Matadors Sing Jaybirds For Third District Win

The Motley County Matadors rolled up 392 yards rushing and another 113 passing last Friday at Jayton as they defeated the Jaybirds 29-13 in a District 3-1A contest.

Tim Shannon gained 234 yards in 33 carries to lead in rushing, while Darrell Moore carried only seven times and gained 101 yards. Bill Luckett carried four times for nine yards, Shawn Bearden carried five times for 46 yards, and Coke Barton carried five times for two.

"The Jayton game was a real physical game," Coach Danny Williams said. "We capitalized on their mistakes to stop their drives in the first half and we had two strong drives along with a big play that helped us jump out in front. They could not stop our offense the whole game."

The first quarter was explosive. MC received the opening kickoff and ran it back to their 34. Shannon carried the ball the first seven plays and drove to the 11. Then two plays later he carried the ball in for a TD with 8:16 left. He then kicked the extra point and MC led 7-0.

The Jaybirds came right back. Quarterback Tim Bryant threw a long bomb to end Jack Noles for a 60 yard gain to the MC nine yard line. Two plays later Bryant scored on a quarterback keeper play. He kicked the extra point to tie the game 7-7 with 6:46 left in the first quarter.

The Jaybirds held tough after kicking off to MC again, and the Matadors had to punt. Jayton took over on their own 20 and went to the air again.

(It appeared the Jaybird aerial game was aimed at Clayton Sims, MC safety, as passes were thrown in his direction the entire game. But they picked on the wrong man as Sims intercepted three passes, knocked down several others and intercepted an extra point try before the night was over).

Jayton's Mike Parker completed an 18 yard pass and moved the Jaybirds to the MC 48, then Sims intercepted the next pass on the MC 40. Three plays later Darrell Moore ran around left end and went 60 yards for a touchdown with 1:48 left in the first quarter. The extra point try failed. MC 13, Jayton 7.

The Matadors held Jayton after a seven play drive and forced them to punt. MC took over the ball again on their 26.

The Matadors moved to their 48 in six running plays, then tried two passes which were incomplete. With third-and-ten Shawn Bearden found Shannon wide open in the left flat and threw the ball to him. Shannon went 52 yards for the touchdown with 7:40 left in the half. After the extra point kick MC led 20-7.

Jayton was behind, but not down. They came back fighting. Bryant ran the kickoff back to the Jaybird 43, then behind the running of Ricky Kyle moved to the MC nine yard line in nine plays. Bryant dropped back to pass, had to scramble away from the MC rush and then threw the ball. Sims intercepted the pass for MC on the two yard line and returned it to the eight.

MC moved downfield sharply with the running of S. Bearden, Moore and Shannon, and a 28 yard pass completion to Max Bearden.

With 12 seconds left in the half MC tried a field goal which was blocked by Jayton and the Jaybirds took over on their own 35. On the last play of the half Jayton went for it all. Bryant completed a long pass to Noles behind the MC defenders and the race was on. Sims and S. Bearden caught Noles just before he reached the end zone, causing him to fumble into the end zone and the ball was recovered by Bearden. The first half ended with MC ahead 20-7.

Jayton received to start the second half and ran it back to their 24. They picked up one first down, then MC held them to a fourth-and-one. The Jaybirds faked a punt and gained five yards. Six plays later Jayton had a fourth-and-nine on the MC 33, and they went to the air again. The pass was complete for an apparent TD, but the receiver was "out of the end zone" and it was ruled an incompleteness. MC took over on the 33.

It took the Matadors 10 plays to score again. With second-and-one on the Jayton 14 S. Bearden kept the ball around right end and went in for the TD. MC

26, Jayton 7.

Both sides held on their next series. Jayton gave up the ball on downs and MC was forced to punt.

Jayton took over on the MC 44 and went to the air again. Paul Morales completed one pass for 17 yards and Mike Parker caught the next one for a 14 yard TD with 7:48 left. Sims intercepted Jayton's try for the extra points. The score then stood MC 27, Jayton 13.

MC received the next kickoff and Moore ran it out to the 27. Shannon picked up 27 yards, M. Bearden completed a pass for a 19 yard gain, S. Bearden carried for 27 yards and Shannon for 11 more. With just over four minutes left in the game Shannon went in from the one to make the score 32-13. The pass for extra points failed.

Jayton quarterback Bryant ran the next kickoff out to the 48 yard line, but on the first play he was sacked for a 12 yard loss. Then he dropped back and passed again, but to the wrong person. Sims intercepted for MC with 2:48 left.

In six plays the Matadors drove to the Jayton two, where Coke Barton crashed in for another TD on the last play of the game. Darrell Moore kicked the extra to make the final score 39-13.

In passing S. Bearden hit on four of nine passes for 113 yards. Shannon caught two for 65 yards and M. Bearden caught two for 48 yards.

