untrue words can hurt the person's reputation, their job, their business, their whole life.

We all have heard something about someone, and maybe we tell that to someone else, and so on and so on, until the story completely changes and gets worse each time it is told. We need to be very careful if we repeat something about someone we have heard 'through the grapevine'.

But there are some people who intentionally tell things that are untrue about a certain person or a group of people to try and discredit that person or persons. And isn't it funny how other people listen. It seems they thrive to hear something "goosey" about someone.

I mean, maybe some very respectable, God fearing, hard working people that someone has known all of their life, will have untruths told about them and people will believe "goosey gossip" and lies and have a completely different outlook on that person or persons. I just don't understand that!

The Bible tells us not to pass judgement, "Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest does the same things." Romans 2:1.

We're all guilty of passing judgement. I, for one, am going to try and be very careful with my words, and repeating something I may have heard. Probably 99% of the time, it has already been repeated several times, and by the time that you hear it, it's not true anyway. And by the same token, we need to be very careful about believing what we hear! The person who started the tale, may have been intentionally telling an untruth, just to hurt someone else.

So, that childhood tale, of words never hurting, is still untrue. It's a good rhyme, but words do hurt. Oh, how they can hurt!

Artful Halloween Decor at Do Gooders Club Meeting

The Do Gooders' Club of Flomot was greeted at the Community Center Tuesday afternoon with a colorful array of Halloween decorations including scarecrows, skeletons and pumpkins.

Adding to the holiday decor, hostesses Mesdames Edith and Erna Washington had a Halloween designed service and cloth centered with an artful autumn arrangements in a large pumpkin surrounded by miniature pumpkins. They served finger sandwiches, pumpkin cake and cookies with coffee, iced tea and punch.

Following a brief business meeting conducted by Mrs. B. Rogers, president they finalized preparations and arrangement for club's Bazaar. They exchanged Secret Pal gifts.

Others attending were Mesdames Nada Starkey, Mary Jo Calvert, Annie B. Cloyd, Trula Martin, Alma Shorter, Barbara Payne, Christeen Gilbert, Leona Degan, Jimmie Hunter, Melva Jo Shelton, Judy True, and Waydette Clay.

Rudeness Is Not Authorized

The Apostle Paul addresses Christian conduct in First Corinthians 13. I would like for us to notice how verse 5 begins:

Love "does not act unbecomingly". The New King James Version has, "does not behave rudely." Most commentaries have "is not rude." Another author gives, "unmannerly". The point which the Apostle makes is: "...that love is not discourteous."

Some may find it strange that this quality is listed along with "important" things like kindness and humility. What difference does it make if we have good manners or not? Whether we are polite, nice, considerate, inoffensive -- or just the opposite to these?

It makes a great deal of difference, for at the root of genuine courtesy is a concern for others and their feelings. It makes a tremendous difference, for it has to do with the impression we leave on people. Christian people are to be the salt and the light of the world for the glory of God. Repulsing people by our actions simply is not Christian behavior.

Love is thoughtful, considerate, respectful, mannerly, tactful, and polite. These qualities may be considered by some to be old-fashioned or outdated, but the apostle Paul tells us if we are "Christian", our actions will have the qualities.

El Progresso Club Enjoys Costume Party

by Beverly Vinson

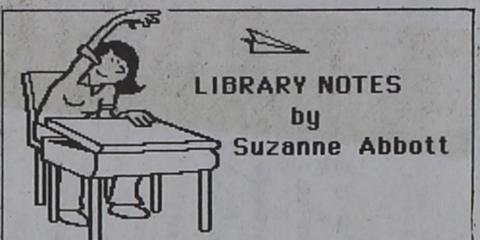

Halloween came early to El Progresso Club on Thursday, Oct. 24th when it met in the Seniors Citizens building for an afternoon of enlightenment on Halloween and some of the superstitions and sayings having to do with that holiday.

The meeting was called to order by President-elect Mrs. Loys Campbell. The usual business was conducted and three new women were voted on to become members: Dixie Litteken, Ann Seigler, and Pat Warren. Mrs. E.A. (Dorothy) Day gave a report on the upcoming project of a muralist coming to Matador to paint a mural on the outdoor walls of one or more buildings in Matador. Further notice will be coming concerning the project in that it won't be just an El Progresso project, but city-wide and county-wide. Mrs. Day put out a box at the school during homecoming and the MURAL FUND was begun. She also announced there would be a contest featuring Christmas Tree ornaments decorated to depict TEXAS with them going to the State TFWC, then judged and the top three would then be sent to GFWC in Washington, D.C. to be used on the tree in the GFWC building.

