Thankful for Valued Friendships

by Earlyne Jameson

"Friendship adds a brighter radiance to prosperity and lightens the burden of adversity by dividing and sharing it."

I consider myself rich in friends, not only in number, but also in the diversity of their personalities. Sometimes the depth and the constancy of their loyalty amazes me.

My friends are vital to my happiness. I used to think as I grew older, I'd become more independent, less reliant on relationships, but in fact, the opposite is true. I value friendships and my family more with each passing year.

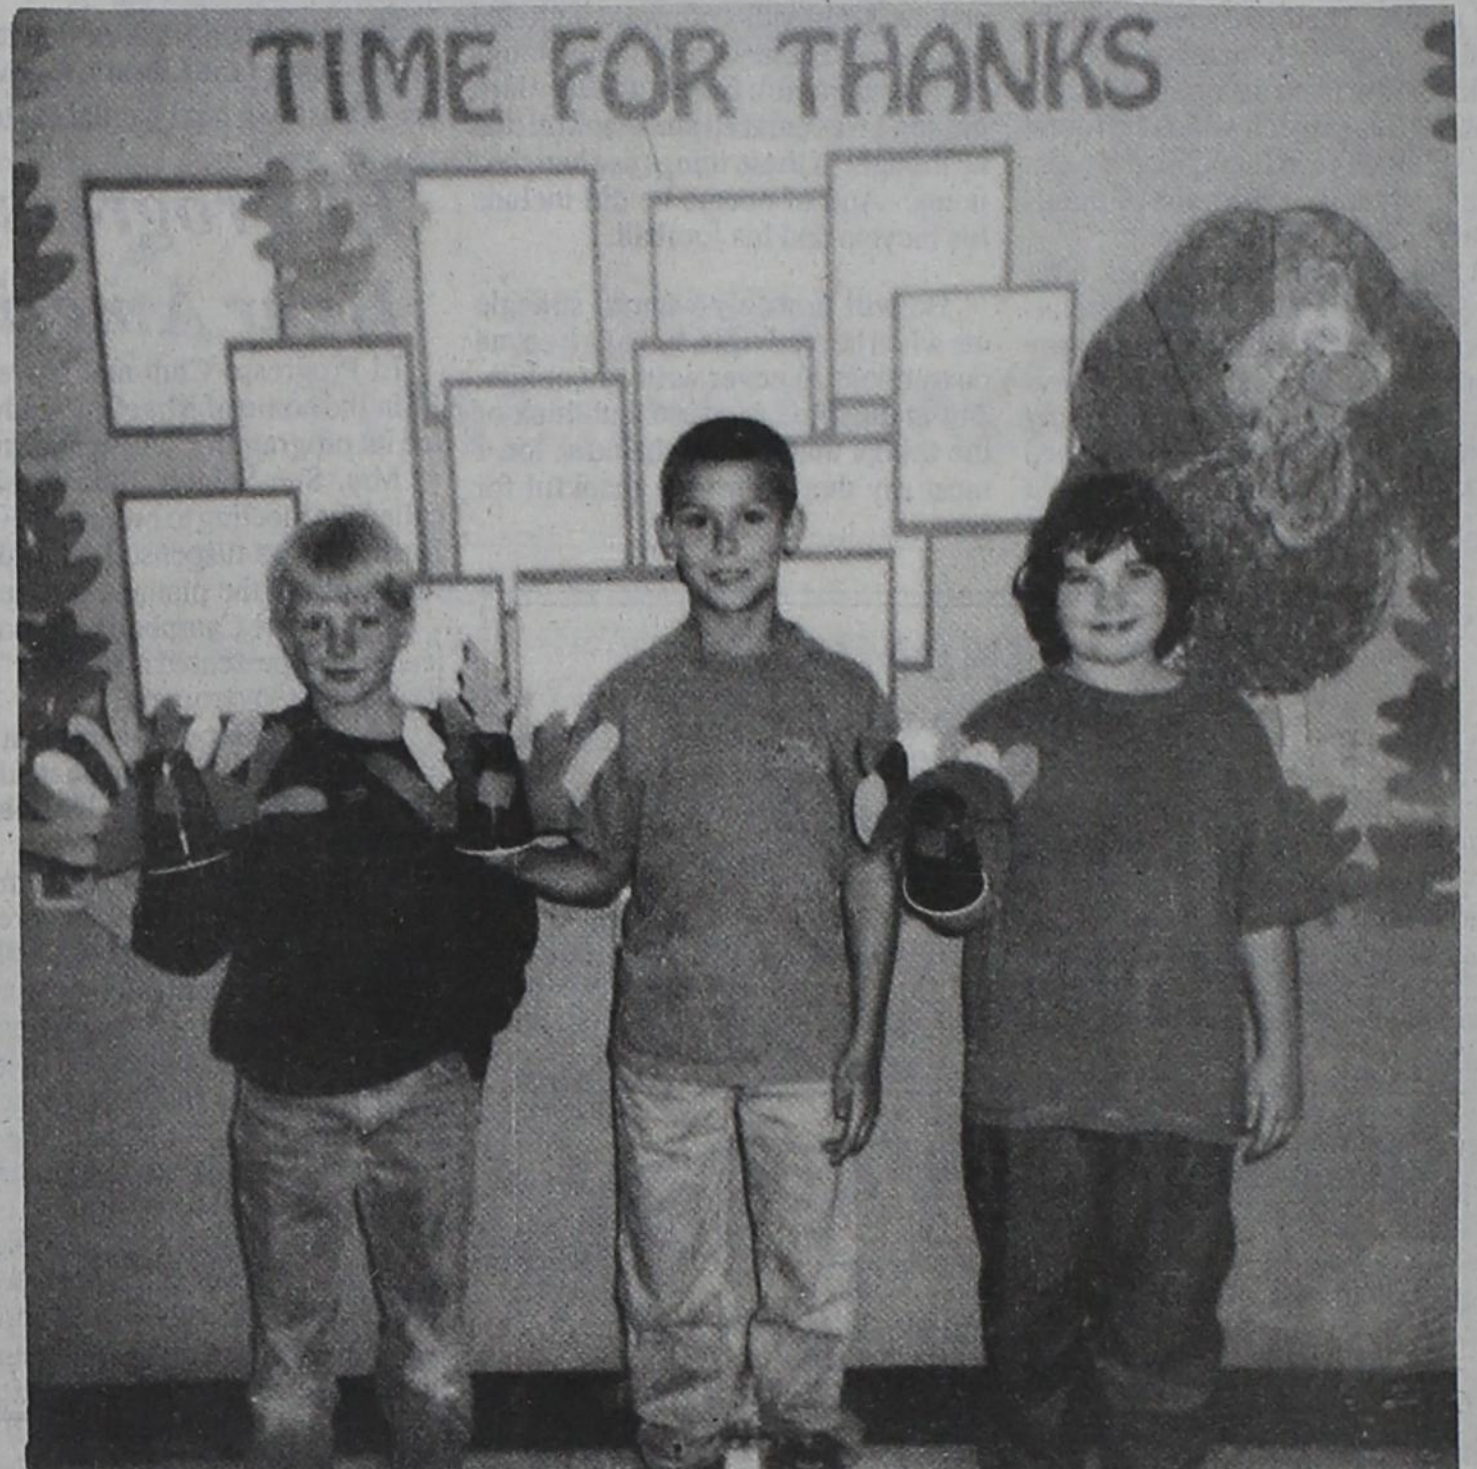

When I wear clothes and look at items in my home, I remember the friend or family member who gave it to me. They make me laugh and cry and remember my birthday when everyone else has forgotten. They pray for me and my family.

Friends, by virtue of their happy outlook on life and sharing events in their lives, have made getting my weekly news columns a pleasure through the years.

This Thanksgiving, as I count my blessings...family, home, health ... I also will number the friends who enrich my life. They are bound to me through heart and mind, memory and experience. Among that group of exceptional human beings, I spend my happiest hours. I am thankful for valued friendships.

TIME FOR THANKS

The Motley County I.S.D. third grade class made turkeys and wrote thankful lists as a Thanksgiving class project. Pictured here displaying their handmade turkeys are Jacob Johannes, Chance Bingham, and Ashlee Green. Their teacher is Mrs. Tonya Price.

Use Safety While Traveling This Thanksgiving

When traveling this Thanksgiving weekend, Trooper L.B. Snider, Public Information Officer for the Texas Department of Public Safety, asks you to consider that we have some of the best roads in the country and motor vehicles today have much better safety features than vehicles most started driving in. Snider states that fatal accidents are lower than a few years ago, yet the number of injury accidents continue to rise.