The Matadors will play Chillicothe here Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

Legion Meeting Scheduled

The American Legion and Auxiliary will meet Monday, November 1, at 6:30 p.m. in the Legion Building for their regular covered dish supper.

Members are reminded to bring a Christmas gift to be sent to the Veteran's Hospital.

Survey Set Monday

A survey will be held Monday, November 1, by members of the Community Planning Committee in certain areas of town.

This survey is being conducted to comply with regulations for the CDBG (Community Development Block Grant) which the city is applying for and which will be submitted to HUD with the application for the grant.

THE BIGGER THEY ARE -- Jayton's Paul Morales (30) drags down Tim Shannon after a long gainer. John Russell and Shawn Bearden block out other Jaybirds. Motley won the game 39-13.

TV and Your Child Tips From TSTA

The Texas State Teachers Association-partners in your child's education—examines the effect of television on children. Here is Part II, of a four part series on the subject:

TV Can Be A Family Affair

Have you asked yourself, "What can I do to keep TV from having a harmful effect on my kids?" Try some of these tips which could help you solve the problem.

Watch television with your children. Help them to select the right programs by checking the TV listings in advance. Look for programs that are fair in their treatment of people or programs that are not violent or too sophisticated in content.

Plan with children what shows they can watch—whether you are home or away. Be aware that public television has special programming and that commercial TV produces many excellent shows especially geared to children.

Insist on a limit to TV time. Discuss what's "real" and what's "unreal" on TV and in life. Talk about how violence can be harmful—real people hurt when injured.

Provide adequate light in the television area and watch for tiredness.

listlessness, glassy eyes, trance-like states—signs of poor health or too much television.

Discuss ways problems might have been solved other than the way they were presented in the TV story.

Turn off the assaults, attacks, and uproars when they appear on your television set. Youngsters need a friendly atmosphere at home without a lot of unnecessary noise or violence.

Correct any language errors your child may hear on television. Unfortunately, there are mistakes on TV. Why not have fun finding them together?

Make meals a family event—don't eat in front of the TV set. Select food carefully—not what a TV character urges kids to eat. Don't let TV turn your child into the family shopper. Parents should take final responsibility for selecting foods, clothing, toys, etc. When children see things on TV, they may enter a "gimme-get me" stage. Don't give in to demands for junk foods just because children ask for them after they've seen them on TV.

Use TV to widen your child's horizons and to help the family become closer as you watch programs together.

Ghost Riders Of Stampede Mesa

By Ed Syers
(The following is an excerpt from Ghost Stories of Texas.)

Close-packed, they stormed out of the night, wet backs sleek, eyes orange and wild, fireballs riding their horns, the very ground shaking beneath their onrush. And not enough ground to turn them, not short of the cliff! Horrified, the ranch boss saw two riders swept over with the herd's cascade.

Then in cold terror he saw the others driving them—the dead nester and his ghost cows. Luminous, they floated right to the edge, hung against the black sky for a moment, then vanished there.

With the remaining drovers, as shaken as he, he rounded up what was left; he'd lost most of his herd. It was too dark to ride down below; no use, anyhow. But for the rest of the night, no one would sleep; they'd stay saddled.

In the morning, sick with his mangled beef, sicker with the two riders he buried in the lean breaks below the cliff, he looked up just once. Above him, the mesa hunched enigmatically; he wiped a sleeve across the dirt and sweat, and looked away.

Last night could not have happened, not in this enlightened time of the near-1900's; but there they lay, so much of his herd. He had been crazy to bed them up there.

He could see that dead nester almost as clearly as last night. Fighting the ropes that bound him to his saddle, choking on his gag, he had driven that ghost herd—this ruin of a stampede ahead of it—right off the cliff.

A man was a fool to bed his cattle on Stampede Mesa!

Turn of this century was a long time ago, and the man's name is lost, even to old-timers who know of the killer stampede.

Along the dusty trails that crawl up from the breaks country to the Caprock and High Plains beyond, names have a way of fading out.

Or perhaps it is that, around their bunkhouses these days, cattlemen do not like to admit to ghosts. Even the guilty mesa is becoming difficult to locate—this rancher's was the last recorded stampede up there. Thereafter, trail herds has almost served their time; and none that still drove west dared again to bed that deadly high ground.

It is not too hard to sight the general area of Stampede Mesa. Under our Panhandle, down from Crosbyton in the direction of Spur, the lush green plains break off sharply; and below, the land heaves—dull reds and grays—off to rims and hills of a sameness as though pasted there, low against the sky. Out there, west of south, the mesa waits.

Below you, near remote little Kalgary, on the backroad to Post, you cross the jumbled canyon of the White River; there, you are closer. Upcanyon toward the new White River Lake, you can make out hunched hills and mesas, swimming in the haze.

That is the ghost ground, many years ago given its name by able cowboy folklorist John Craddock. Stampede Mesa lies against the breaks in the back reaches of the old L-Seven Ranch.