Mrs. Campbell introduced Mrs. Robert (Winifred) Darsey who told the History of Halloween relating it had always been a "Scary" time, the time of All Saints Eve when the moon was at "full" and things would be that much more eerie. She told of how it began with the Dark Ages - then Civilizations arose with many superstitions, then came the period of the learned and unlearned. During the Renaissance where the unlearned were, there were great superstitions. The day of the gypsies had arrived, quite often called Romanis. They roved from the near East to England. At one time they had come to this area, traveling in their wagons, then, later coming in their Model T's with a warning to the local residents that they would take anything that wasn't nailed down. The gypsies were adept at all kinds of thievery. With the advent of cults, there were sacrifices, people believed in ghosts and Halloween was celebrated at the sign of the bright moon (full moon toward the end of October). It was said devils got out at night and people put on masks to hide from the ghosts. The woman of the clan carried all their fortunes with them. They were a nomadic tribe of people who loved to sing and dance and were generally happy people.

Mrs. Darsey then related many of the superstitions we were all familiar with making it a happy and enjoyable afternoon recalling those sayings we had all grown up with and usually bring a good laugh.

The winners of the costume contest were: scariest - Joan Keith, dressed as a witch with long grey hair, a black pointed hat and all the trimmings; most original, JoEtta Bumgardner, as "the devil" with red face, red clothes with

This week's Library Notes is dedicated to some very special people who have volunteered their time to keep the Library open during October while I had knee surgery. I can't say thank you enough to these people. As near as I can tell, I was not even missed. The new books got put out on the shelves; interlibrary loan requests were processed; videos, books on tape, and books were checked out - all in prompt business-like fashion.

Thanks to Betty Moore, Earline Vaughn, Jo Scott, Joan Patton, Pearl Patten, Marihelen Wason, Loys Campbell, Dixie Litteken, Patricia Green, Georgia Witcher, and Opal and Charles Johnson, the Library remained open for business during the month of October. I appreciate those willing workers so very much, and I know that the other citizens of Motley County do also.

Matador Mural Fund Raising Project Underway

What began as an idea for Dorothy Day and the El Progresso Study Club, has now become a full-blown fundraising project for the whole town. The idea - to paint murals on the sides of some buildings in Matador. This project has been done in some other area towns and is very attractive.

Some money was raised at Home-coming to the the project off to a good start. If you would like to make a donation you may do so at the First State Bank in Matador, or you may mail your donations to Matador Mural Fund, First State Bank, P.O. Box 60, Matador, TX 79244.

Matadors Swifted by Nazareth Swifts

by Billy Green

Nazareth took the opening kick-off Friday night and wasted no time scoring on the Matadors with 2:41 played in the first quarter. The Swifts put their first score on the board, but failed in their extra point attempt. The Matadors turned the ball back over to Nazareth on their first two possessions with a fumble and a failed pitch out which allowed Nazareth to score two more times before the quarter ended. In the second quarter the Mats allowed 13 more points and had another costly turnover taking the score to 33-0 at halftime.

Nazareth scored two more times in the third quarter which ended in a 48-0 Swift lead. The fourth quarter faired not any better for our Matadors and as the final buzzer was blown the scoreboard read, Nazareth 55 - Motley County 0. The Matadors played hard but were plagued by costly turnovers that the Swifts capitalized on.

This week Motley County travels to Springlake-Earth to take on the number 2 state ranked Wolverines. Come and back the Matadors and show your support for these young men whether they win or lose, they are still our Mighty Matadors!

Cost is the main reason so few rural schools are connected for the future, as evertightening budget situations have become common place. Many schools must now pay the same commercial rates as businesses, sometimes thousands of dollars a month. We can go a long way toward ensuring greater opportunity and accessibility for our students telecommunications services if the FCC provides schools and libraries an E-rate that varies with their ability to pay.

We must all begin by contacting our Senators and Representatives, communications representatives, telephone companies and cooperatives as a group to make sure a discounted E-rate becomes a part of the soon to be finalized regulation. We can also contact our state utility commissioner the FC at 1919 M St. NM, Washington, D.C. 20554.

The question no longer is why should we learn about telecommunications technology, but how can we make sure that no one at Motley County I.S.D. is left behind and make it affordable for our District.

For more information or addresses please contact Rick Copp, Superintendent at Motley County I.S.D.

Top 4-H Members Honored at Banquet

HONORED AT BANQUET — Motley County 4-H Gold Star winners, Colby Turner and Rebecca Long were among those honored at the Rolling Plains District 3 Gold Star Banquet held recently. They are pictured here with Kit Horne, West Texas Utilities, one of the sponsors of the banquet.