Trooper Snider advises that nearly all traffic accidents are caused by one or more driving errors, which often offset vehicle safety features. Common driving errors are: Fail to yield right of way; following too closely; wrong side of road; speed too fast for conditions; and cutting in too closely when passing along with numerous other hazardous errors which too often result in accidents with injury or death. Many of these errors are a result of fatigue, alcohol and other drugs (including prescription and over the counter), trying to make time, and inattention.

Motorists should be aware that D.P.S. Troopers along with local and area agencies will be on alert for these and other traffic violations to curb the rising number of injury causing accidents. They will also be looking for motorists needing help.

Precaution tips suggested by Snider are to: (1) Schedule adequate time for travel (even within minutes); (2) be rested and alert; (3) be clear of medications and or alcohol (have a drug free driver if you ingest either, and (4) have all occupants (backseat also) to use safety belts. These will help us have a weekend of "thanks" rather than regrets of driving error.

Sharp Opens Second Texas Tomorrow Fund

(Austin) -- State Comptroller John Sharp has open the Texas Tomorrow Funds second enrollment period by noting that the pre-paid college tuition program is a better bargain than ever-and a great holiday gift-for shrewd shoppers.

"If you're one of nearly 1,000 Texas parents whose child will be born today, you should know that it could cost you more than $46,000 to send your bundle of joy to college in 18 years," Sharp said. "And that's just for tuition and required fees. Books and living expenses are extra."

"As tuition inflation continues to drive up the costs of a college education, the Texas Tomorrow Fund will be the answer for people trying to save their children's or grandchildren's futures."

The Texas Tomorrow Fund, first proposed by Sharp in 1994 and approved by state lawmakers during the last legislative session, allows families to lock in the costs of their children's future college tuition and required fees.

The second annual enrollment period will run through February 18.

"If you buy a contract today for your newborn and pay for it in one lump sum, the price for tuition and required fees will be $9,652.98-a savings of more than $36,000," Sharp

SANTA & RUDOLPH — Little Jacob Woolsey, Bailey and Cagen Denison are anxiously awaiting for Santa as they play near the Santa and Rudolph display on the Courthouse lawn.

ANTIQUA DECORATIONS — These Antiqua Christmas decorations, which were restored by some helpful citizens, are now hung and on beautiful display throughout downtown Matador.

Thanksgiving is upon us! A time to pause and think of the many things we have to be thankful for. A time to realize that we're really not in all that bad of shape! Just look around and count the many blessings we all have.

While visiting the Third Grade room, and seeing the lists of things they are thankful for, it brought back the memory of when my son was a third grader. Their class made thankful lists also. I remember Jeremy coming home from school and telling me about this project, which he found to be so much fun. I imagined a paragraph in my mind with a list of things like his bicycle, football, etc.

Upon returning to school after Thanksgiving holidays they were allowed to bring their lists home. To my astonishment, Jeremy's list was several pages long. It brings tears to my eyes to remember that now. He listed me (Mom) and down the list of all of family, including grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins. He listed all of his classmates and his teacher. Then on to his pets, his dogs, cats, even his snakes and turtles. He listed the trees, the flowers, the rocks, and many things of nature that most of us don't think about. He listed ice cream, steak, pumpkin cookies, enchiladas, and several food items. He included water, snow, rain, and even wind. Our car, clothes, shoes, and even our bathroom were included on the list. There were so many things he was thankful for as a little third grader, I was amazed and thankful that he thought of these things as cherished items. And of course he did include his bicycle and his football.

He will probably want to strangle me when he reads this, he has given me instructions to never write about him. But at this time to pause and think of the things that we are thankful for, I must say that I am very thankful for him.

Many thanks to Charlie Johnson and Ken Abbott for putting together a new workstation desk for the library's new computer. They worked long and hard and did a fantastic job.

El Progresso Club Members Hear Americanism Program

El Progresso Club met November 12 in the home of Mrs. Guy Campbell for its program for "Americanism".

Mrs. Sue Seigler, club president, called the meeting to order at 3:30 p.m. Business was dispensed with, due to the length of the planned program.

Mrs. Grace Campbell was program leader and presented a film on "Keys to a Good Government."