Old-timers can, if they choose, direct you there. You'd have to saddle, though; and, more than that, you'd likely arrive just before dark. It is then, of course, that the mesa's ghost riders descend from the dark upon any who intrude upon their ground. Old story, however discounted these days, insists that they intend to take you over a hundred-foot cliff.

The mesa, according to Craddock, took its name in a fashion that was macabre even in the hard days of early trail drives. Stampede itself was a close acquaintance of nearly every traildriver—few indeed were the herds that did not, at least once, explode in blind, thundering terror.

A hat blown sailing, a sneeze, a sudden yell or laugh, a gunshot or even something as trivial as a rolling, gust-blown tumbleweed could loose the millrace. Why even mention lightning, Indian attack, or jayhawkers?

But ghosts? Call the drover Jones—not his name; perhaps better so—who trailed through to the plains in the 1880's. He had something over a thousand head, slatty from the long dry pull across the arid breaks and spooky with it. Jones was making for what promised to be good bedding ground for his herd.

The mesa, really a cut-off extension of the Caprock, led down to water across a small neck of land. Climbing, its slope widened to broad grassland that came to an abrupt end in sheer cliff. A man could water and graze his herd so conveniently, and the cliff was better than a fence. Jones knew he could hold through the night, saddling no more than half his usual guard.

He did not know that he was about to leave this trail a fearful legacy.

Short of the mesa, a nester drove out of the brush. He had only a few steers and they looked poor to Jones. As he would tell it later, he only shrugged when the stranger flanked them right into his own big herd.

That the man had figured to pick up extra head was obvious, as Jones told it. The nester said he had the lead on the trail toward that bedding ground, but he'd just take his cows and be on his way instead. Already, Jones would claim, the stranger was cutting out some of the big trail herd.

Jones rested his rifle across his saddlehorn. The nester's cows would bed right along with the big herd; he could cut them in the morning. There wasn't time now.

Violently, the stranger protested: Jones aimed to take a what few cows he owned! And there were those who thought the men might have told it right, but then he was looking down a rifle barrel.

And so they watered the herd and just ahead of hard dark pushed up into the high grass, a good camp in prospect, despite the nester's angry accusations. The night started quietly enough, the cattle contented and drowsy.

But deep into the small hours, blind stampede exploded:

not for the water below, but straight for the cliffs. Jones' riders turned a few; two of his men went over. One who didn't tried to remember what had happened. He thought he had seen the nester riding the onrush, waving and shooting. But maybe that was after everything broke loose.

Jones wouldn't listen. Furious, he rode the nester down. They tied the man to his horse and blind-folded both, then pitched mount and rider off into the abyss.

After that, drovers shunned that tableland: most cowmen knew that once trail trouble picks a spot, it settles there. Still, the grass and water were too much for some to resist, and across night campfires, the story began to grow.

Bed a herd up there and you'd lose everything. That nester and his ghost cows had been seen more than once. He came out of the night, calling for his cattle. He came down on you, fighting his ropes and choking on his gag. He came straight for the cliffs, somehow floating his herd through the night; and he swept everything over. Old trail hands no longer scoffed at ghost yarns when, over the years, one, then another rider, died in the night on the rocks below Stampede Mesa.

Finally no one at all camped that high ground. Of course, as I said, the drives were about done by the 1900's, and maybe the nester came back just to wreak his vengeance on cattlemen, and on them alone. But then, who is able to predict such a ghost.

As to this one, my friend Tillman Reeves, up in Crosbyton, can come close and, if he took a notion, he could aim you straight for Stampede Mesa. More likely, though, he'd tell you about locked ranch gates and than suggest a better camp.

Of course, that's at nearby White River Lake, where you'd be in the mesa's general vicinity. My last night there, the wind was right and occasional lightning flared away to the southwest. There was no question about the low thunder—Stampede Mesa way.

Who'd be up there, contending with that nester? Could all those ghost riders have come back...still protecting their herds?

What I Call A Good Teacher

By Ellen Mansfield
Can you remember your first- or second-grade teacher? Maybe not, but chances are that somewhere in your school years, there was one special teacher who struck a responsive chord. I was more fortunate than most—I can remember a few outstanding people. (Unfortunately one or two left indelible impressions or what a teacher shouldn't be!)

It's hard to evaluate your profession—especially as you know it doesn't always measure up to your own ideals—but there are certain standards that I consider imperative to teaching.

First of all, the teacher must be knowledgeable in his own field. It hurts to see someone struggling to stay one chapter ahead of the students in an area in which he feels uncomfortable—and it cheats the students as well. It lends weight to George Bernard Shaw's statement: "Those who can, do. Those who can't, teach."

A teacher also needs an ability to communicate easily, which often means combining the talents of an actor, a salesperson, and a public relations agency.

He or she has to have enough of a commitment and a sense of dedication to be willing to spend all the extra time needed to prepare lessons and keep up with the paperwork. There is a need for immediate correction and recognition.