Two outstanding 4-H Club members from Motley County were honored at the Rolling Plains District 3 4-H Gold Star Banquet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, October 22, in Haskell at the Haskell Memorial Civic Center.

Among the top 4-H'ers in the District were Rebecca Long, daughter of Rodney and Nona Long and Cobey Turner, son of Johnney and Carol Ann Turner. Featured speaker was Martha Couch, DED-FCS, of Amarillo. Kit Horne of West Texas Utilities Company, which sponsors the banquet, welcomed the honorees and guests.

Parents, distinguished guests and special friends attended the banquet to salute the winners.

To qualify for the Gold Star Award, highest 4-H honor at county level, a 4-H'er must be at least 15 years old, have completed three years of club work and be active in 4-H. The award is intended to stimulate winners to higher achievement and to encourage other young people to participate in the county 4-H program.

The awards were presented by Elaine Houston and Galen Chandler, District Directors for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. 4-H is the youth program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service a part of the Texas A&M University System.

Promise Keepers

Randy Philips, the president of Promise Keepers, shares the philosophy and basic beliefs of the organization when he states in the book, The Power of a Promise Kept, that men need to be men of integrity and accountability, but "the point is that we (men) can't do it alone. We need help. We need brothers to encourage us, confront us, and hold us accountable. When Christian brothers come together in meaningful relationships, the burdens they have are no longer so heavy. And the commitments they make are not intimidating. The fact is, if you want to become all God wants you to be, you need at least one other Christian brother to help you get there. We believe that God wants to raise up ordinary men, men who raise the standard of God's Word, keep their promises, and in the process become extraordinary."

In developing men of promises, there are seven promises that men are encouraged to embrace, and these promises are that:

1. A Promise Keeper is committed to honor Jesus Christ through prayer, worship, and obedience to His Word in the power of the Holy Spirit.

2. A Promise Keeper is committed to pursue vital relationships with other men, understanding that he needs brothers to help me keep my promises.

3. A Promise Keeper is committed to practice spiritual, moral, ethical, and sexual purity.

4. A Promise Keeper is committed to build a strong marriage and family through love, protection, and biblical values.

5. A Promise Keeper is committed to support the mission of his church by praying for his pastor and by actively giving his time and resources.

6. A Promise Keeper is committed to reach beyond any racial and denominational barriers to demonstrate the power of biblical unity.

7. A Promise Keeper is committed to help influence his world, being obedient to the Great Commandment (Mark 12:30-31) and the Great Commission (Matt. 28: 19-20).

Expounding upon these promises, the organization states that "Promise Keepers is a Christ-centered ministry dedicated to uniting men through vital relationships to become Godly influences in their world."

Promise Keepers is the birth child of founder, visionary, and former University of Colorado head football coach Bill McCartney. Coach McCartney has been given a dream and vision for men that has had resounding results that has strengthened marriages, relationships, churches, and communities in unprecedented ways never experienced before. These incredible results are the by-product of the gathering of 71 men at a Colorado meeting in 1990, where Coach McCartney shared his burden for the men of this country and his dream to fill C.U.'s Folsom Field with 50,000 men gathered to honor Jesus Christ and to learn more about becoming godly men.

From that meeting, Promise Keepers has grown so quickly that it has a membership of nearly 2 million men and a staff of over 500 personnel. Last February, Promise Keepers held a meeting at the convention center in Atlanta, Georgia for clergy. It was the first time in the history of the Christian Church that such a spectacular meeting of far-reaching results took place, a meeting in which over 42,000 clergy of every denomination gathered under one roof in harmony and unity, renewing themselves and praising God. Rev. Felton Gilmore was privileged to participate in this meeting as the local Promise Keepers sponsored and sent him to the conference in Atlanta.

Promise Keepers just completed their last of twenty-two meetings for the 1996 season, in which each was attended with well over 50,000 men apiece. It was at that final meeting held in Texas Stadium at Dallas, Texas, a meeting of nearly 70,000, that 12 local men attended - Kenneth Marshall, Brent Marshall, Brian Marshall, Terry Simpson, Rev. Rickey Lawrence, Les Woolsey, Gilbert Guerrero, Chip Smith, James Martin, Ronnie Vandiver, Hal Martin, and Rev. Felton Gilmore. Upon arriving at the two-day gathering, they were encouraged, challenged, and inspired by spiritual messages that called upon them to be the epitome of the hope found in Jesus Christ and the vessels of change to the world around them, reconciling relationships in love and commitment through Jesus Christ.