"Keys to a Good Government" was narrated by David Barton and was filmed in Washington, D.C. at the Capitol.

It was an awe-inspiring film with breathtaking background pictures and glimpses of the beautiful Capitol city.

Mr. Barton began the narrative with a history of our founding fathers, the men who composed and signed our Declaration of Independence, Our Constitution, Bill of Rights, the legal documents that form the nucleus of our government.

Our founding fathers emphasized the employment of righteous laws, the individual rights of man, freedom of worship, freedom of the press, and the laws that guarantee the good life.

As the film unfolded Mr. Barton mentioned the Patriarchs of our country: Washington, Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, Noah Webster, and others.

William Penn said, "If men be bad then their government will be bad."

Noah Webster said, A Republic is based on God's law and a Democracy is what the people decide". He said "this country was founded on God's law, and as long as a country follows that law it will survive."

Benjamin Rush, Educator, believed that an adequate education was a hallmark for good government and the right of every American Citizen. The schools, great universities, America enjoys today are a result of the hard work of those gone before.

This film was inspirational and brought forth our patriotism of our great country. May the Flag of Freedom always wave over the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave!

Mrs. Debra Spray favored the members with a lifting vocal version of "America the Beautiful" accompanied by Lola Pohl.

Mrs. Marge Edwards gave the inspirational thought.

Club adjourned.

Mrs. Lucretia (R.E.) Campbell and Mrs. Winifred Darsey were hostesses for the day serving a refreshment of mincemeat pudding, spiced tea, coffee and mints.

Members present were Mrs. Loys Campbell, Mrs. Callie Giesecke, Mrs. Joan Keith, Mrs. Patricia Green, Mrs. Lola Pohl, Mrs. Grace Campbell, Mrs. Pat Warren, Mrs. Marge Edwards, Mrs.

Thanksgiving With Contentment

"The best things in life are free" is far more truth than poetic words of a song. To wake up on a beautiful day in good health, or to drink deeply of cool, clear water, or to take in a deep breath of fresh air - these can not be measured in terms of dollars and cents. To find peace and comfort in a warm house and a comfortable bed after a day of hard work - what price tag could be placed on these? What is it worth to spend time with a friend, and not count the hours in terms of the money which could have been made? Since we are passing through this life only once, isn't it sensible to get some real contentment, peace and happiness from our journey?

The apostle Paul wrote in Phillippians 4:11-13 these words: "I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content. I know both how to be abased and I know how to abound: every where and in all things I am instructed both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need. I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." It is only with contentment and peace that we can enjoy that which ambition and effort may have gained. A simple trusting faith, which is a strong reliance on God, will bring contentment into our lives. Every sunrise and sunset, sunshine and rain, seed time and harvest, winter and summer - all these speak of God's care for us. Read of this in Genesis 8:22. We only have to value each day's experiences to see the demonstration of this truth. Have a good holiday filled with "Thanksgiving."

Matadors Victorious Over Rangers, 51-40

by Billy Green

The Matadors traveled to Patton Springs this past Tuesday night and came home victorious over the Rangers. In a low scoring game the Matadors led at half with a 16 to 14 advantage over the Rangers, but put together more offense and defense in the second half as the Mats won 51-40. The Mats had three players in double scores with Aaron Green leading with 18 points, Keane Cruse had 16, and Ryan Martin with 11 points. The Mats also did a good job defensively against Patton. Good job guys.

In the JV game our Mats also came away with a win as they defeated the Rangers 29-24. Paul Gonzales led the scoring with 9 points, Brant Donaldson 8, Ty Barclay 5, Jason Barton 3, Sean Rose 2, Jerod Reiger and Aaron Binder each had one point. Congratulations guys!

The Matadors traveled to New Deal last Friday night and put up a great fight, but lost to the Lions 75-59. The Matadors showed a lot of heart and determination as they challenged a much taller team in the Lions, but foul trouble plagued the Mats on their losing efforts.

Top scorer for the Matadors was Keane Cruse with 28 points, Aaron Green had 14, Ryan Martin 7, Scott Smith 4, Joe Mangram 4, and Cobey Turner 2.

On Tuesday the Mats traveled to Kress to take on the Kangaroos.

No JV game was played at New Deal but they will be in action against the Kangaroos, Tuesday.

Go get 'em Matadors!