Oftentimes, the teacher fills the role of a surrogate parent—and the qualities of a good father or mother must be present. There has to be a limitless supply of patience and compassion, but there must also be a clear-cut discipline which is firmly enforced. The student needs to find consistency and dependability in the teacher.

A sense of humor never hurts. The purpose of education is not to produce automatons who spit back everything they have been programmed by rote, but to instill a joy of learning and an inquisitiveness that will make them competent and capable members of the human race. Learning is a much pleasanter experience when it is accomplished without a whip or a sledgehammer. Frequently, if the students can find something to laugh at, they remember better and longer. The teacher also has to believe in his own fallibility, and be willing to laugh at his own mistakes.

Each of these things is important in one way or another, but there is one overriding requirement to be filled. A competent teacher—a good teacher—needs to have an immeasurable, an unquenchable love—love for life, love for people, for the subject he teaches, and above all, for his students.

When all else fails, that one spark of caring can reach across seemingly insurmountable barriers—and that makes all the difference in the world. (Ellen Mansfield teaches English and remedial reading at a junior high school in central Harlem, New York City.)

City Improvement Plans Reviewed For Garden Club

Ideas for city improvement were reviewed for Matador Garden Club by Gerald Pipkin, a member of the Community Planning Committee, October 18, at a meeting of Matador Garden Club in the home of Mrs. W. F. Jacobs.

Introduced by program leader, Mrs. W. D. Lipscomb, Mr. Pipkin outlined several projects which are in the planning stages of being studied by the firm of Barker, Brannon and Traylor, Consultant Engineers from Lubbock, who develop and produce engineer packages for city improvements. In a question and answer session, Mr. Pipkin said that the firm does not receive any pay for their research unless their "package" recommendation is accepted.

Under study are street improvements, water and sewer needs as submitted in early surveys by local citizens, which will receive consideration in ratio to the population of such areas of the city. A decision is scheduled to be reached by November 8, Pipkin said. The entire project will hinge on whether or not the City of Matador receives the CDBG (Community Development Block Grant) from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, for which it is applying.

Active in civic affairs (Mr. Pipkin is currently 1st vice president of the Matador Lions Club) the Vietnam veteran served nine and a half years in the U.S. Air Force, as navigator on a KI-35 and attained the rank of Captain. He flew two tours in the Far East and two in Alaska. He is a native of Matador, (son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Pipkin) graduate of Matador High School and of Texas Tech University. He and his wife, Syd, have two young daughters, Amy and Leigh Ann. They are active in the First United Methodist Church, as well as in community and school affairs.

In a business session, Mrs. Douglas Meador, president, read a communication from Mrs. Edgar Lee, who has been in Beaumont the past two months, outlining ideas for a project to place a bench, or benches in the business area of Matador. This project had been previously discussed, but no action taken. Mrs. Meador appointed Mrs. Alvin Stearns, Mrs. W. N. Pipkin and Mrs. W. B. Wason as a committee to investigate cost of materials which would be involved in construction of the benches.

Members selected the yard at the home of Mrs. Lillie Barkley for Yard of the Month, and brought antique items for a "show and tell" roll call.

Mrs. Jacobs served refreshments of coffee, tea, brownies and cake squares to those mentioned and Mesdames J. D. Craven, Ted Elliott and Dowell Garrison and Miss Rachel Patton.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED -- Mr. and Mrs. Billy Paul Skaggs of Matador announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Princess Olga La'raetha Skaggs to Mr. Randal Scott Switzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice E. Switzer of Weatherford, Okla. The couple are planning a November 29 wedding in Weatherford. The ceremony will be held in Zion Evangelical Free Church on Huber Street at 7:00 p.m. Friends and relatives are cordially invited to attend.

Study Club Makes Plans To Improve Roaring Springs

The Predicta Study Club of Roaring Springs held its monthly meeting, October 21 at the Depot. Those who were present were Mrs. Robert Clem, Mrs. Dale Baumgardner, Freda Keahey, Mrs. Lem Miller, Pearl Palmer, Mrs. Bill Peacock, Lula Swim, Mrs. Buzz Thacker, Mrs. Tommy Wilson and Mrs. Tom Yeates.

The President, Mrs. Clem called the meeting to order with her inspirational thought: "Pray as if everything depended upon God; Act as if everything depended upon You."

Each member answered the roll call with the "Spookiest Happenings on Halloween."

Plans were discussed for improving the downtown area with trees and shrubs to beautify the city, as suggested by the Lion's Club. After discussion the motion was made and seconded that the club join the Lion's Club on this project. Motion carried.

The committee for the Christmas decorations and beautification stated that the plans would be presented to the club at the November meeting. This committee is made up of Mrs. Ted Sedgwick, Mrs. Buzz Thacker, Mrs. Caldwell Smith, Mrs. Robert Clem and Mrs. Tommy Wilson.