Bill McCartney and Promise Keepers are launching a new dream for 1997 in conjunction with their desire to continue to increase the meetings and associations across the world, a dream to organize and have over 1 million men gather in Washington, D.C. A dream to meet at the nation's capital, not to protest, but to pray for our country and the men in it. A vision of gathering, not to draw attention to racial discrimination as other marches have, but a gathering to show the hope of reconciliation and the power of promise found in the Lord Jesus Christ.

If anyone is interested in attending the local Promise Keepers meetings or finding out more information, contact Brent or Brian Marshall at Marshall Bros. Propane, or come by and join them on Wednesday nights at 9:00 p.m. For national information contact Promise Keepers at P.O. Box 18376, Boulder, CO 80308. FAX: (303) 421-2918.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

This letter is to correct a rumor circulated during Homecoming concerning my health. The rumor is that I have a "bad health problem". This is totally untrue and unacceptable to me. Two friends have contacted me, as a result of this rumor, to express deep concern for my condition.

So, for these friends and others who may have been misinformed, I am fine and my health is good!

Sincerely,
Jolene Higginbotham

Farm & Ranch News

Issues come and issues go and Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) has little time to reflect on the battles won and lost over its 40 years of service to High Plains cotton producers and the allied industries they support.

Through the years, representing some 20,000 cotton producers and landlords, PCG has developed a strong, wide-ranging support structure. This structure allows PCG to rapidly address situations that threaten area cotton producers. It also provides an efficient mechanism for the advancement of beneficial ideas and programs on behalf of the High Plains cotton producer.

An excellent example of how this system is utilized is the current effort to reform proposed regulations that will govern how Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) is carried out in the future.

"Without adjustment the proposed CRP rules have the potential to eliminate a large number of existing High Plains CRP contracts," warns PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "If adopted without some consideration for the beneficial effects this program has had an air and water quality and wildlife we could, as a result, erase much of the progress that has already been made and thrown away a significant environmental investment."

Johnson notes that PCG staff members have been working with a number of groups, including the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 and the National Cotton Council, to convey these concerns, along with recommendations for change, to the Natural Resource Conservation Service and Secretary of Agricultural Dangelickman.

In comments being prepared at this time, the Secretary is being asked to consider carefully not only the adverse effects that might result on the High Plains, but also the effects in areas adjacent to the High Plains.

"The Conservation Reserve program has been one of the most successful and beneficial programs ever carried out in the High Plains," concludes Johnson. "It would be a shame to allow ten years of progress to be wiped out unnecessarily."

In another area PCG representatives have been working once-again to fix problems that exist in the current Federal Crop Insurance Program.

PCG officials note that primary areas of focus at this time center on the introduction of a Revenue Assurance-type program for cotton similar to the type currently being evaluated for wheat, updating the mechanism by which quality adjustments are made as well as the ongoing issue of coverage cost and price elections.

"The federal government has been steadily moving away from the ad hoc disaster programs that have provided producers with a safety net in the past," explains Johnson. "At this time it is important that every effort be made, by both USDA and producers, to develop a dependable crop insurance program that does what it is supposed to do, protect producers from the often harsh economic after-effects of losing a crop."

Social Security Tips

by Mary Jane Shanes
Plainview Office

SOCIAL SECURITY OVERPAYMENTS DEDUCTIBLE FROM REFUNDS

Are you a former Social Security beneficiary who owes a past-due debt to Social Security because you received an overpayment of benefits? If so, you should know the Internal Revenue Service is authorized to reduce or withhold your federal tax refund to collect the delinquent debt. Approximately 132,000 persons will receive notices in July and August stating that any federal tax refund they may expect to receive next year will be subject to be withheld for their delinquent debt.

Social Security overpayments occur when beneficiaries fail to report a change in their circumstances that affect their entitlement to benefits. Examples are a mother or father whose young child is no longer in his or her care; or a disabled worker who returns to work. In both cases they may continue to receive benefits to which they are no longer entitled, and may accrue an overpayment.

If you receive a letter from Social Security about money you owe, you can review your records with a Social Security representative. You have 60 days to appeal the overpayment decision or to repay the debt. If you don't owe the money, your record will be corrected. But, if you do owe money, you can repay the amount in full or in installment payments - whichever is most convenient for you. In some instances, the debt may be waived completely if you can show severe hardship and that the overpayment was not your fault.

Local SWCD To Initiate A Resource Needs Assessment 1996 Farm Bill Gives Local SWCD New Responsibilities

"As a result of the 1996 Farm Bill, the Upper Pease Soil & Water Conservation District (SWCD), with headquarters in Matador, along with 3,000 other SWCD's in the nation, has been given the charge to lead the way in developing programs and initiatives to improve soil and water resources at the local level," said Coy Franks, chairman of the SWCD.