Tomorrow Fund

"But if you're like most parents and don't have that kind of money sitting in the bank, you can buy a contract today on the installment plan," Sharp said. "For just $82 per month until your child graduates from high school in 18 years, you can still save nearly $30,000 from the price of his or her tuition and required fees."

Sharp noted that, in addition to the contracts going on sale today, parents and grandparents may order a Texas Tomorrow Fund Holiday Certificate.

"It may not look like much of a toy, but the Texas Tomorrow Fund Holiday Certificate will still be around long after your child has outgrown a Power Ranger or Barbie doll," Sharp said.

"Parents who wish to order a Holiday Certificate should call my toll-free hotline right away at 1-800-445-GRAD," Sharp said. "These Texans will receive information packets and application forms within the next few weeks—in plenty of time for the next enrollment deadline."

The Comptroller noted that the newly issued contracts cover more credit hours than those sold during the program's first enrollment period earlier this year. Current contracts under the four-year public university plan have been expanded from 120 hours to 128 hours.

During the program's first enrollment period last spring, more than 41,000 families took advantage of the pay-now, learn-later program. Nearly 13,000 families have requested information on the program since then.

Sharp said that 81 percent of the prepaid contracts purchased during the program's debut enrollment period were for the senior college plan, covering tuition and required fees for up to 120 credit hours at any public senior college or university on Texas. Another 12 percent were for the junior or technical college. Two percent were for the private college plan, covering the average cost of tuition and required fees for up to 120 credit hours at any of the state's private colleges and universities.

The Texas Tomorrow Fund is over seen by a board chaired by Sharp. Others members include: John C. Anderson, president of Hale County State Bank in Plainview; Michael D. Gollob, head of the Gallob, Morgan, Peddy and Co. accounting firm in Tyler; Dr. Roy McClung, former president of Wayland Baptist University in Plainview, now retired and living in Lubbock; Charles Miller, chairman of Meridian Advisors, Ltd., an investment firm in Houston; Jere Pedersen, executive vice president of the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston; and Beth Weakley, senior vice president of Frost National Bank in San Antonio.

Sharp noted that Texans can also find out about the Texas Tomorrow Fund on his electronic bulletin board by dialing 1-800-227-8392 toll-free or by visiting his Internet site at <http://www.window.state.tx.us>.

Extension Service

Recruiting Master Marketers

LUBBOCK -- The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is looking for a few good agricultural marketers who are interested in sharpening their skills to an even higher level and helping their neighbors do the same.

Extension is offering a series of intensive, in-depth training sessions designed to enable participants to evaluate all their marketing alternatives, develop a marketing plan and gain the necessary skills to carry out that plan.

Called the Master Marketer Program, the training applies to agricultural marketing the successful master volunteer concept combined with another successful educational tool: marketing clubs.

Many marketing clubs in Texas have provided a practical hands-on opportunity for farmers to learn marketing skills. Though many clubs have succeeded, others lacked a key ingredient for success: a capable producer to be the leader, said Dr. Jackie Smith, professor and agricultural economist-marketing specialist with the Extension Service.

"The best clubs have been those with good leadership," Smith said. "This Master Marketer Program is designed to take interested, capable leaders and improve their marketing skills and confidence to a level where they can help others maintain a successful marketing club."

Master Marketer Program participants will receive training in a series of four two-day sessions, taught by 13 outstanding instructors for six states. Each participant must agree to share are what they learn by assisting their local County Agent in starting and leading a Marketing club.

The first two-day session will be January 15-16, with the other three held every two weeks thereafter. Classes will be held at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Lubbock.

"The Master Marketer Program will provide a select group of farmers the marketing training and education that can directly improve their bottom line," Smith said. "These same producers will share their knowledge with other producers as they interact in a marketing club."

As the Master Marketers pass on their new skills, the investment in training by the Extension Service and other supporters of the program will be effectively spread to a much larger group, Smith explained.

He said the goals of the program are to train about 30 area producers to a higher level than previous programs, and to lay the groundwork to form at least one marketing club in every county in the area.

"The flexibility that is part of the new farm bill brings with it a new level of price volatility and necessitates a renewed emphasis on marketing skills on the producer," Smith said. "Producers who understand market forces and alternative marketing techniques will have a clear advantage in the future."

The registration fee of $250 per person covers only a small portion of the program cost, Smith said. Most of the cost of the program is being paid by several sponsoring commodity groups, local lenders and other agribusinesses.