A letter from the President of Caprock District was read by Mrs. Clem for the purpose of organizing new clubs in Texas. The club was assigned Crosbyton and by vote of the club, the assignment was accepted.

After all business was completed, Ronnie Vandiver, Game Warden of Motley County gave a very interesting program on "The Wildlife of Motley County and Texas." As he showed the films, he narrated the characteristics of each animal and fowl.

Refreshments of coffee and cookies were served by Mrs. Bill Peacock and Mrs. Tom Yeates.

Bake Sale Saturday

The Matador Senior Citizens will host a Bake Sale, Saturday, October

30, on Main Street in front of Billy's Grocery Store.

Guest speaker will be Pastor Edna Dillard, who is pastoring at Roaring Springs Assembly of God.

Mrs. Jeannie Barber, chairman, described Joy Fellowship as, "a response to the need of women for Christian fellowship and outreach through social activities. It is characterized by informal group participation in sharing personal testimonies of encounters with God, and is a place where denominational boundaries can be minimized." Through Joy Fellowship, she explained, women are encouraged to work for Christ in the churches they attend, and no particular church affiliation is stressed.

Hospice Concept Explained To Lions

By Lila Meador

"The hospice concept of care for the terminally ill, long practiced in Europe, has recently been gaining acceptance in the United States," Mrs. James (Michelle) Bearden told Matador Lions Club at its third-Tuesday luncheon meeting last week, at the United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Bearden, a guest at the meeting, is employed by the Visiting Nurse Services of Lubbock, but resides in Motley County. She was introduced by Lion Gerald Pipkin and presented the program for the civic organization.

"We don't like to think of dying," Mrs. Bearden acknowledged, "but it is nothing to be ignored. We all have to face it, and the hospice concept has been accepted as a means whereby families, as well as patients, can cope with the realization that the patient is terminally ill. The program is designed to control and relieve the emotional and physical suffering of the patient."

The hospice program, Mrs. Bearden explained, is an alternative to hospital dying, as it emphasizes out-patient care, with back-up services by the hospice staff. In Britain, this care has been provided by establishing hospices, or care centers, and similar institutions are now in various stages of planning in the United States. There are none in Texas, as yet, Mrs. Bearden said, as she described the various stages of emotional, physical and spiritual reactions which are met with counseling in the home.

Boss Lion Donnie Jackson led the club in applause for an enjoyable meal prepared and served by Lion Walter Jones.

He announced plans as discussed at the directors' breakfast for the club's participation in the annual Halloween Carnival at Motley County School, set for Saturday night, October 30.

The club will not have a Bingo concession this year, which has been ruled illegal. Instead, club members will sell tickets for a chance at winning an award of $100.00, and will have a booth at the carnival for ticket sales.

Lion Bob Stanley introduced the guests at the meeting, Dr. Charles Hudson, Pat Cruse, and Mrs. Bearden.

Here are 4 important reasons why you should support Senator Lloyd Bentsen.

1. Social Security
What would happen if the checks stopped? Senator Lloyd Bentsen is one of the senators who fought to save Social Security and to protect the minimum benefit. Next year there will be another fight in Congress to cut or even stop Social Security. James Collins introduced three bills that would have destroyed the Social Security system. He lost. To protect Social Security from people like James Collins we must keep Senator Bentsen fighting for us in Washington next year... and the next.
2. Jobs
More than 600,000 Texans are out of work. That's a sad record. Senator Bentsen has fought to increase the sale of our goods overseas and has encouraged the training of the unemployed for new jobs. He helped save the Texas Employment Service and supported tax incentives for small business. His opponent, James Collins, opposed funding for the Texas Employment Service and voted against re-training programs.
3. Small Business
Small Business is the cornerstone of the American economy. Yet, the rate of bankruptcies is higher than any time during the past forty years. As one of the Senate's leading authorities on economic issues, Senator Bentsen helped write the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981. Under this legislation tax relief for the next five years will exceed $150 billion, the largest tax cut in history. This will increase competitiveness in foreign trade and stimulate growth.
4. Agriculture
Raised on a farm and ranch, Senator Lloyd Bentsen knows first-hand the economic problems confronting American agriculture. He has fought to increase agriculture exports and to remove foreign trade barriers. He successfully prevented the elimination of the Rural Electrification Administration, and won the fight to increase agricultural research, which has helped make the American farmer the most productive in the world.

Remember when the most important reason to vote for candidates was because they did a good job? It still is.

Lloyd Bentsen, U.S. Senator.

He does a good job... for all Texans.

Social Security In Motley County

By Terry J. Clements

Is Social Security going broke? This is one of the major concerns people have about Social Security. Today's article is the first of a series in which financing and other issues about Social Security will be discussed.

There is some question as to whether expressions such as "going broke" or "bankrupt" are accurate ways to describe Social Security's difficulties. However, the fact is that problems do exist with financing. To understand just what these problems are, it might help to discuss just how Social Security is financed.