"After years of applying top-down program management approaches in federal conservation programs, the new 1996 Farm Bill establishes a locally driven process, coordinated by conservation districts, to guide the state and nation's agricultural conservation efforts. It provides tremendous opportunities for local people to become involved in assessing local resource needs, setting priorities, developing conservation policy, providing technical support, accepting program applications and approving conservation plans upon which cost-sharing will be based," Franks added.

According to Franks, the process deals with developing a list of priority areas and concerns for the long range Farm Bill program for Fiscal Year 1998 and beyond.

To enact the Farm Bill on the local level, the Upper Pease SWCD, in partnership with the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service, will conduct a work group meeting with its conservation partners and interested persons or organizations on November 5th at 7:00 p.m. in the multi-purpose room at the Motley County School.

The purpose of the meeting is to conduct a local conservation needs assessment, establish local priorities and make program recommendations on what problems the SWCD should address in future years. Local recommendations will then flow to the state level where the district's various technical issues, resource priority areas and program policies will be reviewed and integrated into a state, regional and national program.

"We are really excited about the opportunities the new Farm Bill offers because Congress is seeking our leadership to assist our community in carrying out a cooperative, locally driven, incentive-based conservation program that wisely invests public resources to protect local natural resources," said Franks.

PUBLIC MEETING NOTICE

Section 551.041 of the Texas Open Meetings Act requires that the Upper Pease Soil and Water Conservation District provide written notice of a public meeting to be held on November 5th, 1996 at 7:00 p.m. in the multi-purpose room located in the Motley County school.

SUBJECT OF MEETING: Conduct a local conservation needs assessment, establish local priorities, and make program recommendations on what the Upper Pease SWCD should address to meet its responsibilities in the 1996 Farm Bill.

Hollis Cain on Education:

Hollis Cain believes providing a quality education for our children is the most important issue in Texas. Hollis is an advocate for public education. As a former school board member, Hollis understands the needs and problems of rural schools. He understands the impact of legislative action on local school districts and taxpayers. Hollis is proud that two of his daughters are certified teachers. He understands the difficulties faced by classroom teachers in complying with bureaucratic paperwork and mandates. Hollis is committed to working to make the schools in District 85 the best in the state.

Hollis Cain with five reasons he cares about quality education - his grandchildren.

HOLLIS CAIN WILL WORK FOR:

- cutting centralized bureaucracy and bloated administrative costs
- putting savings from cuts into classroom resources and teacher pay
- curriculum standards that are objective, measurable and achievable
- back-to-basics academics and meaningful vocational programs for students
- less decision-making in Austin and more at the local level
- a school funding plan that benefits all schools without passing the burden on to property owners
- the fundamental right of parents to direct the education and upbringing of their children
- ensuring retired teachers have adequate pensions
- continuing the downsizing of the Texas Education Agency

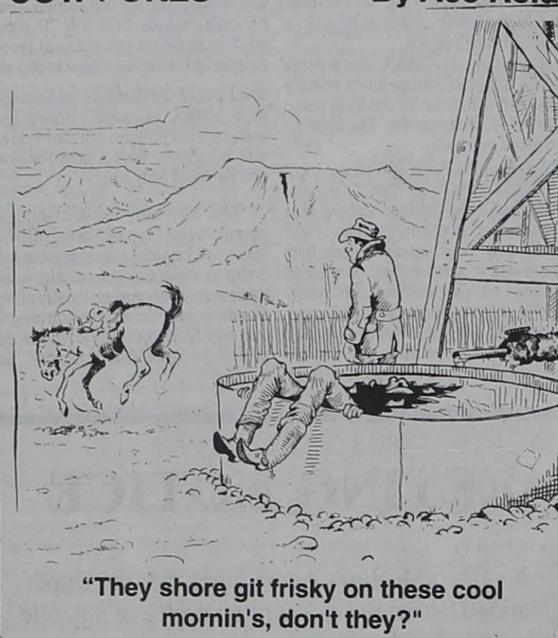

Hollis Cain's opponent, James E. "Pete" Laney, voted for Robin Hood against the wishes of 70% of District 85 voters. Mr. Laney last month received another $25,000, his largest single contribution, from the liberal Texas NEA. Maybe that's why, as speaker, Mr. Laney has instructed his House Education Committee to consider giving incentive pay to inner-city (Houston, Dallas, Austin, San Antonio) teachers. Hollis Cain wants to cut bureaucracy and waste and give more pay to ALL teachers.