The course offers a wide range of topics to enhance marketing skills. These topics will be approached from a real-world standpoint, using numerous case studies and simulated problems.

The first Master Marketer Program was held last year in Amarillo. The 1997 course at Lubbock may be the last opportunity to participate in the program in this area, since it will be held in another region of Texas next year, Smith noted.

To register for the program, marketers should see their local county extension agent or telephone Smith at the Lubbock research and extension center, (806) 746-6101. County agents have brochures with complete details of the program.

Social Security Tips

by Mary Jane Shanes
Plainview Office

FIVE TIMES TO CONTACT SOCIAL SECURITY

While many people are aware that Social Security pays retirement benefits, some may not realize that Social Security also is the backbone for families when a parent becomes disabled or dies. For this reason, they may not realize that they need to be in touch with Social Security at critical points in their lives to insure that they get the most out of the program.

Remember there are at least five times you should contact Social Security during your life:

— To get an application for a Social Security number.

— To apply for a replacement Social Security card if yours is lost or stolen, or if you change your name.

— To request a Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement and to correct any errors found in your earnings and record.

— To file a claim for benefits, or if you already receive benefits, to report certain events like death, marriage or divorce which might affect them.

— To sign up for Medicare at age 65, even if you are not retiring.

When you call, have your Social Security number handy. Simply dial the toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, to speak to a representative between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. each business day.

All of the services Social Security provides are free - from issuing Social Security number cards to processing disability, survivors, and retirement claims. Social Security also produces a variety of publications that explain the various Social Security programs, including benefits available to children.

COTTON NEWS
FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Oh what difference a week can make. Above average temperatures and low humidity accelerated the High Plains cotton harvest to full speed over the past week according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG).

The weather conditions might have been considered ideal if not for the gusty winds which visited the area for several days. Fortunately, the wind never kept area producers out of their field.

The result is that the Lubbock and Lamesa USDA Cotton Classing offices processed approximately 1.2 million bales through Thursday and many area gins are reporting significant backlogs. With the good weather, it appears the High Plains harvest has now passed the halfway mark.

Unfortunately, the pace could slow considerably in the days leading up to Thanksgiving. Forecasters are predicting a drop in temperatures and an increase in the chances of rain, snow or a combination of the two.

Estimates for the 1996 crop continue to be very close to the 2.81 million bales reported by USDA November 12. The good news for producers is that it appears the crop could even wind up slightly larger than USDA's November estimate which is reported statistically as 480-pound bales. Cotton bales normally average closer to 495-pounds.

Combined estimates for the Lubbock and Lamesa classing offices, which reflect production in actual bales, shows they expect to receive samples from 2.75-2.8 million bales. Converting 2.75 million actual bales to statistical bales would mean a 1996 High Plains crop of 2.83 million 480-pound bales.

"High Plains producers are once again pulling an outstanding crop from their fields," notes PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "Even though they are harvesting their best fields first, it appears a large majority of the cotton fields that have made it to harvest are producing yields above grower expectations."

The Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation stated its case to the Texas Supreme Court Wednesday, November 20, in an effort to reverse a summary ruling by a Hale County judge regarding the constitutionality of the Texas boll weevil eradication program.

A decision by the Supreme Court is expected in the next one to two months.

Lawyers for both the TBWEF and the Hale County Plaintiffs were given the opportunity to present their case before the Court. Attorneys for both sides were asked questions by members of the Court pertaining to different aspects of the situation.

Boll weevil populations continue to increase throughout the High Plains. Since the original lawsuit was filed in 1995 by ten Hale County producers opposing the program, the boll weevil has continued its spread across the High Plains region.

Hindered by a lack of collections in 1996, the High Plains program was unable to fully address the situation during the recently completed Fall diapause spray program.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

A man was being interviewed for a job. "I want a careful chauffeur," he was told. "One who doesn't take any chances."

"I'm your man," he answered. "May I have my salary in advance?" He practiced what he preached, didn't he?

People won't take any chances with their salaries, but they will with their souls. They'll prepare to meet their friends, but not their God.

You may avoid going to church, or reading the Bible, or praying. But you can't avoid God. Some day you'll stand before Him and give an account.

So don't take any chances. The Bible says, "Prepare to meet thy God."

We must all work to keep our little towns alive!