The system is designed so that benefits in a given year are paid from the payroll taxes for that year. The payroll rate for 1982 is 6.7%. This figure is earmarked so that 4.575% goes for retirement benefits, .825% goes for disability benefits and 1.300% goes for hospital insurance. Contributions that are not needed to pay for the year's benefits are placed in a trust fund of which there are three (retirement, disability and hospital) funds.

These trust funds were not meant to accrue large sums of money. They were designed to be used when economic situations are such that payroll takes are not adequate to cover the amount owed for benefits.

Since the early seventies, it has been necessary to draw from the retirement and disability trust funds. One reason is that the inflationary trend during this period has required Social Security checks to become larger through cost of living increases. However, wages have increased much slower than the cost of living and unemployment has been at levels higher than anticipated. In other words, the amount of benefits to be paid has increased more than the payroll taxes available to meet this obligation.

This situation of outgo exceeding income creates a major problem in short term financing. Congress will have to make legislative changes in order for benefits to be paid for the period beginning June, 1983 and ending about 1990. The financial soundness of Social Security will then be restored in 1990 as a result of payroll tax increases scheduled for 1985 and 1990.

There is also a long range financing problem. One reason that further difficulty is anticipated is the progressive trend of people living longer. The World War II "baby boom" generation will begin retiring around 2010. However, the population growth is expected to be very slow for years to come. This will result in a surge of benefits payable at a time when fewer workers are available to make payroll contributions.

What can be expected of Social Security's future? It is expected that Congress will soon take action to pass the necessary legislation needed for restoring Social Security's short term problem. Attention then can be directed to solve the long range problems.

The American people are committed to caring for the aged, orphaned and disabled. There is every reason to expect Social Security to continue to pay retired workers, disabled workers and surviving families for many years to come.

Next week I will address some of the proposals that have been made to sustain Social Security's financial soundness.

Green Thumb Program Survives Budget Battle

For almost 1,000 older workers in the Texas Farmer's Union Green Thumb program, the "battle of the budget" came to a happy conclusion with the recent Congressional override of the President's veto of a supplemental appropriations bill.

The bill provides money for a variety of programs and agencies ranging from the defense department to NASA to Title V of the older Americans Act, which funds TFU Green Thumb and other senior employment programs, according to Green Thumb Assistant State Director, John Willingham.

Speaking to 54 Green Thumb workers at a training session in Ralls on October 20, 1982, Willingham said the Congressional override "was decisive" in saving the jobs of more than 54,000 Title V workers nationwide. The workers are all 55 and over, low income, and provide services for libraries, schools, senior centers, museums and other public service agencies.

Green Thumbs from Motley County attending the training session at Ralls were

"Without the override, the only hope would have been yet another appropriate bill," he said, "and there were no real guarantees that another one would have been passed and signed in time to keep the program going." The new bill funds the program through June 30, 1983.

Green Thumbs had already received letters informing them that their last day on the job was to be September 24. Willingham said the letters had to be sent out because "there was no assurance that both houses would override the veto. What we've seen is a minor miracle." The override vote in the Senate was 60 to 30, exactly the two-thirds majority necessary.

"One more vote against the appropriations bill and the dismal news in your letters would have been all too true," he said. "And I'm afraid we all know that there aren't enough jobs out there in the private sector for 54,000 older workers."

Oil and Gas Wells Enriched County's Economy For 1981

The sale of crude oil and natural gas from Motley County wells in 1981 enriched the county's economy and accounted for $4.3-million of the $44-billion value placed on Texas petroleum production last year.

In a report on the economic impact of oil and gas industry operations in the significant producing counties of Texas, Dallas-based Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association said the county ranked 188th among Texas' 254 counties on the basis of value of its marketed petroleum production. This production includes condensate and casinghead gas.

The county's wells produced 122,604 barrels of crude oil, valued at $4,228,612, and 15.8-million cubic feet of natural gas, valued at $28,210. Owners of royalty in the county received $532,103 as their share of the output, the Association noted. "Although the oil and gas industry is suffering through a slowdown in drilling-attributable in large part to a worldwide decline in demand for petroleum products-it continues to be the cornerstone of the economy of Texas and many of its counties," said the Association's chairman, Avery Rush, Jr., of Amarillo. "Oil and gas producers operating in Texas remain committed to the drilling of every well that is economically feasible," Rush added.

In addition to paying local, county, and state property taxes, producers in the county supported state government through production tax payments estimated at $196,632, according to the Association. Crude oil taxes amounted to $194,516, while natural gas levies totalled $2,116.

Based on Texas Employment Commission figures, some three oil and gas industry employees in the county received wages of about $26,299 in 1981.

In the search for new petroleum reserves in the county, oil and gas operators spent a reported $1.5-million in the drilling of five wells, including four wildcat, or exploratory, wells. This effort resulted in the completion of one oil well, although some $1.2-million was lost in the drilling of four dry holes. As of April 1, 1982, there were 24 producing oil wells in the county.

In 1943 Georgia became the first state to grant 18-year-olds the right to vote.

Motley County May Qualify For Home Mortgage Loans

Motley County may qualify for funds which will be available in the near future to single families seeking mortgage loans for purchasing an existing residence, or construction of a new home at a minimal interest rate and at no tax increase to residents of the county.

Organized in September, the South Plains Housing Finance Corporation, with offices in Lubbock will service a 14-county and one municipality area, including Motley County, through a proposed Single Family Mortgage Revenue Bond Issue. The geographic area includes Bailey, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Terry and Yoakum counties and the City of Plainview.

Representing Motley County at the organizational meeting called by the South Plains Association of Governments, was Mrs. L. B. (Lucretia) Campbell, appointed as a Director by the Motley County Commissioners Court. Also at the meeting was Mrs. Roy (Frances) Hobbs, appointed by the Commissioners as a Coordinator. The coordinators are not able to vote, but they can join in the conversation and voice an opinion representing the people from his or her community.

According to the proposed program, the maximum proceeds from the sale of the bonds available to purchase qualified mortgage loans will be approximately $30,000,000. The actual amount will be based on demand from the lenders requests.

"If Motley County is to qualify," Mrs. Campbell stressed, "immediate action must be taken by those interested in obtaining a home mortgage loan. The committee has only until January 3, to receive requests for applications, and then if the county is funded, we will have just 45 days for the applications to be made and approved. We need to know how many families would be interested before we proceed further."

The proposed mortgage program synopsis includes the following explanatory paragraphs:

Maximum Purchase Price — The maximum purchase price of a qualifying residence will be 110% of the average area purchase price for the type of residence being purchased (currently $70,620 for a newly constructed residence and $60,500 for an existing residence.)

Types of Loans - It is anticipated that the mortgage loans will be 30-year conventional, fixed rate, single family mortgages.

Eligible Borrowers - The amount of adjusted annual income specified by the Housing Finance Corporation, and as revised from time to time thereafter by the issuer.

"The Single Family Mortgage Revenue Bond issue is not to be confused with the Community Block Development Grant in which Matador is currently interested," Mrs. Campbell pointed out. "Neither is it comparable with the low income housing project, as it is not a Government subsidized housing program. It is an effort to make available, funds for home ownership at an affordable interest rate, for those with limited incomes."

S.P.A.G. is an organization composed of City and County officials in a 15 county area. These 15 counties have combined to make available to the smaller counties, such as ours, government assistance which before had only gone to the larger populated areas.

Through this S.P.A.G. program, Motley County is now able to benefit, but we must have representation at these meetings before we can be considered for any of the funds available.

In attending these meetings we have found how essential it is that Motley County have some elected official present to take advantage of any benefits for our county.

As we were unable to attend the October 20th meeting, Commissioner Sonny Russell attended as coordinator and has been of great assistance to us and our county in furthering our cause.

Joe Campbell Attends Veterans Conference

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Campbell were in San Antonio last week, where he attended the 35th annual Veterans Service Officers Conference at the Oak Hills Inn. Mr. Campbell is Veterans Service Officer for Motley County.

Faubus, ex-governor of Arkansas, John L. McGovern, Louisiana Dept. of Veterans Affairs, and Eugene L. Copenhaver, Director of Oklahoma DVA. Also, Robert W. Spangle of Indianapolis, Ind., National Adjutant.

The American Legion and Gail H. Wirth of St. Paul, Minn., Insurance Supervisor, The American Legion. Among other participants were Department Commander Waggoner Carr of Austin, and Arthur Harmon, VAC, from the Veterans Hospital in Amarillo, who was reared in Motley County.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell drove to San Antonio, Friday and spent the weekend sight-seeing (The Alamo, River Walk, Hemisphere grounds, etc.) and playing golf on the Pecan Valley County Club course.

On their return home Friday they reached Jayton in time to attend the Motley County-Jayton football game.

By Beverly Darsey Librarian

We thank Callie Winegar, Frances Moss, Freda Keahey, Virginia Hoyle, and Sis Davis for their contributions of books to the library collection last week.

Children's films are scheduled for after school on Thursday, November 4, at 3:40 p.m. in the library film room. Come and bring a friend!

New films available for check out from the library or for viewing in the library film room until November 18 are as follows:

DISCOVERING COUNTRY AND WESTERN MUSIC (JH-A): Traces the development of country and western music through the recollections and performances of five different artists ranging from 16 to 77.

THE DOUGHNUTS (El-A): Automation runs wild as Uncle Ulysee's labor-saving doughnut machine comes to Centerburg one peaceful night. Adapted from the book by Robert McCloskey, HOMER PRICE.

FRUSTRATING FOURS AND FASCINATING FIVES (Adult): Explains and contrasts the behavior of four- and five-year old children. Takes up problems of discipline and shows what may be explained to a child of four or five.

HAD YOU LIVED THEN: AMERICA AROUND 1800 (Upper El-JH): Shows the daily life of a family in rural New England in the early years of the 19th century.

INCREDIBLE SCHOONER (JH-A): Authentic re-enactment of one of the most memorable yacht races of all time, the first American cup in 1851.

THE JOY OF ACHIEVEMENT (JH-A): Portrays the satisfaction taken by people of all ages and races in the thrill of creating, both in work and personal interest situations.

THE PREDATORS (JH-A): Beautiful and exciting photography showing some North American wild predators. Shows how they are a part of the balance of nature. Robert Redford narrates.

THE SECRET (El-A): Stresses difficulty in sometimes living with the consequences of one's actions and decisions. A group of children, an injured stray dog, and one boy's honesty in dealing with peer pressure to reunite the dog with his owner are the ingredients in this heartwarming true-to-life story.

SERAMA'S MASK (BALI) (Upper El-A): Since he was seven, Serama has been learning the intricate, ancient art of Balinese dance. Now, 16, he teaches the younger dancers. His teacher and father is the master dancer of Bali. Together they practice the dance which will be his father's final performance and will mark Serama as his replacement. In a spectacular night performance at the temple, the dance tradition of Bali is passed from father to son.

THE TRANS-ALASKA PIPELINE (JH-A): Shows the challenge of construction of the 800-mile Alaskan pipeline, largest private construction project ever attempted.

WILDFLOWERS OF THE WEST (El-A): Follows the northward progress of spring, showing wildflowers of the Western desert, seashore, valleys, and mountains. Depicts the flowers' relationships to their environments and points out the problems of conserving our natural resources.

YOU AND OFFICE SAFETY (Adult): So you thought that you were safe in that quiet office! Here is a humorous portrayal of at least 101 ways that one can harm oneself and one's fellow employees around the office.

YOUR CHANCE TO LIVE: TORNADO (JH-A): Breath-taking odyssey of a tornado as it destroys a small town and threatens the lives of three people caught in the open.

Scientists in 1979 took a 656-foot column of sediment from the Pacific Ocean floor. It contains a continuous eight-million-year record of many kinds of natural phenomena.

In ancient Egypt, nail color indicated a woman's social rank. Only the palest shades were permitted lower class women, and woe was the woman who painted her talons brighter than the Queen's.

Precautions Urged For Halloween

On Sunday, October 31, miniature monsters will invade the neighborhoods and the cry, "trick or treat," can be heard throughout the land.

Major C. W. Bell, Region 5 commander for the Texas Department of Public Safety, said recently, "Motorists and parents need to take precautions to protect children and prevent disasters this Halloween."

He suggests that small children be accompanied by older children or adults and tricks or treating be confined to their own neighborhoods.

Major Bell also stated, "Costumes should be light in color, short enough to prevent tripping and also be non-flammable. Facial makeup should be used instead of masks or hoods that restrict vision." Parents should not permit youngsters to carry jack-o-lanterns with lighted candles.

Children should be told to look in all directions before crossing streets and to walk, never run. A flashlight carried by the child can serve as a warning to motorists, and children should be instructed to use sidewalks when possible. Motorists should use extra caution in residential areas and look for children crossing streets in a haphazard manner.

Parents should remind older children not to vandalize residences, businesses or vehicles. Drivers should take caution on this night and not permit passengers to throw objects such as water balloons, paper, etc. from the vehicle.

Major Bell reminds Texans that there were 752 pedestrians killed and 6,300 pedestrians injured in Texas during 1981. A pedestrian's chance of getting killed or injured are increased by 800 per cent at night. There were 83 youngsters under the age of 11 killed as pedestrians last year. There were seven pedestrians killed on October 31, 1981.

Major Bell stated, "If parents and motorists join together and think of children's safety, Halloween 1982 can be a safe and enjoyable evening for everyone."

IT'S OUT OF THIS WORLD

Satellites in space circle the earth, relaying beamed messages between far corners. It's out of this world, literally! But it takes some very down-to-earth people to keep the whole system working smoothly—people such as Staff Sergeant Harry Pitts.

Sergeant Pitts is a Satellite Communications Ground Station Repairman with "SATCOM", the U.S. Army Satellite Communications agency operating out of Ft. Monmouth, N.J. His job is to maintain and operate mobile communications equipment for training missions held throughout the U.S. and Europe, and, for "real world" missions should the need arise.

Mention the Army and "spit & polish" and military discipline come to mind. Military discipline and courtesies remain as important as ever, but the Army today also offers personal choice, equipment, for example, in the Choice of training. One of the options this field, the Army is the offered to Sergeant Pitts place to get it!"

The two spacecraft that visited Venus in late 1978 reported temperatures as high as 860°F. and as many as 25 lightning impulses per second.
